

According to the Mood

By Sid Godber

This is not a sport column. I suppose, having burned my breeches with that flat announcement, I repeat — this is not a sport column, I should try and tell you what kind of column it is going to be, and honest, if I knew, I'd tell you.

As a matter of fact this column was born of an argument with the publisher. I was holidaying when the matter of a penitentiary for Penticton was first broached. The publisher wrote a vigorous editorial which shuddered all over at the idea of such an institution on our outskirts, if not in our midst.

I didn't agree then and I don't agree now with the opinions of the publisher on the matter. Back when I had a lot more hair on my scalp than I have now, I lived, laughed and loved in the Saskatchewan city of Prince Albert, which city hosts not only the federal penitentiary but also the provincial jail.

I worked on the Prince Albert paper for some five years and in all that time I don't recall a prison break. There was one riot at the penitentiary, but Prince Albert folk mostly read about it in the paper. A few curious ones, including, of course, us newspapermen, who went down to the prison, did hear the yammering of the inmates. An unpleasant sound I'll admit, but that is all I can recall that by the widest stretch of imagination could be called an argument against having a penitentiary hereabouts.

Prince Albert, even now, doesn't stick in my mind as a penitentiary town. I do recall the many friends I had among the penitentiary staff, the really cracker-jack soccer team they fielded and the staff's participation in all community activities, athletics and otherwise. I also remember how well Prince Albert weathered the depression, thanks, I believe, in large measure to the stability of the payroll, a payroll without any seasonal fluctuations.

If Penticton could get the penitentiary, which is supposed to be looking for a home, it would be the biggest and best thing that ever happened. Anyway that's my opinion and that's the why of this column. An editorial, regardless of who writes it — could be the office cat, if we had a cat — represents the opinion of the paper. It follows that the man who signs the pay cheques has the right to call the editorial tune. So, as long as the publisher thinks location of a penitentiary here would be a bad thing that opinion will be expressed in the editorial columns of the paper.

But newspapermen don't seek to stifle the voice of opposition and hence the suggestion from the publisher that, perhaps, a column would help me get my opinions, when contradictory to editorial opinion, off my chest.

First headache of a column, is that of finding a name, although come to think of it, it could go under the heading of "Letters To The Editor" for after all a column is just one man expressing an opinion on this and that, as do writers of letters to the editor.

The most satisfactory heading for a column is, I think, the writer's name, except that to me it smacks of conceit. Another good title system would be to have one to suit the subject. For example, "Penticton Needs the Pen" could be the heading of this effort. So, to embrace everything I hit upon the title of "According to the Mood". I've got an uneasy feeling that it isn't original — but if I didn't dream it up I sure don't know where I read or heard it.

Was mulling today over the truth of the saying that travel broadens the mind. An item of world news this week was instantly linked in my mind with my overseas junket with the Penticton Vees. One was a story telling of more German prisoners released by Russia coupled with an article in an American magazine being somewhat critical of Chancellor Adenauer's deal with Moscow.

My thoughts went back to Dusseldorf, West Germany, and I remembered just one block from the Vees' hotel stands a monument, an oblong of black marble and before it flame two eternal torches. Inscribed on the front of the monument in translation is the simple text "We Await Your Return", and on the other side is chiseled the names of several nations, Poland, Czechoslovakia are two of three.

Premier Refuses Comment On Pontoon Bridge Reports

Premier W. A. C. Bennett has refused to comment upon the report that government engineers are considering the possibilities of a pontoon bridge crossing of Lake Okanagan.

According to a story which appeared in yesterday's Kelowna Courier, the premier was interviewed by telephone, while at Kamloops, and is reported to have said, "I have no further statement to make until tenders are called."

Similkameen Liberals Dip Into Lake Mystery

He was asked to comment on a Vancouver newspaper report that a pontoon bridge is now being considered. The report stated that engineers have run into difficulty in getting satisfactory footings for a suspension bridge.

"Last July I stated I would make no further statement until tenders are called, and that still stands," he remarked.

Mr. Bennett pointed out that engineers are checking and re-checking the findings for the proposed crossing, and until complete data is available, tenders cannot be called.

The bridge also came up for discussion at the annual meeting of the Similkameen Liberal Association held last night in the Hotel Prince Charles and a resolution, asking speedy decision on whether or not it is economically feasible to bridge Okanagan Lake between Westbank and Kelowna and, if not, abandonment of the bridge idea and exploration of road alternatives, was requested of Premier W. A. C. Bennett.

A resolution which called for abandonment of the bridge dream and construction of the east side road to Kelowna was withdrawn in favor of the foregoing resolution, following arguments by M. P. Finnerty, ex MLA.

Asks Exploration Of Alternatives

Mr. Finnerty expressed the view that it was not fitting to pass a resolution that, in effect, told a government what to do. We should ask for exploration of the alternatives, Mr. Finnerty submitted. Reviewing past history, Mr. Finnerty recalled that a past minister of public works, the late Hon. E. C. Carson, had considered the feasibility of bridge and road links and that because of the fact that a costly ferry system must be maintained, if a bridge was not provided, Mr. Carson had ordered investigation into the physical and economic factors of building a bridge, with the intention of whether the bridge is feasible and if not to act on the highway project either on the east or west side.

"Now, we should not ask the government to abandon anything, but to investigate. There are three answers to this problem. A road continuing from along the lake on the west side. Such a project would get no votes from Kelowna. But such a road would be the way to connect with a direct route to Al-aska.

"The second alternative is the east side route which would put the arterial highway link to Al-aska through Kelowna, one of the valley's major cities — and then there is the bridge. "We should ask the government to decide, and speedily, whether this bridge is feasible and if not to act on the highway project either on the east or west side."

Institute Order De Molay Here

The first chapter of the Order of the DeMolay to be founded in the interior of British Columbia will be formally instituted in Penticton at ceremonies on Saturday evening at 8 p.m. in the Masonic Temple. Extensive local arrangements have been made to welcome a large number of boys and leaders who will arrive from coast centres as well as Princeton, Oliver and Summerland to join with the Penticton boys and officials for the important occasion.

BRUCE HOWARD HEADS LIBERAL ASSOCIATION

Bruce Howard was elected president of the Similkameen Liberal Association at the well attended annual meeting held in the Hotel Prince Charles last night. Mr. Howard succeeds Harvey Ross of Okanagan Falls, absent last night through illness.

Honorary officers appointed were Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent, honorary president and Arthur Laing, provincial Liberal leader, as honorary vice-president.

Still No Trace Of Absconder Police Report

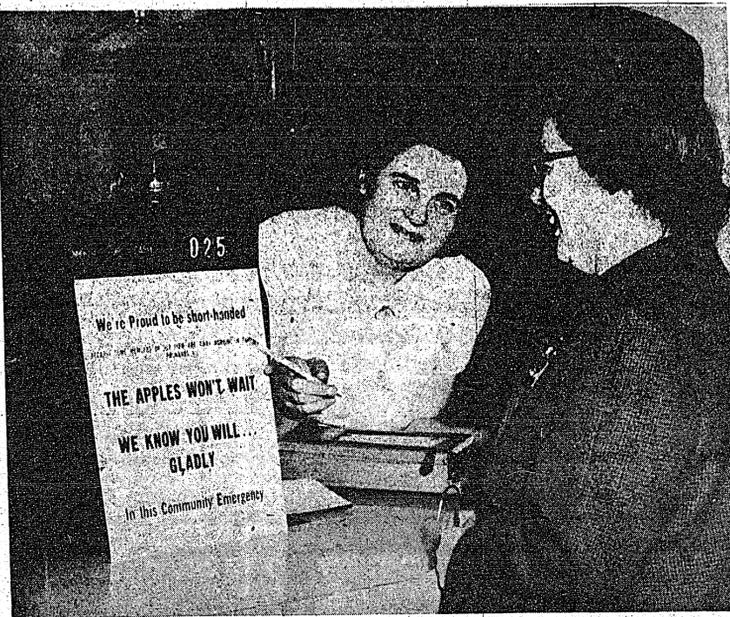

VANCOUVER, (BUP) — Police said today that they had found no trace of city accountant Jack Norman O'Neill of Kelowna suspected of stealing $8,500 in tax receipts from the Okanagan city.

O'Neill disappeared Tuesday after leaving the Kelowna city hall with the cash and $41,000 in checks which he was to have deposited in a bank. The checks were recovered in his empty car.

Police said the 28-year-old junior accountant had chartered a private plane to Chilliwack, from where he had gone by taxi to New Westminster. No further trace of him was found and police said he may have slipped into the United States.

Penticton Woman Injured In Car Smash Near Osoyoos

Mrs. Carl C. Pedersen of Penticton was injured when her 1954 Monarch was struck broadside by a 1951 Austin, driven by Pauline Rilko of Osoyoos. Mrs. Pedersen's small son escaped injury while she received cuts and bruises. Damage to the Pedersen car was about $250 and the Austin about $200. Pauline Rilko was uninjured as were her passengers Elsie Rilko, Christine Rilko, Nettie Koehin and Mary Stralver. Accident occurred this morning four miles north of Osoyoos.

"YES, WE'RE PROUD TO BE SHORT-HANDED TODAY," says Launderland employee Mrs. Pearl Brochu (behind counter) to customer Hazel Naskie. Four employees of the city laundry volunteered their services in the current apple-harvest crisis, and in the interests of the community's main industry, Launderland management were only too glad to give these four time off.

SIMILKAMEEN LIBERALS TOLD

Not Too Late To Keep Sound Two Party System

A warning that a multiplicity of political parties leads a nation into serious difficulties was voiced by Elmore Philpott, noted newspaper columnist and M.P. for Vancouver South, when addressing the annual meeting of the Similkameen Liberal Association, held in the Hotel Prince Charles last night.

The speaker lauded the two-party system and concluded his address by saying "thank the Good Lord that it is not yet too late, here in Canada, to keep the solid two party system which has helped to make Canada the finest country in the world. Let's keep it that way."

Recently returned from a European trip which took him through the three Scandinavian countries and into Germany and to Paris, France, where he attended the NATO conference, the noted speaker confined most of his address to a review of his trip, during which his listeners were informed that in the recent

Rustlers Caught Red Handed Butchering Calf Near Osoyoos

OSOYOOS — Rancher Ted Pendergraft caught two rustlers red handed today while they were hurriedly butchering a seven to eight month old Hereford calf. The rustlers, Orbin Sims, 65, and Clayton Sims, 27, believed to be from Trail, had shot the calf shortly before Pendergraft rode up on them by accident.

Although the rancher was unarmed and the rustlers had rifles, they surrendered without trouble and are being held in jail by RCMP at Osoyoos. The incident happened about four miles up Anarchist Mountain, beside a road that leads into the old Simpson Dam.

When Ted Pendergraft rode up, the rustlers already had another beef in their car that had been butchered a short time before. It is not known to whom it belonged, because the brand "Rafter T" is not registered in the RCMP brand book, but it may belong to a rancher in this area who had purchased it at a cattle sale.

Mr. Pendergraft says that he has lost between forty and fifty head of cattle in the past fifteen years. About three weeks ago he found three cows and a calf dead about a mile from where this incident happened and he believes that they may have been shot with a .22 by vandals. The rustlers will be charged later today.

Many Nova Scotia Apple Growers Face Bankruptcy

HALIFAX, (BUP) — The Royal Commission on Canada's economic prospects was told Thursday that many of Nova Scotia's 1,800 apple growers are headed for bankruptcy this year.

Roland Sutton, Secretary of the Provincial Fruit Growers' Association, told the Commission that of this year's 4,000,000 bushel apple crop in Nova Scotia, markets had been found for only 750,000 bushels.

Sutton said growers had hoped for federal price supports, "But our efforts have been unsuccessful," he said. "If something isn't done this year a great number of our growers will be in bankruptcy."

He said apple growers had exhausted all approaches at finding new markets for the bumper crop. The traditional pre-war British market was closed because of sterling exchange restrictions while Nova Scotia apples were unable to compete in Central Canada because of high transportation costs.

"Despite all our efforts," Sutton said, "the economy of the apple industry is in a state of depression."

He added that the only long-range solution was a return to trade on open world markets along with an improvement in the British sterling exchange.

Apple Harvest Crisis Easier

Community response has cut the apple picking crisis in size, but there is still a lack of help. At 11 a.m. Friday morning H. K. Whimster, farm placement officer, had unfilled requests for 75 pickers.

"That's a very fluid figure," said Mr. Whimster. "We may need 80 or 95 by noon or four o'clock."

On Thursday, Mr. Whimster placed 115 pickers, including 70 students and 45 transients and volunteers.

"There has been a very encouraging response of volunteer help," continued Mr. Whimster. "We very much appreciate the efforts being made by the Board of Trade. It has not only resulted in a definite list of volunteers secured by canvass, but has had an additional effect in building up interest and encouraging others to volunteer at this of fice."

"We are very pleased with the response of the business firms to our canvass," declared Howard Patton, secretary-manager of the Board of Trade. "The canvass was begun Wednesday afternoon. Returns are incomplete, but from 94 calls reported, 33 volunteers have been recorded for extended periods of picking and 22 for weekend work. Many reported direct to the Farm Labor Office and are not included in totals for the canvass. Many employees had been released before the canvassers called. Many went to work on orchards of friends."

Assisting in the Board of Trade secretary in the canvass were five motel operators: R. LaFrance, F. Dunn, R. Byington, (Continued on Page Two)

sidency at installation ceremonies to be held on November 8.

Other officers elected are Jim Beason, vice-president; Jack Pearson, treasurer; Mark Smith, secretary; new directors are Dave McFarland and Peter Vanderhoop. Continuing in office for one more term are directors Dr. Hugo Emanuele and Frank Hoy.

Highlight of the meeting was a "whalemeat" dinner, obtained through the efforts of Dr. John Gibson, and to most of the Gyro members their first taste of this type of meat.

"It looks like steak," said one member, "but it tastes like fish."

Wrecks New Car On Anarchist Mt

Peter Kinsch, of Detroit, USA, escaped injury while completely wrecking the new 1956 Ford station wagon that he was delivering to Alaska. The accident happened while Kinsch was coming down Anarchist Mountain and smashed the auto into a rock wall on the side of the road.

Warning

There is no known antidote for poisoning by this mushroom. Citizens are urged to not to have anything to do with any mushrooms growing on the golf course. The "Death Angel" can be identified by its white color on top, underneath and on its stem.

Penticton Lawyer Named Counsel For Fall Assizes

John S. Alkins of Penticton has been named crown counsel for the Yale Fall Assizes, scheduled to open in Vernon on Monday morning.

Confirmation has been received from Vancouver that Mr. Justice Harold W. McInnes will be presiding judge.

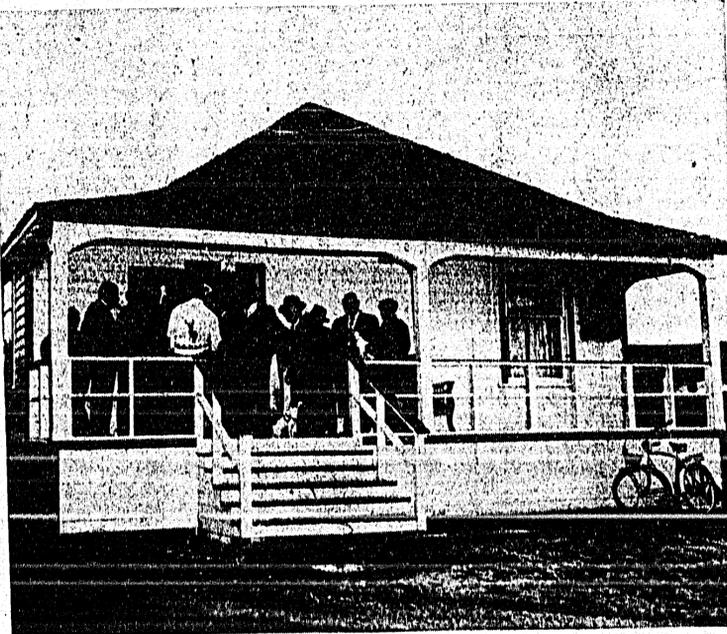

Mr. Alkins is faced with a considerably larger docket than has been seen for some years.

Major trial is that of George Kramer of Summerland, who stands charged with murdering his wife. Cause of death was not established during the preliminary hearing, although RCMP testified that the accused had led them to the body of his wife buried in a shallow grave near Penticton.

Other cases include two auto manslaughter charges and trial of a Vernon man on a rape count.

MUNICIPAL TAXES 95.5 PCT. COLLECTED

SUMMERLAND — Summerland Municipal Council has announced that at the penalty date of October 17, 95.5 per cent of municipal taxes had been paid. This is slightly higher than last year's figure at this time, when the percentage collected was 95.2.

KENYON AND CO. LTD. donated the building, the city moved it and renovated it, the Jaycees painted it, many citizens donated furnishings and the old-age pensioners of the city joined wholeheartedly in every effort, for the gleaming building is their own clubhouse, located at 90 Westminster avenue, east, and which was officially opened on Wednesday.

Mrs. M. V. Smith of West Vancouver, left for home last evening after visiting for the past five days in this city with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Smith.

Working With The Red Cross

HAMILTON BLOOD DONORS RESPOND TO EMERGENCY CALL

One of the greatest calls for emergency blood supplies in years kept the Hamilton Depot of the Canadian Red Cross blood transfusion very busy for two days last month. Late one night the depot received a request from Greater Niagara Falls Hospital for ten bottles of a rare type blood: AB positive. The blood was rushed by police cruiser to the city limits where the provincial police took over and delivered the blood to the hospital to aid a hemorrhaging man. Next morning the hospital sent another request and once again the Depot rallied and sent ten more bottles for the still hemorrhaging man. However, things took a turn for the worse, when Hamilton St. Joseph's Hospital also sent in a request for five bottles of the same type of blood. Since only six bottles of AB positive are kept in the Hamilton blood bank at one time the Depot was forced to call 19 donors who were known to have the same blood type. During the emergency they all responded to the call and within a few hours from the time of the first request from Niagara Falls there was sufficient blood to meet the demands from the two hospitals.

RED CROSS LODGES PRAISED BY VETERAN

A war veteran who has enjoyed the hospitality of the Red Cross Lodges at Lancaster, N.E., and at Camp Hill Hospital, Halifax, N.S., has expressed his heartfelt appreciation in a special letter to the staff at Lancaster. "When we thing back to the days when we had no such thing as a Red Cross Lodge, we wonder how we ever got along at all, for all are now so dependent on it for so many favors, large and small," he wrote. "Their voluntary staffs in blue are very courteous and obliging. If the Red Cross had nothing else to its credit, this grand gesture of goodwill toward the veteran would justify its existence. In conversation with hundreds of servicemen, all expressed the same sentiments. Sincerest thanks to these earnest and thoughtful workers. May a gracious God deal kindly with them and fill their hearts with a rich contentment," he concluded.

A past worthy grand matron of the Order of the Eastern Star in British Columbia, Mrs. H. H. Whitaker, of this city, left on Monday for Princeton to join current year grand officers who were travelling in that area making their annual official visits to OES chapters at Hedley, Princeton and Merritt. Mrs. Jessie Allbright, worthy grand matron; Mrs. Hazel Freeze, grand secretary; Sydney Barker, past grand patron; Mrs. Barker and others continued on to Hope yesterday at the conclusion of their official duties while Mrs. Whitaker returned to her home here.

KIDNEY ACIDS Rob your Rest..

Many people never seem to get a good night's rest. They turn and toss—blame it on "nerves"—when it may be their kidneys. Healthy kidneys filter poisons and excess acids from the blood. If they fail and impurities stay in the system—disturbed rest often follows. If you don't rest well get and use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's help the kidneys so that you can rest better—and feel better. 136

I remember and all but one of these names have strong lines chiselled across them — one name, Soviet Russia, remained unmarked, branded by the simple message, "We await your return" and so the people of Dusseldorf passing this monument by the thousands every day, were reminded of their countrymen still in bondage.

Maybe Chancellor Adenauer didn't make a good deal with the Soviets, but anyone who has visited Germany, who has stood as I have at the Dusseldorf monument and watched men and women cross themselves and their lips move in prayer as they passed the grim reminder of cruel separation, can understand why the West Germans made a deal with the Soviets.

I'm wondering now if that country's name has been stricken out and if, at last, the torches kept flaming for more than a decade have been snuffed out — I wonder.

POLICE CHIEF MULLIGAN ASKS TO BE FIRED

VANCOUVER — BUP — Chief Constable Walter H. Mulligan, today asked the Vancouver Police Commission to dismiss him from his post because "my former usefulness as chief constable has ended."

Mulligan made his request in a letter to the three-man police commission, which is headed by Mayor Fred Hume.

The letter followed Mulligan's dramatic withdrawal from the Royal Commission inquiry into the police department on October 12. The chief's lawyer, John Gould, said at that time that Mulligan's reputation has been damaged in the eyes of the public by evidence presented at the inquiry.

Mulligan's letter said he wanted to "proceed to my new task — the starting of a new phase of life for my wife and myself." "I am asking that the situation be clarified by your terminating my appointment," the chief's letter said.

Mulligan asked the Police Commission to discharge him, rather than resign, because a man who resigns receives less superannuation pay than one who is dismissed.

Mulligan was under fire since last June when charges of graft and laxity were leveled against him. The charges led to appointment of a Royal Commission which has been investigating the department.

Not Too Late

gigantic military exercise "Carte Blanche," which extended from Norway across Europe to the Mediterranean, that 48 hours after sham hostilities began there was, in theory, not one unit, on sea, land or air, in reserve or in the line, fit to carry on combat.

"Remember this one thing, if you don't remember anything else I say tonight," Mr. Philpott urged.

TAX REDUCTION
"Touching upon the last session of parliament Mr. Philpott said the most important accomplishment was the reduction of taxes by 10-12 percent. And he assured his listeners that "it is the basic policy of the government, taxes will not be increased under the present Liberal administration."

One of the most difficult decisions faced by Canada's Parliament was to decide whether or not to favor admittance of Germany into NATO, (North Atlantic Treaty Organization). "I never heard a debate on such a high level," Mr. Philpott said, "and I was proud that every Liberal member voted for Germany's admittance, whereas other parties were split, some five ways."

"We Liberals thought it better to take the risk involved than to take the negative view and refuse to extend the hand of friendship."

VETERANS' ALLOWANCES
The government increased war veteran's allowance and made its Old Age Pension system the best all round system of any country in the world, Mr. Philpott continued.

"We also did our best to keep the premier of this province from making a sad mistake by reversing his Kaiser Dam deal, which would have sold valuable Canadian water resources to the United States for the sake of a quick profit."

Behind the veto and the setting up of the commission to deal with the complex problem of international waterways was the desire to arrive at development which would be fair to both countries, the speaker explained.

Mr. Philpott listed changes in the Unemployment Insurance Act and resultant increased benefits, and the overhauling of the Canadian National Railway system as further examples of sound legislation during the recent session at Ottawa.

Prime Minister Louis S. Laurier was lauded by the speaker as a thorough gentleman and statesman. "He is the greatest we have ever had and we have had some great men in that high office," Mr. Philpott said.

TRIP ABROAD
Turning to his trip abroad the speaker said flatly he had found that Norway, Denmark and Sweden were better run than is this country. But that this could not be attributed to different legislation. "Canadian legislation is as good and in many instances better than that enacted in those countries," Mr. Philpott said and he cited the Canadian housing act as an example of better legislation in Canada, than in Norway, but they have, he said, "far better housing and cheaper rental particularly for the old age pensioners. The difference stems from more local initiative at the municipal level in implementing the legislation and in the many private groups, co-operatives and trade unions, which participate in the housing schemes made possible by the legislation."

Sweden which follows a traditional neutral policy is nevertheless the best defended country in Europe today, Mr. Philpott commented. He went on to tell of vast underground bomb shelters, one capable of accommodating 20,000 people built by the Swedes and financed, one third by the government, one third by the municipality and one third by private enterprise. Right to use the shelters for commerce is granted the private enterprise investor, and so there is ample parking space in most of the cities.

SECOND LOOK
Sweden, however, conscious of the increased power of destruction inherent in the hydrogen bomb, is now taking a second look at its civil defence program and is now planning a system of decentralization which will reduce the possible victims of any one bomb to about 16,000, Mr. Philpott disclosed.

The meeting learned that Denmark also leads Canada in many respects, such as unemployment insurance, where administration costs are cut to a fraction of those in Canada by the participation of groups who take care of payments and such like, without the government being involved.

Mr. Philpott told of the Danish system of education which allows pupils at 14 to go out into the world and do things, and then return at the age of 18 to what are called Folk High Schools. These are all operated independently of government by private organizations, which results in complete freedom of ideas. There is no set curriculum, no grades, no competition, but the students certainly appear to benefit from their attendance, he speaker said.

Mr. Philpott then told of the NATO conference and of his visit with the Canadian brigade in Germany and with the RCAF. Referring to the military scheme "Carte Blanche" he spoke with pride of the fact that Canadian airmen conducted 20 percent more sorties than did the airmen of other nations involved.

This was due to the Canadian built engine, the speaker claimed, and he said, "when I think of those extra sorties, made possible by Canadian equipment, I cannot help but be amazed at Conservative and Social Credit criticism of that great man, the Hon. C. D. Howe. One wonders how ridiculous people can get. Thank God we had a great man like C. D. Howe to head up our production in these last critical years."

The speaker was introduced by A. D. C. Washington and a vote of thanks was moved by W. A. Rathbun.

Grant Will Keep 15 Players On Tap Until Deadline

There'll be the regulation 13 men in Vees' strip for tonight's season opener here against Moe Young's Kelowna Packers. However, Grant Warwick will keep all 15 players he has been using in recent practices and exhibition games — until the December 21 deadline, when he'll have to face the tough task of slicing two from the team's roster.

This was the decision of the World Champs' coach directly after the club's final practice last night. Said Grant, "It was impossible to cut anybody. Of the group of players from which I planned to pick the one who had to go, not one has looked any weaker than the rest recently. So what else can I do but keep them all until I can make a fair decision?"

So that's the way things will stand until December 21, deadline set by the BCAA at which club coaches must make their final decision on the team with which they plan to finish the season. Until that date clubs can carry more players, but can still only strip the regulation 13 per game.

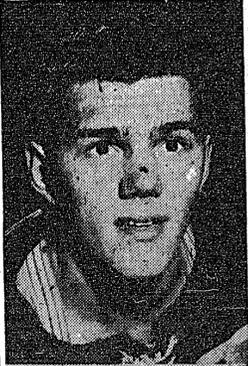

The fifteen players who will carry the Vees' banner throughout the first part of the 1955-56 Okanagan Senior Amateur Hockey League season are: goalie Ivan McLelland; defencemen Dino Mascotto, Hal Tarala, Jack Durston and Jack Taggart; forwards Jack McIntyre, Bill Warwick, Ernie Rucks, Doug Kilburn, Con Madigan, Don Berry, Grant Warwick, Bernie Bathgate, Jack Macdonald and Dick Warwick.

On the eve of the season opener, Grant again refused to make any sort of predictions about any games or about the season as a whole. But he said that the Vees are strong, and that clubs will have to skate fast to keep up with them.

EMPHASIS ON PASSING
As for the style of play the Vees will use, Grant reiterated his plan to emphasize passing attacks more than ever. "Except for circumstances in which it's impossible," he said, "we'll be playing the puck more than the man this season. Nothing wrong with clean bodily contact, of course, but we're going to play ball with the league's clean-up campaign. Hope the other clubs do the same."

There is still no official word from the Vees' coach on a choice of spare goalie for the season. He has a couple of ideas brewing, but will wait and see what develops before making any official decision.

Postponed OSL Game Makes Queen's Park Rangers Sole League Leaders

Skaters Meet Next Week To Discuss Hallowe'en Party

There'll be a general meeting of the Glangarry Skating Club next Thursday, October 27, in the recreation room of the Fire Hall on Nanaimo Ave. One of the important topics to be discussed will be the club's Hallowe'en skating party at the arena November 2, at 8 p.m.

Skating classes, which began here at the beginning of the month, are in full swing now, and will be until they come to a close at the end of March.

New skating instructor Ken Grundy, formerly of Vancouver's Connaught Skating Club, is still interested in any new skating students.

Classes are held every afternoon there is a hockey game from 4 to 5:30; Wednesdays from 4 to 5:30 p.m. (Juniors) and 8 to 11 p.m. (Interm. and senior), followed by dancing in last 2 1/2 hours; Saturdays from 10:30 to noon (Juniors); and Saturdays from 4:30 to 6 p.m. (Juniors) and 6:15 to 7:45 p.m. (Interm. and seniors).

Don Moog, is still trying out for a spot with Kamloops Elks this winter, and is determined he will get the job.

Kelowna	5	2	3	0	4	9	9
Vernon	7	1	5	1	3	9	21
Osoyoos	4	0	3	1	1	2	15

The Osoyoos Soccer Club is officially still in the Okanagan Soccer League, despite the fact that it has missed about half of its scheduled games so far this season — and may miss several more, as it is composed mainly of orchard workers from Osoyoos district whose time is largely taken up with the fruit harvest.

Osoyoos were scheduled to play Kamloops United on Sunday but called the game off due to lack of players. Consequently Penticton Queen's Park Rangers were able to take over sole possession of first place with their win over Kelowna Hotspurs.

In the third OSL game, Armstrong handed Vernon their fifth loss in six tries, a 5-0 blanking which hoisted the winners into third place over Kelowna.

See where Moe Young has finally taken the agonizing step and cut his Packers down to serviceable size — meaning casting loose some 10 or 11 players from the swarm who tried out for the club this fall, making the Kelowna arena appear like New York Grand Central Station, at the rush hour, for a while there.

It'll be a while before Moe's slashing job can be judged properly, though, because we see that only five of last year's regulars are back with the club again this season — and one of these is still a doubtful full-time man. In other words, around eight of the Packers are new to Moe's club.

(Pardon our childish weakness for the rhyme, but we can't get over the temptation to refer to this year's Packers as "Moe's Shmoos" ... there, it's finally come out. Been suppressing the temptation for weeks now.)

Of last year's crew, the following are back: Jim Hanson, Bill Swarbrick, Jim Middleton, Mike Durban and Garnet (not so shy) Schial. As you'll remember, there was some question about fireman Durban having enough time for hockey this winter. In fact at one point he is reported to have given the club an emphatic "No". We gather that there's still a possibility of his not being a full-time player.

Incidentally, we hear that a certain gent by the name of Jack Kirk — and surely you'll remember him — passed through Penticton the other day, with his destination hinted as (you guessed it) Kelowna. Yep, the bushy' chappy might just play for Packers, though it's all still at the hearsay stage.

Getting back to the Packers as a whole, though, it doesn't seem as if they're going to be anybody's pushover this winter. They were beaten twice by Vernon Canucks this week, true, but both contests were fairly evenly matched. And the Agarnes are about the same in strength as last year's version — while Moe's Shmoos (there we go again) are just cutting their eye teeth, so to speak.

So it'll be interesting to see how the Packers make out this season. Chances are they'll be no weaker than last year's last-place finishers, and they could be considerably stronger.

If nothing else, there appears to be a lot more "hockey spirit" in Kelowna this season — in regard to both players and fans.

SUSPENDED SENTENCE

Well ... the big decision was deferred — temporarily. All hockey fans in Penticton have been wondering and waiting to see what would happen about this tough business of cutting the Vees down to 13-player size. Now they're going to have to wait a little longer.

Grant Warwick made the wise choice, we feel, in making no choice. He is going to keep all the weaker players on the team as is, on a sort of game-per-game basis. He will strip the regulation 13 men per game, but will keep the extra two on tap all the time — until the December 21 head-slicing deadline rolls around.

Grant is keeping 15 players, two extra, as insurance. Just in case. That way possible injuries won't be so crippling to the team, and it gives him some choice when the moment of reckoning comes around.

Besides, who was he going to cut at this stage? Sure, there are weaker players on the team ... as there are on any team in any sport. But which of these were the two to let go? What would have been the fair choice?

Obviously none was a fair choice — right now, anyway. So — we'll just have to wait and see what develops.

Almost 900 Season Tickets Sold To Vees Home Games This Winter

Close to 900 season tickets have now been sold by the Penticton Senior Hockey Club for the 1955-56 season. At last count the number bought by Vees' followers was about 20 short of the 900 mark — which is far better than the peak total reached last season.

Two main reasons are advanced for the improvement in sales: 1) the reduction in price of $1.15 seats to one dollar, and 90 cent seats to 75 cents, though the two higher prices remain the same for regular admission tickets; and 2) the fact that Vees will take part in post-season playoffs, with the Allan Cup coming west again this season — and present season-ticket holders have first choice on their seats come playoff time.

Tickets, whether season or regular, are on sale today at Greyell's on Main street during store hours. Many good seats are reported to be still available.

"Modern Radios" Bowl Torrid 3452 In Commerck Loop

Scores in the Commercial Five-Pin League were on the upgrade this week with some fine games turned in.

Biggest surprise of the week was the Modern Radio team who took Oliver Hotel in camp with a sensational three-game total of 3452. Penticton Retreading won single game honors with 1204.

Individually, Larry Adamson stole the show with his 786 triple. Others entering the 700 circle were Meredith Harding, 753; Bill Briggs, 745, and "Snorty" Morton, 702.

Bob Hansen found the range in the third game to rack up the high single honors with a 381 game. Close behind was Norton, 325; Cy Lines, 321; Harding, 316; and Briggs, 306. Just missing the 300 circle was Gordon Lines with 296.

In the women's section Betty Evans came through with a sparkling 719 triple which included a 300 single game. Aggie

B. C. Grid Union Formed As PM's Await Sunday Game

A brand new British Columbia Football Union has just been formed with headquarters at quarter-past five, to govern all minor football in the province. The news comes almost on the eve of the Penticton Marauders' grid date with the classy UBC collegial plunkers. The teams clash at King's Park this Sunday afternoon.

Marauders will be out to erase the stain of bad luck which has haunted them of late, and at the same time upend the UBC team which is coached by Penticton's own Jim Boulding. Boulding has an injured leg and won't be playing, but he is expected to use all sorts of tricks to defeat his fellow Pentictonites.

FULL STRENGTH
The local gridders are expected to be at full strength for this first game of the teams' home-and-home series. Bud Tibball will in

UBC are something of a mystery to local fans and players, as not a great amount is known about the team — except that it will put on a good show for city football fans.

BCFU TIE-IN
There has been no official word as yet on any possible tie-in between Marauders and the new B.C. Football Union just formed at the coast.

Following is a story printed Wednesday in a Vancouver newspaper, The Sun, on the new grid body which plans to coordinate all minor football in the province, placing it all under the central jurisdiction of the BCFU.

At Your Service

By HOWARD N. PATTON
Sec.-Manager, Board of Trade

Three cheers for the 47 people who got out Saturday and voted against the natural gas plebiscite... and a round razzberry to the 2,770 who did not bother to vote at all. Those 47 opponents had much less reason to vote than anyone else. Long before the balloting it was generally agreed the measure was sure to pass. The "Nays" were bound to be a voice crying in the wilderness. But 47 citizens in opposition determined to exercise their democratic privilege... and to fulfill their democratic duty with no hope of gaining their immediate aims.

They did, however, achieve a much greater measure of good than the entire 2,770 citizens who failed to vote at all. At the very least, they had thought about the question sufficiently to have reached a personal decision... and they had courage of their convictions strong enough to take them to the polling booth... to the altar of democracy, one might say, if it didn't seem so out of place in modern complacency.

Ask Addition Of 24 Acres To Irrigation Roll

If the wishes of the Skaha Lake section of the Irrigation Commission are met, another 24 acres, in several small parcels, will be added to the irrigation rolls in the Skaha Lake area. A recommendation covering these areas was placed before council on Monday night. Alderman E. A. Titchmarsh, speaking of the report, said that the North Bench section is opposed to adding any acreage in contrast to the applications from the Skaha area. It was stated in the commission's letter that all these applications had been approved by the commission, are now operating orchards, and that the lands in question are adjacent to these. The applicants' names and acreage was listed as follows: Olaf S. Alrust, 4 acres; Lorenzo Snuin, 5.5 acres; David Munroe, 3 acres; Robert Bauer, 3 acres; T. G. and M. Serhagen, 2 acres; Emil Morgenstern, 1.5 acres; J. G. Van Dusen, 2 acres; A. W. Hyndman, 3 acres. Council agreed with the suggestion from Alderman Titchmarsh that the whole matter be referred to the irrigation committee of council. A further recommendation from the commission that the holding charge of $25 per acre be discontinued and that the amounts under this levy already paid be refunded, was referred to both the council's finance committee and the irrigation committee for recommendation.

Perhaps the greatest danger to our community and to the democratic nations is not the astounding energy of the H-bomb, but the appalling inertia of the people. Both sides have the bomb, which creates some kind of equilibrium in a crisis. But in every day tensions, nature abhors a vacuum, and a vacuum of democratic thought and action will be filled quickly by outside pressures... by the over present, subtle forces that would crush the breath of life out of freedom. In straightforward words, if we continue to let George do our thinking and acting, we may soon discover George spells his name Gregory.

The basic aim of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce is to preserve and strengthen our system of democratic free enterprise. To do so it has encouraged the formation of Boards and Chambers in the smallest Canadian communities, because the strength of a democracy comes from each one of its millions of citizens — the "average man" all across the nation. It is the local citizens who must study, discuss and decide the fate of the nation, not leave the future to fate. Discussion or vote on a plebiscite to bring natural gas to Penticton may appear far from deciding the fate of the nation, but if we do not cut our teeth by chewing over local questions and emerge from baby talk by discussion of domestic problems, how or when shall we be able to take adult action on national or world problems?

The Board of Trade offers itself as your training ground. We have no intention of letting Gregory do it.

Possible Sewer Connections Will Influence Property Bids

Tenders for the "old city yard" property on Burnaby (formerly Westminster) avenue, are to be called for and opened at the November 7 City Council meeting, it was agreed on Monday night. Mayor Oscar Matson said that it had been agreed, earlier in the year that this matter would come up in October. Superintendent E. R. Gayfer was asked if R. A. Barton had completed the survey to determine if sewer connection is possible and council was informed the reply being that while it was not yet in hand, it was expected shortly. James A. Dickson, member of a manufacturing firm in Vancouver, who had earlier applied for purchase of the property attending council meeting, and outlined some of the ideas he had drawn up in connection with the five and a half acre plot. Mr. Dickson made it apparent that he had made a full study of both trailer courts and the particular needs of trailer travellers, stating that he himself travels extensively by trailer.

Mayor Matson said: "I fail to see the need for waiting much longer, as either sewers are possible, or they are not." Then Alderman Titchmarsh pointed out that the value of the land, once there is assurance of sewer connections, would be quite different to what is now. "We might, in calling for tenders, put an upset price on the property, below which no bid would be accepted," Alderman Titchmarsh suggested. "There have been three or four applicants wanting it, and they have all been told that it would be disposed of at about this time." Council further agreed that inasmuch as Mr. Barton is preparing a report on the sewer connection, it could be deemed that this was feasible, as otherwise it could be expected that Mr. Barton would simply have reported that it was not feasible and let it go at that.

Before leaving the council table, Mr. Dickson told council, judging from his experience of regulations elsewhere existing trailer court regulations in the city are certainly not strict enough. He suggested that the state rules of California and Arizona should be taken into consideration in preparing new regulation for city trailer courts. He promised to furnish council with a set of these for study.

May Create More "Through" Streets

At the recommendation of Alderman H. G. Garrioch, some new "stop" streets may be created in the city. Council had received a suggestion, previously, that there be stop signs at Abbott and Westminster, and also at Orchard and Yonge street. Alderman J. G. Harris suggested that the intent was to make Orchard a through street, and therefore the "stop" would be on Yonge, and likewise with Abbott, that it would fit the through street, with the stop on Westminster. "People are learning to use Abbott street as a cut-off, now," he said, "and making it the through street, as intended, would encourage this."

It was indicated that this provision would relieve traffic on Vancouver avenue, particularly at the lower end. To this list of streets Alderman H. G. Garrioch suggested that Moose Jaw be added as a through street, with stops on Scott, Windsor and others leading into it.

For the ends of legs of kitchen stools which just can't seem to keep rubber tips on, here's a solution: Tape them with black plastic electrician's tape. This will make them skidproof and preserve the linoleum. No matter what quality of carpet tops it, the pad takes the beating and wears out first. For a fine carpet, a pad is essential just as long range insurance. For a medium quality carpet, a pad gives it a longer life.

NHA SMALL HOUSE DESIGNS—The larger family will appreciate the roominess of this 1 1/2-story house, designed by the Toronto architects, Wilson and Newton. The exterior lines are simple with the crisp-cross mullion pattern of the full-length living room window being duplicated in the smaller windows of the front entrance.

The interior design of the house leaves little to be desired. The double clothes closets in three out of the four bedrooms, plus the linen cupboard and full bathroom on each floor ensure convenience for every member of the family. The open fireplace with a tile hearth adds a touch of luxury and creates a partial division between the living and dining areas.

The total floor area of this house is 1,491 square feet and the cubic measurement is 22,271 cubic feet. The exterior dimensions are 32 feet, four inches, by 30 feet. Working drawings for this plan, known as Design 413, are available at minimum cost from Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation.

Many Uses Can Be Found For Cellulose Sponge

Housewives often surprise manufacturers by finding many more uses for their products than were originally thought of. This has been the case with the cellulose sponge.

The manufacturers launched their man-made sponge with claims that here was a handy household aid for washing and cleaning jobs. The housewife tried it out, liked the result and immediately began dreaming up all sorts of ideas to lighten her daily chores.

For instance, she found that a small flat sponge laid in the bottom of the bathroom soap dish absorbed the water which usually turned a cake of soap to jelly. Repeating hard and dry atop the sponge, the soap lasted longer and our housewife eliminated daily scouring job.

EASILY FERTILIZED
The sponge is also used for wiping out the basin, another for the bathtub and a larger one is always on hand for personal bathing. When wet, the sponges are wonderfully soft yet long-wearing and can be easily sterilized by boiling.

The kitchen sink sponge performs magic in wiping finger marks off cupboard doors and woodwork. Our clever little housewife decided too that as the sponges were good for washing dishes, then they are good for cleaning silver, and the sponge had another job to do.

When she discovered what a fine "chamois" a sponge made when squeezed dry, its cleaning job included windows and mirrors. Then it was another logical step to using a wet sponge for dampening clothes and one only slightly damp for dusting. Our housekeeper declares that once having used a damp sponge for dusting she'll never go back to a cloth. The sponge completely removes the dust while a cloth merely redistributes it around the room. A few other jobs the sponge has been put to include cleaning upholstery, polishing furniture, moistening postage stamps, wetting and removing wallpaper, sponging clothes to remove lint, cleaning shoes and stippling paint.

The ability of the cellulose sponge to hold 20 times its own weight in water and the way it floats to the top without picking up dirt and grime from cleaning pails help make any cleaning job easier.

Bathing baby or washing the family-car, the busy sponge has turned out to be one of the handiest household aids ever.

Nurserymen Urge Care Of Plants

Nurserymen have heartbreak when home owners purchase plants that have been nurtured in the nursery for two to ten years, and then neglect to care for them after they plant them on their grounds, says the Canadian Association of Nurserymen.

"When plant purchasers do this it is just like buying any living thing and then giving it nothing to eat or drink," says J. V. Stensson, president of the association, "or buying a beautiful piece of decorative furniture and not maintaining it."

According to Mr. Stensson, the first essential for healthy plants on the home property is to plant them according to instructions of your local nurseryman as soon after purchase as possible. If you can't plant them immediately keep them in a cool, moist place where they will not dry out. Drying out is the worst thing that can happen to plants before they are set in the ground.

If you cannot plant them upon receipt, or within 24 hours after delivery, the safest way to keep them healthy is to "heel" them in the ground. To do this simply dig a small trench, lay the roots in it, and cover the root system with soil. Next water them. They will keep this way without harm for several weeks, until you are ready to plant.

WATER IMPORTANT
Watering is extremely important after plants are set in the ground. Water copiously when first setting them out, and for a month thereafter. After the first month, water as often as the soil becomes dry, at least once every week or two, unless there is plenty of natural rainfall. During any period of drought, regular and thorough soaking of the soil at the roots is necessary if the plant is to remain healthy.

"Often when plants die in the colder months of the year," Mr. Stensson says, "it is because they have not been watered sufficiently during the previous hot weather months, especially dry periods. Moreover, many varieties of plants usually set their buds in the summertime, and lack of water as well as fertilizer at that time may cause them to flower less profusely or not at all the following season."

Builder Says Glass House On Way Out

The glass house is on its way out.

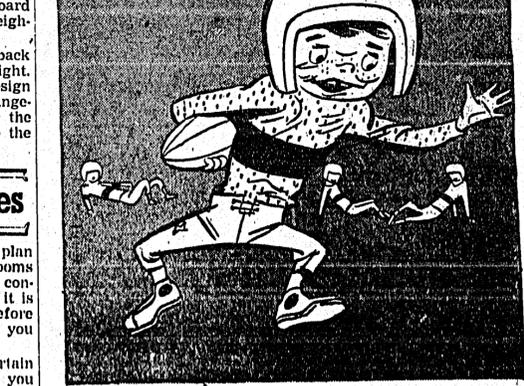

This is the opinion of a large San Francisco bay area builder who declares that the rapid increase of population in urban and suburban areas in California is forcing builders to utilize limited size homesites.

"The biggest builders will go slow in the adoption of 'glass houses' for the simple reason that in normal suburban planning so-called 'glass walls' are impractical on the average lot.

"It seems ridiculous to us to provide unobstructed floor-to-ceiling view and then erect a board fence for privacy from the neighbors."

"There is a growing trend back to windows at shoulder height. Not only does this type of design afford flexibility for the arrangement of furniture within the room, but greater privacy to the occupants."

Tiles Need Special Care In Cleaning

You may not realize it but there now are four different kinds of tile being used on kitchen and bathroom walls — ceramic, metal coated with enamel, plastic and stainless steel.

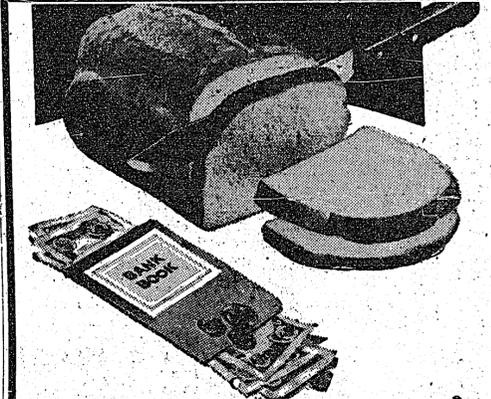

Katherine Bailey, home management specialist, says none should be cleaned with gritty cleaning powders.

She recommends wiping off ceramic and enamelled metal tiles with a mild detergent and a damp cloth.

Plastic tiles also should be cleaned with a detergent, but a special way. First they should be wiped off with a mild detergent and damp cloth. Then the tiles should be sponged with a "full-length liquid detergent" that is allowed to dry and then buffed to give them a sheen.

She said stainless steel should be wiped with a cloth or sponge dampened only with water, and dried with another cloth to avoid water marks.

Summerland Farm Scientist Attends Conference In Paris

Dr. D. V. Fisher, recently returned from the International Institute of Refrigeration conference in Paris at which he presented a scientific paper, found a great many things of interest there and in the other countries which he visited.

The congress was attended by 1,300 people, mostly Europeans engaged in the refrigeration industry in one way or another. There were managers of cold storage warehouses, breweries, cheese factories, meat packing and fish freezing plants, all of whom use refrigeration extensively, in addition to refrigeration scientists from all countries.

The conference tended to be geared on a non-technical level, Dr. Fisher said, and was arranged into nine groups so that members might choose which was of the greater application to their needs.

All sessions were held at the Sorbonne, the University of Paris. Subjects discussed were: 1, Scientific problems of low temperature physics and thermodynamics; 2, Heat transfer, thermal properties of materials, insulating materials; 3, Design, construction and operation of machinery for refrigeration and air-conditioning plants; 4, Application of refrigeration to foodstuffs and agricultural produce; 5, Cold storage and ice-making plants; 6, Application of refrigeration excluding foodstuffs and agricultural produce; 7, Refrigerated transport by land and air; 8, Refrigerated transport by water; 9, Education.

There were tours to industrial plants where the latest equipment was seen, and to private industrial laboratories, also excellently set up. So wide in scope were the papers given that one was on air-conditioning railroad coaches in Japan.

Of Paris itself, Dr. Fisher saw many of the beauty spots, experiencing some difficulty in following streets which change their name every few blocks. "Town planning in so old a city does not exist but taxi drivers and a map are a big help, and being able to converse in French was of assistance, too. The beautiful formal gardens, the linden and plane trees were lovely when he was there, and the weather was warm and perfect.

A reception was held for the delegates at the Foreign Ministry in the Quay D'Orsay, and the official congress banquet was given at the Palais de Chaillot, attended by 1,444 people of all nationalities.

Henry Queuille, a former president of France, was chairman of the general committee of the congress.

One of the highlights of the event was a dinner for 1,100 given by the French refrigeration industry at L'Orangerie in the gardens of the Palace of Versailles.

Guests were seated at tables for ten and there were 110 waiters, one for each table. The building dates from 1685 and was built by Mansart for Louis XIV. It is said to be one of the finest pieces of architecture at Versailles. The central gallery in which the dinner was served is 580 feet long and 42 feet wide. The floor is of earth and carpets were spread on it. Each side gallery is 375 feet long. Louis IV had 1,200 orange trees planted in it, one said to date from 1421, and there were 300 other kinds of trees.

Following dinner they saw the fountains at Versailles which were flood-lighted but did not dim the light of the full September moon which made the lovely place even more beautiful.
