Wage Increase Recommended For Non-Operating Railwaymen

OTTAWA — (BUP) — A federal conciliation board today recommended wage increases for 150,000 non-operating railway workers.

The recommendation was contained in a majority report written by Eric Taylor, the chairman, and David Lewis, representative of the 17 unions. Paul Smith, nominee of the companies, dissented.

The board turned down a union demand for a general 10 percent pay boost, but recommended:

1. A jump of six percent in wages for all non-operating employees, effective April 1 this year.
2. One-half of the increase to be retroactive to January 1, 1956.
3. A further increase of two percent effective Nov. 1, 1956, with that increase to be on the (Continued on Page 2)

East Side Road Along Skaha Maybe Next Year

Pentiction's school board, which has been actively urging the completion of highway access over the full length of the east side of Skaha lake, has been told that such work is "very doubtful" in the year ahead.

A letter from the minister of highways, the Hon. P. Gagliardi, read before the board on Wednesday night, conveyed this information.

A survey is being completed, however, and there is the prospect of action in the near future.

The minister's letter had this comment, noted with approval by the school board: "We are definitely keeping it in mind for consideration in next year's estimates."

Tenders Will Be Called Soon For Queen's Park School Addition

Tenders will be called in the near future for the construction of two extra classrooms in the Queen's Park school.

Final drawings and specifications were laid before the school board at its Wednesday night meeting by Trustee E. A. Tyhurst, chairman of the building and grounds committee.

Satisfied with their scrutiny of these plans, the work of Architect R. Lyon, the board empowered the building committee to proceed with the calling for tenders as soon as the final plans are approved by the Victoria authorities.

Ask City Tax Waived For Separate School

Pentiction district school board has gone on record as recommending to the city council that the annual taxes levied against the St. Anne's parochial school be in effect, waived.

A resolution to this effect was adopted on Wednesday evening, after a delegation had attended the board's meeting and pleaded for such aid.

The resolution, which passed by the board by unanimous vote, is in conformity with Section 58, Sub-section 24, of the Municipal Act, by which the council may extend a grant in aid, equivalent to the taxes, provided a recommendation to this effect is made by the school board of the area.

The taxes are not waived directly, but, under this arrangement, are offset by an equivalent grant.

St. Anne's school, a Catholic institution on south Main street, is a four-room project with 160 pupils, and last year paid $976.38 in taxes to the city.

While the council will not act unless the school board makes a recommendation, under the provisions of the act, the final decision remains with council.

Sentence Of Ten Years For Assault

Alexander Nelson Marks who on the night of March 17 brutally beat up Mrs. Mary Jessie Sheahan when she answered a knock at her Rock Creek farm home, has been sentenced to serve ten years in the B.C. Penitentiary.

Mrs. Sheahan, mother of four children, is the widow of a salesman killed some years ago in a car accident on Anarchist Mountain road.

Marks had consented to be tried by a magistrate and entered a plea of guilty when he appeared before magistrate E. W. Euerby at Grand Forks. He was charged and sentenced for "unlawfully causing bodily harm to the Rock Creek woman."

The assault weapon, a rifle, was recovered by RCMP after extensive search.

Marks, who had worked on a farm at Rock Creek, has a bad criminal record, having been on previous occasions convicted of breaking and entering, common assault, car theft and rape. The man, now 26, had served four years on the last charge in Manitoba.

VANCOUVER — (BUP) — An elderly man was found shot dead in a washroom in Vancouver Assize Court building about noon today.

Space Sought Here To Open Large Government Tax Office

A building with 8,000 square feet floor space is being sought by the federal government to house the Income Tax office.

This is revealed in a letter from O. L. Jones, M.P. for Okanagan-Boundary, to the Board of Trade.

A four year lease would be required. Failing this, the department of public works may build a temporary structure of their own to house the Income Tax office.

Long range plan of the government is to purchase land here in the near future suitable for a permanent federal building to house all federal activities under one roof.

Mr. Jones says that a vote will come forward this year for that purpose as well as preliminary plans. The building would not likely be completed until 1960, hence the seeking of temporary quarters for a period of four years.

Announcement that an Income Tax office would be located here, made some time ago, was halted locally because it will bring a number of families and another permanent payroll to Pentiction.

The Department of Public Works had an investigator in Pentiction last February seeking a site. A temporary building was offered at $15,000 per year but the figure has been jumped to $21,000 per year and the department does not wish to pay this amount.

In his letter Mr. Jones says, "perhaps the Board of Trade could assist by locating suitable premises with the 8,000 square feet requirement which could be leased for the four years."

"I think this would be the best policy in view of the intentions of the government to build a substantial federal building to house all its activities in the near future."

City Ladies Choir Concert Praised; "A Musical Treat"

By M. Vanderburgh

Now and then Pentiction people are given an opportunity to hear fine music and that time stands out in the musical world of the south Okanagan as an oasis to a desert traveller.

These times are increasing and there are people who are responsible for this and whose names should be mentioned more often to the public.

In this instance we refer to Monica Craig Fisher and the high standard set at the concert presented by the Pentiction Ladies' Choir in the high school auditorium on Wednesday evening.

The name "Variety Concert" was a misnomer, recalling as it does a music hall type of performance.

This was a production of chorals singing and ambitious selections from famous operas, sustaining throughout a marked degree of excellency.

The opening group was three stanzas of choruses nicely balanced in type. In all a ringing tone was kept, notable even in the pianissimo parts. The spirit of all the selections was outstanding, too.

Brahms, "The Bridegroom" was good, and in the English, "Come Let Us All A-Maying Go", by Moffatt, the intricate interweaving of voices was skillfully carried out. It was followed by the gentle simplicity of the traditional "Bonnie Doon" to give a

No Hospitals Will Be Closed Says Premier

KELOWNA — (BUP) — British Columbia Premier W. A. C. Bennett has urged all citizens of the province to "get on the bandwagon" and invest their money in B.C. industries.

Addressing a general dinner meeting of the Kelowna Board of Trade Thursday night he said "This province is in its 'golden years' and no other part of the western hemisphere including the United States is having the momentous development this province is now experiencing."

"The investment in B.C. will reach well over the billion dollar figure and 1956 will be 51 percent over last year."

Bennett said B.C. leads all other provinces in investment.

According To The Mood

Another Friday the thirteenth and I shot my bolt on unlucky Friday the thirteenth stories the last time we had one, that was January 13. But always on Friday, the thirteenth, I think of my fishing days out on the moody ocean which has more moods than has this column.

I remember one time — pause here to allow you to turn to "One Man's Opinion" on second front, that man Patton comes right back at me with both fists flailing. Well as I was saying I remember a series of events which could have happened fittingly enough on Friday 13. But it happened on a blue sky, blue sea day in the Gulf of Georgia, aboard the "Dixie".

Not a ripple, not a boat in sight. Coleridge said it, "A painted ship upon a painted ocean."

The engine at Cape Mudge, chugged without missing a beat, trolling lines were strung out and following along as they should do. Course was almost due west, headed for Cape Mudge.

The fish weren't biting and in truth I didn't want them to. I was too comfortable lolling in the cockpit, soaking up the sun, with beauty all around.

The wife was busy with housewifely duties below deck, we fishermen, like turtles, carry our house with us.

I sang out for a cup of that which refreshes but does not inebriate — tea. Dreaming, I didn't notice the black patch of water off Cape Mudge and I ran right into it. In no time at all I was in the middle of wicked sea, saw toothed steep waves that had the Dixie doing a creditable imitation of a bucking bronco. Then the starboard trolling pole jerked, the bell rang, another jerk and another bell, the port pole began jiggling and the bells jingling. I was into fish. Lines were loaded with them and the starboard pole was whipping alarmingly. I had a big feller on that one.

I was too busy to wonder at the time where the sea came from. There was no wind, not a cat's paw all around and here we were bounding around all over the place. It was a tide rip. Tides do some queer things, especially around Cape Mudge where the ocean comes sluicing down through Seymour Narrows, baptizing notorious flipper rock on the way, at a 20 knot clip.

But I was thinking fish, especially that big fellow, maybe a red spring salmon, could be worth ten bucks by the way he was bending that pole. In my haste to get at him I lost the four fish on my higher lines and then he came into sight — what a whopper.

I had him to within leader length of the boat, 15 feet. He was well looked. I hauled the big fish steadily closer, closer, I reached for the gaff, my mouth was open for the cry "got him!"

It never came, instead I was frozen by a piercing scream from inside the cabin. I looked around, through the door I could see a sheet of flame, reaching to the top of the cabin. The gas stove was on the rampage. I dived for the cabin, grabbed the stove staggered onto the deck with it and hurried it over board and the kettle went with it. I jumped back into the cockpit in time to see the still blazing stove swept down onto the big spring salmon, still fighting mightily — well sir, that flaming stove was too much for that salmon. It gave one mighty jump, snapped my leader and dived. That was that — the other line had been left too long, the fish had won free with the exception of one small grilze. I stayed in that rip bouncing miserably until it flattened out but no more fish. I went into the fish dock that night without one solitary fish to turn in, and a new gas stove to buy.

By Sid Godber

No, it wasn't Friday thirteenth — but it might well have been.

Received Mr. Garnett's letter (see editorial page) too late to kill the foregoing column, which is about "I". So let's pretend the incident didn't happen to me — please substitute the name "Long John Silver" for "I".

"Twenty-two cities and villages are involved in the decision. The gas company will build 'tap' lines from the main Westcoast line to Quesnel, Williams Lake and Merritt.

A main line will run from the Westcoast pipeline near Savona to Nelson.

The municipal boundaries of the following districts will be touched by the main line: Kamloops, North Kamloops, Vernon, Armstrong, Enderby, Kelowna, Peachland, Summerland, Pentiction, Oliver, Osoyoos, Grand Forks, Rossland, Warfield, Trail, Kinnaird, Castlegar and Nelson. Another spur line will run from Vernon to Salmon Arm.

FFVWU Calls For Solid Support In Negotiations

With packinghouse workers split between two rival unions, the Federation of Fruit and Vegetable Workers (TLC) and the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, the FFVWU has issued a call for workers to support them in demands for the 1956-57 contract.

The FFVWU is at present negotiating a contract with the Federated Shippers and their demands have been turned down by the Shippers.

In a press release, the FFVWU says, "the Shippers are taking advantage of the confusion caused by the Teamsters Union and in this union's attempt to divide the workers at this most crucial time."

The demands include a wage increase of ten cents per hour and comparable increases on all piece-work rates which the Shippers say they cannot meet.

The split among workers came about here in January at the annual convention when the majority of delegates voted to join the Teamsters. Following this, the Pentiction, Vernon and one Summerland delegate walked out, refusing to join.

The press release is given over the signatures of Bert Sunderman, president; Alice Larrett, vice-president; and Clarence Holmes, secretary-treasurer.

Your union is at the moment in the process of collective bargaining with the Federated Shippers. We are the union that the Shippers must recognize and we have assumed that responsibility. We would like in this bulletin to bring you, the workers in the industry, up to date.

On February 24, we presented to the Federated Shippers the union's demands for the 1956-57 contract. The main points made by our union are:

- 1) Ten cents increase on all hourly rates.
- 2) Comparable increases on all piece-work rates.
- 3) Seven paid statutory holidays for employees who have worked 200 days in a calendar year.
- 4) Piece-work rate increase of (Continued on Page 8)

Olalla Mine Sold To Coast Man

An historic mine near Olalla has been sold to a Vancouver man by hunter-pro prospector Lind Lelievre.

The mine, containing copper and molybdenum, has been purchased by Neil H. McDiarmid who plans to start work at the mine almost immediately.

A 900 foot tunnel has already been dug and another tunnel will likely be sunk.

Several thousand tons of fairly high grade ore have been blocked out.

The mine, located about a mile from Olalla, is situated near a manganese property which is also being worked.

N.S. Apple Growers Thinking Of Central Selling Organization

Nova Scotia apple growers are mulling over a plan to establish on a voluntary basis a central marketing agency for their product.

The Annapolis Valley apple industry has been hard hit in recent years by poor markets.

Growers plan a mass meeting this afternoon in Kentville to accept or reject the marketing agency plan recommended by the directors of the Nova Scotia Fruit Growers' Association.

The central agency plan was formulated out of the report of a four man committee which investigated fruit marketing schemes in the United States and British Columbia.

The plan was approved at seven regional meetings in the valley during the past ten days.

Industry leaders in Kentville say that an 80 percent vote on approval is required to put the plan into effect.

Continuing Threat

It's spring and there is general rejoicing that the long hard winter is past, but winter has left behind a legacy of fear in the form of the heavy snow pack which, given suitable weather conditions can be transformed into a rapacious roaring flood, a flood, which in short order could turn much of British Columbia, now basking in spring sunshine, into a desolate water swept waste.

This threat is no bogeyman, as witness the news dispatch from Victoria which states:

VICTORIA — A definite flood potential exists on British Columbia's major rivers, Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston announced today.

"A very heavy accumulation of snow has developed for the entire province," he stated in releasing a report on snow pack conditions as of April 1st.

The accumulation is almost equivalent to that of 1954, the highest on record, Mr. Williston stated.

There was no serious B.C. flooding in 1954.

"A slow, steady melt without prevailing high temperatures similar to those of 1948 (B.C.'s worst flood year) could again release the snow melt without serious flooding along the principal rivers," Mr. Williston said.

He said there could be flooding of a local nature "scattered over the whole province caused by high temperatures or snow melt."

"The Okanagan and Similkameen valleys show a high potential in this regard," he said.

Here in Penticton we have our own Creek, far from tamed and which, if the weather is wrong, could only too easily overflow its banks and inundate large areas of the city with all the tragic consequences which follow in the wake of rampaging flood waters.

City Council's past and present, have recognized the danger and Penticton Creek has for years now been something of a sink hole for Penticton's tax dollars and also considerable government money has been buried in the creek.

Today the creek can take considerably more of a runoff without overflow than it could in the flood years of 1942 and 1948. There is no quarrel with the present or past councils in regard to their efforts to improve the creek channel, increasing its runoff capacity. But the fact remains, judging by the comments of the Lands and Forest Minister, that only cooperation of the weatherman can prevent the melted snow from coming down in one mad rush, spilling over the bank of rivers and creeks, and there is no assurance that our own creek will behave.

The question is — is it good enough? More than a year ago Alderman J. G. Harris put the facts on the table. He wondered then, if it would be the better part of wisdom to borrow sufficient money to flood proof Penticton Creek at one swoop, or to go on year after year with a piecemeal program which annually diverts a large sum of money into creek work, hamstringing succeeding councils to a considerable degree in their efforts to try and keep up with the city's steady expansion.

The Herald, commenting on Alderman Harris' proposals, expressed the view that it seemed the wiser policy to borrow the money and do the job at once, rather than piecemeal and we pointed out that what was paid out in interest would be a bagatelle in comparison to the cost of damage which could result from flood.

Council, at that time, although interested failed, insofar as we are aware, to thoroughly examine Alderman Harris' alternatives and so we suggest that now would be a good time to give the matter another airing.

It is true that for this spring we must trust to the benignity of the weatherman. If he is on our side — then all will be well despite the near-record snow pack in the mountains. But the weatherman is as fickle as women are said to be, and certainly not to be trusted.

There is little more that can be done at this late date concerning this year's flood threat, but it seems willy-nilly, that we're going to spend the money eventually on flood proofing the creek, so why not now? Thus we would remove for all time the threat of flood that comes with spring.

Taxpayers do not quibble at insurance taken on city owned property. We hardly think they would quibble at the extra burden of interest, when that interest would represent all time flood insurance.

Civil Defence And The New Weapons

Seventh in a series of 24 articles

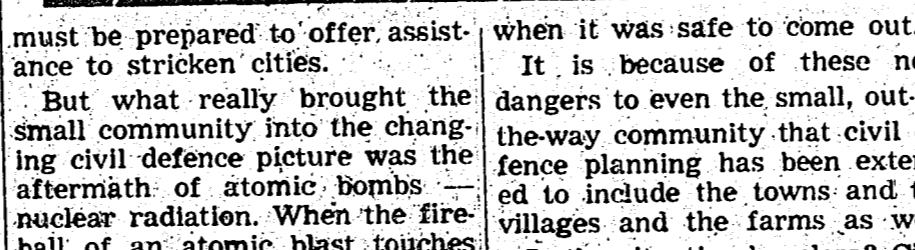

The evolution of weapons with greater and greater powers of devastation has made civil defence as vital to the small community as it is to the large city. Basically, the danger threatened by war is the same as ever: destruction, death and injury. But, says F. F. Worthington, federal civil defence co-ordinator:

"While the over-all effects of a mass saturation raid such as took place in the summer of 1943 on Hamburg was tremendous, the atomic bomb is capable of creating the same degree of destruction from one bomber and one bomb in a matter of a few minutes. In consequence, our danger is very much greater."

So civil defence today is different in many ways from that which was used during the Second World War. It has had to change as the threats of new weapons changed.

The single atomic bomb that fell on Hiroshima in August, 1945, destroyed 62,000 of 90,000 buildings and damaged 6,000 more beyond repair. As a result of the bomb, 80,000 of the city's 250,000 population died. The first H-bomb tested destroyed everything within three miles, severely damaged everything within seven miles and lightly damaged as far as 10 miles. More powerful bombs have since been tested.

It became apparent, says the federal co-ordinator that civil defence planning had to be revised. Emphasis was shifted from a policy of "duck and cover" to one of "evacuation" where time permits. That's where the smaller communities come in. They must be prepared to offer assistance to stricken cities.

But what really brought the small community into the changing civil defence picture was the aftermath of atomic bombs — nuclear radiation. When the fireball of an atomic blast touches the ground, it pulverizes everything — brick, steel, stone, earth — in its path.

These highly radioactive particles are sucked into the air as high as 80,000 feet. Air currents catch them up and carry them until they slowly drift to the ground as "fall-out." This fall-out may cover an area 150 or more miles long and 40 miles wide, depending on air currents. The danger it presents also varies depending on the length of time it has drifted in the sky. Animal life touched by fall-out radiation may die or become severely ill.

But this threat is far from hopeless. The radioactivity of fall-out decays rapidly and danger has largely disappeared, usually, within 48 hours. A community could escape the danger if it were prepared. First it must have means of learning when and where the fall-out may appear. Then it must be prepared to take adequate shelter, quickly, for at least 48 hours. A community would then need to know wage rates as they were at Dec. 31, 1955.

4. A further increase of three percent effective June 1, 1957, such increase also to be computed on the rates of Dec. 31, 1955.

5. The collective agreement to be operative from Jan. 1, 1956, to Dec. 31, 1957, or for a period of two years.

6. A contributory health and welfare plan to be put into effect no later than Jan. 1, 1957, with the plan to cost five cents per hour per employee, of which the companies would contribute one-half.

7. The addition of one paid statutory holiday — Thanksgiving Day — during 1956, and the addition of another — Victoria Day — during 1957.

Both days are observed now but are not paid for.

The findings of the board, released by Labor Minister Milton F. Gregg, are not binding on either party to the dispute.

The recommendations, if adopted, would affect employees of the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Railways, the Toronto, Hamilton and Buffalo Railway Company, Ontario Northland Railway, and the Algoma Central and Hudson Bay Railway.

The Board's recommendations compared with these union demands:

1. An 18 percent general wage boost retroactive to Jan. 1, 1956.

2. An extra eight cents an hour to be paid by the companies to cover the cost of a health and welfare plan.

3. Eight statutory holidays off with pay.

4. An extra day's pay for monthly-rated employees in a pay period during which one of the holidays fell.

Thirty cents for the use of small children will be carried aboard the new Canadian Pacific flagship Empress of Britain.

Credit Unionists Given Appreciation At Summerland C.U.

John Caldwell, Roy Smith, and Gordon Beggs, were honored by Summerland Credit Union last night.

At a directors meeting in the Credit Union building at West Summerland, the president, Mrs. John Caldwell, presented each of them with a leather wallet. Each wallet had the name of the recipient inscribed on it, and an appreciation of their work in CU for nine years or more either on the board of directors or as committee members.

Bible Holiness Mission Holds Rally At School Auditorium

Last night, the Bible Holiness Mission held a missionary rally in the high school auditorium featuring the documentary motion picture, "To Every Creature". The film vividly illustrated the need for Christian missions, and how their effectiveness can be increased through the use of modern communication and transportation.

Evangelist Wesley H. Wakefield said that the rally marked the sixth anniversary of organizing the Mission. He told of its evangelistic work in Nigeria, food relief to India, radio broadcast in Liebia, and the publishing of Gospel literature.

Evangelist T. Goodwin of the Christian Youth Mission in Oregon spoke briefly of the great need of overseas missions. He said that it is estimated that 87 percent born into the world are of non-white races, and reminded the rally that the gospel is a worldwide message, not confined to any race or nation.

Rev. J. James of the Free Methodist Church in Summerland also took part in the rally. He told of the personal change the gospel had made in his life.

Closing the rally, Evangelist Wakefield said, "We must be on the march with the gospel message," and warned against doing "too little, too late" in evangelizing the unreached millions.

Natural Gas

natural gas will bring a tremendous economic uplift to all of B.C.," the mayor told the utilities commission.

Natural gas is cheaper than any fuel in Penticton except sawdust, Mayor Matson said. He predicted development of new industries if this cheap source of fuel is obtained. Penticton's present economy is based mainly on fruit and lumber industries.

"I sincerely hope Inland Natural Gas will be granted a franchise," he said. "It will mean a tremendous economic uplift to all of B.C."

Penticton was first in the Okanagan valley to support overall distribution of the gas, he said.

Other centres represented at the hearing will include Kelowna and Vernon.

M.P. Gives Grace Kelly Year Of Wedded Life

OTTAWA — (BUP) — Grace Kelly's marriage to Prince Rainier of Monaco will last only a year, according to British Columbia Member of Parliament Tom Goode (L-Burnaby-Richmond).

He made the prediction to the commons' foreign affairs committee yesterday while flaying "the sickening amount of space" given in newspapers to the romance compared with that devoted to other international affairs.

"The marriage will most likely last only a year," Goode said. "External affairs are being treated on a very junior basis."

External Affairs Minister Lester B. Pearson added, "I don't flatter myself that anything I may say will compete in popular interest with the developments in Monaco."

Herb James Off On Europe Trip

Six to eight months touring the British Isles and the Continent are in the plans of Herb James, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. James, of this city, who left here on Saturday for Quebec accompanied by Harvey Gee and Bob Shumay of Vernon. The young men will embark from the eastern seaport to travel to England on the SS Seven Seas.

Herb, who is the immediate past Master Counsellor of the Penticton Order of the De Molay, was the honored guest when members of the local lodge and of the Penticton Bethel of Job's Daughters held a farewell party on Tuesday in the recreation room at the firehall. He was the recipient of a gift from his lodge.

More voters turned out to support the natural gas plebiscite late last summer than usually vote at the municipal elections, he said.

Approximately 37 percent of the 13,000 population voted.

The company will provide all installations, complete to meters in the homes.

Letters to the Editor

The Editor, Penticton Herald, Penticton, B.C.

FINAL WORD

The mayor is to be congratulated about his remark "that now your writer Mr. Sid Godber has something to write about other than himself."

That article especially dealing with how the said Mr. Godber mastered the smoking habit was a masterpiece. I too mastered this habit but I did not take up any space in your paper to tell people about it until now.

Also I wish to thank Alderman D. Southworth for his very honest and down to earth view when he told the general council meeting that he would not be afraid to take any of the cubs — young squats — into my establishment. This remark at the council meeting however was not reported by you.

I, too, may therefore have a moral purpose, instead of a purely commercial purpose in establishing my premises, Mr. Godber notwithstanding. Naturally I have to earn my living as well as Mr. Godber.

I resent his holler than thou attitude, but as far as the Pentiction Herald is concerned this is my final word in this matter except that a certain George Laylor whom Mr. Godber writes about in these last several columns of his, expresses his own views and opinions solely and has nothing to do with my personal affairs whatsoever.

"SEE B.C. FIRST"

With vacations just around the corner we British Columbians would do well to give consideration to some of the amenities of our beautiful province when planning annual holidays.

The variety and grandeur of our scenery is sufficient recommendation for a "See B.C. First" holiday. Consider, too, the facilities for sport and amusement to be found here.

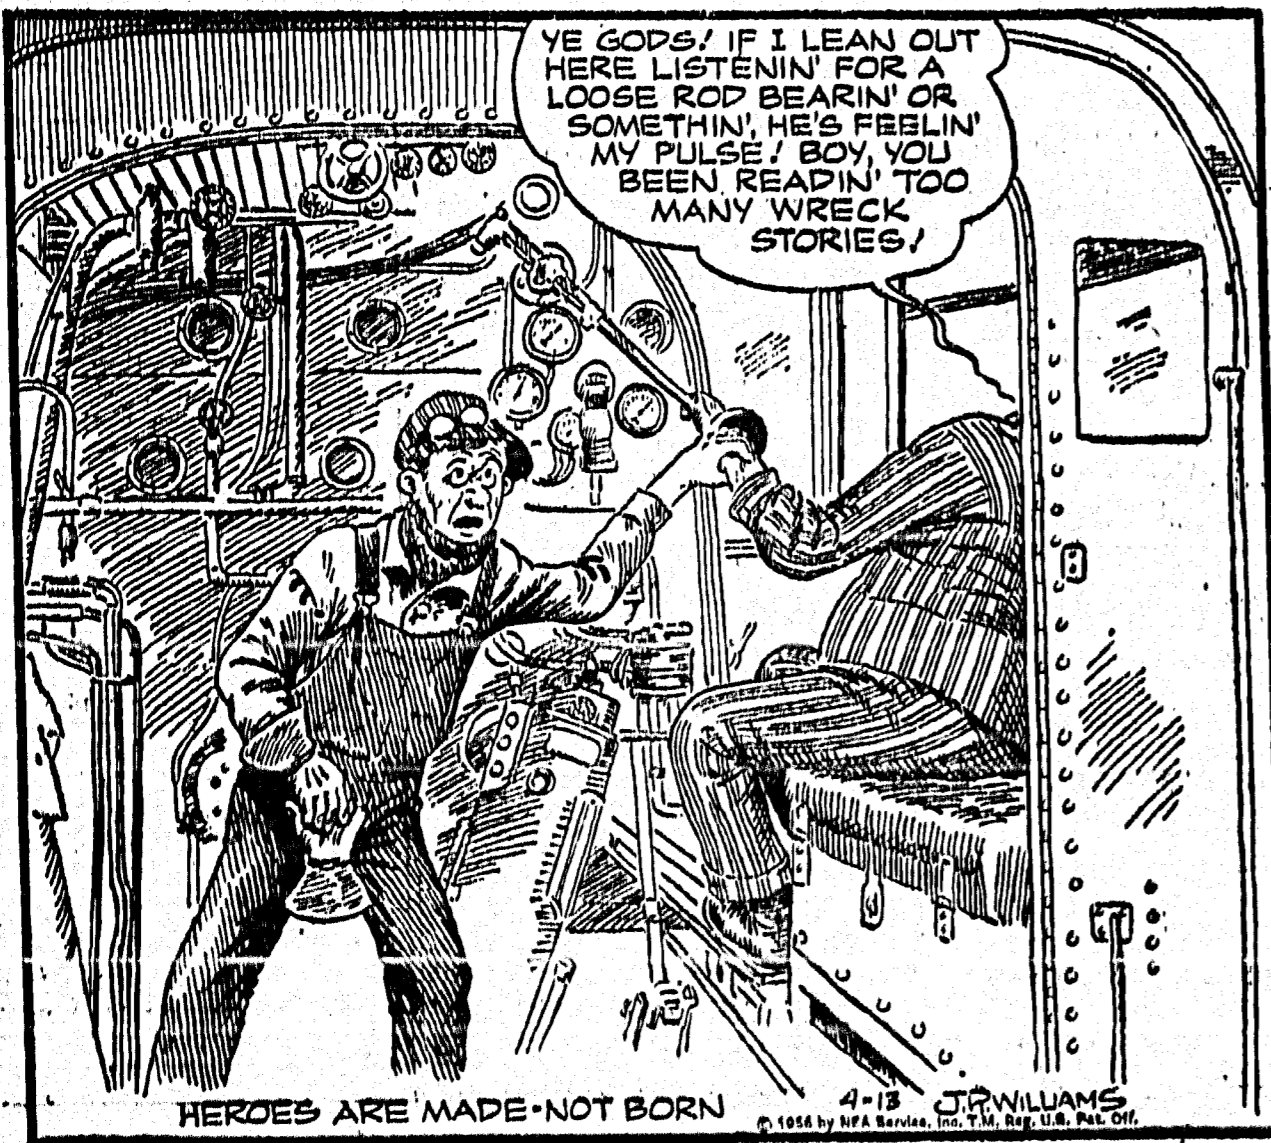

Speaking with a visitor the other day, I was delighted to hear of his pleasure at our wonderful scenery. He seemed surprised that everyone living here appeared to take our wealth of beauty so much for granted.

It would be stimulating to feel that more British Columbians are deciding on vacations within our own province. I feel sure next year they will want to see still more of the scenic wonderland that is British Columbia.

Arliss Fulkerson, Bride Of Murray Lee Nicholson At Pretty Spring Rites

A profusion of bright spring blooms banked the altar at the First Methodist Church in Oroville, Washington, for the pretty evening ceremony on April 5 at which Arlyss Marilyn Fulkerson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Fulkerson, of this city, became the bride of Murray Lee Nicholson, son of Mrs. Cliff L. Hultgren, also of Pentiction. Rev. J. Jones was the officiating clergyman.

The dark-haired bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was charming in a suit of sandalwood rose with wedgewood blue shoes and accessories and tiny white flowered hat with velvet trim of blue to accent her accessories. An orchid centred her corsage of Talisman roses.

The bride's only attendant was her cousin, Mrs. William Cousins, who was attractively attired in a navy blue ensemble with pink accessories and matching carnation corsage.

Robert Nelson of Summerland was best man.

A dinner reception followed for relatives of the young couple in the private dining room at Pao's. The beautifully appointed table was centred with pastel blooms and a three tier wedding cake.

Among the guests at the pretty spring wedding were the principals' parents; the bride's grandmother, Mrs. K. Bonham of this city, and the groom's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. V. M. Lockwood from Summerland.

Following a motor trip honeymoon to Vancouver Mr. and Mrs. Nicholson will take up residence in Pentiction.

St. Saviour's Guild Plans Social Evening

The Guild to St. Saviour's Anglican Church will sponsor another in the popular series of social evenings with the showing of films on Monday at 8 p.m. in the parish hall.

Plans for the evening were finalized when the Guild met on Wednesday afternoon in the lower parish hall under the chairmanship of Mrs. J. D. Southworth.

Mrs. R. F. Campbell and Mrs. C. G. Bennett are co-convening the social evening. Refreshments will be served and an invitation to attend has been extended to members of St. Saviour's and their friends.

MR. AND MRS. L. E. HUNTER

Olive Mary Austin And Larry Edward Hunter Married At Summerland

Roses indicated the guest pews in St. Andrew's United Church, Summerland, on Saturday evening at half-past five when Olive Mary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Austin, West Summerland, was united in marriage with Larry Edward Hunter of Cultus Lake, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hunter of Nelson.

The church was beautifully decorated with tulips and spring flowers.

Rev. C. O. Richmond, minister of the church, performed the ceremony.

The young bride was radiant as she entered the church on the arm of her father who gave her in marriage. She had chosen a satin with net and lace wedding gown in ballerina length. A wisp of a lace bolero had longilly pointed sleeves and Peter Pan collar.

Her veil of fine net was embroidered and the edge was scalloped to fit a scalloped pearl trimmed little cap. The bridal bouquet was of red roses and white carnations.

As bridesmaid, Mrs. Ronald Austin, of Westbridge, the bride's sister-in-law, wore a charming cocktail length aqua silk lace frock over taffeta with matching net bolero.

Ross Keeley of Yellowknife was the best man and the ushers were the bride's brothers, William Austin and Ronald Austin.

Mrs. Delmar Dunham was the organist and while the register was signed Mrs. Flora Bergstrom sang "O Perfect Love". Guests were received by the bride's parents at the reception following at their home on Hospital Hill, the bridal party assisting.

George Washington was master of ceremonies and Norman Clark of Pentiction proposed a toast to the bride to which the groom replied.

Mr. Keeley gave the toast to the bride and groom and to the bride's parents.

The three-tiered wedding cake decorated in pink and white with pink wedding bells was surrounded with tulips, roses and lighted candles on the bride's table.

Serving were friends of the bride, Miss Louise Shannon, Miss Carol Christmas, and Miss Loma Alexander of Cloverdale.

For the honeymoon trip to be spent in Seattle, California, and Nelson, the bride changed to a brown flecked suit with beige accessories and a corsage of a beautiful double orchid.

The young couple will make their home at Cultus Lake.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. H. Creelman of Victoria; Izzy Barritt of Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Foster; Mr. and Mrs. Frank O'Connell; Mr. and Mrs. D. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. A. Moorman, Cecil Hooker, Charles Riley, Bill Lawless and Norman Clark, of Pentiction; Mrs. J. Shields and Roger Austin of Quesnel.

The children were named, Deloras Marion, Donna Louise, Gwenneth Ann, Trudy Lynn and the baby, Kenneth Bruce. Here for Easter week and the christening were Miss Agnes Wilson and Geoffrey Burrows, both of Prince George; Mr. and Mrs. Lucak and daughter, Osyous; also present for tea were the children's great-grandmother, Mrs. Allan Wilson; Mrs. Gibson and Mrs. W. D. Miller.

Tea And Craft Display At Naramata Church School

NARAMATA — Novel Easter egg trees centred each small tea table and brightly colored spring blooms ornamented the main table at the successful tea held on Wednesday afternoon by the Women's Federation of the Naramata United Church at the Leadership Training School in conjunction with the annual display of student handicraft.

Guests were received during the afternoon by Mrs. R. P. Stobie. Among those invited to preside at the beautifully appointed tea table were Mrs. Ernest Sammel, Mrs. Fred Baker, Mrs. N. F. R. Wheatley and Mrs. Thomas Dickout.

In addition to the attractive display of student handicraft, a sale of homecooking was held under the supervision of Mrs. Janet Stiffe and Mrs. Wesley Cairn-Duff.

Among the many Federation members heading committees and assisting in various ways with the success of the annual project were Mrs. Philip Rounds, decorations; Mrs. Verne Thomson, tables; Mrs. Walter Greenwood, kitchen; and Mrs. J. D. Tillar, tea tickets.

Women's Federation president Mrs. W. R. McFarlane and Mrs. Margaret D. Weir from the LTS were in charge of the tea arrangements.

Anniversary Dinner Honors Couple At Okanagan Falls

OKANAGAN FALLS — Thirty friends and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Goldsby held a dinner in their honor on the occasion of their silver wedding anniversary.

The tables were gaily decorated with daffodils and the head table was adorned with a three tier wedding cake.

Allen Osaphear proposed the toast to the couple and a chest of silverware was presented to them. Following this every one enjoyed a social evening.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Wilson, Marvin Wilson, Scott McIvor and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Mercier, all of Nelson; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Leblanc of Lumby; Mr. and Mrs. Allan Osaphear of Keremeos; and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Huyens of Pentiction.

Fashion Shows Daily Affairs For Buyers

Twice a year, in spring and fall, fashion models glide along ramps in the fashion capitals of the world and make world news.

When the previews are over and the journalists and foreign buyers have gone, the showings continue day after day for customers and others.

In the average house, the work of hundreds of people has gone into the collection.

Norman Hartnell for instance employs 200 women in his work rooms. Most London designers have only about 100 but Hartnell needs more for the lavish embroidery on his dresses.

The ideas for the spring collections begin taking shape in the fall. Most designers take a vacation after the fall collection. Last fall Digby Morton went to North Africa, and the native costumes are reflected in his clothes. Michael of London went to Greece.

The designers jot down sketches on odd pieces of paper or on the backs of envelopes. Inspiration may come from a certain fabric, from the sight of a coat blown by the wind... almost anything can give a designer an idea.

The designer's sketches go to the tailors and cutters where they are made up in canvas and fitted on plaster dummies. The cutters, usually women, are in charge of dresses. In London the tailors are mainly men. They're responsible for coats and suits.

The actual sewing and finishing of the models is done by the work room girls. Before every preview, designers keep their fingers crossed. A flu epidemic in the workshops could wreck the collection.

Then, one of the half-dozen model girls may fall ill. This would be a tragedy, since each outfit is made for a particular girl and fits her perfectly.

Tension mounts before the opening day. Crises arise and are dealt with. A reporter visiting the London salon of Michael before a collection found him busily stitching a hat he had designed.

Some 45,000 hand towels will be used aboard the new Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Britain.

President Of Rebekahs Makes Official Visit To Pentiction Lodge

More than a hundred members of Rebekah lodges from Kelowna, Summerland, Oliver and Pentiction were guests at a banquet tendered them on Tuesday evening in the IOOF Hall by Pentiction Oddfellows prior to the annual official visit of Mrs. Charles Kolofsky, president of the Rebekah Assembly of British Columbia, to Redland Rebekah Lodge No. 12.

Formalities of the evening commenced at 7:30 p.m. when the noble grand of the Redlands Rebekahs, Mrs. John Fidyk, opened the lodge meeting according to ritualistic procedure.

The reception committee, Mrs. P. F. Erant and Mrs. Earl Hughes conducted the assembly president and the assembly marshal, Mrs. L. Armstrong, into the lodge room where the latter officiated to introduce Mrs. Kolofsky and other distinguished members.

Among those receiving this lodge honor were Mrs. Frank Taylor, Pentiction, past president of the Rebekah Assembly; Mrs. F. E. Atkinson, Summerland, past president; Mrs. Ira Betts, Pentiction, past treasurer; Wesley Manning, Pentiction, past patriarch; Mrs. Harvey Mitchell, Summerland, district deputy president; and R. McInroy, deputy grand master from Kelowna.

Five new members were initiated when the Rebekah degree were exemplified for the assembly president; Mrs. Charles Quick, Mrs. May Hanson, Mrs. Don Clark, Mrs. Harold Peel and Frank Evans. Solo selections by members of the Redland Rebekahs provided an impressive musical background for the pleasing ceremonies.

Mrs. Kolofsky, in addressing the meeting, chose "Rebekah Oddfellowship" for the theme of her official message. This was followed with two presentations to her; a cheque to be applied to the Oddfellow-Rebekah fund, and a gift from the Past Noble Grand's Club with the club's president, Mrs. Ruby White, making the presentation.

Following the closing of the meeting coffee and cake were served under the supervision of the Redlands social committee.

Set Dates For Allan Cup; May Be Chatham Tonight

Chatham Maroons were favored to go into the Allan Cup hockey finals tonight by taking the Saint John Beavers in the fifth game of their eastern Canada championship series.

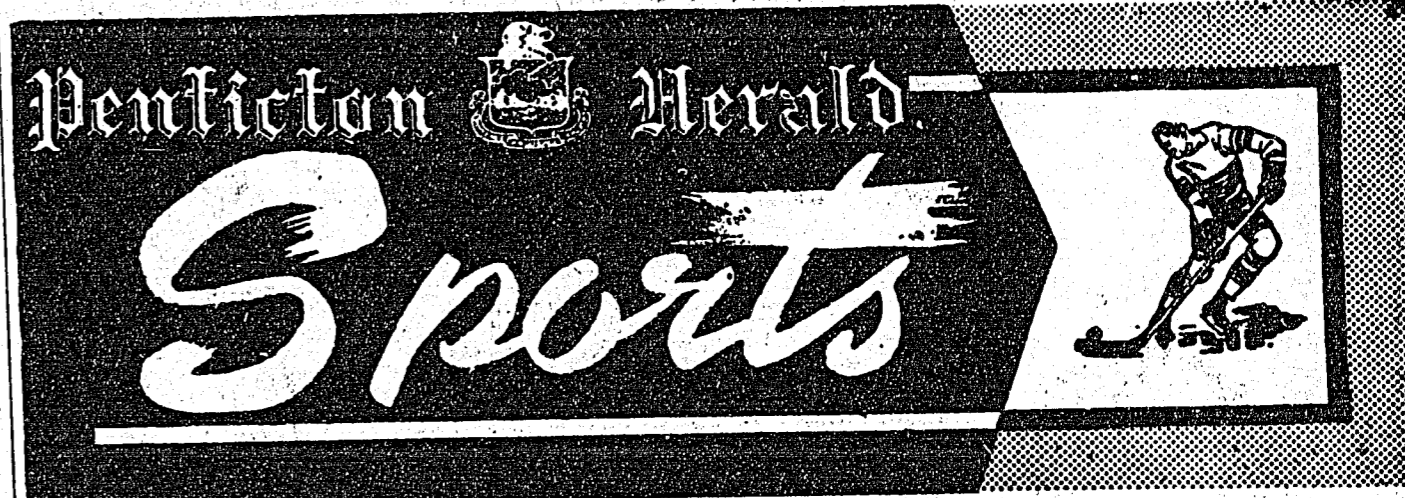

Winner travels here to the Okanagan for the "big one" against Vernon Canadians.

Meanwhile in Kelowna, Dr. Mel Butler has released the play schedule. All games will be in the Okanagan and although the venues have not been chosen, Kelowna and Kamloops will all likely see games. The ice has been removed from the Penticton arena.

First four games of the best of seven finals will be played April 19, 21, 23 and 25. If the remaining three games are necessary, they will go April 27, 28 and 30.

Chatham Coach Murph Chamberlain said he had warned his players not to be over-confident. "We will be going full-out all the way tonight. We don't want to spoil things by being too cocky," he said. "And those Beavers have been giving us a tough time."

Beavers' Coach Steve Brklacich admitted his team had been on the losing end when the penalties were being handed out. "I guess we must play a rougher type of game down in the Maritimes than you up here," he said. "And the boys just don't seem to have really found their feet, although we'll keep trying to the very end."

Fish, Game Delegates Meet This Weekend

About 40 delegates will gather here tomorrow for the two-day convention of the Interior Zone Fish, Game and Forest Protective Association.

They will represent the areas from Revelstoke, Merritt, the Okanagan and Similkameen valleys.

Many resolutions are to be dealt with and those of importance to the province as a whole will be forwarded to the provincial convention which is slated for Prince George in May.

Delegates will gather for a dance and buffet supper aboard SS Sicamous tomorrow night. They will commence deliberations on Sunday morning at the Inola Hotel, concluding Monday afternoon.

The meeting will be opened by Des Haddleton, president of the Penticton Fish and Game Club while chairman of the convention will be George Harmon, of Princeton, president of the Interior club.

Bert Didn't Make The Sound

SEATTLE (BUP) — Plucky Bert Thomas of Tacoma, says he will make another attempt at swimming Puget Sound from Seattle to Tacoma in about two weeks.

The husky logger was pulled from the water last night about five miles from his destination, beaten by tides, cold and a cramp in his leg.

He was in the 42 degree water almost nine hours and was stiff and sore when pulled aboard the fishing boat "Memory". He said the water was colder than in the strait of Juan de Fuca which is 43-44 degrees.

Scientists at the University of Washington where Thomas has been used as a guinea pig for endurance tests say that 42 degrees is the lowest temperature a swimmer can stand for any period of time.

Decide Size Of Canuck Olympic Hoop Team Later

The Canadian Olympic Association will wait until this summer to decide on the size of the team to send to this year's games in Melbourne, Australia.

The association met in Toronto during the week-end, but failed to reach a decision. It was decided to bring the matter up at the June 16 meeting in Montreal. A. S. Davies of Montreal, Canada's representative on the international Olympic Council, says that only 50 per cent of the funds needed to send a Canadian team to Australia have been raised. He said attempts to increase the size of the team would hurt the original aim.

It was originally decided to send 104 athletes and officials, but requests were made at Saturday's meeting to increase the number to 125 persons. The additional cost would be 25-thousand dollars.

Joe Walcott Must Testify

CHICAGO — (BUP) — Jersey Joe Walcott will be asked to tell all he knows about corruption in boxing before a Cook County grand jury on Monday.

The former heavyweight champion of the world was subpoenaed yesterday to testify about charges he made on radio and television broadcasts.

Walcott, who took the world title away from Ezzard Charles in 1951 and lost it to Rocky Marciano in 1952, said on a TV program that boxing needed strong men to "clean it up".

Less than 24 hours later, a process server walked up to him at a fight movie he is plugging here and said, "Joe, I want to shake the hand of a champion." Instead of shaking hands he handed him a subpoena to appear Monday before the Cook County grand jury.

State's Attorney John Gutknecht said "there's been a number of reports that he's been saying he knows about corruption in the fight game in Cook County and Chicago. If he has any knowledge of it, we want it."

Walcott had a heated argument with Illinois Boxing Commissioner Lou Radzinda on one of the TV programs. He alleged there were many unsavory figures in boxing, but he didn't name any names.

Assistant District Attorney Frank Forehol said Jersey Joe has "led us to believe he may have certain information" which concern laws of the state of Illinois that may have been broken in boxing.

Walcott said he will consult with a lawyer and remain in Chicago for his appearance before the grand jury.

TORONTO MAPLE LEAFS NAME MEEKER TO BENCH

TORONTO, (BUP) — The Toronto Maple Leafs stole the hockey spotlight from the Stanley Cup champion Montreal Canadiens by naming a new coach.

Little Howie Meeker — a one time member of parliament — is the new man behind the bench, succeeding King Clancy who stepped aside after three years to become assistant general manager. Terms of the one-year contract were not disclosed.

SMYTHE ANNOUNCES

The announcement was made by club president Conn Smythe following a conference with the former Leaf right winger.

The 32-year-old Meeker became the sixth coach of the Maple Leafs since they joined the National Hockey League 30 years ago.

The five-foot-eight, 165 pound coach jumped to the Leafs in 1946 and played seven full years with Toronto. He started his coaching career with the Stratford Indians and has piloted the Pittsburgh Hornets, Toronto farm club, for the past two seasons.

INSIDE TRACK

Turk Broda and Alf Pike also were mentioned along with Meeker as the likeliest candidates for the job, but Meeker was believed to have had the inside track all along.

He won the American Hockey League championship in his first year and went on to win the Calder Cup playoffs. This year Meeker's "Hornets" finished behind Providence and were eliminated by Cleveland in the semi-final round.

WON CALDER TROPHY

The Kitchener, Ontario, native won the Calder Trophy in 1947 as the top rookie in the NHL. He scored 27 goals and 18 assists for 45 points that year and never matched that output again in his next six years with the Leafs.

Toronto finished the regular NHL season in a fourth place and was ousted out in the semi-final Stanley Cup playoffs by Detroit in five games.

Babe Ruth League Opens May 28; Ray Ward Elected Loop President

The Babe Ruth league for boys 13, 14 and 15 years will commence their schedule on May 28 with a parade and first league games.

Date was set at the annual meeting held Wednesday night in the Board of Trade Rooms.

Four teams will each play 12 games.

In choosing an executive for 1956, Ray Ward was elected president, Chuck Blacklock vice-president, Ray Preston secretary, Lynn Coates treasurer, and directors Wayne Loughheed, Ray Ferguson, Cliff Hamilton, Les Wikeman, Phil Salling, Peter Tomlin and George Christie.

League teams will again be Love's Lunch, Interior Contracting, Pye and Hillyard Sportland and Poutres Bakery.

First call for registration is April 21 at a time and place to be announced.

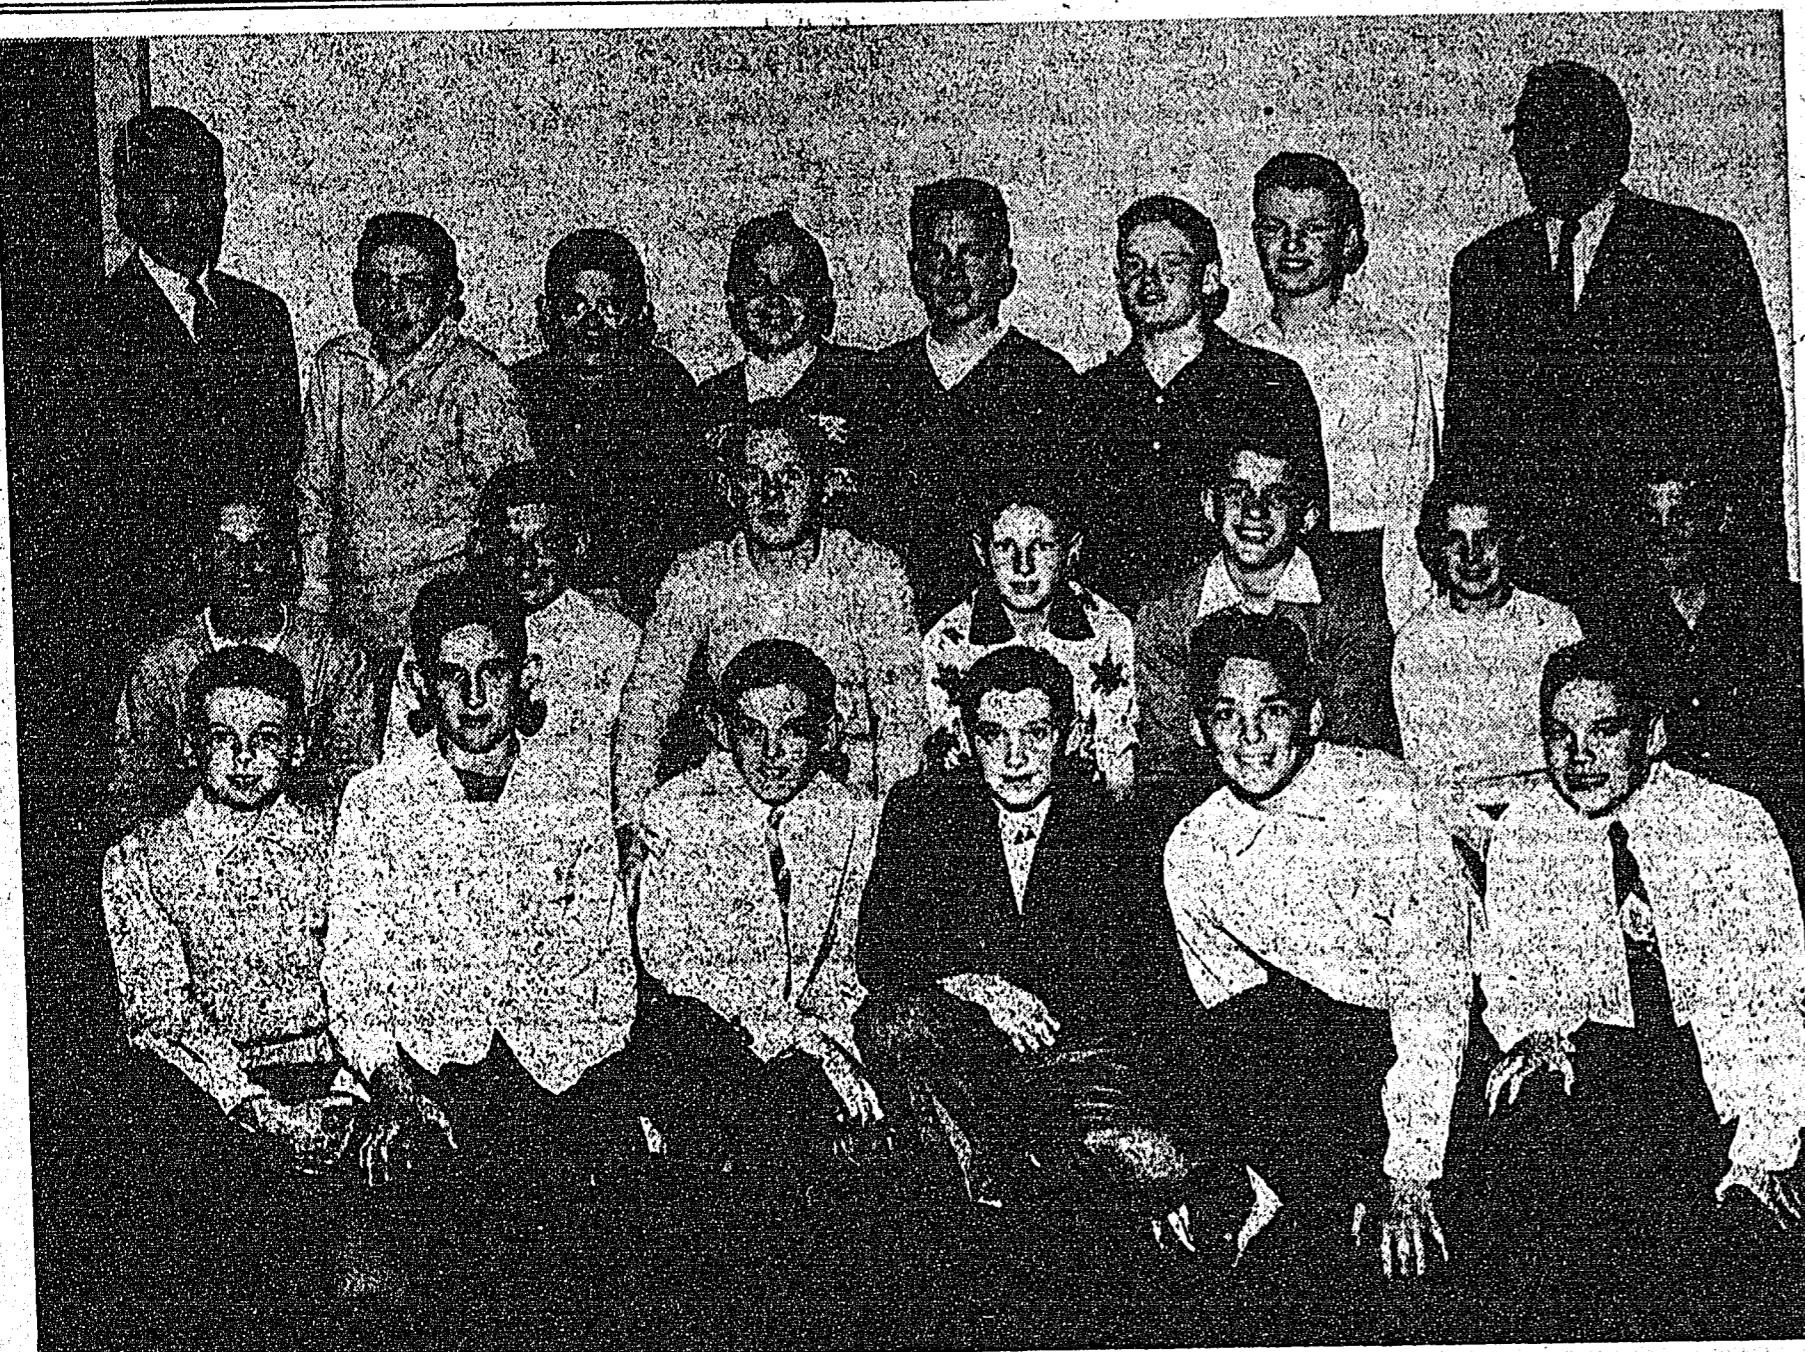

A junior league for youths in the next age group will also be operated this year under the guidance of the senior team, the Red Sox.

Plans for this league will likely be formulated next week.

Marlies Lead In Memorial Finals

MONTREAL (BUP) — The Toronto Marlies pulled a big upset last night by beating the hand-picked Montreal Junior Canadiens, five-nothing, in the second game of the Eastern Canada Memorial Cup final. The Marlies now lead the series two-games to nothing.

A stunned home crowd looked on as the Marlies romped to victory. Bob Pulford and Bob Nevins each scored twice while Ken Girard added the final marker. The third game will be played in Montreal Sunday afternoon.

Certificates For Little Leaguers

It was pretty noisy at times in one of the banquet rooms of the Prince Charles Hotel last night. But it was all in the best of good fun and no harm done.

GRADUATION CERTIFICATES

Little Leaguers were enjoying a dinner and entertainment in what for most of them was a sort of start to the season, and there was no end of applause at the least excuse. But there was a bit of a lump in the throat for some of them, too, it seemed, as about two dozen of them received their "graduation certificates", leaving Little League activity as over-age veterans.

The banquet was presided over by the league's president, Dr. A. E. Wells, who welcomed the crowded roomful of youngsters, the executive, managers, and coaches, all of whom enjoyed the program worked out by Howard Logan for the occasion.

GOOD SPORTS

"We've tried our level best to have you learn how to play ball," remarked Frank Miggins, past president of the league, in presenting the certificates. "But we've been even more interested in making good sports of you, good winners but also good losers."

Harry Clarke and "Rusty" Desaulnier were the mainstays of the bingo program, with "Bright" (Danny) Coe won two in a row) and the evening was rounded out by a program of Little League films shown through the kindness of Gordon Harris.

Winner of the watch, the prize at stake in the ticket selling effort of the boys which provided all the funds for the banquet, was announced as B. Elliott.

"WE'VE TRIED TO MAKE YOU GOOD SPORTS as well as good players," said Frank Miggins at last night's Little League banquet as he presented certificates to "veterans" who are leaving the league's play because of their ripe old age on entering their teens. One of the recipients, caught by the Herald camera, was popular Gilbert Goodman, who wore the Legion's uniform.

Will Investigate Conkle Lake Road

OSOYOOS — The Osoyoos Fish and Game Club not only has prospects of getting a road into Conkle Lake but has now got to choose between two routes.

At their meeting on Monday they heard representations from two interests headed by Frank Martin, who is going to build a resort on the south end of the lake, and Norman Vernon who has plans for the north end of the lake. The south route is expected to be the easier to complete but is much longer and the last half mile is very steep.

The north end road is believed to be a better and easier route to follow but there is still about four miles to build and a bridge to be put across Little Fish Creek.

A committee of Osoyoos Fish and Game club members and a representative from the Southern Okanagan Sportsmen Association from Oliver and from the Oroville Sportsmen Club will investigate both routes as soon as the four or five feet of snow that covers the area melts.

The club delegated president Cecil Cope and John Giffit to represent the club at the Southern Interior Fish, Game and Forest Protective Association convention in Penticton on April 15 and 16.

The ice is now off Osoyoos Lake entirely and a few fish are being taken. The Osoyoos Lake trout derby is underway and there has been a good response to the derby tickets.

Local Pony Club Meets Tomorrow

Closing date for membership in the Penticton Pony Club with the exception of those who have ponies is tomorrow.

Those with ponies are asked to be at the Riding Club arena tomorrow at 1:45 p.m. those without ponies at 2:30 p.m.

Youngsters without transportation are asked to be at St. Saviour's Anglican Parish Hall at 2:15 p.m.

CANUCKS VS. MAROONS

VANCOUVER (BUP) — The Western League final series second game will be played here tonight. The Canucks won the first game of the best-of-seven series against the Winnipeg Maroons, the surprise team of the league's prairie division.

REDS LEAD

CLEVELAND (UP) — The American League Calder Cup final can be sewn up here tonight. The League-champion Providence Reds hold a commanding three-nothing lead in games over the Barons.

Willie Mays Returns Home

NEW YORK, (UP) — Slugger Willie Mays of the New York Giants is returning home, but manager Will Rigney says it has nothing to do with Willie's slump.

A New York newspaper — the Post — says Mays has been ordered to rest. He has only one hit in his last 13 times at bat. Rigney has a different story; Rigney says Willie must sign a lease for his new home by Saturday. The manager says he was going to give Mays a day off anyway and promises Willie will be back with the club.

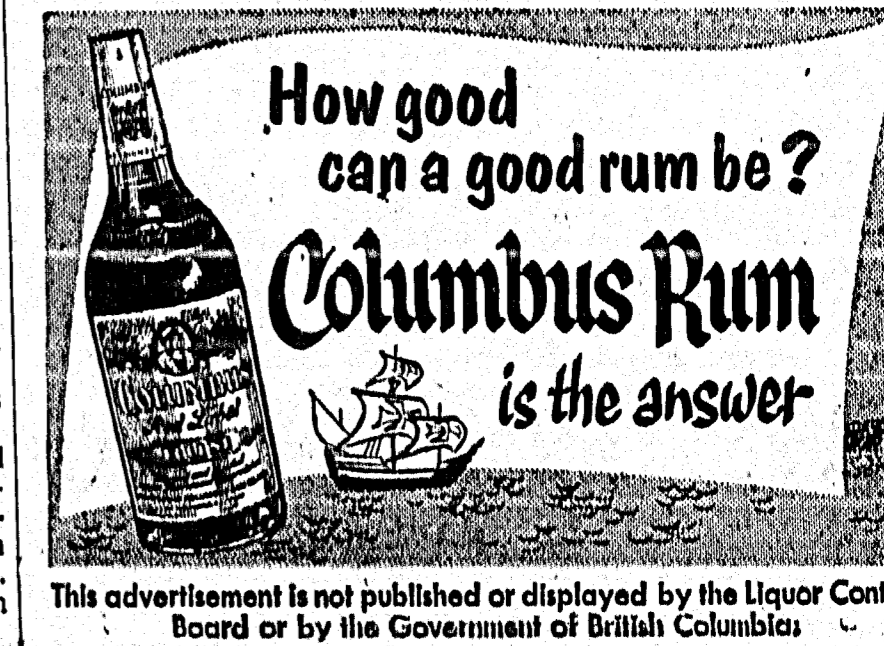

In other baseball news, Brooklyn has sent Montreal four players... pitcher Dave Cole, catcher Homer Howell, shortstop Chico Fernandez and outfielder Bob Wilson... manager Mike Higgins says rookie Don Buddin will start the season as Boston shortstop... former American league outfielder Ed McGhee has signed with Toronto after changing his mind about retiring... National League president Warren Giles says he wishes more minor league teams were home-owned instead of being part of major league farm systems.

Liberal Flays Opposition, But Criticizes Own

OTTAWA (BUP) — A plea for the government to assist exploitation of Canada's interior turned into a biting attack against opposition "agitators" in the Commons last night.

J. M. Dechene (L-Atabaska) flayed Socialist and Social Credit hecklers and jeered at their interjections.

"Agitators," he shouted pointing at a group of socialists. "They are the people who begin to tell people how unhappy they are."

"Their policy is one of discouragement to further their own ends. They are the ones who fomented trouble among the early settlers out west."

Dechene urged the government to build branch railroads in northern Alberta and link isolated farming communities with the cities.

He also called for Churchill to be made into a free port "which would allow the farmers of the west to compete with the farmers of the east."

"Natural gas is being burnt off to waste in Alberta" the Liberal member said in one of the most outspoken criticisms from the Liberal benches this session.

"While we in the East have not got gas, it's a case of 'fiddling while Rome burns in the West.'"

"Our oilfields have enough oil for 500,000,000,000 and from it enough tar to pave every road and street in the nation. It's there just waiting to be utilized."

The area we must develop," Dechene added, "is from Hudson Bay and Fort William to the Pacific Ocean — there is a whole empire waiting to be opened up there."

Another Attempt To Reorganize Hospital Board

CRANBROOK (BUP) — Kimberley Hospital Society's failure to find a single nomination to its board of stewards following the blanket resignation of the existing board was the chief topic of discussion at the annual meeting of the East Kootenay Regional Hospitals Association in Cranbrook.

In resigning, Kimberley board members explained that the freeze order of the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service created an impossible situation.

Their annual society meeting has been reconvened this week to find whether nominations will be acceptable now that the BCHIS has undertaken to cover one-third of operating deficits. Similar financial situation of operating under the freeze order exists in most of the East Kootenay hospitals which include Golden, Invermere, Fernie, Creston and Kimberley.

U.S. Distributes Vast Quantities Of Surplus Foods

WASHINGTON (UP) — The agriculture department donated 1.4 billion pounds of surplus foods worth $14.4 million to needy persons in the United States and abroad during the first nine months of fiscal 1956. Donations for the July-March period were 85 per cent larger than during the same period a year ago.

Schools, public institutions and needy persons in the United States received 539.9 million pounds of foods worth $104.8 million, 42.9 per cent more than in the same period the previous year. Donations to needy persons in 74 foreign countries totalled 840.3 million pounds worth $249.6 million.

Queen Approved Engravings Says Finance Minister

OTTAWA (BUP) — The Queen herself approved the photograph from which the engravings were made for Canadian bank notes. Finance Minister Walter Harris made the disclosure in the Commons in answer to opposition criticism.

The Social Credit member for Lethbridge, John Blackmore, asked the name of the person who made the engraving which shows the face of the devil in the curls in the Queen's hair.

Harris said the engraving was made by an employee of a bank note company. Harris announced earlier that the engravings were being changed.

The growing importance of Penticton as a distribution centre and location for branch offices for sales and service purposes was again illustrated this week with the announcement by W. Dudley Clapp that his firm, Western Air Cooled Engines Ltd., has opened offices and warehouses here in Penticton.

The local firm located at 532 Main Street will be known as Western Air Cooled Engines (Penticton) Ltd., and will serve as both a wholesale and retail outlet. It will be under the management of D. E. Hamer, who has already settled here from Vancouver with his family.

Western Air Cooled Engines are distributors in B.C. for the well known line of Briggs & Stratton gasoline engines. A complete stock of models and all parts for all models will be carried here and a fully qualified serviceman will be available in the district to be served by the Penticton office. This includes registered dealers in Trail, Nelson, Salmon Arm, Vernon, Kelowna, Oliver and Creston.

Kindred products will also be sold and serviced here, they include the Merry Tiller Garden

T. B. Epidemic Near Flin Flon

FLIN FLON, Man., (BUP) — A tuberculosis epidemic described as very serious has broken out among the white residents at Cranberry Portage, 40 miles south of Flin Flon.

It also is reported that a battle is being waged against a minor outbreak of typhoid in Coral Harbor, 800 miles north of Churchill.

The director of the Northern Health Unit said in Flin Flon that 120 children had been X-rayed at Cranberry Portage with 12 per cent found to be carrying tuberculosis.

Doctor E. D. R. Bissett added that the situation is very serious. In all 19 persons have been afflicted and the outbreak has forced authorities to hospitalize the patients in a sanatorium built exclusively for the treatment of Eskimos and Indians.

In the Coral Harbor area, which is a Distant Early Warning line supply point, some 300 persons were immunized last week against typhoid.

The control program came about as the result of three Eskimos being stricken with the disease last January. The three later recovered.

The first known attempt by Europeans to settle on the North American continent was made about the year 1000 by the Norsemen. The scene of this unsuccessful venture may have been in what is now Massachusetts.

Tractor, the Cooper Power Lawn Mower and Lawn Sweeper.

A special field day is planned for tomorrow, Saturday, in the empty lot on main street next to the Legion building, at which interested parties may see the equipment in operation and will have the opportunity to speak to the company officials and other Air Cooled Engine specialists who are being brought in for this demonstration. "We have chosen Penticton as our distribution centre," said Mr. Clapp.

firm president, "its facilities and location make it an ideal spot from which to best distribute and service our motors which are used so extensively throughout the interior, not only in their industrial application but also in marine sports use.

A two storey addition is now under construction at the rear of this Main street location which will provide warehouse space for Western Air Cooled Engines on the ground floor and apartments upstairs.

nice contrast. Elgar's "The Snow" with its interesting interpretive movement and onomatopoeia was a restful delightful old selection, nostalgic to some people.

In the scene from the Magic Flute, the voices of the spirits, taken by Clafie Lewen, Vera Christian and Winnifred English charmed with their fresh, birdlike quality as they sang Mozart's amazing conception. Denise Carroll as Pamina complemented them in a young and joyous manner.

The excerpt from Othello containing "The Willow Song," and "Ave Maria" when Desdemona tells Amelia how unhappy she is because of the jealousy of Othello was an exacting part, movingly sung and acted. Margaret Millward's lovely voice as Desdemona carried out the haunting notes. Lillian Fleming of Summerland sang as Amelia.

Especially clear enunciation touched the notes when Edythe Walker as Susanna and Geoffrey Alington as Figaro countered one another in a bit from the Marriage of Figaro, lilting through the sunny comedy.

The evening ended with an episode from Aida, the duet and recitative between Amneris, as sung by Lillian Estabrook, and Aida, interpreted by Jean Campbell. As the Princess, Amneris had commanding stage presence and her fine powerful voice suited the part.

The second half of the act giving a strong finale to the entertainment was the chorus, "Glory to Isis," with the full choir.

It was the choir's most difficult and best concert.

The uniform costuming of the ladies in floor-length white gowns and pink stoles was most attractive.

Costuming of Desdemona was successful as was that in the final number.

No modern composer was represented on the program.

The Soroptimist Club was the sponsor, or perhaps a better term should be patron, since through its support in arranging details of hall, tickets, and innumerable details, the musicians were left to give all their efforts to produce a memorable evening.

In an intermission Noel Barry entertained with English reminiscences and a monologue and spoke of the work of the Soroptimist Club.

Mrs. K. A. Davenport, president of the Soroptimist Club, presented Mrs. Craig Fisher with flowers at the end of the concert as an appreciation of the long months of work necessary before such a production could be given.

Tax Waiver

The delegation which attended this week's meeting of the school board comprised Pat Moen, Dr. Hugo Emanuele and J. J. van Winkelaar.

Discussion before the resolution was passed stressed that the school trustees were indicating no joint opinion on the complex question of separate school taxes, as paid by individual taxpayers. There was, in fact, certain comment emphasizing personal conviction against separate school taxation. But so long as parents who sent their children to a private religious school continue to pay their taxes to the state public school system as well, it was felt that it was a matter of "simple justice" to at least grant relief of taxes levied against the private school property itself. For, in that case, those who maintain the property provide capital which would otherwise have to be provided by the general school system.

Municipalities May Soon Be Able To Buy On Credit

Purchases on credit, under a system of monthly payments, has so far been the privilege of the private citizen. Now this may become available to cities and municipalities, according to statements made at Monday night's City Council meeting.

Discussions of this came up while council was conferring on the purchase of a street-sweeping machine. Alderman J. C. Harris said that according to one of the equipment firms, provincial authorities are prepared to relax somewhat the hitherto rigid rule that such corporations must pay for equipment in cash.

"If that's the case, then we could quite nicely pay for a new sweeping machine over a four or five year span," said the alderman, stating that there is enough allowed in the 1956 budget to apply cover the "down payment" and that further payments would be easily incorporated into future budgets.

Council agreed that City Clerk H. G. Andrew should enquire into this if opportunity offered, while he is in Victoria this week. Alternatively, council would be able to save $93 on the purchase of the used sweeper, now in Spokane, if city crews pick it up at the border. When purchase of this machine was debated recently, it was stated that while it would be "adequate" to local needs for a year or two, buying it would only stave off the eventual purchase of a new machine. It was reported on Monday that parts for it, and an operation manual would be available.

FFVWU Calls

2c per standard package on belt type grader.
5) June 1 to November 30 — 54 hour week.
Re to above: reduce to 16, 53 hour weeks.

The Federated Shippers replied with the following suggestions to the present contract:

1) The 1955-56 wage scale must remain unchanged except for any minor items where mutual agreement may be reached. We feel sure that every packinghouse employee in this Valley realizes that, in spite of the best efforts made in the marketing of the 1955 crop, the returns are such that they would not justify consideration by us of any wage scale higher than that presently in effect.

2) A downward adjustment in the piece-work rate for labelling.

3) That Article IVm, Section 2, paragraph (a) and paragraph (e) be amended by adding there-after the words "for the purpose of this vote all employees whose names are on the current seniority list shall have a vote whether or not they are working in the packinghouse at the time of the vote."

4) Consideration of the abolition of the night-shift premium because of the fact that a great many of these workers prefer the night shift and cannot work during the daytime.

5) Reduction in the peach packing rate to bring it into line with earnings on other commodities.

You will readily see from the above that the time has come for our union to rally the support of all the workers in the Valley. We are faced with a wage cut and a resultant downward revision in our standard of living. The Shippers are taking advantage of the confusion caused by the Teamsters' Union and in this union's attempt to divide the workers at this most crucial time. The law is clear on this point and the Shippers can negotiate only with the certified bargaining authority — the FFVWU.

All the workers in this Valley will be affected by the outcome of the negotiations now in progress.

No Hospitals

or Canadian provinces in financial stability at the present time. He declared flatly that so long as he is premier no hospitals in the province will be closed down. He said provincial hospitals received $29-million from the government last year and the amount will be further increased this year.

Speaking on highways, Bennett said $84-million will be spent on roads this year and the government plans to build five trans-provincial highways this year.

Premier Bennett made only one suggestion of politics or elections saying "When I bring down the budget next year", he paused, hesitated, then continued, "If I have the privilege of bringing down the budget."

O. L. Jones Pleads For Municipalities

OTTAWA — O. L. Jones, (C.F. Okanagan-Boundary) asked the federal government yesterday to pay municipal taxes on all federal buildings. He also called on Finance Minister Harris to give more relief to hard-pressed municipalities by foregoing sales taxes on municipal purchases and by providing them with loans at two percent interest.

It is up to each and every one, in his or her own interests, to do all possible to help the hands of the negotiating committee. You can do this by arranging meetings of plant employees, contacting the union office at Penticton 4801 and one of the officers will come out and talk to your group. You can see that the employees in your plant are signed up 100 per cent with the FFVWU.

We would like to state clearly here that the best contribution the Teamsters can make is to get out of this Valley. While the Teamsters are here trying to take members from the FFVWU they are directly assisting the Shippers. They cannot meet the Shippers to negotiate and can only make the job of the Negotiating Committee more difficult. We need one organization at this time to get you, the worker, the best possible for you 1956-57 contract.

Get behind your union, your wages and conditions for 1956-57. Depend on the outcome of negotiations now in progress.

Eleventh And Twelfth Canadian Provinces Proposed In Commons

OTTAWA — (BUP) — Eleventh and twelfth Canadian provinces should be carved out of Northern Ontario and Quebec, Angus Maclean (PC-Queens) told the Commons yesterday.

"This would put the Maritime provinces in a stronger tax-allocation position compared with the two present 'kingdom-sized' provinces," Maclean said.

The Maritime provinces at the moment are the little fellows at the far end of the table who find that when the platter gets to them it has been picked over and there is little left," he said.

Safety Week Photo Contest Announced By Forest Products

VANCOUVER — Details of the first Safety Week Photo Contest ever to be offered in British Columbia have just been released by the Joint Committee for Forest Products Safety Week. Purpose of the contest is to develop a competitive interest in the campaign, encourage broad participation and at the same time obtain a pictorial record which will include useful material for future safety campaigns. Forest Products Safety Week is May 7 to 11.

One 8x10 inch glossy print required for judging. The photographer must put his name, address and company affiliation on the back of the photo.

A written description or caption giving all details, location, etc., must accompany the photo. There is no limit to the number of entries by any individual.

No Court Action Against Alleged Case Prejudging

VANCOUVER — (BUP) — British Columbia Supreme Court will not launch a contempt of court action against Social Credit MLA's alleged to have "prejudged" a slander case.

Mr. Justice H. W. McInnes made the decision yesterday in connection with a complaint by George Gregory, a Liberal member for Victoria. Gregory had charged Social Credit members of the legislature with making public comments about the merits of the slander case brought by R. E. Sommers, the former provincial lands and forests minister, against David Sturdy, a Vancouver lawyer.

Gregory said this "prejudging" of a case that may come before the courts prejudiced a fair trial.

Justice McInnes said he didn't think it was a matter in which the court should take any action of its own accord.

Lumber Workers To Decide Work Days

VANCOUVER, (BUP) — A spokesman for the International Woodworkers of America said here that the final decision on whether B.C. Lumber Workers would work a six-day week this year lay with the men themselves.

He was commenting on an application made Tuesday by the operators to the Board of Industrial Relations.

Because of the forecast shortages of loss this summer the operators want government permission to work an extra day a week and pay the men overtime rates. The board decision is expected next week.

Opposed to the application is the 30,000 member IWA.

The IWA spokesman said the union's contract protects the workers against being forced to work more than five days a week.

Teen Town Talk

By Arlene Poller

The big topic of the last two weeks at Teen Town is the Mayors' conference held at Port Alberni. Mayor Gloria Thompson and Joan Webb and Dot Hutchinson represented Penticton at the three-day conference which started on April 4.

Numerous discussions were held in each workshop concerning publicity, press relations, criticizing by adults, drinking and disorderly conduct at Teen Town dances, community service, obtaining new members and creating interest among members and sponsors. Discussions were held on athletics and it was decided that each T.T. should have an athletic advisor. Each T.T. delegate told how their own T.T. was run, how often they held dances and other activities that they have done. Comparisons were made and advice and suggestions were given for bettering each T.T.

The awards given for 1955 were as follows: best girl athlete, Bev Pitt, Kelowna; best boy athlete, G. Rimmer, Enderby.

March of Dimes — T.T. with most per. capita collected was Sotex Island with $132.

T.T. with most total amount was Kamloops with $5000, Kelowna and Armstrong, receiving honorable mention.

The best organized association was the Okanagan Mainline Teen Town Association. The best promotion of Teen Town was the Kootenay's Teen Town Association. Bowling winners were Kelowna.

Most enthusiastic Teen Town was led with Kelowna and Armstrong who received the Assu trophy.

A resolution was made that Penticton Teen Town undertake the making of a memorial award in honor of the late Mrs. Leir.

Motions that were passed at the leadership meeting were that all T.T. having paid assessments by the beginning of the meeting be given the right to vote; that assessments must be paid two months after membership cards have been distributed and that membership cards will be sold from September to September; that the provincial council send cards to district associations by September 1.

The new table officers for the

G. E. Corbin, Penticton's building inspector, was elected a vice-president of the B.C. Building Inspectors' Association at their first annual meeting held recently in Vancouver.

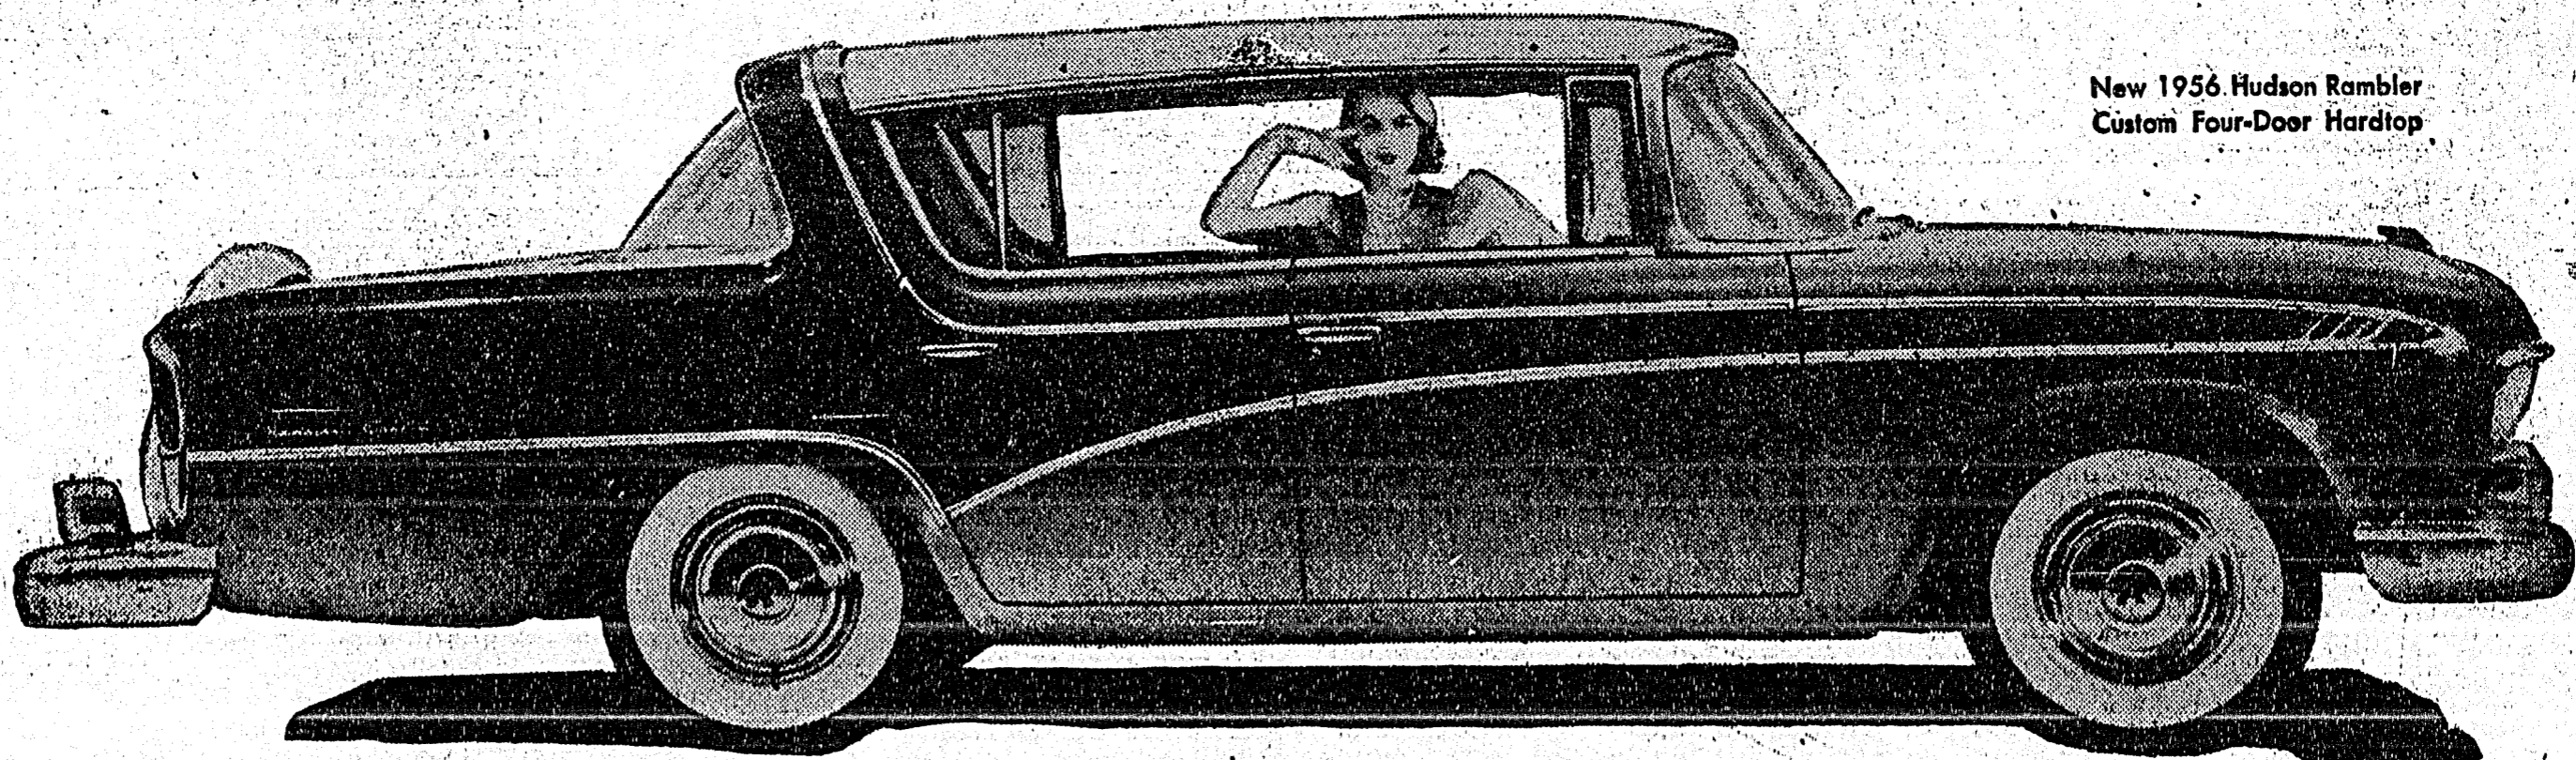

Some 1,500 interior spring mattresses will be used aboard the new Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Britain.

Foreign Office Forgets, Scotland Yard Is Furious

LONDON, (BUP) — Scotland Yard is reported furious over a British Foreign Office blunder that resulted in publication of the detailed schedule of the Khrushchev-Bulganin tour of Britain.

The foreign office error has upset careful security arrangements that had been in preparation for almost a year.

The schedule was released to the press two days ago, but was supposed to include instructions to editors it was for their information and not for publication. The foreign office, however, admits it forgot to enclose the embargo note.

White House Doesn't Like Truman's Words

AUGUSTA, Ga., (UP) — The White House has reacted bitterly to Harry S. Truman's remarks about a "do-nothing" administration and President Eisenhower prepared to unlimber his own political guns in a speech to his party leaders next Tuesday.

One spokesman, White House press secretary James C. Hagerly, told reporters that "I don't believe that Mr. Truman, by his own standards, can recognize accomplishment when he sees it."

Hagerly was obviously reflecting administration feeling about the former Democratic president's remarks in Iowa when he accused Mr. Eisenhower of betraying American farmers and being a "do nothing" president.

Minister Explains Why United States Got Radar Orders

OTTAWA, (BUP) — Transport Minister George Marler explained in the Commons why orders for high-powered radar tracking devices worth millions of dollars went to the U.S. instead of Canada.

Marler said that the orders for the radar devices for Canadian airports went to American firms because of a saving from one million 400-thousand dollars to three million 800-thousand dollars.

The transport minister said the American firm, Raytheon Corporation, intended to establish a Canadian subsidiary and to use Canadian parts extensively in manufacturing parts.

Marler was replying to Progressive-Conservative questions over the government's failure to place the order with the Canadian radio industry.

Raytheon, Marler said, was the lowest bidder, and other bidders from Canada ranged much higher in price.

He added that all Canadian manufacturers said that they would have had to import some components from the United States even if they took the order.

Canadian Apple Market Improves

Weekly report of B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd., dealing with fruit movements, follows:

CANADA
The movement to the Canadian markets for the past week was considerably better than the previous week, with sales to the West showing an increase of approximately 30 percent and as Eastern business was down somewhat the overall set-up in volume naturally improved the inventory position. Our holdings of 432,000 boxes as of last Saturday are now only some eighty thousand boxes more than the same date last year.

UNITED STATES
The apple demand during the past week has been reported as "moderate to steady" by Yakima and Wenatchee, and with no change in prices. The State of Washington has approximately 1,400 carloads more on hand than at the same date a year ago. This would indicate an extended marketing period. The remaining apple supplies in Washington are reported as showing very good condition.

We have sold the last car of Red Delicious for the season and, with only a few exceptions, our Red Delicious have given full satisfaction to our United States buyers.

The ancient Egyptians prized leather so highly, that the country itself could never produce enough skins to satisfy the demand. Consequently, one of the forms of tribute exacted from conquered nations was an annual tally of skins for the highly skilled Egyptian tanners to work on and to produce the gorgeous and durable articles of which we still have record.

One Man's Opinion

BY HOWARD PATTON

Just one final shot in this columnist's controversy over court-ees cards.

My front page contemporary accuses me of chipping away at the bedrock of Canadian law. Courtesy cards, he claims, show favoritism to certain lawbreakers, a practice which would undermine the principle that all men are equal in the eyes of the law. Mr. Godber contends that if a local resident is to be fined for over-parking, then every guest also should be fined.

I suggest that there are a few other principles involved. The laws of hospitality are perhaps as fundamental as the laws of blind justice.

We do not treat a guest in our homes as we treat one of the family. When a visitor spills his beer on the carved walnut coffee table we do not box his ears or sue for damages. We forgive him, most profusely. Why can't we be as gracious to guests in our city?

If such laws of hospitality are considered sloppy sentimentality, there are some other principles laid down about 2,000 years before Canada's criminal code: principles replacing the Hebrew's demand of an eye for an eye—the antithesis to the dog-in-the-manger method of dealing with people.

There is even precedent enough in Canadian law to mitigate punishment without weakening justice. There is frequent consideration of extenuating circumstances, frequent exercise of leniency, probation and clemency. If this principle of law does not allow us to extend special courtesy to visitors, whom we coax here at considerable expense, then I join with that character of Charles Dickens who said, "the law is a ass."

A lot of fuss and bother over the simple matter of courtesy cards — I admit. I conclude my participation in the hope Mr. Godber's fears are allayed that the Canadian constitution will come tumbling down should Penticton add this potent, inexpensive angle to its tourist promotion.

If the man in the mood should be satisfied on this score, then he will be free to go on and champion the cause of equality before the law in more important spheres.

For example, in one recent year, 16,000 persons were jailed in Canada because they could not pay a court fine. In the eyes of the law, were these people equal to the more wealthy criminals who escaped the damaging stigma of a prison sentence only because they had money to pay a fine rather than go to jail?

Now, here, Mr. Godber, is a problem worthy of the talents presently going to waste on a courtesy card controversy.

Training Plan Announced For 4,000 Soldiers

OTTAWA, (BUP) — Some 4,000 soldiers of the regular army are in for some hard training. Army headquarters at Ottawa announced that the troops will undergo six weeks of rigorous training June 23 to August 3 at Alberta's camp Wainwright.

The training program will start at unit level, carry on to the brigade level, and end in a full-scale brigade exercise. Major General Chris Vokes, boss of the army's western command, will be in charge of the scheme.

Most of the troops will be from the 1st Canadian Infantry Brigade which is commanded by Brigadier Arthur E. Wrinch of Ottawa and Vancouver.

Goode Against Publicity To Kelly-Rainier

OTTAWA, (BUP) — A British Columbia Liberal M.P. says he deplores the press publicity being given to the Grace Kelly-Prince Rainier romance and marriage.

Liberal Tom Goode branded as "sickening" the space given in newspapers to the Kelly-Rainier story compared with that devoted to international affairs.

"Anyway," he said, "the marriage will most likely last only a year." Liberal Jean Rich said with a smile he hoped Goode's comment "won't cause international tension with the State of Monaco."

Sweden's First Ambassador To Canada Arrives

OTTAWA, (BUP) — Sweden's first ambassador to Canada, Oscar Thorsing, has presented his credentials to Chief Justice Patrick Kerwin, deputizing for Governor General Vincent Massey.

The brief ceremony took place at the Supreme Court Building in Ottawa. The 60-year-old ambassador entered his country's foreign service as press representative in London in 1930.

Since 1952 Thorsing has been Sweden's permanent representative to the United Nations in New York.

Ban Sale Of "Goof Balls"

VICTORIA, (BUP) — The sale of "goof balls" without a doctor's prescription has been banned by the provincial cabinet.

The so-called "goof balls", intended for use as sedatives and sleeping pills, have been reportedly used by teenagers and others, who mixed the pills with soft drinks or alcohol for the "kicks" — a sensation similar to that obtained by drug addicts.

Cabinet action followed a recommendation by the B.C. Pharmaceutical Association, which requested the drug compounds be taken off drug store shelves.

Drugstore owners throughout the province had already agreed to bar the sale of "goof balls" awaiting the official ban.

Tax On American Magazines May Become Hot Issue

OTTAWA (BUP) — The budget tax on certain American magazines may develop in a hot debate in the House of Commons.

Finance Minister Walter Harris admits he has received many complaints on the 20 per cent tax on the advertising content of Canadian editions of U.S. magazines.

The latest complaint came from the Association of Canadian Advertisers. They sent Harris a letter saying the tax would have a direct opposite effect than intended. Instead of protecting Canadian magazines, they say, advertising will be reduced in Canadian publications.

Harris said he also received a number of other representations concerning the tax, which goes into effect next January 1.

Accidents That Disable Children Are Increasing

Your child will sustain more accidents if a trend reported today by Mutual of Omaha continues its course.

Statisticians of the largest company in the world specializing in health and accident insurance say children are being disabled more each year by accidents and less for health ailments.

These and other trends came to light after compilation of a massive study involving 1,104,142 cases from 1952 through 1954.

Figures for 1955 are not available as yet.

Accidents caused 22.77 per cent of children's disabilities in 1952, 25.68 the following year and 28.84 in 1954. Correspondingly, health causes dropped from 77.23 to 74.32 to 71.16 during the same period.

An increase in fractures, cuts and bruises helped push up the accident figures. Each of the years covered in the survey reflected a rise in these percentages, with boys—as you might expect—leading the way.

Fractures of the arm, in particular, have climbed steadily as a cause of disability among children. They were the cause of 26 of every 1,000 disabilities among boys in 1952, and 32 of every 1,000 in 1954. For girls, too, the trend was the same but on a smaller scale.

The only adult parallel to the children's trend of more disability because of accidents and less for health reasons is among married women.

Since Mutual of Omaha does business in every province and state, the survey covered the entire North American continent.

Good things are in store for tomorrow's home movie hobbyist. Scientists predict now that portable TV tape recorders will probably come on the market within the next 15 years or so. Based on the present development RCA system for broadcast use, they'll be used for home electronic motion pictures, or for recording favorite TV programs.

N.H.A. SMALL HOUSE DESIGNS

The substantial appearance of this three bedroom bungalow designed by architect P.
Maschino, of Toronto, should find appeal with many prospective home owners. The massive chimney, wide windows and impressive entrance, highlighted by two planting areas, all contribute to an attractive exterior.

The architect has given the same careful attention to the interior design providing for well-separated living and sleeping quarters.
His effective use of corner windows ensures a bright combination living and dining room which has a fireplace with tile hearth
as its focal point for furniture arrangement.
The well-planned kitchen has ample combined space and is convenient to both the dining room and rear service entrance. The separate compartment arrangement in the bedroom is another feature.

The floor area of this house is 1,368 square feet and the cubic measurement is 27,000 cubic feet. Exterior dimensions are 35.0 feet by 29 feet. Working drawings for this house, known as Design 250, are available at minimum cost from Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation.

Gun Carpenter's Special

Power tools, it seems, weren't invented just to entertain the do-it-yourself handyman who stands hypnotized in front of hardway store windows. These devices are doing such a big job in construction work of all kinds that the home builder is now scratching his head over how he can make more use of them.

More than $750 could be cut from the cost of an average house, the experts figure, if full use of power tools were available. A recent conference of building industry leaders concluded that this could mean a saving of more than $1,000,000, 000 a year.

Who is holding up this parade?
Nobody is likely to win a prize with the answer to that question.
Many power tools are so expensive the builder thinks the lumber yard should own them, or the subcontractor, or — for the smaller tools — the carpenter, who always has owned his hammer and saw.

Some of these tools you won't see in the hardware store, a forklift, for example. This sturdy little bulldozer type of machine with an elevator device on the front can pick up and carry a ton of lumber at a time.

"With a forklift," said a participant in a round table discussion, "a laborer can move a ton of material 40 feet in less than one minute."

"But," interposed a critic, "that means he can move all the materials for a whole house from the road to the site in less than one hour" — at which time the man is presumably out of a job.

"With a router," the speaker
continued, "a carpenter can fit and hang 20, 30 or more doors in a day — instead of the usual six."

One of the most interesting tools we have seen is a gun cal-ed a powder-actuated power tool.
It works with gunpowder instead of electricity. It shoots steel pins into steel or concrete eliminating all the time consuming chiselling and drilling and setting bolts.

One bang and the fastener is made so tight that as much as 3000 pounds is needed to remove the pin which has been shot through 3/4 inches of structural steel into concrete.

This looks like a grownup version of Junior's ray gun. It fires a charge equivalent to a .32 calibre cartridge. In place of the usual lead nose, the cartridge has a colored plastic nose. The color indicates the strength of the charge, which varies according to the work.

A steel pin of the type desired is dropped into the gun, then the cartridge; then the breach is closed and the trigger pulled.

Don't worry about steel pins ricocheting around the neighborhood, because the gun has three separate safety devices all of which must be operated before the trigger is pulled.

The gun can't be used for tile, hard-faced brick or other brittle materials that will shatter, but it's fine for fastening steel to wood, or wood to steel, or either of them to concrete. It speeds
the installation of furring strips, floor sleepers, partition plates,
wall studs and window and door frames; among dozens of other jobs.

Fertilizing Of Strawberries Can Be Profitable Tests Show

A fertilizer experiment with strawberries was begun at the Experimental Farm, Canada Department of Agriculture, Agassiz, in 1954. According to E. W.
Toop, records on the first year harvest should be of interest to growers.

Although further data will be required to complete the picture with regard to rates of nitrogen, phosphorus and potash, strawberries responded to the application of all three elements.

With regard to fertilizing, the question arises, is it profitable?
In this experiment the lowest significant increase in yield attributed to fertilizer application was 400 pounds per acre. At 14 cents per pound as the producer price, this increase in yield amounts to a potential gross increase of $56.00 per acre. However, the cost of the fertilizer alone amounts to $50.00 per acre not including the cost of fertilizer application or of harvesting the crop increase. On the other hand, if we consider the treatment which gave the highest yield in comparison with the $56.00 per acre. The cost of the unfertilized plots the difference in yield is two tons per acre or a potential gross increase of fertilizer applied is $76.00. After subtracting the cost of the fertilizer and the cost of applying it as well as the cost of harvesting the crop increase, a net profit of $247.00 per acre is obtained. In other words the application of $50 worth of fertilizer actually resulted in a loss in profit, whereas the application of $76.00 worth of fertilizer increased profits by $247.00 per acre.

The results emphasize the importance of following sound fertilizer practices.
General fertilizer recommendations are available from your district horticultural office or from the Experimental Farm, Agassiz, B.C. Growers with special problems may contact these agencies for further information.

Question: When using a power saw on plywood, should the good surface of the plywood be facing up or down?

Answer: The good surface of plywood should be face up when cutting with a power table saw.
The good surface of plywood should be face down when cutting with a portable power saw.
Those are the key words—table and portable.

Junipers Will Add Beauty To Garden

The tall, narrow columnar forms of Juniper are used as accent plants, the low, bushy forms for foundation plantings and massing on slopes.

Although the Junipers thrive best in moist, sandy loam soils, in open, sunny positions, they will readily adapt themselves to dry, rocky and gravelly grounds.

The Pfitzer Juniper (Juniperus Pfitzeriana) and the Savin Juniper, (Juniperus Sabina) are two of the most popular spreading forms of evergreens used in foundation planting by home owners across Canada.

Simple Shutters Add Originality

One way to dress up the outside of your home is by making shutters for the windows.

Shutters originally took the place of window shades and served as ventilators and devices to combat vandalism.

Now they are decorative and fastened permanently against the side of the house. With shutters, a home takes on new interest.

In general, shutters should be half the width of the window, but this is not a fast rule.

If you'd like an idea of how your home would look with shutters, draw a sketch of your house, putting in the windows and doors. Then add shutters in outline. Make some wide, others narrow, some plain some with a pattern.

A point to remember: Against light backgrounds a vivid color will be subdued; against dark backgrounds, vivid colors lose much of their attractiveness.

The simplest shutter to make consists of two or three boards, joined with two or three cross members.

By placing the cross members on the side that shows, the shutters will appear short and wide, adding width to the house.

The best choice of lumber is tongue and groove boards. These don't usually have a beveled side, so make your own beveled edge with a hand plane. Designs are limited only by your imagination. There are crescents, stars, hearts, flowers, initials and all kinds of geometric designs.

It is best to assemble the shutters with flat head screws, coun-tersunk and with the holes putted up. Mounting of the shutters can be done on frame walls using eight penny nails. On brick or stone walls, mounting may be done with special hardware, or with anchor bolts in star drilled holes.

Do's and Don'ts

EXTERIOR PAINTING

DO . . . prepare the surface thoroughly; remove loose scaly paint with a putty knife or hand scraper and sandpaper or steel wool for smoothness.

DO . . . use on old, clean paint brush for getting rid of the dust that still remains on a surface that has been scraped or sanded.

DO . . . fill nail holes and cracks, wash off fungus growths and mildew, seal knots and sap streaks, and caulk all door and window frames where there are openings.

DO . . . bear in mind that all this necessary preparation (which often takes longer than the actual painting) will insure an excellent result only if a good quality paint is used.

DON'T . . . paint the outside of a house when the temperature is below 50 degrees Fahrenheit; about 70 degrees is best, but the mercury can be as high as 90
if the air is not too damp.

DON'T paint immediately after a rain or too early in the morning when everything is wet with dew.

DON'T . . . flow the paint on (as you do with varnish, for instance); dip the brush half way and brush the paint on uniformly; if you decide to use a roller;
consider the use of an extension handle.

DON'T . . . climb on a ladder that isn't completely steady; after it is set in place, jump on the first rung a few times, a sure way to show up any un-steadiness.

Promenade!

By H.G.A.

Penticton and other Okanagan Valley points were well represented at the Jamboree in Vancouver on April 7th, where a very large crowd enjoyed the dancing to Christensen's Orchestra, and a host of Vancouver callers. The following members of the Peach City Promenaders of Penticton made the trip to Vancouver: Margaret and Jim Hendry, Elsie and Harold Barritt, Gladys and Percy Coulter, Eddie and Bob Parmley, Margaret and Win Packard and Harley Andrew. Many of the dancers there indicated that they will be coming to Penticton next August, and of course, our banners did a lot to publicize the Peach Festival and the Square Dance Jamboree.

On the local program there was dancing in the Masonic Hall where some forty dancers took part, with local callers looking after the program. Next Saturday, that is, April 14th, there will be a benefit dance in the Youth Centre in Summerland, and we should all be there to enjoy dancing with our Summerland friends. The following Saturday, that is, April 21st, there will be a benefit dance in the Masonic Hall, and we want a real big turnout at that time.

Dancing classes are continuing on each Monday in the K.P. Hall, where square dancing is being taught, and on each Thursday night there will be round dance instructions also in the K.P. Hall. This is a good time to learn to do those lovely round dances that you have been watching other dancers perform. This will be all for this time.

KEREMEOS NOTES

KEREMEOS — Mr. and Mrs. Fred B. Tessman and son Terry were guests of Rev. and Mrs. D. Davidson of Vancouver during the Easter holidays when Mr. Tessman attended the B.C. Teachers' convention in the Hotel Vancouver. Mrs. H. E. Scott accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Tessman to Vancouver and was the guest of her niece, Mrs. E. V. Mulligan of North Vancouver while in the city.

Jerry Sykes of Calgary, Alberta, arrived by plane on Monday, March 19 to visit Mrs. Sykes and baby daughter, Janet Kimberly, who were at that time in the Penticton General Hospital. Mr. Sykes also visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Sykes of Keremeos. Miss Virginia Sykes, nurse-in-training at the Vancouver General Hospital, visited her parents during the Easter weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Jones of Wenatchee, Wash., are at present visiting their daughter, Mrs. H. Curr and two sons of Keremeos.

How Far Does The Fly Fly?

by Dale W. Jenkins, National Research Council, USA.

When significant progress is made in the control of insects which carry diseases, the gains are measured in human lives and comfort. Nuclear energy has provided a valuable new tool which has permitted real progress in studying the spreading of diseases by insects, in insect ecology, and in the natural control of insect carriers of disease. This is all the more important, since DDT and other insecticides become less useful year by year as more insects acquire resistance to them.

The exact part played by insects in the spreading of certain diseases is still obscure, and use of radio-active substances provides a means of clarifying some of these relationships. Labelling of medically-important insects with these substances was initiated in 1949 by the author and others. Since that time extensive studies have been carried out, using this technique on a variety of insects.

Radio-active tagging is an efficient method since it permits positive marking and identification of large numbers of insects with a minimum of labor and cost. For example, it is of importance, if control methods are to be efficient and effective, to know how far such insects usually travel ("dispersal range") is the technical term since this helps us to understand their role in spreading an epidemic.

Various types of mosquitoes have been labelled by growing the larvae in radio-active solutions and releasing the radio-active "marked" adults in large numbers. Once the radio-active substance is within the body of the insect it is automatically "tagged" and can be detected through the use of a geiger counter.

The dispersal of 10 species of tropical and arctic mosquitoes has been studied by various investigators who have found dispersal ranges of from 1 to 21 miles. The yellow fever mosquito in Nigeria was found to disperse up to a mile. Dispersal and flight ranges (the maximum distance which can be travelled) of houseflies have been subjects of study for a long time and a variety of marking techniques have been used. Most of these studies showed effective dispersal of 1-1 1/2 miles or less. A number of studies of dispersal of the housefly have been carried out using a radio-active "marking" system and effective dispersal ranges were found to be 1 mile to 8 1/2 miles, with maximum dispersal up to 20 miles.

Dispersal studies have also been carried out using radio-active blowflies, screw-worm flies, eye gnats, blackflies and cockroaches.

Radio-active tagging has also helped to find out the total number of one kind of insect there is in a given area, how long the certain disease-carrying insects live, and how many offspring they have.

Studies of the disease-carrying role of insects, using radio-active markings during epidemic outbreaks, have not been made but several preliminary experiments of this type have been carried out. In a city in the Crimea, houseflies were studied in their relationship to carrying disease from outdoor privies. Radio-active flies were collected in traps in kitchens in houses about a yard away from the outdoor privy. In Texas, radio-active fruit flies were found by U.S. Public Health Service in houses over a thousand feet from privies containing radio-active bait.

A large number of fruit flies which were found in houses had at one time or another frequented privies. These results should be borne in mind in relation to outbreaks of dysentery and poliomyelitis.

Another very promising and fertile but unexplored field awaits investigators using radio-active substances in studying disease transmission by insect carriers. If the organisms which produce a given disease can be tagged, many experiments are possible in tracing them through the insect carrier and determining the sites and numbers of disease organisms disseminated.

A large number of disease-producing organisms have been labelled with various radio-active substances. These include bacteria causing plague, typhoid, dysentery, influenza, malaria, sleeping sickness and also a variety of thread-like worms.

This offers a technique for studying medically-important insects from the point of view of their ability to carry disease, their feeding habits, and the dissemination and number of organisms, or size of infective dose of organisms that they can produce.

The habits, life histories, and disease-spreading role of many important parasites living on animals are not fully known. Use of this technique should provide the needed information.

Many other studies have been carried out using radio-active substances with protozoa, bacteria and viruses. Several studies on intestinal worms directly reveal the parasite-host relationships. It also appears promising to attempt to trace the path of internal parasites through the animal body by the use of a similar process employing radio-active material.

Control of insect disease carriers provides a constant challenge, since almost every effort by human beings brings results in a counter-move by the insects. The widespread use of some of the new insecticides has resulted in the development of resistance, which requires use of greater quantities of more effective insecticides.

When the main control effort is expended in applying insecticides, other controls such as natural parasites and predators, sanitation, drainage, control of reservoir hosts, etc., usually suffer, and the control results are not always predictable.

Predators and parasites are very important in controlling disease-carrying insects. Many predatory insects and other animals have been allowed to become radio-active after eating tagged insects.

Radiation from certain radio-active material and x-rays is also proving valuable in controlling or killing insect disease carriers, disease organisms, and parasites. Large stores of highly radio-active reactor wastes may be made available in the future which have great potential value for this purpose.

Eradication of the screw-worm flies was accomplished in Curaçao, and is being planned in the south-eastern States.

Radio-isotope radiation offers a possible means of killing or arresting development of disease organisms in the animal host body due perhaps to the large uptake of metabolically active elements by these organisms. Ingestion of one radio-active substance by mosquitoes arrested development of malaria parasites during early stages of their development.

Use of nuclear energy in studying diseases carried by insects offers an extremely promising and fertile field and further discoveries of major importance to the better health of mankind can be expected in the near future.

CAWSTON NOTES

CAWSTON — The April meeting of the Women's Institute was held on Monday, April 9 at the Community Hall, with the agricultural committee in charge of the program. Members of the Keremeos W.I. were guests at the meeting and a film was shown dealing with the everyday lives and problems of rural women.

A vote of thanks was given to Miss Dallas for her kindness in showing the film. Mrs. A. Beck, Mrs. W. Beecroft, Mrs. J. W. Davidson and Mrs. W. Gemmell volunteered to help canvass the Community for the coming T.B. Clinic. Mrs. J. Worsfold was nominated delegate to the district rally to be held on May 8 at Okanagan Falls.

Correspondence included a letter of thanks from the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society for the donation of $108, collected during the recent drive for funds. The members voted in favour of inviting Miss Mary Pack to visit Cawston on May 7, to give an address on the work of the society.

Movies will be shown at the Community Hall on April 20 and everyone is cordially invited to attend.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Armstrong, Mrs. W. Beecroft, Mrs. W. Jillett and Mrs. T. A. Lusted.

Mrs. T. A. Lusted was the lucky winner of two pairs of nylon stockings, in a contest sponsored by Good Luck Margarine.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Lang have returned home after spending the winter in North Vancouver.

Mrs. J. Morley is a patient in Penticton Hospital.

Mrs. G. Wrixon, of Maymont, Saskatchewan, and Mrs. W. Cook of Prince Albert, are visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Sanderson.

Only free peoples can hold their purpose and their honor prefer the interests of mankind to any narrow interest of their steady to a common end, and own. — Woodrow Wilson.
