IMPROVED PARKING

Parking meters are proving their value on Penticton's main business routes.

It is now possible for a motorist to find a convenient space in what was only recently a solid wall of "sales resistance" — an unyielding barrier of parked cars that kept many a dollar out of many a merchant's till.

It costs that motorist a few pennies, it is true, but he is glad to pay it, for the convenience involved.

We used to hear the argument that the meter would be frowned on by tourists. But the fact is that the average tourist is more than used to the meter, wherever else, and takes it for granted along with the benefits it provides. The tourist certainly wouldn't prefer the old dispensation. He could never have got any parking at all then.

But of all the arguments against the meter, there's one that really amuses us. It takes the form of the suggestion that the clearer metered street doesn't give the appearance of prosperity. An empty street is a bad advertisement—so his argument goes. Would these people sooner have appearances than realities?

For our part, we'd much sooner have a good number of vacancies on our streets, and the assurance that more customers were finding it convenient to spend their money in our stores, than the spurious advertisement of a full up street that was, in reality, only helping to block business.

We think the local authorities are to be abundantly congratulated on this new parking meter development.

AN ALBERTA VIEW

A prominent local resident phoned our editorial offices the other day and urged the Herald to carry a number of pictures of Alberta's frightfully muddy roads at the present time.

"I'd like to show a lot of fatheads that conditions in Alberta under its Social Credit government are far from ideal," said this worthy.

We haven't the pictures and aren't too opinionated about them anyway. Nature is more to blame than any government for miring down most of our sister province's motor cars and trucks. But there's substance to the request. It might be wise for most of us on this side of the Rockies to ponder the fact that our own administrations, over the past years, have produced a network of excellent roads in this province, through extremely difficult terrain that can be contrasted with the Alberta's table-top grades and also, of course, with its none-too-remarkable surfaces in many places. It's too bad that the appearance of a new political party in B.C. is dividing the province into hostile camps, those whose almost worshipful of Alberta and its dealings, and those who want to belittle it. Though we're very slow to warm to Social Credit, we can't bring ourselves to belittle Alberta. It's doing well and its government is doing a good job. But, to hold the scales in balance, it isn't necessary to run to extremes and to confuse Alberta with the promised land.

That's why we think our readers will be interested in an editorial which we are copying from what possibly is Alberta's foremost weekly, the Red Deer

Advocate. It follows:

This year's Alberta budget, submitted by Mr. Manning last week, runs $116,000,000 which is a big jump from the $93,000,000 effort submitted by the first Social Credit government in 1936 under the advice of the late R. J. Magor. The fact that this year's budget was submitted by the same party says much for the staying power of Mr. Manning's party and for the public's acceptance of their administration. Mr. Manning himself and Dr. Cross were members of that first cabinet and have shared responsibility for all the budgets since 1935.

There is no new taxation this year, and grants to municipalities, schools, and health and welfare services are increased. The government is having some difficulty in the legislature with its $1 a day hospital legislation and some modifications may come from the discussion. There is general agreement inside and outside the House that some form of hospital taxation is both necessary and advisable, but there is no agreement on any one system. Oil and oil rights continue to provide a large proportion of the revenue, and in the coming year this is expected to reach about one-third of the total. Expenditures are provided for of $24,000,000 on highways, $30,000,000 to municipalities, $31,000,000 for health and welfare, and there are further millions for education and other services.

The total amount of money handled by the province is somewhat staggering for a group of less than a million people. When you take $116 a head at the provincial level, and then add the spending at the municipal and the huge total at the federal level, you get a figure that verges on the astronomical. The provincial revenues are being spent lavishly but not wastefully, but there is some natural uneasiness at the continued increase in the cost of services. Almost everyone is pressing for them, but it may be doubted whether the present level can be maintained for long.

FARMERS ARE PIKERS

Whenever critics level their shafts against subsidies, they usually make agricultural assistance their chief targets.

The Okanagan, and its apple growers, take a share of the attack. The valley should therefore be to the fore in pointing out that by many a direct and indirect governmental process other groups of the population are also subsidized.

We are not now entering into the merits, under an economic viewpoint, of subsidizing in general. We are somewhat disposed to the view that it might well be the path of ultimate wisdom to eliminate this artificial factor in economic life altogether. But that is aside from our present point. What we now want to emphasize is that agricultural interests are far from the only ones so aided.

In the fiscal year for 1949-50, Canadian government subsidy payments to ten non-agricultural groups came to as much as $87,000,000.

This sum, it should be remembered, did not include another $47,000,000 in deficits for the same fiscal period chargeable mainly against the publicly owned transportation system. How about the subsidizing of railroad wages? In 1950-51, gold mines got $7,114,213 in assistance; and coal and steel benefited to the extent of $4,986,673. There were many more such items. And let's not forget the $26,133,319 in governmental subsidizing for the Unemployment Insurance Fund. Wage earners are getting their share of subsidizing.

The general cost of a policy of tariff protection designed to protect industry and commerce also enters into this field of thought.

As a prominent official in a national dairy organization put it the other day: "Dairy organizations are pikers when it comes to securing federal subsidies."

Our Town By Jack Scott

WANDER LUST

I have a lady in the balcony, Doctor! Lady writes as follows: "I am 38 years old and my husband is 33. We've been married four years in April. I have terribly 'itchy feet' and my husband likes to travel, too."

"What I want to do is pack up, just the two of us (we have no children) and move about from city to city, he working at his trade (mechanic), and me at mine (stenographer). But never stay in one place too long—six months, a year, maybe less."

"Even if we can't get work at what we can do I'm for just taking anything to get by, but always to travel and meet different people, and see different places. If I stay home like this, living from pay day to pay day, I'll go nuts. I want to travel and live."

"You seem to have done more than the average amount of travelling. I thought you might have some advice."

I picked out this particular letter because its pretty typical of a kind of mass urge these days to Get Away From It All. I doubt if there ever was a time when so many people wanted to be somewhere else.

You don't have to hunt far for reasons. It's rarely expressed out loud, but most people are living these days with one ear cocked for the big explosion. Even in their very personal lives there's a sense of impermanence. I think we'd all be shocked if there was any way of assessing the plague of the escape bug.

I am probably one of the worst men alive to give advice to the gal who wrote in. I've had a lust for new horizons since the day I discovered I could reach the door knob and thus escape to the wide, wonderful world beyond the garden gate.

This has persisted through the years. In the beginning it may have been an honest appetite for adventure. Later it became just convenience, a flight from responsibilities; or, rather, of trying to flee from them. New dreams of escape are just that.

When life closed on me or changed from Technicolor to black and white, when I got to wondering if I should be in a butcher shop or pressing pants instead of pounding a typewriter, when the familiar routine became so deadly that I couldn't see over the edge of my rut—then I've always contrived some scheme to sneak away to greener pastures. And probably will again.

But if I've learned anything from these travels, its one simple fact: You can't run away from yourself.

I think the young lady who writes for advice is making a mistake in assuming that life will taste any sweeter the other side of the mountains. Where she goes so goes her mind, her problems, her restlessness.

Travel is wonderful if done for itself alone with the proper attitude and a large, ugly roll of ten dollar bills. But as a way of finding a new life it is what it's cracked up to be.

You find that cities are all the same wherever you go, that people are people, no more interesting or dull than in your own block. The man or woman who looks at life with a jaundiced eye in Medicine Hat will look at life in the same way beside the Fiji lagoon.

More than that, the ragabond existence pays no dividends. The most tragic people on this globe, in my opinion, are those who have roamed too much to grow roots. No maxim is more deadly true than that a rolling stone gathers no moss.

If there's any answer at all to the young lady's question it's simply that the solution for her boredom lies within herself and not in a railway ticket. But, of course, nobody has ever been known to take that advice.

NEWS FROM Victoria By J. K. Nesbitt

VICTORIA—Liquor, down through the years, has always caused controversy in British Columbia—as elsewhere, of course. We're not unique when we come.

For the next few weeks, until election day, June 12, there's going to be lots heard about liquor, as the people decide which way to vote in a quite meaningless plebiscite: "Are you in favor of the sale of spirituous liquor and wine by the glass in establishments licensed for such purposes?"

There's no mention of cocktail lounges—the public doesn't know whether they're voting for cocktail lounges, or not. One wonders why the government doesn't ask: "Are you in favor of cocktail lounges?" However, let's not concern ourselves at the moment about the current controversies, but look a bit into history and be entertained by liquor controversies of the past.

The first official liquor argument was heard in Victoria nearly a century ago. In 1853 the Legislative Council of the Crown Colony of Vancouver Island passed the first liquor license act. Under it wholesalers paid 100 pounds a year and retailers 125 pounds. Governor James Douglas wrote to the Duke of Newcastle, Secretary of State for the Colonies in London: "I do not suppose that the licenses will put a stop to intemperance, but it will prove a check to a certain degree, or at least deprive the tippler of a part of the means he so unprofitably squanders and the part will be applied to the erection of schools and other useful institutions to counteract in some measure the effects of his evil example."

These liquor licenses, in 1883, raised the first money by direct taxation in British Columbia. Douglas, far-seeing man that he was, could never have visualized the day when the B.C. Government would be hauling in liquor profits to the tune of more than $18,000,000 a year. Saloons flourished in the early days—and they served beer and hard liquor, but at least you could eat in saloons in those days and mine host took pride in the cold collations he spread—cuts of beef and ham, bologna sausage, crisp rolls. Sometimes the meal cost a nickel—mostly it was on the house.

Later there were bottle shops—privately owned. In 1916, in the midst of the Great War, there was a move for prohibition in all parts of North America. There was a demand for it in B.C. The government put a plebiscite to the people: 36,392 people voted for prohibition and 27,000 against. The soldier vote overseas, however, was against prohibition.

British Columbia for the next five years was dry—or so it was said. Doctors and dentists could issue prescriptions for medicinal purposes. A lot of people in that period, it appears now, suddenly found they just could not exist without two or three drinks a day, like a diabetic needs the daily shot of insulin to live. And so it was that prohibition was a great farce.

In 1921 there was another plebiscite on liquor. The people were asked if they wanted continuation of prohibition or government-controlled sale of liquor. Nearly 50,000 voted for prohibition, but more than 75,000 voted for government sale.

That was the last time the people expressed their wishes on the subject of retail distribution of liquor.

But the argument has raged through all the years and the forthcoming plebiscite, and its answer, certainly won't be the end of the controversy. It's good for forever.

A. R. McNutt Of Summerland Weds At Mission City

A son and a son-in-law of the groom officiating at the ceremony and other children of the wedding principals performing many other important roles were unusual incidents in the Easter Monday nuptials of Mrs. Maria Ruppel and A. R. McNutt, of Summerland.

At the rites in Mission City, performed by Rev. D. L. McNutt of Kimberly and Rev. C. E. Creston, Mission City, the bride of Vancouver, formerly of West Summerland, was given in marriage by her son, Aaron Ruppel, and attended by her daughter, Miss Elly Ruppel.

A dusky-rose colored gabardine suit, grey hat and navy blue accessories were chosen by the bride for her wedding attire. Miss Ruppel wore a powder-blue suit with matching hat and accessories.

During the signing of the register, Mrs. C. E. Preston, daughter of the groom, sang "A Wedding Prayer," accompanied by Mrs. Bert Gaglard.

The groom was supported by his son, Gordon H. McNutt, and ushers were R. Ruppel, the bride's son, and L. E. Preston.

At the reception Mrs. R. Wood of Calgary, the groom's daughter, served as hostess. Serviteurs were Miss Ethel McNutt, Kamloops; Mrs. L. R. Preston, Miss Ruth Starratt, Penticton; Miss Theresa Royer and Miss Ione Embree, both of Summerland.

After a short honeymoon in Fraser Valley centres the newly married couple will reside at Trout Creek, Summerland.

The young Englishwoman came back to British Columbia last year where she has lived until her recent marriage at Salmon Arm to Frank Lees.

City Council's invitation to visit the young Englishwoman was tabled by council Monday, pending receipt of further information.

Report On Cadet Group Activities Presented To City Kiwanis Club

A report on the activities of the Penticton Air Cadet Squadron 259 was given to the city Kiwanis club, sponsor of the group, at the lunch-noon meeting Tuesday by Flight Lieutenant A. F. Day, commanding officer of the squadron.

The speaker explained that the air cadets were organized in the early days of the last war to provide a pool on which the RCAF could draw for personnel.

At the end of the war the Air Cadet League, a civilian body, re-arranged the policy of the cadet movement from a military to a civilian basis.

"Boys were taught to become good citizens and some military discipline was included in the training," Lt. Day said.

"Now that the international situation is again tense RCAF subjects are being emphasized."

He explained that the local squadron was disbanded for a while and was then re-activated last fall.

"We got 14 boys to enlist. There was a gradual increase in personnel until we had 34 youngsters under training."

"A Link trainer has been installed and now every cadet can become familiar with aircraft controls and with the effect the use of the controls has on the instruments."

"Instructional films are shown and range parades are held. Although the standard of marksmanship has improved considerably we do not feel that we are ready to enter marksmanship or drill contests but we hope to do so next year."

"Our training facilities include an aero engine and some good radio equipment. Training in engines is being given but we shall not be able to use the radio equipment until we have a Department of Transport licensed operator to give instruction. As soon as an instructor can be obtained then we shall start to work the sets, and make radio contacts with other cadet groups in this province and in Alberta."

"All cadets are medically fit to fly, and the majority of them want to fly."

"Some flying instruction will be received if we are able to send our quota of nine boys to the RCAF summer camp at Abbotsford in July but so far we are not sure how many boys will represent Penticton at the school," Lt. Day concluded.

Sicamous May Be Opened To Public May 24

Penticton Gyros hope to open the SS Sicamous to the public by May 24. One more coat of paint remains to be applied. Most of the carpentry work inside the craft is completed.

At the council meeting on Monday a request from the club for permission to take out a license to sell soft drinks, hot dogs and ice cream was approved, subject to the endorsement by the city parks board.

The concession will be located on the park area near the vessel. Other catering facilities will be available on board when dances and public functions are in progress.

Penticton Artists

Angels' Church (Kelowna) Shield on Tuesday evening. "Your singing is full of keenness — full of vitality," he said in awarding them a mark of 87.

COMPLETELY CHARMING

"Completely charming in all respects," Professor Tankard said of the performance of young Errol Gay in the boys' treble vocal solo class, which the sweet-voiced local boy won with a mark of 90. Only one mark behind him was Bobby Wilson of Armstrong.

For his performance in this class, Errol won the Silver Anniversary Cup for the highest mark in the advanced junior vocal classes.

Another young Penticton vocalist, Eugene Macdonald, won the Bradley Cup for junior vocal classes for his performance in the under 12 class in which he was given the top mark of 88.

One of the best performances of the opening day of the festival on Monday was given by a charming young Kelowna vocalist, Kenneth Stolitz, who won the Kelowna Business and Professional Women's Club Cup with a mark of 87 in the folk song class for boys and girls under 16 years.

Another outstanding performance on the opening day of the festival was that of Kelowna's Sheridan Carr-Hilton in the under 10 piano-forte solo class when she obtained a mark of 90.

"Very charming — I enjoyed it immensely," Professor Tankard said of the performance of the New Canadian Singers of the Penticton Night School who sang two selections in German. In his adjudication, he said he was reminded of his young days when he was studying in Germany where he listened to the Germans singing their delightful folk songs. He gave the group the fine mark of 85.

Another trophy came to Penticton when pianists Mengia and Gilberta Semadeni obtained top marks in the under 12 piano-forte duo class and were awarded the Reynolds Cup for junior piano-forte events. "A GOOD VOICE" "A good voice — manly without being rough," Professor Tankard said of the performance of Kaledon's Geoffrey C. Alington in the open baritone class in which he gave him the high mark of 86.

In addition to winning the radio audition, Mrs. Ruth Summers, of Kamloops, also obtained the top mark of 85 in the open operatic class with a delightful rendition of "Habenera" from "Carmen".

The festival was officially opened on Monday night by Mayor W. A. Rathbun and School Board chairman T. F. Parmenter. The speakers were introduced by Theo F. H. Padberg, president of the Penticton Branch of the Music Festival Association. All speakers praised the excellent facilities provided by the new auditorium.

In his remarks at the opening, Professor Tankard praised the new auditorium and urged Penticton residents to make it a living structure by using it to the fullest for cultural and artistic activities such as concerts, musical presentations and drama productions.

The festival went into its fourth day this morning with dancing competitions. Chorus and dancing will take up most of today and tomorrow, with some open instrumental and vocal competitions. Tomorrow will see the first of the band and brass and woodwind classes and Saturday will feature the Okanagan Valley Championships in the vocal and instrumental classes.

With attendance increasing at every performance, particularly at the evening sessions, the hard working festival committee is endeavoring to protect and guarantee season's tickets holders a seat by asking them to be in their places 15 minutes before the performance is scheduled to begin.

The festival will conclude next Monday night when many of the top performers and winners of numerous events will perform at a highlight concert in the auditorium. Tickets for the concert, which, judging from the calibre of talent performing at the festival, will be well worth attending, can be obtained from the ticket office at the auditorium.

Festival Royalty To Appear At Blossom Time Ball Tomorrow

Penticton Tourist Association's first annual "Blossom Time Ball" to be held in the Armouries tomorrow evening will feature entertainment by Bob Miller of Kelowna, ventriloquist and magician, and special novelty vocal selections by members of the Esquires' Orchestra.

The ball marks the first formal appearance of the Peach Festival Royal Party, Queen Val Vedette V. Joan Nagle, and Princesses Connie Tannant and Noreen Bond.

Dancing will be from 10 p.m. until 2 a.m. Entertainment arrangements were made by Ben Nyen and Lynn Coates.

Cyclist Suffers Serious Injuries When Struck By Car

William Chaisson, a city man, is in hospital here, suffering from concussion and from serious lacerations to the scalp and leg following an accident in which the cyclist he was riding was struck by a car on south Main street about 8 p.m. Sunday.

According to police a car being driven south along Main street was attempting to pass another car. Before the move was completed the driver saw Mr. Chaisson, swerved to avoid him and struck the vehicle being overtaken and bounced back into the path of the cyclist.

Guests at the Kiwanis luncheon meeting Tuesday were the Rev. E. M. Perley, of Kelowna, Ralph Matthews, CPR passenger agent, and M. Duffin, both from Vancouver.

Parking Meters Cause Requests For Concessions

Introduction of parking meters here last week resulted in City Council receiving two requests for parking concessions at its Monday meeting.

One from a city doctor was refused. Another request from an electrical firm will be studied by the city clerk. Council received a third request from the Canadian Legion asking for a loading zone to be established in front of the Legion Hall on a Main street block not controlled by parking meters.

Dr. D. C. Boyd, in a letter, asked council to provide a "no parking" zone in front of his office on Wade avenue east so that his car would always be immediately available in case of emergency. "At present I must park my car about two blocks from my office," Dr. Boyd stated.

"We cannot provide free parking space for everyone," Alderman Wilson Hunt commented. "If we grant this request we cannot refuse any others." Council concurred and the request was refused.

Referred to the city clerk for study was a request from Cooper and Gibbard, electrical contractors. The letter requested permission to use the parking stalls for extended periods.

"We must hold our equipment truck in readiness for the duration of any job at the location of the job," the company claimed.

A request from the Canadian Legion to have concessions outside the Legion Hall was granted. Council agreed to establish two 22-foot loading zones for use after 6 p.m. so that cars and taxis can unload passengers attending the hall for public functions.

Hella There!

Let me tell you about an experience I had yesterday. It might prove interesting to you because you might feel the same way as the fellow I went to visit. He told me flatly he didn't want any insurance. He wasn't sure what his plans were going to be and he didn't want to feel tied down to anything. He was afraid that any insurance he chose now might be no use to him in five years.

Well sir, all I can say is, he couldn't have heard of our Sun Life Adjustable Policy. If anything's more adjustable than that I'd be very interested in knowing what it is. Just listen to this. For the first five years the assured is covered for the full face value of the policy. At the end of that time he can choose a much bigger Whole Life policy, and at no additional cost and without evidence of health. He also has the privilege of continuing the policy on the Whole Life basis for the original face amount, but with a much reduced premium. And there are even more advantages. He can limit his period for paying premiums on the policy to suit his own future benefit as he sees fit. There's nothing rigid about this type of life insurance policy, is there? No matter how your plans may change during this time, your needs will still be taken care of. I'd sure like to drop in for a short chat with you and prove to you what a wonderful all purpose program this is.

Alaska Via Okanagan - Cariboo Highway A Reality On June 30 With Bridging Of Parsnip River

Further links of progress, binding two countries in yet closer ties, were forged at a unique "across the border" meeting of Washington State and British Columbia delegations on Saturday afternoon.

Taking advantage of the Tonasket-Omak sittings of the Washington State Highway Commission, the meeting was held primarily to discuss uniform action for obtaining improvements to Highway 97, which, after June 30, will be an active and actual "Alaska Highway", which has been the two-decade objective of the Okanagan-Cariboo-Alaska Highway Association.

BRIDGE LINK

This important event, the conference was told, will occur on June 30, with the completion on that date of the temporary bridge over the Parsnip River, opening the John Hart Highway through to Dawson Creek and the original Alcan Highway.

Canadian delegates at the conference included A. G. Schell, president of the Penticton Board of Trade; Howard Faulkner, president of the Kelowna Board of Trade; Alderman F. C. Christian, president, and Ben Nyen, executive member, of the newly formed Penticton Tourist Association; H. B. Morley, past president and past secretary of the Penticton Board of Trade; J. D. Bews, Kelowna, vice-president of the Okanagan - Cariboo Trail Association.

Among the American group was William A. Bugge, director, department of highways for the State of Washington. Others were, Fred G. Redman, chairman, Oscar E. Stone, Roy A. Moiso, M. Lou Wallace and Judge A. Simpson, members, of the Washington State Highway Commission. In addition there was a large gathering of county commissioners and chamber of commerce members from Okanagan county and other points throughout the state.

NEW CUSTOMS BUILDING

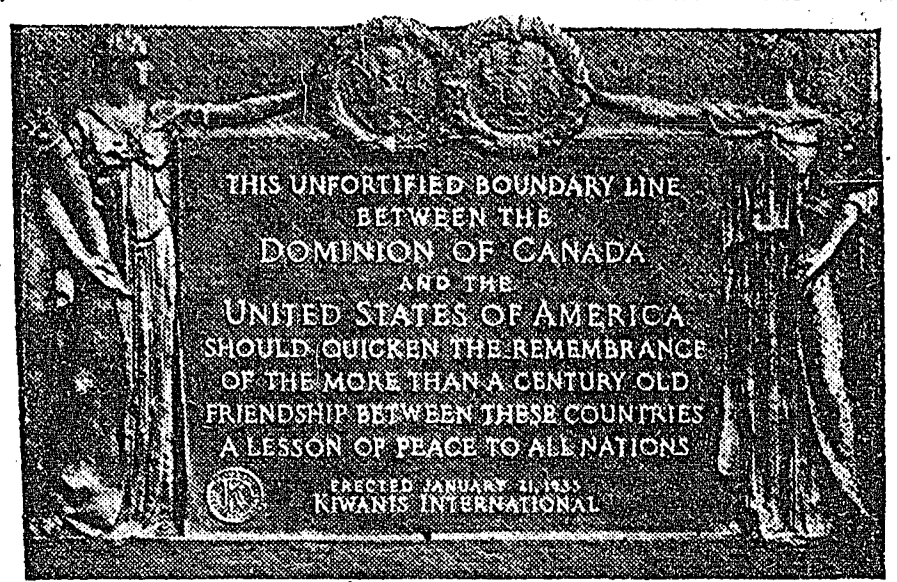

After a formal hand-shake-across-the-border, and photographs "on the line", the American party was invited to gather in the newly completed new passenger-car building at the new half-million-dollar Canadian Customs port of entry.

First speaker of the afternoon was J. Bews, vice-president of the Okanagan - Cariboo - Alaska Highway Association. Mr. Bews pointed out that the new route is a direct, and short route to Alaska, and hence is of importance to the entire Okanagan, opening up, for the first time, a direct route from California to Alaska.

"British Columbia has, in the past short while, made great strides on its roads program, the most recent development being the start of reconstruction of the ten miles from Penticton to Summerland." Shortly, he said, the road will be paved through from the border to Lac La Hache, and, soon thereafter, additional stretches will be surfaced.

MILITARY VALUE

MORE THAN 3,400 Kiwanis clubs throughout Canada and the United States are commemorating the anniversary of the Rush-Bagot agreement, a treaty between Britain and America regulating the building of warships on the Great Lakes, which was signed on April 28, 1818. As part of their program of friendship Kiwanians have erected twenty-seven of the above Peace Tablets at major ports of entry in the past 30 years. One stands at the border point at Osoyoos.

Local Kiwanis Will Entertain U.S. Club In Goodwill Week Observance

Kiwanians from Okanagan, Washington, will visit the Penticton Club Tuesday to mark United States-Canada Goodwill Week observed from April 27 to May 3.

The observance, designed to foster good relations between the United States and Canada, dates back to 1921 when the Kiwanis International convention held the first Canadian Day celebration. This was the forerunner of the present United States-Canada Goodwill Week.

During the intervening years, Kiwanis clubs have erected 27 bronze "peace tablets" at major ports of entry along the more than 3,000 miles of unfortified boundary between the two nations. The inscription on each tablet reads:

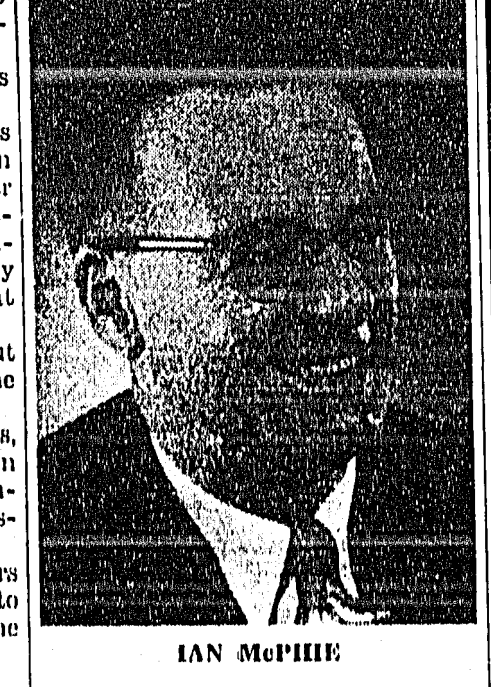

"This unfortified boundary line between the Dominion of Canada and the United States of America should quicken the remembrance of the more than a century old friendship between these countries, a lesson of peace to all nations."

City Council will advertise for two watchmen for the city dams.

IAN M'PHIE AGAIN HEADS UCT COUNCIL

Okanagan Council No. 738 to the United Commercial Travelers of America, held its installation of officers for the ensuing year on Friday last at the Legion Hall.

Owing to pressure of business, junior counselor Ronald Westad felt he was unable to accept the promotion to senior counselor, and Brother Ian McPhie consented to accept.

Elected to act this year, and installed on Friday last, were—past senior counselor, Bruce Munro; senior counselor, Ian McPhie; junior counselor, Norm Giddy; secretary-treasurer, Arnold Westaway; conductor, Harvey Kyle; judge, Dave Gillespie; sentinel, Sammy Orr; chaplain, Johnny Jerome.

The Ladies Auxiliary to the council was invited to attend this impressive ceremony, and after all of officers had been installed the auxiliary presented the council with a cheque for $83.28, being the proceeds from the fashion show recently sponsored by the United Commercial Travelers in aid of their fund to furnish the cancer diagnostic room in the new cancer examining quarters.

The meeting closed with a lunch served by the ladies and the event ended in a most enjoyable dance and social evening.

'Hopper Control Can Be Carried Out In B.C.

W. H. Robertson, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, Victoria, informs the B.C.F.A. in connection with the resolution passed at the 1952 convention on the subject of grasshopper threat, that there is authority in the Grasshopper Control Act of 1948 under which grasshopper control can be carried out in British Columbia.

"There are a number of grasshopper-control areas in effect and should any of these areas wish to extend their boundaries or should they group wish to form a new zone, it can be done under the provisions of this act.

Kelowna Pays Final Tribute To "First Lady", Mrs. Raymer

KELOWNA — Kelowna's "First Lady" is gone. Mrs. Mary Shaw Raymer died at her home in Westside (along the Bear Creek Road) last week at the grand old age of 92 years and seven days. She was the widow of Henry William Raymer, the city's first mayor when it was incorporated in 1905 and who died in 1916.

First United Church was nearly filled last Tuesday afternoon for the final rites, conducted by Rev. R. S. Letch. A mass of floral tributes covered the casket. Burial was in the family plot, Kelowna cemetery.

Coming to Kelowna first in 1891, the late Mrs. Raymer was born in Ayr, Ont., married in Woodstock, Ont., 1878. Shortly afterwards she and her husband and their first born came by train to Winnipeg and then by oxen to Shoal Lake, Man., where they homesteaded until 1890, moving to Lethbridge and then on to the Okanagan the following year.

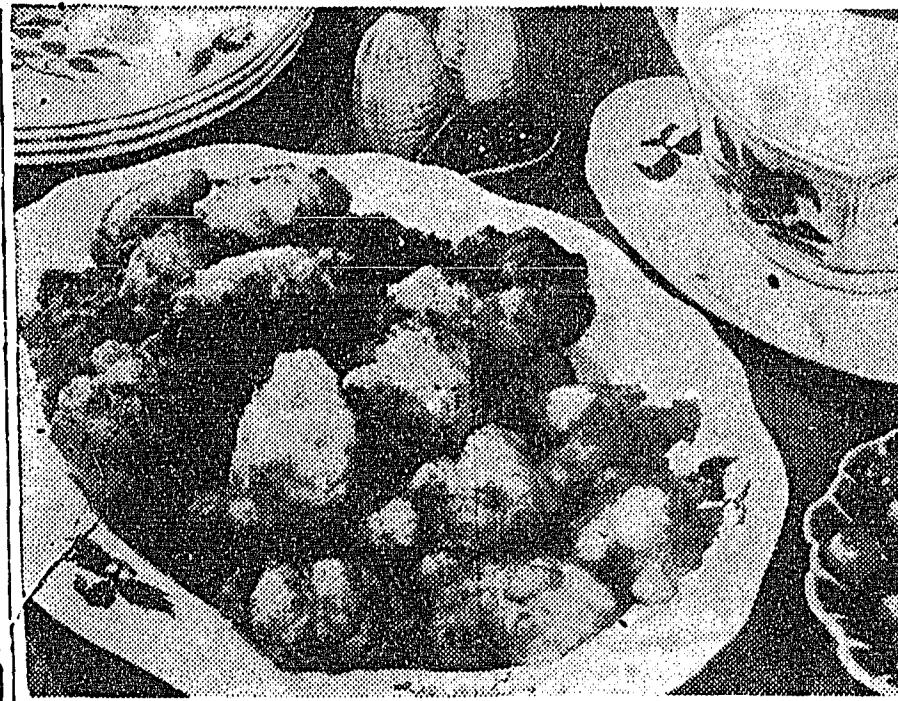

The late Mrs. Raymer moved to Westside around 1917 and had resided with her daughter, Miss Ruby Raymer, since that time.

Mrs. Raymer gave birth to 10 children, three of them born in Kelowna after the Raymers settled here. First born Ethel died in 1949 and a son Harry died as a youth. Surviving children are: Arthur, Okanagan Mission; Bernard, in California; William, Vancouver; Mrs. Rose Jamieson, Vancouver; Mrs. Maude Edwards, Vancouver; Miss Winnifred Raymer, Roberts Creek, B.C.; Mrs. Pearl Dain and Miss Ruby Raymer, both of Westside.

Also left are 22 grandchildren, 29 great-grandchildren and one great-grandchild. Day's Funeral Service was in charge of arrangements.

When a lioness at the Blackpool zoo refused to nurse three newborn cubs, the zoo obtained a collie dog to "mother" them. Now the zoo is asking for another collie, because one isn't enough.

"Something Radically Wrong With An Orchard Practice Which Gives Such Wide Variation At Maturity"

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of a series of four articles written by J. M. Robinson, senior inspector of the fruit and vegetable division of the Canadian department of agriculture, stationed at Regina, Sask., who has made some penetrating comments upon the general market condition of Okanagan fruit and practices which affect the condition. All growers—every grower—should be interested in his comments which are reproduced here in full.)

Education along different lines than at present is required and the first requisite to a betterment of conditions is to have the growers admit that there is something radically wrong with an orchard practice which gives so wide a variation in the general maturity value of their fruit. It is the growers who are largely responsible for this condition.

In general, fruit growers have no qualifications for the work they are trying to do and their chief claim to ability in the line of their endeavor is that they possess sufficient money or credit to establish themselves as fruit growers.

Since I first became acquainted with the Okanagan Valley, orchards have changed hands frequently and larger units have been subdivided to an extent which makes the original division unrecognizable.

These new growers have tended to decrease uniformity of maturity values. Packing and distribution has been made more difficult because of this. While the packer may not be doing his best with the material delivered and distribution may be sometimes at fault it can truthfully be said that if the grower did his work properly that the present packing and distribution program would be adequate. It is primarily by reason of variations in maturity values delivered to the packing house that production costs cannot be realized and producers must realize that if they produce weak fruit that it cannot be sold to their advantage no matter how efficiently the work of packing and selling is carried out.

Producers must realize also that if the prices paid by consumers are not high enough to meet all costs that packers and distributors have first claim.

FAILED TO MEET

In the past, there were years when the consumer did not pay enough to meet packing, transportation and selling costs and the growers had to dip into their pockets to defray the difference. Some of the growers can remember the years 1922 and 1932 in which there was plenty of red ink on their statements from the packing houses. It begins to look as though there could be a repetition of this condition which would undoubtedly have applied at present except through government intervention and subsidized export markets.

Government subsidies come out of the pockets of consumers eventually and at present the purchasing power is being rapidly reduced by the mistaken ideas underlying this suicidal practice. Anyone with intelligence must realize that if any industry cannot stand on its own feet that something is radically wrong and that this cannot be remedied by paying out consumers' money for errors made.

The day has not yet arrived when producers will be recognized to be the most important citizens who will be paid for their labor in ratio to its efficiency. When this day arrives marketing will be reduced to a simplicity which will eliminate the greater part of present costs between producer and consumer and purchasing power will be in ratio to production possibilities.

Because present consumers pay prices far beyond their means they cannot buy all the produce offered for sale. In a depression this condition is more and more pronounced. We have reached a point where Okanagan growers must compete with all other products offered for sale or they will soon find themselves in a position where much of the fruit will have to be left in the orchards.

HEALTH UNIT MEETING

Next quarterly Union Board meeting of the South Okanagan Health Unit will be held in the council chambers, city hall, Kelowna, on May 7, at 2 p.m.

The main item on the agenda will be the review of the South Okanagan Health Unit 1951 annual report.

he expects to sell it all at prices which will enable him to keep on producing.

Responsibility for past mistakes have generally been placed on the shoulders of the other fellow.

Growers say that packers and shippers should sell the fruit they deliver and should not be interested in the standards set by the distributors.

Packers and distributors are inclined to place all the blame for failure to secure satisfactory prices on producers.

There is no doubt that improvements can be made in all branches of the industry but it is certain that unless growers deliver good fruit to packing houses they cannot hold the balance of the industry responsible for getting unsatisfactory returns.

Electrical Workers Seek Conciliation Hearing Over Wages

Wage offer by City Council to the city electrical workers was unacceptable to the local union here and the matter will go to conciliation.

At the council meeting Monday a letter from the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers was read asking council if its decision on the wage offer was final. If so, the letter stated, the matter would be taken to conciliation.

Council declined to re-open negotiations with the union.

HOW DID YOUR bedroom look to you this morning when you first opened your eyes? Whether you're a teen-ager, business girl or homemaker, you'll want a cheerful bedroom that suits your needs to a "T". Remember that color holds a high place in decorating because it expresses personality and adds color, character and beauty to a room. Much needed relaxation for tired and jagged spirits is a job for the bedroom, so comfort should be considered when you feel the throbs of re-decorating coming on.

Helpful Hints for Redecorating
When redecorating keep in mind that the same rules that you apply in dressing yourself to look slimmer or heavier, shorter or taller hold good in dressing a room. Vertical lines lengthen the area they cover, horizontal lines widen. Billowy, ruffled surfaces cover angles and plain dull spots and add beauty. Stiff, striped and checked fabrics make for tailored decoration. Sheer, soft and flower-print materials are more feminine. As for comfort — that's a "must" in even the simplest bedroom. At least one softly cushioned chair, as comfortable a mattress as you can afford, a dressing table with good light and a matching cushioned stool at the right height — all these add to your well-being.

Elegant Bedspread
New for that final touch of luxury! A lovely bedspread made from a simple crochet pattern will add beauty to any room. Make it in all white, cerise or perhaps a pretty color to harmonize with your room. If you wish directions for making this lovely PINEAPPLE BEDSPREAD, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Needlework Department of this paper requesting Leaflet No. 7806-B.

Place For Annuals In Every Garden

There is a place for annual flowers in almost every garden. They are particularly useful in the garden of a novice before the permanent planting is done. They have a place in established gardens when the daffodils and tulips and the earlier flowering perennials have bloomed and left bare places. They are among the best flowers for house decoration, and are truly "out and come again" flowers, as new blooms come if the old ones are cut before seed pods form.

Seeds of the more hardy annuals can usually be sown in early May in locations where they are to bloom and require little beyond thinning and weeding. They do well in any good garden soil but a well prepared soil bed is necessary. Perhaps the greatest cause of failure in planting the seeds too deep. Fairly generous, shallow seeding and careful tamping of the soil will do much to assure success.

Some annuals take 90 to 100 days or more from the time of seeding to the time of blooming. Such seeds are not suited for outdoor sowing, and are sown early in the spring in hotbeds or greenhouses. The average gardener is advised to buy plants of this group of annuals rather than to grow them at home from seed. While this can be done, under average home conditions and with no greenhouse, spindly plants often result which are subject to a fungus known as "damping off".

Seed catalogues and most seed packages indicate the number of days required until the plant blooms.

Sports Chatter

By E. J. (DAD) PALMER

You've got to hand it to Detroit Red Wings. They proved themselves champions in every sense of the word. First they make a run-a-way of the NHL series—an old trick of theirs these past few years—then turn around and take the Stanley Cup in eight straight games, without a loss, four from Toronto Maple Leafs and four from Montreal Canadiens, with several shut-outs by Terry Sawchuk thrown in for good measure—an all-time Stanley Cup record of which they have every reason to be proud.

From goal out they are an All-Star aggregation, with a couple of extra spares to fall back on, who are also just about "all-stars" themselves. And so to old "Jawn" Adams (many's the grand game I've seen that old bird play himself in the old days when he was with Toronto), Tommy Ivan and all the players who made up that grand team I tip my hat in admiration. It was a bad series, financially, for the Palmer family, both Warren and I bet against the Red Wings, but somehow when you lose to such a swell outfit, it does seem to take some of the sting out of your losses. However, next year is another year, and I hope to be backing the Leafs again. Anyway, I got a friendly little tip-off the other day from down Toronto way which says "Watch out for the new Leafs next year." Thanks, pal, I will!

EDMONTON PATS OUT

And now Edmonton Pats are "out" and so we have to go all the way east to Fort Francis to get a winner for the west (that sounds like a paradox) to represent us in the Allan Cup. Hope they can come through.

Was glad to see that write up in "Sports Pourri" about the deplorable condition of those tennis courts on Brunswick street. It must be rather disconcerting to visitors and tourists coming to this city for their summer holidays (as they do in droves), who pack their tennis racquets along with their golf clubs and fishing tackle in the back of their cars, to find, on getting here, that there is no place where they can use those racquets. It's bad business, and while on that subject, why not a badminton court and a hand-ball alley (the latter could also be used for squash racquets or rives). None of these would take up much space and we have plenty of that, and, once constructed, do not take a great deal of keeping in order. The more diversified you can make sports in a tourist centre like ours, the more likely you will be to get visitors to come here again another year, and that's what we want, just like a repeat order in any business, get them coming back for more, that's what counts. I feel confident now that it has been given some publicity in the press and brought to their notice, that the Tourist Association will do what they can to rectify the situation.

Aside to Ted Gaskell—a big boy. Ted, glad to see the way you went after Sid—coming from a Yorkshire man of all people it was pretty bad. Where cricket is concerned, I'm right behind you.

There was another meeting of the Hockey Booster Club last Friday and we appear to be making progress, slowly but surely. It takes time to iron out all the angles and get things running the way we want it. We now have Jack Newton as president, Harold Davies, vice-president, and Mack Collins, secretary, and I feel in those three we are off to a real good start. Next meeting is called for Friday night (tomorrow), at 8 p.m. sharp and this time the meeting will be in the Elks Hall on Ellis street.

Night Baseball, Under Lights, Comes To Penticton Wednesday

Penticton Athletics will be out to make it two in a row Sunday when they meet the Vernon Canadians at Vernon in the second league game of the season.

The A's have a bone to pick with the Vernon Club which last season defeated the pennant winning Athletics in the championship playoff series.

Vernon made an inglorious debut in the Okanagan-Mainline League last Sunday, losing to Kelowna 10-3. Interest of Penticton fans is, for the most part, centered on next Wednesday's game which, apart from the initial appearance of the Kelowna Club, will be the first game to be played under lights in the interior. The game is scheduled for 8:30 p.m. with opening ceremonies at 8 p.m. at King's Park. A record crowd is anticipated by baseball officials. In the meantime the junior baseball team, sponsored this year by the Penticton Baseball Association, is being licked into shape. A large number of promising youngsters were out for Tuesday's workout. Another workout will be held tonight and the 1952 edition of the Canucks will go into action on Sunday at Oliver in an exhibition game.

Mrs. Dames had the low net and Mrs. Higgins the low net for beginners—nice going. From here in that will be a weekly affair every Thursday, starting at one p.m. And so Les Edwards and his Athletics got off on the right foot for the season (but only just) taking a close 11 inning win from Kamloops Elks. That homer? by Doug Kiburn in the 11th did the trick for us. And as the game dragged along—some "loud-mouth" sitting near me called for Kamloops to put on their pyjamas—my contention is that it's too cold up there for such garments—those Elks probably sleep in their underwear and do you blame them?

So our motorcycle group will again be headquarters for the B.C. branch of their association. A little while ago I said they did not get a great deal of publicity—they must be getting more than I thought. Also my hopes that Penticton could have a place to stage such theatrical shows as the "Mikado", and such like, have now been fulfilled with the opening of that nice new hall and stage at the high school. Good going to all concerned.

Boy old boy! What a waste that would be—moonlight on the bench, a shell-like ear, and Sid! (Bet he'll put the blue pencil through that one).

Having just heard the first cricket of the season will be a practice at Naramata on Thursday evening, May 1. If anyone of the high school boys want to go—please contact Ted Gaskell at the Herald office.

South Okanagan Zone Drama Festival To Be Held Here Next Week

Penticton Players' Club will play host on Friday and Saturday of next week when drama groups from the South Okanagan Zone converge on this city for a two night drama festival. Mrs. Christine Chanter, of Vancouver, will adjudicate on both nights and will present the awards for best play, best actor, best actress and best director. Officials are anticipating an audience of more than a 1000 at the shows to be presented Friday and Saturday in Penticton's new high school auditorium.

SIX ONE ACT PLAYS
Penticton, Naramata and Oliver will compete in the Friday evening's bill while Princeton and Kelowna players will take the stage on the Saturday night.

"Because of the large number of good plays in rehearsal in the zone that could be brought to the festival it has been necessary to have preliminary rounds in each of the outside places. The qualifying plays will be chosen during the next few days and the winners will then have a few days to polish their productions before bringing them to Penticton."

Mrs. Chanter, who will adjudicate the festival and present the awards, is well known in drama circles at the coast having been a director of the Vancouver Little Theatre and last year she took high honors for her directing in the B.C. Regional Drama Festival. Mrs. Chanter has the reputation of being a very fine adjudicator who is noted for her fair, accurate appraisals and keen comments that are designed not only to praise where praise is due, but also to criticize the weak points so that improvements can be made.

IMPROVED FACILITIES
It is expected that performances will be of a higher caliber this year than has been seen here in the past because of the new and better facilities available in the new auditorium.

First reports on the building so far indicate that acoustic conditions are near perfect and the stage itself is spacious enough for the largest of productions. Those who have complained in the past about poor visibility or uncomfortable seats will be pleasantly surprised to find that the new auditorium has a sloping floor and comfortable theatre style seats. The stage setting will, for the most part, consist of a plain drape stage that will give all the contestants an equal start. This, of course, emphasizes the strengths and the weaknesses of the players and more or less leaves them to fend for themselves on a neutral stage.

Every effort is being made to encourage Penticton's citizens to take part in and attend both performances of the festival in view of the fact that it will probably be several years before the festival again comes to Penticton. Students are being admitted at the reduced admission of 35c for one night and 50c for both nights. Tickets are obtainable from Knight's Pharmacy in Penticton.
Curtain time is 8 p.m.

Alberta Social Credit M.P. Speaker At Party Meeting Here

"Social Credit is not merely a financial reform scheme, the monetary reform is merely one mechanism by means of which a true social credit society can be brought about. We believe that the ideal state is one in which the individual is supreme and the state and all other social institutions are subordinate, in other words the government is dependent upon the will of the people rather than the people being dependent upon the will of the government."

This explanation of Social Credit was given by Ray Thomas, Social Credit M.P. for Westsaskatoon, Alberta, who addressed an audience of about 225 in the old high school auditorium here Monday. The meeting was sponsored by the Penticton Social Credit Association.

"In order to achieve a truly democratic way of life," Mr. Thomas continued, "we must take the power to create money out of the hands of the banks and financial institutions where it now lies and give it back to the representatives of the people."

"All money should be spent into circulation rather than loaned into circulation as it is at the present time. As long as the present debt system is adhered to we cannot expect to ever have a balanced economy on any degree of financial stability."

"A monetary commission responsible to parliament should be set up to determine the amount of production within the country and to see that an equivalent amount of money is in circulation and no more."

"The present financial system will only work when there is a shortage of goods. When we have plenty for all we have no money. When we have money there are no available goods. Thus we find poverty in the midst of plenty on one hand and prosperity in the midst of shortages, exactly the reverse of logic. We believe that in times of surpluses we should increase the purchasing power rather than restrict the production, also in times of shortages, production should be stepped up rather than purchasing power withdrawn."

THIS NORTH KOREAN farmer turned up at Panmunjom recently with a fishing rig that intrigued both United Nations and Red Chinese personnel in the area. His gear consists of a rod connected to a battery carried over the shoulder and a small net on a long pole. He presses a button, shocks the fish and scoops them up in the net. Judging by the string held by a Korean at right results are plentiful if not hefty.

H. A. Nicholson Elected Rotary Vice-President

H. A. "Bill" Nicholson was chosen as the new vice-president of the Penticton Rotary Club at elections held at Monday's luncheon in the Incola Hotel.

He will serve on the 1952-53 executive under A. D. C. Washington who was placed in the presidency by acclamation when nominations were presented several weeks ago.

Balance of the executive comprises Frank Bowsfield, Norman Maloney, Bill Day and Norman Trouth.

Monday's luncheon was also featured by an address by Hugh Wilson, managing director of Columbia Coachways, who stressed the continent-wide problems confronting the transit business.

Costs have climbed by 200 per cent since 1939, he pointed out, and passenger usage has actually declined. The result is that private enterprise in such undertaking is being forced to the wall.

"Those of you who own cars—give us a break," he smiled, in urging that "competition" with transit utilities be kept to a reasonable minimum. He also asked sympathy for the transit business' request for amelioration of taxes and other charges.

Another brief speaker at the meeting was D. P. O'Connell, school principal, who asked for a grant from the club in aid of child welfare funds. He spoke as a representative of the Parent-Teachers' Association, and his remarks were warmly received.

The club heard a report from E. Brittain, on a trip to a Kelowna

P-TA Should Help To Eliminate Racial, Religious Discrimination Delegates To B.C. Convention Told

KELOWNA — Responsibility of groups and organizations such as the Parent-Teacher Federation in eliminating discrimination against minority races and creeds, was stressed at the annual convention banquet of the P-TA last week. Speaking before 500 delegates and guests, A. T. "Sigh" Kobayashi, of Winfield, urged action to counteract the discrimination of which Canadians along with other nations, are guilty.

Mr. Kobayashi, who is a past president of the B.C. Japanese Canadians Association, as well as a prominent community worker and member of many organizations, is well known for his research into the racial and social discrimination problem, and his work to further a solution to the problem.

Choosing as his topic "Intercultural Co-operation in the Community," Mr. Kobayashi turned first to the United Nations' Declaration of Human Rights.

UPHOLD CHARTER

"We as Canadians should be proud that we are signatories to this great declaration of rights. But the 30 articles must be upheld. While some have been violated, we must avoid repetition.

"Our responsibility is to suppress the varying forms of prejudice in Canada. When prejudices are held by several individuals, or groups of several people, then it is that they become alarmingly dangerous," he stated.

Because it is becoming increasingly necessary for the various ethnic groups to live and work together, if a minority is discriminated against it fails society because it cannot make the maximum contribution to Canadian culture, economy and industry.

Mr. Kobayashi emphasized people of the minority groups must enjoy equal social and economic rights with all, and that if we as Canadians signed the declaration, then our course is clearly indicated.

He cited many examples of discrimination, taking as the most glaring, the fact that up until four years ago in British Columbia "laws in this province prohibited minorities, like myself, from voting, or from holding certain positions and entering certain professions." Continued discrimination in many parts of Canada still make it impossible for many to obtain employment. Such examples have been found and proved so, by various ethnic groups. There are bars which make it impossible for members of the Jewish or Negro race to obtain positions, even though they may hold master's degrees and top qualifications—"all because of color."

LONG RANGE EDUCATION

How can this problem be solved? The speaker stated that trade unions and some ethnic groups are doing tremendous work for the elimination of discrimination against any particular individual or groups. But there is still much discrimination in recreational places and in the matter of property ownership.

The solution, according to Mr. Kobayashi, is in long range education program. "Here is where groups like the P-TA can help," he said. "You must eliminate such situations on your home ground first, before you can expect results on a national basis," he added.

"The importance of the early influence of parents and teachers upon children was stressed when the speaker reminded that children themselves are not inclined to be discriminatory but achieve such feelings as they grow up, through influences and attitudes of their elders.

One of the most important phases of the solution, thought the speaker, lies in the question of what the member of the ethnic group, or the newcomer to Canada, can do for himself. It is important that organizations should give every encouragement to these people to join them and participate in their programs.

After a careful study of the P-TA constitution, Mr. Kobayashi stated he was satisfied "every avenue seems open for participation of this sort."

"I feel the P-TA fits into the mosaic of intercultural co-operation in the community very well," he concluded.

What is ALTERNATIVE VOTING and how does it work?

1 IT'S FAIR!

The Alternative Vote, to be used in the coming election, prevents the election of a candidate on a minority vote. The Alternative Vote is a fair method of voting because it enables you to vote for your favorite candidate as number one, your second choice as number two and so forth. You are thereby given the opportunity of selecting the candidates in order of your preference.

2 IT'S EASY!

It's as simple as before, only instead of marking an X against your one favorite candidate only, you can mark 1-2-3-4 with your first choice as number one. In the majority of ridings where one member only is to be elected you will mark one ballot only, listing the candidates in order of your preference. In a few ridings where more than one member is to be elected, more than one ballot will be used. Marking of these ballots, however, will be done exactly the same way as where only one ballot is used.

There is no problem or anything difficult in Alternative Voting. It is simple and fair. Under the old system of voting, it was possible for the candidate or party with a minority vote to get elected. For instance, if two candidates had 1000 votes each and the third had 1025, the third candidate would win even though 2000 votes had been cast against him. Under the Alternative Vote this is impossible. You mark the ballot thus: 1-for your first choice; 2-for your second choice and so on. If, on the first count, there is no absolute majority for any one candidate, the one with the fewest ballots marked in his favor is dropped and his ballots distributed among the candidates according to the second choices as indicated on these ballots. Again, if on the second count, no absolute majority is reached the same process would be used again. Then, when the candidate who has more votes than all the other candidates together is found, he wins and is elected.

Remember, all you have to do is to mark a numeral 1-2-3-4 against the candidates listed on the ballot in order of your preference.

D. P. O'Connell, Penticton's elementary school principal, was honored with a life membership in the British Columbia Parent-Teacher Federation, at the 30th annual convention banquet held in the Anglican Church Hall, Kelowna, last week. The Penticton Parent-Teacher Association had proposed the name of this member because of his continuous service and unfailing support in all the endeavours of the local association since its inception over ten years ago. Mr. and Mrs. O'Connell travelled to Kelowna with W. G. Gay, and the presentation was made at the banquet by Mrs. A. E. Delmage of Vancouver, herself a life member and a past president of the B.C. Federation.

Guest speaker at the banquet was A. T. "Sigh" Kobayashi, of Winfield, past president of the B. C. Japanese Canadian Association.

Violin Recital Wins Applause Of Full House

The new concert hall in the Masonic Temple was filled to capacity on Thursday night of last week when the pupils of the Watson Music Studios presented a violin recital. The recital was considered by many to be one of the best rendered performances of violin playing ever heard in this city.

The eighteen young artists performed in such a manner that hope is held out that the group will eventually become the nucleus of a symphony orchestra for this city.

The final ensemble of eight of the advanced violinists—Sharon Downs, Weldon Munden, Lori Kliz, Helen Paslawski, Phillip Paslawski, Laurence Eraut, Bernie Bernbach and Lowell Laidlaw—held the audience's rapt attention with the performance of several delightful selections. One of these selections, displaying the effects of the famous "G" string of the violins, gave the impression of a mighty cello, so deep and wonderful a tone was produced by the young musicians.

The sparkling pizzicato work of diminutive Helen Paslawski and her "Old Time Fiddlin'", coupled with some legato playing in another selection, won the warm applause of the audience.

Another outstanding selection on the program was a sailor's hornpipe, "On the Fo'c'sle", played by twelve-year-old Laurence Eraut, who shows promise of big things in the future. Other soloists among the junior violinists group were Sylvia Hut and Lowell Laidlaw.

Sharon Downs played the famous "Czardas" by Monti, Weldon Munden played "Pepeyum Mobile", Bernie Bernbach, "Sicut Damocles", and Lori Kliz, "Tschakowsky", and "Sweet Reverie". All soloists displayed a very capable technique.

Opening the program was a group of young violinists—Nelle Czecel, Denis Bonthoux, Freddy Czecel, Ryan Campbell, Michael O'Brian and Ronald Downes—ranging in ages from eight to twelve years, completely captivated the audience with their announcements before playing their solos.

Rounding out the well-balanced program were five piano duets played by Lois and June Parsons, Dallas Bradshaw and Roberta Bromley, Peter Harrison and Jimmy Davidson, Barbara Mill and Wendy Grove and Lily and Lena Chuet.

Harold Mitchell Appointed Civil Defence Co-Ordinator

About 50 persons, including representatives from city organizations and from Keremeos and Kaledon, heard Harold Mitchell named civil defence co-ordinator for the Penticton district at a public meeting last Friday at which Colonel J. Horne, defence co-ordinator for the B.C. interior, outlined Penticton's share in the civil defence program in the event of enemy air raids on this province.

Mr. Mitchell was chief air raid warden for the Naramata district during the last war. He was also Staff Sergeant Major with the local army reserves. During the first world war Mr. Mitchell was overseas with the 72nd Highland Regiment.

More recently he was president of the Naramata and Associated Boards of Trade.

At the meeting it was also announced that Alderman Wilson Rank, council's representative for civil defence, will take a defence course sponsored by the dominion government in Ottawa this spring.

In his address Colonel Horne declared: "Two generations ago war was thought to be romantic but the first world war somewhat shook this conception and the second world war completely eliminated it. There is no such thing as a sporting declaration of war and no such thing as sportsmanship in the field."

"Now war is carried to the civilian population. Any country attacking Canada would have as its objective the weakening of the will of the civilian population so that the war could be won with a minimum of fighting."

"That is the reason for civil defence."

"In Great Britain, great strides were made during the last war. These were so effective that the object of the Nazi raids was nullified."

"These air raids taught us a lesson. We must have, besides troops, educated civilians who can take care of themselves in the event of raids."

BRITISH LESSONS

"We have drawn heavily on British experience for our defence organization."

"We have made detailed studies and have made comparisons between Britain and countries where civil defence was not available."

"The people of Hamburg, Germany, who were told that no British bombs would ever fall on that city, lost 75-percent more casualties than should have been lost."

"In London, England, there were many casualties but not as many as there might have been."

"Those people learned civil defence while under fire. We have time to make our organization ready."

"Canada has set up a skeleton organization. A cabinet committee formulates the policy and other committees have been set up throughout the country."

OBVIOUS TARGETS

"There are certain obvious target areas in this province, Vancouver, Victoria, Prince Rupert, Kamloops, and Trail, each of which have a specific plan to put into action if enemy raiders attack."

"We must prepare for these areas there is a mutual aid area. Their task is to augment the facilities of the target areas."

"If bombs fell in Vancouver, hospitals would be full and casualties would have to be sent to the mutual aid centres."

"Penticton would be a reception area where evacuees would be accommodated and helped to recover from the shock which might result from the bombing."

"The police forces will have to be augmented for traffic control and to prevent looting from bombed buildings."

"We have found that there will always be 30 days supply of food" to be arranged for. Lists of station wagons and larger passenger cars are being compiled. Trucks will be required to take machinery and equipment for clearing debris in the stricken areas.

"Auxiliary fire brigades will be needed. It is believed that the fire brigades at their present strength could combat five fires at once but if incendiaries are dropped there might be hundreds of fires raging at once. So we must augment the services to provide two more firemen for every one we have now. Police services must be augmented in similar fashion."

"The government hopes to be able to provide a stirrup pump for every house in order to reduce possible strain on fire departments."

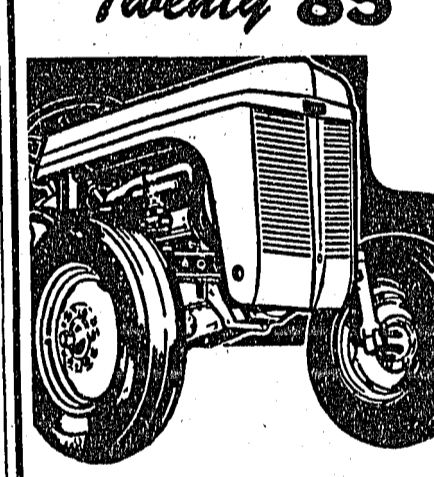

POLICE AUGMENTED

"The police forces will have to be augmented for traffic control and to prevent looting from bombed buildings."

"We have found that there will always be 30 days supply of food"

Spring Shoes Emphasize The Feminine Approach

Footloose and fancy free... that's the look for spring footwear. Keeping step with the feminine... the pretty... the definitely fresh look of spring fashions... newest shoes are slim, more elegant and with a lacy look.

Patent shines brightly... the very new banded look, composed of three patent leather bands, the two upper straps gored at the inside and a slim high heel, beautiful with the new blues, prints and frosted colors.

Mesh rises as a new star for the big moments. One lovely style is a lacy mesh, done in two pale pastels with matching kidskin stripings... a light, airy companion for dainty skirts and sheer dresses.

The jeweled ornament, sparkling fashion-first in women's wear, is repeated in a black alpaca shantung pump... the halter sling balanced with a big, jeweled ornament on the wide, open toe. Dressy and flattering, this sling pump is wonderful with lacy, after-five, little dresses.

Hitting its stride this year is the tapered toe, often shown with a squared back, which slants inward. Pretty shoes come in palest pastel kids... a pale blue, beautiful with the new iridescent shantungs.

The nude look... baring heels and toes entirely... is the most important trend for spring footwear. It is not the small open toe of the past season, but a wide vamp band that leaves all the toes exposed... the entire design depending upon good lines, rather than the intricate stripings of other years.

For tailored wear, the classic closed shoe is still good. Luggage tan, with high or medium heel, for wear with black, gray, navy, or browns. Spectator sport shoes are again favorites but more attractive this spring in gray and white.

There seems to be a trend away from suede... with the attention falling on calf and kids... nylon mesh... patent leather... fabrics like shantung... linen... straw combinations in tricolor contrasts as red, white and blue... turquoise, white and gray.

As to color... its use is unlimited. From pale pastels to midnight black, colors run riot! Shantungs in turquoise, gold, beige... thin, multi-colored strips of fabric, Italian in feeling... rosy-red... sky blue... mauve... fashion is putting its best foot forward this spring!

Planned Lighting For The Home

Architects, as never before, are seeing illumination as an integral part of their over-all plan. This point is brought home forcibly in the excellent book "Residential Lighting" by Myrtle Fahsnyder. She divides architectural lighting in the home into five classes; recessed direct lighting, window valance lighting, cornice lighting, cove lighting and miscellaneous architectural lighting.

To produce lighting that will augment, not mar, the beauty of an interior, careful planning based on "know how" is required. Ideally, lighting should be planned when a home is in the blue print stage. The same basic principles of home lighting apply whether it is a new house or a modernization job; whether the home is a palace or a modest apartment; or whether lighting is elaborate or simple (and good lighting is no longer restricted to those with an unlimited budget). When these principles are adhered to, artificial lighting can serve its fundamental purpose of providing adequate seeing conditions and at the same time become a fascinating tool with which to create beauty in rooms of traditional or contemporary design.

The extent to which lighting may be used may well determine the wiring of the home; therefore, careful study must be given this phase of the electrical installation before outlet locations and circuiting can be decided upon. At the time of building or remodeling, discussion with a reliable electrical contractor, Electric Service League or a utility company is the best way of obtaining advice on adequate wiring for all future electrical needs in the home.

Grease the top of a new bottle of glue the first time you remove the lid and you'll find this will prevent sticky drippings from renealing the bottle before the next use.

Cawston Women's Institute Hears Talk On Gardens

"Gardening with a minimum of work" was the subject of an interesting address given by Dr. R. Palmer, of the Dominion Experimental Station at Summerland, when he spoke at an open meeting held recently by the Cawston Women's Institute in the community hall.

Colored slides were used by Dr. Palmer to illustrate the various phases of his timely address. Another interesting item on the meeting's program was the talk by Mel Cook in which he gave a resume of his recent visit in Mexico. Refreshments were served to the large number present by members of the institute.

City Cancels Account For Light Pole Repairs

An account, rendered by the city to O. M. McInnis, of the Hickory Shop, for replacement of a guy pole near his property was cancelled by council Monday.

According to a letter from Mr. McInnis' solicitors the guy pole was loosened from its moorings when city crews were digging to locate a sewer connection.

More than $700 were collected in fines by the RCMP here last month.

Sandy Soils Require Special Care To Yield Quality Crops

Sandy soils can produce heavy yields of high quality crops, but usually require more careful handling of irrigation, fertilization and other cultural operations.

Irrigation schedules for sandy soils have been studied both at the Summerland Station and at the Kelowna Substation.

Sandy soils have two important characteristics, says J. C. Wilcox, Experimental Station, Summerland.

First, they are quite permeable to water, taking it readily and draining it readily; second, they do not hold much water following an irrigation.

In the Okanagan Valley have been found to need irrigating every seven days or even every five days.

It has been found that there is wastage of water at each irrigation, some of which is unavoidable.

With furrow irrigation, water is lost under the furrows in seepage, over the ends of the furrows as tailings, and by surface evaporation.

Based on the above investigations, recommendations for sprinkler irrigation of mature orchards in the Okanagan Valley vary according to the safe irrigation interval which, in turn, is determined by the character of the soil.

For a seven-day interval it is 2.5 inches per irrigation or 10.8 inches per month; for a ten-day interval 3.1 inches per irrigation or 9.3 inches per month; and for a 15 day interval 3.9 inches per irrigation or 7.8 inches per month.

WEALTH IN OIL

The investment world views the vast, undeveloped resources of Canada with envious eye, and is pouring hundreds of millions of dollars into oil, mining, lumbering and allied industries in the full expectation of sharing in the great profits now being reaped throughout the Dominion.

Proof lies in the value of the Canadian dollar, now the most prized currency in the world; Proof comes also from the fortunes being made from the development of Canada's new oilfields, growing rapidly to a position of great international importance.

Welcome as is foreign investment capital, Canadians are slow to realize that outsiders are securing far more than a reasonable share of the profits obtained from Canada's magnificent resources.

An outstanding speculative investment in the Oil and Gas industry of Western Canada is represented by

Kelowna "Cut-Over" To Dial System; Automatic Telephones For Penticton In September

The Okanagan Telephone Company placed $300,000 worth of intricate exchange equipment at the fingertips of every subscriber in the Kelowna exchange area at a late hour May 12 with the "cut over" of its new dial exchange.

With Mayor J. J. Ladd of Kelowna performing the "cut over" act at 11, close to 4000 telephone subscribers in Kelowna and district had their phones changed from manual to automatic service, boosting to over 6000 the number of subscribers in the company's system who now have dial service. This figure will pass the 10,000 mark with another major "cut over" planned for Penticton early in September of this year.

Saturday night's conversion was the final act, after two years of engineering, planning, construction and installation work carried out by the telephone company at a cost of over $800,000. The Kelowna "cut over" is one of the major parts of the vast three-year, three million dollar expansion and modernization program announced by the company in May 1950. Kelowna, the first main exchange conversion in the valley, is the ninth automatic exchange to go into service in a little over three years.

In the course of its extensive modernization program in the Kelowna exchange the company spent over $200,000 in major additions to its distribution facilities of pole lines, telephone cables and aerial wire, and in the modernization of subscribers' equipment. Adding to this figure the cost of constructing a specially designed building and the purchase and installation of the automatic exchange equipment, the cost of providing Kelowna and district with this improved telephone service is well in excess of half-a-million dollars.

Installation work of exchange equipment is in progress in Penticton and materials and cabling are on hand in the Vernon exchange. The Vernon exchange will be converted to dial operation in the Spring of 1953.

At the request of Alderman Wilson Hunt, Mayor W. A. Rathbun agreed to call a meeting of the council and the garagemen and service station operators for the purpose of discussing the closing hours by-law.

Fire Blight Spray Being Investigated

Dr. J. G. Taggart, deputy minister of agriculture, Ottawa, states that the matter of experimental spraying for fireblight control has been discussed with Dr. van Steenburgh and Dr. Craigie and that plans are being made to continue this work in 1952.

Dr. Taggart adds that he understands that the project is being changed so as to reduce probability of serious damage. "However, it is recognized by the department that, if damage occurs, reasonable compensation must be paid to the owner. We do not expect individual owners of orchards to bear the cost of this type of experimentation."

Ben Hoy, provincial horticulturist, writes that his department "is fully aware of the menace of this disease and of the difficulties in controlling it." He assures the BCPGA that the horticultural staff will make every effort by field inspections and advice to growers on the newest methods to bring about improvement in control.

NEW INDUSTRY IS ROLLING TO BRITISH COLUMBIA

CREATING
New Jobs
New Communities
New Opportunities

WILL WE KEEP IT COMING?

In one of the greatest development programmes under way anywhere in North America, we in British Columbia can look forward to the spending of about 1 1/2 billions of dollars in the next three years... PROVIDED investors still feel that our province is a safe place to risk their money.

Right within B.C.'s grasp is the cherished future we have so long awaited. But this will fade away if investors are told that their holdings may be nationalized under some socialistic scheme of government-own-everything.

New jobs, new opportunities, bigger sales, higher living standards, more population all depend on B.C. continuing to earn the kind of CONFIDENCE that developed from the election three years ago when the great majority of people clearly said they wanted a sound, free opportunity system of economy.

LET'S MAKE ABSOLUTELY CERTAIN OF OUR FUTURE. LET'S KEEP THE MONEY WE NEED COMING TO BRITISH COLUMBIA.

EXPLOSION IN MINIATURE! It happens frequently these days in the Montreal plant where Sabre jets are made. Worker is using explosive rivets on a wing section. Developed by the chemical industry to speed up riveting operations, especially in hard-to-get-at places, they contain a tiny explosive charge which fastens the rivet when fired.

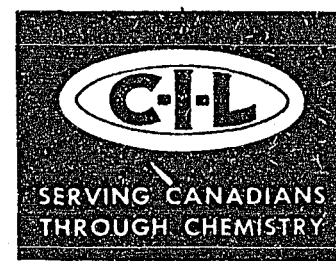

SUPER-SOFTNESS is a "must" in everything that touches baby's tender skin. For bath-time, mothers find that C-I-L Cellulose Sponges are just the thing — wonderfully soft and absorbent. Available in smart colours — blue, green, coral, yellow and natural.

SWEETENING UP the air under sinks is done differently today. The modern homemaker's helper is the aerosol — a new type of package that dispenses deodorants, fly-sprays, paints, shave-cream just by pressing a button. "Freon" is the chemical propellant that makes this handy method possible.

Did you know?

C-I-L products are making mighty contributions to Canada's air defence. In addition to explosive rivets for the F-86E Sabre, chemicals, nylon, "Cellophane", play a vital role.

BAKING SODA FIREFIGHTERS — Smoke, flames and baking soda were the order of the day at RCAF Station Uplands, Ottawa, as firefighters, in a spectacular demonstration, introduced to the press and public a new 33,000 pound crash truck and a newly-developed and highly effective dry chemical. The dry chemical, but for the addition of a few other ingredients and a secret processing, would still be plain everyday baking soda, but, because of that process and the added "something", the men from Mars via station Uplands were able to quench the raging inferno of a gasoline-soaked aircraft in a flat two minutes. The aircraft had been stripped of all valuable parts and was of an obsolete type. The flames, however, were very real and very hot and the baking soda spray had to be, as it was, very effective.

Department Of Education Opposed To Any Change In Schools System W. T. Straith Says At Convention

KELOWNA—B.C.'s department of education is definitely opposed to any change in the present public schools system, according to Minister of Education, Hon. W. T. Straith. In an address last Wednesday afternoon to the 30th annual convention of the B.C. Parent-Teacher Federation, Mr. Straith reiterated what he had already told the recent convention of B.C. Teachers' Federation meeting in Vancouver.

Dwelling on the question of separate schools, the speaker told the 500 delegates his department is endeavoring to approach the contentious issue from a purely educational viewpoint. He felt there is no feeling among the people of the province for a change. "The trend is against any change, and I respect the unity of the people of B.C.," he remarked. This decision came after much research, he said, after meeting representatives from all over the province, and reviewing resolutions from interested bodies.

"The dual system of education would threaten the public school system as a whole, as well as our democratic unity. The feeling in B.C. is to discourage the disunifying effect of separate faiths, and to lessen prejudice caused by such sectarian devices."

AVOID SEPARATION
Strong argument in favor of avoiding such separation are the findings of many prominent educationists, who, after investigation, proved the public school system most beneficial to society as a whole, he said. A recent report by a Royal Commission in Ontario on the education system of that province was strongly opposed to separate schools.

Mr. Straith briefly reviewed conditions in the province since 1947, and remarked on the education department's work in many fields. Only one of the many problems with which it has had to contend, is the steady increase in school population, with the resultant necessity for more teachers and more classrooms.

Its part in adult education, especially of the immigrants who are steadily flowing into the province, has been marked with progress and accomplishment, and here the department has been assisted by YM-CA and church groups, immigrant camps, and singly interested persons, including many teachers, who give their time free to instruct and help the new citizens by teaching

Permission To Install Temporary Septic Tanks Withheld By Council

A request for permission to install temporary septic tanks at homes on Chase and Kamloops avenues made to City Council Monday by T. E. Swann, was tabled pending a report by the city engineer and the city assessor.

In a letter to council Mr. Swann stated that he did not want to go to the expense of installing cement tanks if the sewer system was going to be put in. He thought that 45-gallon drums might prove to be adequate.

New England Buys Canadian Produce

Fresh fruits and vegetables from Canada continued to win a large share of the New England market in 1951. This six-state area contains nine and a quarter million consumers who enjoy a high standard of living and expect a large and varied supply of fresh fruits and vegetables in and out of season. Local production cannot supply this demand entirely and last year 45,662 cars and carlot equivalents of fresh fruits and vegetables arrived in Boston's wholesale produce markets. Canada's share, according to a recent U. S. Department of Agriculture release, was 1,327 railway carlots.

Some 1,147 of these shipments from Canada came by rail, 153 by highway truck, and 27 by ship. Prince Edward Island led the provinces, with 914 carlots; New Brunswick came second, with 317; British Columbia third, with 59, and Nova Scotia fourth, with 27.

Canadian success in Boston's fresh produce market ranges from the virtual predominance enjoyed by Prince Edward Island turnips to the moderate share in the market won by Canadian blueberries, potatoes, and apples. Undoubtedly, sales to New England of many varieties of Canadian farm products could be expanded.

Canadian apples and pears, brought in by rail, were also sold in this market in 1951. British Columbia shipped 47 carlots of apples; 12 more than in 1950; New Brunswick supplied two carlots. As is customary in the trade, Canadian apples were brought into New England only after the local crop had been consumed. This meant that shipments from Canada were heaviest in May and June. British Columbia sent 12 carlots of pears which arrived in October and November.

Several factors combine to give Canadian fresh fruits and vegetables certain advantages in the New England market. One of these is the high quality, flavour, and freedom from disease of many Canadian fruits and vegetables. A second is the lateness of the growing season.

The chestnut tree is a great source of tannin, used in the Canadian leather industry.

Permission To Erect Temporary Building Refused By Council

Permission to build a temporary structure near the drive-in theatre for the sale of ice cream and soft drinks was refused to A. Moulin by City Council Monday.

Mr. Moulin told council that he intended to build three cabins and a cafe but he found that he could not build the cafe until later this year. The temporary structure would be in use until November, he said.

Council suggested that Mr. Moulin might build only two cabins instead of three and also build the cafe rather than construct temporary buildings.

Okanagan Soils Must Be Treated With Fertilizers, J. L. Mason Says

What fertilizers do Okanagan soils need? J. L. Mason says that over many years at the Experimental Station at Summerland it has been shown that nitrogen and boron are needed on all Okanagan soils for all tree fruits.

The cheapest fertilizer for supplying nitrogen, calculated on the basis of cost per pound of actual nitrogen, is ammonium nitrate. It contains 33 percent of actual nitrogen. Another fertilizer which costs slightly more per pound of nitrogen is ammonium sulphate. It contains only 20 percent nitrogen. Nitrogen is also supplied by mixed fertilizers that contain other fertilizer materials such as phosphate and potash. These fertilizers, invariably cost considerably more per pound of nitrogen. Furthermore, experiments with phosphate and potash have shown no favorable response by tree fruits to these materials.

Eroded sandy or gravelly soils require special treatment. For these soils, ammonium nitrate should be used every second year and ammonium phosphate (16-20-0) in alternate years. As ammonium phosphate (16-20-0) contains only 16 percent nitrogen, twice as much must be used to supply the same amount of nitrogen as ammonium nitrate.

How much fertilizer should be applied? Enough nitrogen should be applied to each tree to make the right amount of terminal growth. The right growth for apples, pears, cherries, plums and prunes is 10 to 12 inches; for peaches and apricots, 18 to 20 inches.

Boron is applied to the soil as boric acid at the rate of 30 pounds per acre once every three years. In special cases, for example, stone fruits on sandy or gravelly soils, boron should be applied at 10 pounds per acre annually broadcast, or 5 pounds an acre each year as a spray.

TEN YEARS AGO—1942

Average amount put into war savings each month by Penticton residents was over $5,000. More than 83 percent of the 3,328 voters in Penticton voted for the government plan for total war. Bernard Webber, (CCP) MLA for Similkameen, endorsed the government plan, which included conscription, and urged everyone to support it. A petition, asking for irrigation aid for growers, was being circulated. Judge A. M. Harper opened a Royal Commission here on the question of controlled markets for fruit. Only one of the ten witnesses to appear objected to controls. W. J. Hendry, eight-year-old violinist, playing in the valley musical festival was complimented by Dr. J. F. Stator as being the most outstanding violinist in the festival. Hendry was the only contestant to receive a 90 mark. W. H. Morris was re-elected president of the Co-operative Growers' Association. Cpl. D. W. Taylor, of the B.C. Police, in an address to ARP wardens here, warned that if the Japanese decided on a "back door" attack of Canada, Penticton would be bombed. Examinations in first aid work were taken by 30 members of the Red Cross Society here. Examinations were conducted by Dr. R. Farnley. The Board of Trade urged completion of the Hope-Princeton road, a military measure. A purse containing $55 was found and returned to its owner by 14-year-old Leo Sather.

TWENTY YEARS AGO—1932

Municipal council announced that there would be no increase in the mill rate which was 49 in the previous year. Oil and gas were found at the 2,500 foot level during drilling at a Kelowna well. No immediate strike was expected. A. Gilley was named head of the Penticton Scout Association. The treasurer's report showed that the group had a $94 balance. It was claimed that 18,000 new fruit trees had been planted in the South Okanagan. Penticton beat Kelowna 3-0 in a soccer match. E. G. Noble started first aid classes here. D. S. Riordan lost 60 sheep and 120 lambs. Associated Growers announced that only 84 cars of apples remained to be sold. Summerland's mill rate was increased from 31 and a half to 34. The Rev. R. E. Morrison addressed the Odd Fellows at their annual service on "The King's Highway". Several Summerland residents reported seeing a flock of 42 pelicans settle on Okanagan Lake near Trout Creek. It was the first time in many years that the birds had halted here en route to the prairies. The lake fishing season opened. A party of 20 local golfers visited Summerland for a friendly tournament which the local sportsmen won. Boris Karloff was appearing in "Frankenstein" at the Empress Theatre. The advertising warned persons with "weak hearts" not to see the film. H. McGregor, who had been attending UBC, returned home.

THIRTY YEARS AGO—1922

Three Penticton persons won $1168 in prizes on the B.C. Veterans' football pools. Winners and prizes were F. Garliacho, $800; A. E. Wright, $300 and G. R. Eter, $68. Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Tupper left for Houston, Texas, where Mr. Tupper was to attend a convention of trainmen. Business men in Penticton petitioned council to purchase a water cart for use in settling dust on Main street. The petition stated that a water cart was a matter of great need and that council should spend money on that rather than pay the wages of the third policeman who was to augment the force here. Ruby Davis headed the school students' section in the tree selling campaign. A. D. MacLean went into partnership with Mrs. A. W. Love, who owned a ladies' wear business here. Betty Compton in "The Little Minister" was showing at the Empress Theatre. John Pelicano was granted permission to operate

A soft drink concession here

The Penticton Great War Veterans Association urged council to enforce the garbage collection by-law. W. J. Barclay was appointed assistant secretary-treasurer of the aquatic club. Authority to proceed with work on the wire fence around the reservoir was given by council. G. Robinson succeeded T. B. Angus as manager of the Penticton Trading Association.

FORTY YEARS AGO—1912

Payment of salaries to the municipal council was being discussed. It was suggested that councillors should receive $200 and the Reeve $300. Question was to be put to the taxpayers in the near future. Grand Master of the British Columbia Freemasons paid his annual official visit to the Penticton lodge. His Honor Judge J. D. Swanson presided over County Court here. All the slope stakes for the grades on the Kettle Valley Railway line, which was to run from the wharf to the Penticton Lumber Mill, were placed. Grading on the Indian Reservation was also completed. E. W. Wyles left for Wetaskiwin, Alberta, where he had purchased a piece of land. W. E. Clement, former editor and proprietor of the Penticton Press, was in town. Mr. Clement was studying law in Kelowna prior to attending university. The local tennis club held a dance in Steward's Hall. A 12 piece electric orchestra was purchased by C. A. O. Steward for installation in his picture show theatre. A site for the new cannery was purchased and construction was to be started immediately. The cannery was to be of the same design as the building at Kelowna and would be situated at the corner of Ellis and Front street on the north side of Vancouver avenue.

A GIANT CARGO PLANE casts its shadow on the snow as bales of hay drop to an isolated group of snowbound cattle, left, in "Operation Haylift" near Elko, Nev. Eight planes scattered some 18 tons of hay to save starving cattle in Nevada's snowbound canyons and ranges but fear spread among farmers that pilots would be unable to continue dropping much-needed fodder in the face of fresh storms moving into the area from the Rocky Mountains.

Over 500 Delegates Attend Annual B.C. P-TA Convention In Kelowna

KELOWNA—Over 500 delegates from Parent-Teacher Associations throughout the province met last week in Kelowna for the 30th annual convention of the B.C. Parent-Teacher Federation. Theme of the three-day parley taking place at Kelowna Senior High School was "Parent-Teacher Participation, Contribution, Evaluation."

Speaking at the first conference ever to be held in the interior, federation president, Mrs. Ernest Evans, of Victoria, urged members not to forget the entirety of one of the main purposes: "To understand, to aid the school and interpret it to the public." She said too much emphasis is often laid on material things. "We must try to understand and interpret the school, too."

Mrs. Evans, who retires from office this year, summed up her two years as president, and outlined a successful record. She paid tribute to the Kelowna and District P-TA Council in organizing such a well-planned and carefully carried out convention. The past year's work shows many achievements and activities, with the member associations' recommendations meeting with consideration and action by the Federation as a whole. "Parent-Teacher Associations are reflected more in the spirit of working for the common good," noted Mrs. Evans.

RCAF Summer Camp For Cadets To Open At Trenton In July

The Royal Canadian Air Force will institute summer training courses in ground crew trades for outstanding senior Air Cadets, it was announced today by Air Cadet League Headquarters, Ottawa. The first such course, of seven weeks duration, will be held at RCAF Station, Trenton, commencing July 7.

Purpose of the special course is to stimulate a greater interest among Air Cadets in the career opportunities available through technical training in the RCAF. It will also provide advanced training for senior cadets who, for medical reasons, are unable to qualify for RCAF flying scholarships.

A total of 51 Air Cadets selected from all parts of Canada will undergo the special training in 1952 although it is anticipated that this number will be greatly increased in future years. All cadets attending will receive the sum of one hundred dollars for completion of the seven weeks' course.

Candidates must be 16 years of age and have successfully completed at least two years of Air Cadet training, including attendance at two summer camps. Actual selections will be made by the provincial committees of the league upon a quota system based upon Air Cadet population in each of the ten provinces.

While the course is in progress, special arrangements will be made by the league for week-end entertainment of the cadets including sightseeing trips, picnics and private hospitality.

Mrs. W. G. Gay Heads Important Committee Of P-TA Federation

Gay of Pentlcton was elected to the position of World Understanding Chairman, and by virtue of this office becomes a member of the Board of Directors of the B.C. Federation. Mrs. Gay has a wide interest in the world's peoples, and is keen to further interracial understanding and tolerance, and with her fine capabilities will prove an excellent choice in this position.

Her duties, besides reports in the B.C. Parent-Teacher, and preparation of program material for P-TA meetings, will include attendance at several of the board meetings which are held in Vancouver and at the board workshop which will be held on the UBC campus May 20 and 21. Pentlcton P-TA is proud to have one of its members on the board of directors of the provincial federation.

Permission To Erect Sign On Main Street Refused By Council

City Council, Monday, declined to deviate from its policy regarding the erection of signs on city streets and a request for permission to display a sign on Main street at Galt avenue was refused.

Applicant J. C. Leslie informed council that he wished to erect a sign for the purpose of directing people to his auto camp. He could not put the sign on his own property because the line did not extend to the road. The proposed sign would be three and a half feet square and would stand seven feet from the ground.

"Personnel employed in civil defence work will require a great deal of training and courses are being offered by the federal government.

"In June instructors' courses will be held in Vernon and Kelowna for the purpose of familiarizing personnel with enemy weapons and methods of countering enemy attacks.

"Training will be long, but it is essential that knowledge should be spread in order to minimize the effect of enemy action.

"We are making progress but unless the population gives its support we will not be able to go much further. We must realize that we may be subject to enemy attack and the civilian population must train for it.

"If you never use what you know about civil defence you will have lost nothing. If you never learn what you should know about it, then you may lose everything," he concluded.
