The little donkeys at Ardmore Golf Course now have a friend to look up to, the tallest mule in western North America.

That's how Wally Du Temple describes Thumper, the mule he brought home from Oregon last week. Six years old, Thumper is trained for jumping and for western riding, and Du Temple plans to use him for both.

He is 17 hands (just short of six feet high) at the withers, much larger than his sire, a jackass named Crackerjack, and also taller than his dam, who is an Appaloosa. He is known to West Coast breeders as the tallest mule around, although only half a hand taller than his sister.

Du Temple also brought home a two-year-old donkey stud, now named Ardmore, son of a U.S. grand champion, "Texas". Ardmore will be used for breeding.

$2,500 fine for indecent assault

A Saanich man was fined $2,500 in Sidney provincial court Tuesday for indecent assault on a female under 16. Keith William Bendall, 1842 Pinehurst Rd., had been scheduled for a preliminary hearing, but changed his plea to guilty.

David Greg Linde, of Duncan, was jailed for 14 days and put on probation for nine months after he was found guilty of impaired driving.

Two other drivers pleaded guilty to driving while impaired. Linda Marie Burgess, 2433 Malaview, Sidney, was fined $400. Daniel Patrick Dube, 1240 Richardson St., Victoria, was fined $350. Both were put on six months probation with orders to take an impaired drivers' course.

Reza Ashmece Mohamed, 2371 Lovell Ave., Sidney, was put on probation for a year and ordered to do 48 hours community service work after pleading guilty to possession of stolen goods worth more than $200.

Gynonyike Bujdoso, 1043 Verdier Ave., Brentwood Bay, was put on probation for nine months after pleading guilty to theft under $200, and was ordered to take counselling.

Thomas Phillip Henry, 8923 West Saanich Rd., pleaded guilty to theft under $200, and was given six months probation and ordered to do 48 hours community service work and take alcohol counselling.

Charles D. Halkett, box 2593, Sidney, was fined $250 after pleading guilty to driving without insurance.

On Thursday, Caroline Elliott, 1255 Verdier Ave., Brentwood Bay, was fined $200 after pleading guilty to driving with blood alcohol level over .08 per cent.

Donald G. Westwood 9705 Gleney Ave., Sidney, was fined $250 after pleading guilty to driving without insurance.

Troy Lawrence Searle, 4591 Wilkinson Rd., Saanich, was put on probation for three months and ordered to do 20 hours community service work after pleading guilty to theft under $200.

Barry Coates, 9651 First St., Sidney, was fined $75 after pleading guilty to consuming liquor in a public place.

'Fantastic' budget cuts all down the line

The provincial government's 12 per cent limit for increases in municipal taxes proved no problem at all for North Saanich council.

It finished four cost-cutting budget committee sessions in the past two weeks with an increase over last year of 1.9 per cent.

That's the figure according to the provincial formula for comparing the two years, but there are a lot of other ways of looking at it.

Subject to any changes made by council at a special meeting to adopt the budget Tuesday afternoon, the total operating expenses for the municipality have been budgeted at $2,661,000.

That is a decrease from the 1981 budget of $2,707,000, but considerably more than the $2,270,000 actually spent last year.

Part of the reduction results from the fact that from March 31 the province no longer charges the municipalities for any welfare costs. The welfare bill was $72,710 last year and will be only $18,600 this year.

The big increase over last year's actual expenditures stems from the fact that money budgeted for the new library and satellite fire hall was not spent. This year it is in the budget again, and the library, at least, is actually being built.

Those amounts don't count in the provincial calculation of this year's spending, since the money was raised and set aside in former years.

Bad news for municipal taxpayers is a change in the provincial formula for local government grants that will cut the North Saanich grant to $274,000 this year from $404,000 last year.

Local taxpayers will have to pay more to make up that money, but in spite of that council was able to reduce the mill rate, from 18.7 to 17.4, because the value of a mill has gone up from $39,726 last year to $53,182 this year.

There is no way to tell how this will affect individual taxpayers since part of the assessment increase comes from new construction, and the increases in assessments of existing properties have not been uniform.

In any event the main element of tax increases will be school taxes, and that mill rate has not yet been announced. Municipal taxes make up only a quarter of the North Saanich tax bill, while school taxes are more than two thirds.

In doing their budget cutting, a job which Mayor Jay Rangel describes as "just fantastic," council members started with departmental requests totalling $2,955,000.

Reductions were made all down the line, but by far the largest were in public works spending. Road paving and reconstruction was reduced to $105,000, compared to $304,000 spent last year. Items of $40,000 for Wayne Road, $36,000 for Cromar Road and $34,000 for East Saanich Road were reduced to little or nothing. Funds for

Budget bombshell

• Sidney Council to cut $800,000

By JOHN GREEN

Treasurer Sel Rose dropped a bombshell on Sidney council Monday night at the first budget committee meeting. Projected revenues for 1982 are down half a million dollars and projected expenditures are up half a million.

In spite of the fact that each mill will bring in $40,000 this year compared to $32,000 last year, $800,000 would have to be cut out of a $3,500,000 projected budget to keep the mill rate from rising.

Council went through the expenditure estimates once and took out $444,000, mainly from public works. A second meeting was set for Tuesday afternoon to try to trim some more.

The provincial government's spending restraints turned out to be completely irrelevant to Sidney. Holding the mill rate to any reasonable figure means keeping spending well below the permitted increase.

Largest chunk of lost income is in provincial revenue sharing. Under this year's formula Sidney will get only $377,000, compared to $548,000 last year.

The other major loss results from the slump in new construction. Sidney is looking at an estimated decrease from $131,000 to $30,000 in building permit revenue, and from $95,000 to $12,000 in provincial housing growth grants. Losses from those three items alone total $355,000.

On the expenditure side there are substantial increases in every area of current operations, due to growth and inflation. One major item is a $94,000 increase in police costs that council can do nothing about.

Planned street improvements would have cost $539,000, a $169,000 increase over last year, but this is where council did the bulk of cutting; eliminated a $132,000 item for repaving James White Boulevard took $41,000 from proposed Beacon Street improvements and $70,000 from Amherst Avenue improvements, and made several other significant cuts.

The only good news council got was that $77,000 would be saved through the province taking over welfare costs.

Last year's revenue for municipal purposes was $3,100,000, and expenditures $2,900,000. Municipal mill rate was 27.9. Projected 1982 expenditures totalling $3,500,000 would have required a rate of 47 mills, but a town is not allowed to levy more than 40.

Ald. Jim Lang asked about a change to city status, with a limit of 50 mills. Administrator Geoff Logan said that although Sidney has sufficient population to become a city the formalities would take about a year.

The town has an accumulated surplus of $660,000, but needs the money to finance for half the year before taxes come in. That money also brings in revenue

Hospital's $5.1m addition approved

By PEGGIE ROWAND

Finance Minister Hugh Curtis announced Tuesday the provincial government's approval of a $5.1 million 75-bed addition to Saanich Peninsula Hospital's extended care unit.

Curtis said he was delighted to make the announcement — the hospital board has been concerned about the project for some time, he added. The MLA for

... delighted

Saanich and the Islands explained the addition was one of many held up during a capital projects review, which was necessary because of the hundreds of projects, large and small, on hold in the province.

Curtis said the hospital addition would be a good shot in the arm for construction. The

Dogged Robert vows success

When other people's dogs violate a bylaw by messing up your lawn with "calls of nature" there's not much council can do about it.

A complaint from one Sidney couple has been in the hands of the town's animal control man, Robert Wright, for six months, but without success. Despite getting up as early as 5:15 a.m. and staying around as late as 11 p.m., Wright hasn't caught the erring animal.

But the dog catcher isn't giving up. In a letter to council Wright wrote he will continue his patrols and guarantees his mission will eventually be successful.

Ald. Loyd Burdon said bylaws were only as good as the ability to catch the offender and enforce the bylaw and suggested a bylaw amendment which would require dog owners to remove any excrement dropped by their animals in public places or other people's property.

Ald. John Calder groaned, referring to "that notorious pooper scooper bylaw." You'd have to have witnesses, I'd be very weary of that one, he added. It was agreed the couple will be advised council is satisfied the animal controller is doing all he can to catch the dog.

•Saanich Peninsula chamber of commerce received permission to operate a beer garden during Sidney Days on July 1. The beer garden will be located in Sanscha Hall from 1 - 6:30 p.m.

Mayor Norma Sealey signed a proclamation designating April 18 - 24 as Volunteer Week. She remarked the proclamation was "beautifully handwritten" — by a volunteer.

A request for funds from Saanich Peninsula chamber of commerce was met with a motion that council reply it has not yet completed its budget. "I think we'll have to wait until we deal with the budget," Sealey said. She said all chambers are being hit with the same problem — the lack of federal summer grants to help staff tourist booths — and some are having fund raising activities to pay for staffing.

Ald. Jim Lang said the chamber should be able to raise its own funds. "I think it's a sort of a threat," he added, referring to the chamber's letter which asked that a decision be made "so that we can either start to put the tourist centre into operation ... or scrap the whole idea."

Sealey said council was being asked "for our traditional grant plus a staffing grant." Calder queried, "If we do it for the chamber we have to do it for others."

•Council accepted an invitation from the chamber to meet with its members, likely on May 31. A letter from president Denis Paquette and directors Glenn Douglas and Roy Spooner, suggested a get together to discuss a new chamber objective — to broaden and expand the economic development of the community.

•A motion by Ald. Ben Elther that Sidney mayor and aldermen receive a 10 per cent increase in total indemnity and that this total increase be divided between seven councilors, was referred to committee of the whole.

Drainage problem 'horrendous'

Severe drainage problems in the area of 7042 Hagan Road will be looked at personally by Central Saanich council while it waits a report from the public works department.

Chairman Dick Sharpe told committee Monday night there is a "horrendous erosion problem and it's getting worse all the time."

A resident of the area told committee there are six to eight trees which are going to have to come down, "because they are totally undermined."

The creek which causes the problem during times of heavy run-off is five to six feet wider now than when the property was purchased six years ago, the resident said.

Committee members expressed concern that if they fix this problem there will be calls from all over the municipality.

The matter was deferred until a study is made of drainage throughout the area. In the meantime council will view the property.

CRD control is preferred

Sidney council has finally indicated to Municipal Affairs Minister Bill Vander Zalm the option it would prefer out of three suggested by him in developing the new Land Use Act.

Council moved April 19 that option number two — where the basic change would be a shift in authority for land use planning from municipalities to the regional district — is Sidney's preferred option but added "as modified by the regional district."

Both aldermen Jim Lang and Ben Ethier said they preferred option one — where the authority would shift from the regional district to the municipality for land use planning.

Mayor Norma Sealey reminded aldermen that council was part of the regional water, sewer and transit system and that it was better for the CRD to have control over large industrial areas and large shopping centres.

To try to have seven municipalities doing their own thing is not ideal, she added.

Commission woos Sidney

The Capital Region Economic Development Commission has been totally restructured, its change effective April 1. The new commission is independent and designed after the concept of the Greater Victoria Labor Relations Association. There are no contractual obligations with Greater Victoria chamber of commerce or the CRD and commission directors will be elected officials appointed by their councils.

The new commission wants

Sidney to financially support it and wants the entity to become completely regional. But Sidney is holding back.

Mayor Norma Sealey told council at an April 19 meeting the commission was having difficulty getting its organization together. The western communities will likely pull out, she added.

Sealey suggested the matter be tabled "until we know, in fact, whether there will be an economic development commission."

Council queries wildlife request

Sidney council is not opposed to Van Isle Marina's proposed expansion within Shoal Harbor bird sanctuary area but is puzzled by a request from the Qualicum Canadian Wildlife Service for council's comments on the "integrity or otherwise" of the sanctuary.

At an April 19 meeting council moved it reply to the wildlife branch stating it was not opposed to the marina expansion but questioning the reason "for being asked in this matter."

Mayor Norma Sealey said it was a question council was not equipped to deal with and "if other marinas exist with the bird sanctuary, why not this one."

Ald. Jim Lang said council's attitude was clear. At a recent joint meeting with North council the decision had already been made not to object to the marina development.

Sealey said previous marinas had gone in without such questions — why is it necessary in this case?

Ald. John Calder noted the ministry of lands had written "there was no problem" and queried whether surveys had been done.

Ald. Loyd Burdon assured Calder there had been two reports.

Grant reduced

The Provincial revenue-sharing grant has been reduced in Central Saanich by 39 per cent, says municipal treasurer Kevin Callahan.

Last year the district was given $670,000 and this year the amount will be reduced to $402,000.

"We don't have to pay social assistance costs this year, however, and that figure amounts to $115,000," said Callahan.

The treasurer pointed out council has not seen the entire budget picture as yet as figures are still coming in but its job will be difficult since the reduction in provincial sharing will mean a hike of at least three mills.

In other business, committee decided to recommend to council the stipend for mayor be increased by 10 per cent in 1982 and the policy be continued of pegging aldermen's salaries at 50 per cent of the mayor's. The mayor will receive $6,800 after the 1982 increase.

Early retirement encouraged

Further encouragement to seek early retirement was offered to teachers of the Saanich school district last night when the board approved a motion giving teachers age 55 and upwards the option of a lump sum payment, or payment by instalments, with regard to an early retirement policy for this year.

The board was acting on a memorandum from the Education Minister Brian Smith which stated the ministry will approve later in 1982, an operating deficit over and above the amount of the 1982 operating budget if such a deficit will arise because of the payment of retirement gratuities to teachers during the year.

The memo from the minister makes it possible for the board to offer retiring teachers a lump sum payment out of this year's revenue, instead of having to phase the payment out over a three-year period. The board's motion was subject to suitable arrangements being made with the ministry.

Payment of early retirement gratuities for teachers under the age of 55 was referred back to the committee, which will report back to the board with recommendations.

Boat motors stolen

Thefts of three outboard motors from boats at Bosun's Marina have been reported to Sidney RCMP during the past week.

All are Johnsons, two 9.9 horsepower and one 15 horsepower, and all are valued at between $1,000 and $2,000.

Two automobile batteries were stolen on Thursday the night from cars parked in the 10,000 block on Third Street in Sidney.

Farnden recommended a Parents Advisory Board work closely with the director of special education in Saanich school district, and asked the board to prepare a handbook listing services offered to children with learning disabilities in the school district.

School Board Briefs

One motion only

In a story and an editorial in last week's Review it was stated Sidney Ald. Jim Lang made two motions — first, that the town's plan for a one-way couplet be postponed and next, that land expropriated at Sanscha Hall be rescinded.

In fact, although Lang made the first motion and intended to make the second, the latter motion was never actually put on the table, although it was revealed by Lang and discussed by council.

from interest, since it can be invested for much of the year, but with interest rates lower than last year that revenue is expected to drop by $50,000.

One saving council would like to make is its $13,000 share of the cost of the new regional library building at Nanaimo, which Sidney opposes. The library board voted on the weekend to go ahead with the building, and council will ask its solicitor whether it can be forced to pay.

Besides the increases in taxes, Sidney property owners will face a 55 per cent boost in the per parcel charge for sewers. The amount is not as much as it sounds, however, cost for a single family dwelling will go from $54 to $84.

Addition approved

average number of people working on a similar site most days would be 40, he added.

Curtis also said the additional 75 beds — 50 to completion and 25 in "shell" — would confirm the hospital as a major centre. It currently has 150 beds, 75 extended care and 75 acute care.

The hospital board may now call for tenders and completion will be some 14 months from awarding the tender. The architect is David Hambleton, Bastion Square.

Cuts down the line

chip sealing were cut by $20,000 and so was the budget for sidewalks and footpaths.

Parcel tax for water service was increased by $7. It was formerly $18 in most areas of the municipality. Parcel tax for sewers in Dean Park Estates was reduced from $120 to $95.

The hospital mill rate for 1981 is down from 3.446 mills to 3.064. B.C. Assessment Authority mill rate drops from 1.295 to 1.199 Municipal Finance authority rate is unchanged at .02. Because of the assessment increase the amount of tax actually collected will be considerably increased in each case.

Saanich school board will send a letter to Hugh Curtis, minister of finance, requesting approval of a band room for North Saanich school. The projected band room plan includes new washrooms and the board felt that the addition would substantially relieve overcrowding at the North Saanich Middle school.

Trustee Lois Walsh told the board parents did not wish to see grade six pupils kept in elementary school deprived of the special programs offered at the North Saanich school.

The planning committee discussed the alternative of making boundary changes for North Saanich, Mt. Newton and Royal Oak schools to relieve the overcrowding at North Saanich. They decided to press for a meeting with Curtis, to get approval for construction of the band room, and to investigate other alternatives.

In other news: North Saanich school has invited parents to take part in morning sessions at a professional day to be held today (Wednesday) at the school, to discuss "conduct and discipline concerns".

The planning committee recommended and the board endorsed an application for rezoning applied for by Broadmead Farms Limited. Agreement has been reached for a land ownership exchange between the school board and Broadmead Farms, subject to rezoning approval by Saanich.

The board approved two new locally developed courses for Claremont school. In reply to questions from Lois Walsh, the principal of Claremont said implementation of the courses in applied science and computer science at the grade 9 and 10 level will not require any additional staffing.

The board received a report from Mrs. Audrey Farnden, president of the south Vancouver Island Association for Children with Learning Disabilities. Mrs.

Saskatchewan rejects WCC

Will the B.C. party suffer the same fate?

In the early days of the Saskatchewan election campaign the Western Canada Concept surprised everyone by nominating 40 candidates, but when the votes were counted they got only three percent.

The result is bound to slow the momentum of the new party's growth in British Columbia, but whether it will stop it remains to be seen.

By
John Green

Less than three months ago the political pundits were declaring the separatist movement dead in western Canada. When the by-election was called in Olds-Didsbury only 57 people attended the WCC nominating convention, and they couldn't find a local candidate.

Gordon Kessler, who finally volunteered to accept the nomination, was a visitor from High River, 100 miles away.

In the campaign that followed the WCC was not considered to be a factor, and for good reason. A poll taken in the riding less than two weeks before the vote showed 83 per cent of voters opposed to Alberta separating from Canada and only seven per cent planning to vote for the WCC. On election day the WCC won with 42 per cent of the vote.

The new party made headlines last week when 1,300 people came to a meeting in Abbotsford, but its greatest show of strength has been in Fort St. John, where 700 turned out early this month in a riding that can be won with only 4,000 votes.

In the Salmon Arm area WCC meetings are reported to draw about 75 people, even in communities where that includes nearly the whole population.

The WCC was registered as a society in June, 1980, by Victoria lawyer Doug Christie and five others. For several years before that Christie had led another organization, of which he was also the founder, the Committee for Western Independence, but control of it was taken over by others, and it is now defunct.

In the early 1970s Christie was president of the Progressive Conservative provincial constituency association in Victoria.

Christie is a strong advocate of actual separation of the west from the rest of Canada. He also advocates a single national government for the new nation, not a federation with provincial governments.

In both respects he is at odds with what appears to be the majority in the party, although all agree that these are questions to be decided by the voters themselves, by referendum.

Perhaps because of these differences, or because he is a British Columbian, perhaps as a result of the usual struggle for power when a new organization undergoes sudden growth, the flourishing WCC group in Alberta split with Christie and went its own way under other leadership.

The same thing is also happening in B.C., with Christie and the interim executive going their separate ways. He expects a challenge to his leadership from Gerald Freeman, publisher of the weekly newspaper at Agassiz, who is the party's membership chairman and editor of its newspaper, the Independence.

Christie was a candidate in Esquimalt-Port Renfrew in the 1979 provincial election, but at that time the call for western independence fell on deaf ears and he received only 289 votes.

Last Thursday he drew 60 people to a meeting in Victoria West, and he thinks the party is now strong enough to win the Esquimalt seat in a provincial election along with about 10 others. He is not expecting a quick election, however.

MP Don Munro

... WCC growth provoked by federal government.

Whoever leads the party he intends to stay with it, to fight for a western Canada that would be "the most prosperous nation in the world and the freest."

The issue, he says, is whether the wealth of the west is to continue to be plundered for the benefit of central Canada, or is to be the future birthright of western Canadians.

WCC claims of great gains in the Peace River country were confirmed by Prince George-Peace River M.P. Frank Oberle, who told The Review that everything he heard from people whose opinions he respected in the North Peace River riding indicated a WCC win there in a provincial election is certain.

He added that in Alberta the WCC "would win in a landslide if there were an election tomorrow."

The people in the Peace River feel they are being treated as colonial subjects by both federal and provincial governments, he said. Federal policies have caused heavy unemployment among those who work in oil exploration, and they cannot get jobs on the Northeast Coal development because they do not belong to unions.

Oberle said the separatists "have a legitimate case", and that he understood their frustrations, but "just because we have a socialist prime minister with a centralist attitude, that doesn't mean we should destroy our country."

Skeena is another strong point, and Christie notes that the key supporters organizing there are former members of the NDP executive.

B.C. Conservative Leader Brian Westwood sees his party and the WCC "both mining the same vein of protest", and even foresees a potential merger.

"The WCC is saying the same things we are in the same sort of way," he told The Review. "Down the road I believe the two branches are going to join, whether under our banner or under theirs remains to be seen."

"They are capitalizing on a simple and dramatic message, 'Let's separate.' We haven't reached that point yet, but there might be a time when the vast majority of British Columbians become separatists unless the Liberals in Ottawa disappear."

Progressive Conservative M.P. Don Munro would like everyone to know that he is not the Don Munro who is provincial president of the WCC. That Munro is a retired postmaster from White Rock who was elected in December to head an interim executive for six months until a B.C. convention is held June 11-12.

The Esquimalt-Saanich Munro says he is aware of WCC activity in this riding and is watching it closely, but doesn't think the new party is yet altogether clear about what it is setting out to do.

He comments that its growth has been "provoked by the arbitrary nature of the present federal government. Their manner of governing is causing people to look for other solutions. If the government was responding to normal democratic processes I doubt if there would be a WCC."

He adds Liberal cabinet ministers claim opposition members have been inciting the west to separate, and "they have such a cross-eyed view of Canada that they actually believe it."

50 YEARS AGO
From the April 27, 1922, issue of The Review

Sidney was in a gala mood as the Anacortes-Sidney motor ferries made their first run, April 26. Most businesses closed from 11:30 a.m. until the boats arrived, and school children had a half-holiday. Because of delays getting the Anacortes ferry slip ready the Harvester King and the Gleaner did not arrive until 2:45 and 3:45. About 300 people and 25 to 30 automobiles made the trip.

Concern was expressed in a two-column-long article that American fuel oil was threatening Vancouver Island's lucrative coal industry.

50 YEARS AGO
From the April 27, 1932, issue of The Review

North Saanich Little Theatre Association met to choose three plays to present on May 18, and to select the casts. The plays were to be put on for the benefit of the First Sidney Boy Scouts.

Thirteen building permits, including seven for new residences, were issued from the municipal hall in South Saanich in one week. Total value was $11,700.

40 YEARS AGO
From the April 29, 1942 issue of The Review

The Wartime Prices and Trade Board ran an advertisement calling "The Hoarder" public enemy No. 1. "People who buy more of anything than they currently need, and merchants who encourage them to do so, are sabotaging the war effort and are therefore public enemies."

The RCAF band, under bandmaster Tutte, turned out 26 strong to play for the patients in Rest Haven Sanitarium.

30 YEARS AGO
From the April 30, 1952, issue of The Review

Resident property owners of Sidney have expressed themselves in favor of the early incorporation of the immediate community as a village.

Central Saanich council sold its four-ton works truck for $4,500, taking a $1,400 loss. Purchase of the truck had been a hot issue from the beginning.

Rising indignation was reported in Sidney over the fact that the ferry wharf had not been put in condition to operate during the tourist season, in spite of the fact that the federal estimates contained $180,000 not just to re-activate it, but to extend it to accommodate a larger ferry.

20 YEARS AGO
From the April 25, 1962, issue of The Review

Central Saanich reduced its school mill rate for the second year in a row. School rate was set at 17.6 mills and municipal rate at 12.5.

Frie Charman told Central Saanich chamber of commerce that tourism should be made the number one industry of Vancouver Island.

B.C. Toll Authority Ferry System was ready to inaugurate hourly ferry service between Vancouver and Victoria May 1, with the addition of the City of Vancouver to the fleet.

10 YEARS AGO
From the April 28, 1972 issue of The Review

Mrs. Daisy Cole won the Sidney and North Saanich chamber of commerce Glamorous Granddaughter contest. Mrs. Cole's granddaughter Linda Douma, had been Miss Sidney, Miss PNE and Miss Canada in 1965.

Probation officer Neil Pierce told The Review there was not much heroin in peninsula schools, but there was an abundance of drugs such as MDA, hash, pot and LSD.

Enquiry needed

There have been rumblings about search and rescue operations on the B.C. coast for a long time without much being done. Now the finding of four bodies adrift in a herring skiff surely suggests that a full-scale enquiry is needed.

No one knows how long the three men and a boy were alive in the skiff. It is possible they were dead of exposure before their fishing boat was reported missing, but it is also possible an effective search could have saved them all. Either way the fact remains that the skiff was not found in a week-long search, and it should have been.

Weather is said to have been bad throughout the search, but it appears aircraft were able to be used each day, and a herring skiff is not the small object that the name might imply. This one is described as being seven metres (23 feet) in length, and they are wide in proportion to their length. This one also had a six-man life raft attached.

Whatever the difficulties, it should be possible to find an object that large. Perhaps it was carried out of the area searched and later swept back towards the coast, but the people put in charge of a search ought to be competent to assess the effects of winds and currents accurately enough to cover all possible areas.

If there aren't sufficient resources available to be able to be sure of finding a craft that large even under difficult conditions, then they should be provided, and if the fault is with the people in charge then they should be replaced.

Chamber chides council

An open request to residents of North Saanich.

On April 19 North Saanich council denied a request from Saanich Peninsula chamber of commerce for assistance in the operating expenses of the chamber for the year 1982. This request was turned down on the grounds that council was against any expenditure of taxpayers funds for the promotion of commercial enterprise.

It is unfortunate that the majority of council cannot understand that the approximately 120 business and industry-related companies in North Saanich are also taxpayers.

If council can allocate portions of business taxes for schools, is it not reasonable to expect that they could allocate some of these funds to an organization that not only serves the business community but also provides community services to our residents, e.g.: tourist information, assistance to the community in helping residents prepare proper documents for tax assessment appeals, road maps and parks information, recreation information, small business information, etc. The list goes on and on, including the all-candidates meeting at elections times.

The assistance the chamber is asking for is approximately $20 per business (based on approximately 120 business licences issued in North Saanich) and out of the total taxes received is equal to approximately 30 cents per taxpayer. The total request is for $2,483.75.

We feel it is unfair for council not to assist in promoting the economic well-being of your community and we are appealing to you as citizens of North Saanich to let your feelings be known to the council by phoning the municipal hall or sending a letter to the mayor and aldermen of North Saanich.

Glenn Douglas, director,

'Little critters' important

I wonder how long the people of North Saanich are going to let the dollar sign mean more to them than our beautiful shoreline?

The present council seems to forget they were elected by all the people — one gets the impression they represent only those who have plenty of money and boats!

We hear so much about the destructiveness of our younger generation; and the damage they do is so small compared to the irreversible damage that will be done to Tschum Harbour if Bob Wright gets his breakwater and marina expansion into Blue Heron Basin.

It's a mudflat, you say. No matter what theoretical studies are made it will not change the fact that the whole balance of life will be altered.

Mudflats are necessary to nature. They are the spawning ground for millions of little critters, who are food for other litter critters that feed the bigger forms of sea-life, salmon included.

Let's have more concern for our immediate environment and stop this man who spoiled the once beautiful beaches at Oak Bay with his marina.

Can't we leave something for the birds and our coming generations to enjoy?

Hardship when tax bills arrive

Our 1982 land assessment was 130 per cent over 1981. When appearing at court of revision we were all told the assessment for our street was to be reduced by a blanket 9 per cent and that's it.

For a 9 a.m. appointment eight property owners were present together with a solicitor representing 27 lots in a subdivision.

The group were allotted which hour, 20 minutes in total which did not allow adequate time for presentation of appeal reasons. We also learned the assessor had not seen or visited the property.

With the new reduced assessment our assessed values for general, school etc., is 100 per cent over 1981. Even if the mill rate remains the same it appears property tax payable will still be double that of last year. Of course, there will not be any additional municipal services provided.

Final assessment notices dated April 14 were mailed stating appeals to assessment appeal board should be made April 28. For some unknown reason this notice was not received until April 23 leaving very limited time to meet appeal deadline.

Those property owners with actual values shown exceeding resale price of property should pay the $5 cost and follow appeal procedures to assessment appeal board. I understand that adequate time will be given to state their case before a board of professional and qualified people.

It is noted the provincial government has paid out $1 million for operation of revision courts throughout the province. Had the government listened to the people and adopted the resolution to use the 1981 assessment roll for one additional year the tremendous costs of these appeals could have been saved by both government and taxpayer.

Equating long term assessments with a few isolated overpriced property sales during a short term real estate boom will create severe financial hardships for many when tax bills arrive in the next few weeks.

Community decision?

The Bosun's Marina question seems to be in the fore again, and I don't believe that such a "highly charged" matter should be decided solely by a council which changes every couple of years. That seems to give the developers an opportunity to just wait until a favourable decision comes their way.

We do need more berths in this area, but we also need to make sure that we protect our fragile environment. I feel that a well informed public should hear all sides of the matter and then make a community decision by referendum.

Opposed to Wright plan

I am writing to express my total opposition to the proposed desecration of Blue Heron Basin.

For Mr. Wright to be allowed to put in a breakwater and facilities for many yachts is absolutely unacceptable. His plan utterly ignores the unique ecology of the mudflats and basin; the beauty of the view and it also restricts the use of the water.

People and residents who enjoy the birds and animals who use the bay surely have some rights and can expect some areas to be left intact for posterity. Must every bay be filled with boats?

We hope Mr. Wright's proposal will never be allowed to go forward as planned.

Abortion rights

The Canadian Abortion Rights Action League of Victoria invites supporters to attend a rally May 8 as part of a province-wide day of action to demand repeal of all anti-abortion laws and to defend a woman's right to choose. March to the legislature buildings begins at 1 p.m. from Centennial Square.

Animal blessing at St. Stephens

Be Kind to Animals Week which is held annually at the beginning of May, will start with a service sponsored by the Victoria Branch of the SPCA for the Blessing of Animals.

This service has been held annually for the past five years and will again be conducted by the Rev. Ivan Futter outside St. Stephens Church just off Mt. Newton Cross Road, Sanichton, Sunday at 2:30 p.m. In the event of rain the service will be held in the hall by the church.

There is great interest in this service with many people bringing their pets, calves, sheep and quite a variety of animals are there. On a sunny day the service has a very special quality.

Rev. Futter is always most cooperative and helpful and he very kindly donates the collectin to the SPCA. Incidentally a similar service is held on the same day in many parts of the English countryside.

It would be very much appreciated if you could make this known to the public as I am sure people do enjoy this service very much.

'Freedom' bylaw eyed

Ald. Loyd Burdon wants Sidney council to introduce a freedom of information bylaw and moved a resolution April 19 that staff prepare such a bylaw.

Burdon produced a document which he said he's copied from Saanich council's bylaw but Mayor Norma Sealey said the paper needed some study — there are some contradictory things in here, she added.

"I don't want you to rush into something on the basis of that which occurs in Saanich necessarily occurs here," she said.

Ald. Stan Bamford moved council and committee of the whole study the bylaw before a final one is prepared, and the motion was carried.

Burdon told council some people might think the bylaw was not needed. That's true but it misses the point, he said. "We've got a fire department. We don't need it now but we may next week."

"When it's needed it will be too late to introduce it."

Burdon added he wasn't saying anyone was withholding or not getting information but he saw a "need to formalize a tradition." If we need it in the future, the legal backup is there, he said.

Bridge winners

Winners of the Holy Trinity bridge tournament — announced at an April 21 coffee party held in the church hall — were Noni Banks and Liz Barclay; Ella Jones and Alice Belson; Betty Robertson and Bea Norton; Effie Howard and Donna Thompson; Vera Ripley and Marge Burrows, who had the highest aggregate score. Proceeds from the tournament will be used to landscape the garden for the new rectory on West Saanich Road near Deep Cove School.

Deep ditches an experiment

North Saanich council's approval of a recommendation to deepen ditches in the Canora Road area does not necessarily mean that water flow will be reversed to drain into Reay Creek, Ald. Jim Cumming commented at an April 19 North Saanich council meeting.

He said the effect of the decision had been misunderstood. It was hoped the flow could be reversed, but it might not prove practical.

He also said that the ditching would not eliminate the water problem on Canora Road and might not even help, it was an experiment.

Lottery tickets stolen

Two hundred fifty-five Western Lottery tickets were stolen last week from the Esso self-serve station in Sidney.

The thief won't win anything, since the numbers of the stolen tickets are on record, and neither will anyone who buys tickets from him.

Sidney Mayor Norma Sealey drops second pitch in season opener.

Mayors, players stage ceremony

Sidney Little League and the Peninsula Senior-Little League staged a combined opening ceremony at the major league diamond at Eighth and Oakville in Sidney Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Edith Cook, Little League area administrator, Mayors Norma Sealey and Jay Rangel and more than 400 youngsters took part.

There are 290 youngsters from six to 12 playing on 21 teams in the Little League this year. Five teams of six to eight year olds are playing tee ball, while the eight to 12 year olds make up nine minor league and eight major league teams.

All teams are open to both boys and girls, but after age eight girls can play in the Girls Softball League instead of playing baseball. There are several girls on minor league baseball teams, however, and one playing major league ball.

Tee ball is played on two diamonds at Wain Park. The minor and major leagues play on three diamonds south of Sanscha Hall. There are games every evening but Friday, and also on Saturdays and Sundays.

One of the major league teams comes from Pender Island to play on weekends. Their sponsor, the Pender Island Lions Club, pays the transportation costs.

Fran Blaine is president of the Sidney Little League. The Girls Softball League, which is headed by Bonnie Braithwaite, doesn't bother with an opening ceremony, but its schedule is getting under way this week and next.

There are about 150 girls taking part. They make up five teams of Squirts, aged eight to 12; 13 and 14; 15 and 17; and 18. The Bantams and Midgets play in the Colwood and District League.

Games are held on two diamonds on Sanscha grounds.

Roche Harbor regatta

Friday Harbour Sailing Club plans its third annual regatta at Roche Harbor Resort on San Juan Island May 1 and 2. The sailboat race is open to all PHRF rated boats and one-design classes will be allowed provided there are at least five boats for each class.

Schedule on Saturday is set with a long race of 10-15 miles or possibly a series of shorter races, depending on wind conditions at the time. A final race will be held Sunday and will be shorter to allow plenty of time for return trips home.

Entry fee is $15 for pre-registered boats, $20 for boats registering on race day. Fee includes moorage at Roche Harbor Friday and Saturday evenings. Registration desk will be open Friday from noon and Saturday from 8 a.m. - 9 p.m. Racing begins at 10 a.m.

Winners receive a perpetual trophy as well as individual awards. Everyone is invited to a no-host cocktail hour and regatta dinner in the new enclosed Roche Harbor Pavilion Saturday evening.

Canadian boats will find customs clearance easy — Roche Harbor is a customs port and a customs official will be on duty.

For more information call Steve Swanberg at 206-378-2949 days, 206-378-5504 evenings.

Little League play underway

More than 400 youngsters six to 15, and including some 180 girls, are registered this year with Central Saanich Little League, playing on 31 teams in tee ball, baseball and softball.

In addition, about 100 Central Saanich boys aged 13 to 15 are playing in the Peninsula Senior Little League along with boys from Sidney and North Saanich.

Official opening for the Central Saanich league was held at Centennial Park in Saanichton Saturday morning, and seven games were scheduled during the day.

There are seven teams of boys and girls aged six, seven and eight playing tee ball, in which the ball is teed up at home plate for the batter to hit, instead of being pitched.

Little League baseball starts at age eight, with nine teams in the minor league, for eight-to-12-year-olds. This is open to both boys and girls, but only three girls are playing. From age 10 to 12 players are also qualified to be chosen for one of the four teams in the major league.

Softball is also open to both boys and girls, in theory, but no boys have chosen to take part. There are four teams in the minor league, ages eight to 10, three in the major league for 11 and 12-year-olds, and four in the senior league for players 13 to 15.

Boys of 13 play in one division of the senior little league, and those 14 and 15 in another. There is a possibility of a Big League for 16 to 18 year olds being organized, but so far it is only being discussed.

League president Wayne Watkins says the turnout this year has reached about the limit of the available playing space. There are six diamonds at Centennial Park and one at Ron Knott Park in Brentwood, plus two that are used at Brentwood School. Other school diamonds are used for practices.

Adult groups also share some of the playing space, so until the little leagues reach the playoffs at the end of June scheduling is very tight, with games or practices on almost every diamond every weekday evening, and morning, noon and afternoon on Saturday.

This year for the first time the Little League has its own building at Centennial Park. It also has a link with the municipal council that it hasn't had before. Ald. Ron Cullis, who is in charge of parks and recreation, is also the coach of one of the softball teams.

Tax reduction not 'realistic'

Residents in the area southeast of the airport around the former Sidney Waterworks wells are getting a small reduction in their property taxes because of their problems with water seeping up through the ground.

The court of revision for North Saanich allowed a 10 per cent reduction in land assessment for those considered to be in the area most affected and a five per cent reduction for those a little farther away.

There was also an 11 per cent reduction for all properties in that section of the municipality, so total reductions were 21 per cent and 16 per cent.

For John and Gail Latta, however, the reduction was not nearly as big as they expected. Latta said that early in February the court agreed to a $10,000 reduction in their land assessment because of their water problems and he was never notified of any intention to change this decision.

He does not think that a 10 per cent reduction — $4,900 — is a realistic estimate of the value lost because the land cannot be dried out, and he is planning to appeal to the assessment appeal board arguing the court of revision should not have changed its decision without giving him an opportunity for a further hearing.

Tennis tourney winners

Glen Meadows Tennis Club opened its season April 18 with a round-robin tournament. Winners were John Harrison, Barbara Hale and Darleen Boyd.

Two successful Calcutta mixed tournaments were played in the Cedar Hill Recreation indoor courts during the winter by club members. Winners were John Harrison and Alison Cubbon, Jean Shaw and Mary Mara.

The A and B leagues are well under way, with club members giving their opposition a good challenge.

It was a glorious day Sunday for enthusiastic bike riders who turned out to an invitational bike meet at Centennial Park.

More than 100 cyclists from the Saanich Peninsula — including Sidney Velo Club members Willy Fahning, Hans Stofelsma and Dieter Schauner — the lower mainland and Vancouver Island gathered for racing in bright sunshine.

There were five racing categories — from top riders down to novices and veterans — and some were ran concurrently.

The course started at the park, went west on Wallace Drive, up Stelly's Cross Road, right along West Saanich Road, up a hill to McTavish, then East Saanich Road and ending back on Wallace Drive and the park.

Derrick Mallard, 6002 West Saanich Road, president of the local club, joined riders on the course for a brief spell. Schauner placed 3rd in his class (No. 3 category) while Stofelsma placed 2nd in the novices No. 1 race group.

The meet was organized by Victoria Wheelers.

Federal nematode ban 'flaws'

By GRANIA LITWIN

The logic of the federal government's golden nematode ban has serious flaws, says Central Saanich Ald. George MacFarlane.

In a letter sent to residents, which supposedly clarifies who can and cannot grow potatoes during the ban, the statement is made that potatoes cannot be grown on soil that has previously grown potatoes for commercial sale.

If the soil has never been used for commercial production of potatoes the crop may be raised for family use only but may not be sold at roadside stands or given away.

MacFarlane told committee Monday either the ban should be placed on the whole area or not at all.

He said "just about every house in this municipality is built on what used to be farm land and may have grown potatoes at some time.

"Does the federal department just mean they cannot be grown on commercial land which is being given a grant not to grow the crop?"

"We are solidly behind measures to eradicate the nematode", MacFarlane said, "but the logic of growing only if you've never sold them escapes me."

Committee moved to seek clarification on the blanket coverage of the potato ban.

In other news:

The provincial ministry of transportation and highways has recommended that Island View Road be designated as the major access road linking Keating Industrial Park with the Pat Bay Highway.

In a letter sent to committee and read Monday night, Highways Minister Alex Fraser explained his staff has "reviewed the current operation of the highway with the intention of identifying a long term strategy for the elimination of direct accesses and the rationalization of major access points."

Keating Cross road will not have major connection to the highway itself, he says.

There has been speculation over the years that there would be an overpass at Keating and the Pat Bay Highway.

Fraser explains that using Island View as an access would "best meet the long term requirements of the highway system while minimizing the impact on the existing development of the area."

Public works committee chairman Ald. Dick Sharpe told committee that obvious reasons for the choice of Island View would be the fact that to build an overpass at Keating would entail enormous cost and removal of a large portion of land from the Agricultural Land Reserve.

Island View Road at Pat Bay already has a traffic control signal and good visibility from a great distance.

A meeting between the municipal chief planner and citizens groups will be arranged with the ministry in the near future, said Sharpe.

Central Saanich committee has sent back to its advisory planning commission a draft bylaw which would be "encouraging cottage industry to operate in the municipality."

Municipal planner Gay Wheeler told committee that Bylaw 621 has "serious problems."

He pointed out the new bylaw has been broadened by the APC and now becomes unworkable since it encourages cottage industry to operate businesses from accessory buildings in the residential area.

In the current bylaw such home business as dress-making are allowed but only within the residential building itself and subject to many strictures.

The new bylaw as proposed would broaden the field enormously, according to Wheeler, and put businesses in the residential area into competition with those in the commercial area where businesses have to buy licenses and pay business taxes.

"It is not acceptable to have the residential zone in conflict with the commercial zone," said MacFarlane.

Video games limited

Central Saanich committee came face to face Monday night with the spectre of video games in the municipality — and decided to limit the number per establishment to four.

"I'm against the idea of video games from the youth point of view," Mayor Dave Hill said.

"What they do in their own home is their own business," said Ald. Dick Sharpe "but the arcade set-up where kids run these machines continually until midnight is not acceptable.

"They require loot to put into these things and some kids spend highly disproportionate sums of money," he said.

But committee was torn between the moral aspects of the games and the business angle.

Saanich grocery store businessman Mary Smith attended the meeting and said that

Police to host public meeting

People with complaints, suggestions or questions concerning policing in Central Saanich are invited to attend a meeting at Stelly's secondary school at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

Held as a follow up to the distribution of 5,000 booklets on Directions in Policing, the meeting is to give members of the public the opportunity to talk over their ideas and concerns with members of the police board, the police chief and the crime prevention officer.

The officials will be there to listen, not to present anything, so it is up to citizens whether the meeting amounts to anything. Only 71 of the questionnaires included with the booklet were sent in, not much more than a one per cent return, but some people did indicate that they had presentations to make at the public meeting.

Police, Lions plan rodeo

Sidney RCMP and Sidney Lions are planning their joint annual bicycle rodeo May 2 at Panorama Leisure Centre. Starting at 1:30 p.m. the event features contestants from grades 1-5 from Sidney and North Saanich elementary schools.

Youngsters have been instructed on the rules of the road when riding their bikes on streets and highways. Selection of finalists for the rodeo will be carried out April 26 through 28, with 50 students going on to appear at the Sunday rodeo. The RCMP and Lions will be conducting examinations prior to the big day.

To be eligible, students must demonstrate their knowledge and skill in bike riding. Prizes and trophies will be presented to winners and a trophy will go to the school accumulating the highest number of points.

As well, there's a draw for a new bicycle and other prizes. To be eligible to win in the draw youngsters must be in attendance as a spectator and have participated in the Safety Bicycle Program at schools. Students and parents are urged to attend and cheer their favorite school or rider to victory.

Sidney-Anacortes service triples

Summer service will be greatly improved on the Sidney-Anacortes ferry with an increase to three daily departures from Sidney and Anacortes on the popular Sidney-San Juan Islands-Anacortes route.

As well, vessels operating the ferry service will belong to the "super" class — carrying 160 autos and 2,000 passengers. The increase in service makes the Sidney-Anacortes ferry route the second largest carrier operating between the Greater Victoria area and the mainland.

The summer schedule goes into effect June 20 through to Sept. 10. Currently, the year-round service is operated by a 100-auto ferry leaving Sidney daily at 12:30 p.m.

Arrival and departure times starting June 20 are: leaving Sidney 12:10 p.m., 1:45 p.m. and 7 p.m. arriving Anacortes 3 p.m., 4:35 p.m. and 9:30 p.m.

West bound, the ferry leaves Anacortes 8:30 a.m., 10:30 a.m., and 3:45 p.m. arriving in Sidney 11:20 a.m., 1:05 p.m. and 6:20 p.m.

he now has two video games in his present location.

"I have the opportunity to get another spot in Saanichon Centre and would like to open up in a Pop Shoppe and include four video games in the new location.

"I try to run a clean operation and don't see anything wrong with a bylaw allowing four games on one premise."

Saanich municipality has no restriction on the number of video games which can be allowed and has since been petitioned by outraged parents groups who dislike the idea of games rooms and hang-outs on a large scale.

Victoria council has limited the number of games to four in any one business.

Central Saanich committee will recommend to council that four be accepted, except during such annual events as charitable fairs run by Lions when guidelines may be relaxed.

"What are we controlling here — profits or children?" queried Ald. George MacFarlane, who said he didn't see why it was right for charity and not for business.

Sidney Teen Activity Group (STAG) co-ordinator Camille Martin reports that instead of gearing down for summer, STAG is getting into high gear, with requests for odd jobs, part-time and full-time employment more than being met by the capable young people registered for employment at the Peninsula community Association office.

Citizens who have availed themselves of this service have expressed great satisfaction both with the quality of work and the pleasantness of those employed. Anyone wishing to register for employment should drop into the office at 9788 — 2nd Street and anyone wishing services should call 656-0134.

Throughout the summer, STAG will run a concession at the outdoor Flea Market and proceeds from this activity will assist the young people to go on a variety of summer outings, as well as providing funds for equipment for the clubhouse on Oakville.

Councils veto funds for library

North Saanich and Sidney councils both voted Monday night not to pay their assessment for the new Vancouver Island Regional Library headquarters at Nanaimo.

Ald. Nell Horth told the other North Saanich council members that they should not make such judgement without having seen the present inadequate headquarters building, but she was alone in opposing the decision.

Former mayor Eric Sherwood, who represents North Saanich on the library board predicted "a Donnybrook" at the board's meeting this Saturday, over use of the weighted vote in its decisions.

Mayor Jay Rangel pointed out the library board was using a 4,000 population for North Saanich in determining its voting power, but a 6,000 population in determining how much North Saanich should pay.

A motion passed by Sidney council directed operating costs be paid to the VIRL "excluding any costs for the new building."

Our "roving" reporter asked STAG participants what they thought about its programme and these are some of the responses:

"STAG is a place where I can go to be with friends. The gym nights are fun. Camping trips are right on! Outings are exciting. And winning the foosball tournament is fun too!" — Shawn Sheppard, 16, chairperson, STAG executive.

"It's a place where me and my friends can go to play pool, foosball, and listen to music for free. During the summer Angie puts on fun camping trips for a couple of days for a reasonable price. The gym nights are a lot of fun because we go there to play instead of always going to STAG. During the summer we go down to Tulista to sell pop and walk around. So I think STAG is a really fun place to go." — Kenny Sheppard, 14.

"STAG is a good safe place to go at night. We get to play games at night and we have Wednesdays to play floor hockey at Sidney school. STAG is good because there is no pot or beer around." — Eddy Dougherty, 13.

"Why do I come to STAG? Good question. Cause it's something to do. Also keeps me off the streets (crime). Also to know other people and play pool, darts, foosball for free. Also listen to music (sometimes, when it's rock n'roll). I like the camping trips and on the whole it's half-decent place to be. Signed: "some vegetable" Greg [Aussie] Barkes, 16.

Lost a peacock?

If anyone in Brentwood is missing a lady peacock, Central Saanich animal control officer Alf Andrews has got it.

The bird was first reported seen at Silverdale Place on Sunday, then Monday morning fire chief Bruce Elvedahl encountered it on his sun deck at 7052 West Saanich Rd.

Andrews rounded it up, and on Monday was planning to advertise for the owner.

George Kurbatoff

Historically, individuals have come to clinics or professionals in an attempt to resolve questions of anxiety or frustrations related to money, sex, or religion. Today's clientele breaches our doors because of a frustration emanating from feelings of futility.

Albert Camus once contended that "there is but one truly serious question, and that is, judging whether life is or is not worth living".

The question of a meaning to life and the quest for its fulfillment is haunting more and more people today. Unlike other animals, man is not told by instincts and drives what he must do and how to do it, nor do North Americans have the long history of traditions and traditional values to guide them.

He does what others do which is conformism or he does what he sees others do which is conformism.

Youngsters seem to be suffering from this much more than older people since it is the younger generation who wander the most from traditions and traditional values.

In a recent research project done at John Hopkins University involving some almost 8000 students only 16 per cent said their first goal was making a lot of money whereas 78 per cent indicated "finding a purpose in life" was foremost on their minds.

Albert Einstein wrote that "man who regards his life as meaningless is not only unhappy, but hardly fit for life".

Catastrophic events in our recent past have strongly indicated that those who have survived best are those who have the greatest understanding of "what for" and "who for" of the event.

This leads me to believe that the human being is best served when he is pointing to something or someone else rather than just himself -- to a meaning to fulfill or another human being to encounter, a cause to serve or a person to love.

North Saanich Briefs

North Saanich residents who were subject to water use restrictions last summer can expect the same again this year. Ald. Jim Cumming told North Saanich council April 19 the high reservoir will not be finished until August and will not be connected for some time after that.

In other council news: Council voted to contribute $75 a month towards the cost of additional janitor services at the Silver Threads Centre in Sidney.

Municipal administrator Tony Green was appointed interim treasurer and collector until a successor to Jack MacDonald has been appointed. Council was told the volunteer fire department is presenting MacDonald with a plaque in recognition of his services.

Council voted to take no further action concerning sewerage for the southeast section of the municipality, because of opposition expressed at the recent public information meeting.

At the recommendation of the environmental advisory committee, council gave the name Prentice Pond to the home of the rough-skinned newts on Curteis Point.

Ald. Dick Herlineaux reported he planned to use rock blasted from the waterline route to Cloake Hill reservoir to build up to 10 groins on the waterfront of Patricia Bay. This would stop the current from transporting away material eroded along the shore, he said and should result in 10 beautiful beaches.

Annie, 90, celebrates

More than 60 friends attended an open house on the afternoon of April 14 to pay their respects to Mrs. Annie Clarke, 8905 Marshall Road, North Saanich, on her 90th birthday.

Neighbours Mr. and Mrs. Victor Stevens, 2031 Bazan Bay Road, held the open house and served afternoon tea.

Mrs. Clarke's husband, F.J. Clarke, died last year aged 99. He was an Indian agent, and the Clarks lived on reserves in various parts of the country before coming to the peninsula some 40 years ago.

Joyce's dream hand

Mrs. Joyce Pearce, 10306 Menagh Place, Sidney, achieved a cribbage player's dream on the evening of March 19, a 29-point hand. Playing at supper against her husband, Art, she drew three fives and the jack of spades, and the five of spades came up in the cut.

The Pearces play crib "all the time," but this is their first 29 hand.

The Buzz from Stelly's

By SARAH BONNER

Stelly's would like to welcome back both the senior band and executive assistant, Wayne Hunter. Our band was on a six-day trip that took them to San Francisco. Hilary Frost, band director, felt this trip was the best one in Stelly's history.

Wayne Hunter was on a 14-day tour of Japan with his hockey team, the UBC Alumni. Their games took them to such cities as Hiroshima and Tokyo. Congratulations on their 4-1 win/loss record.

Tom Waterland, forestry minister, visited our school last week as guest speaker for our Geography 12 class. The talk was interesting, which was un-predicted. Students asked him a number of questions, none of which were cutting. In his answers Waterland seldom branched from the topic.

Members of the Central Saanich Police Commission will be visiting our school on April 29. They won't be here to enforce the law but to do a study/survey on vandalism in our district. The commission will be meeting with selected classes that will represent each grade level.

Congratulations to two Stelly's students, John Fram and Peter Heywood, who recently played in the Gorge Vale Junior Golf Invitational. Both placed well — John came 1st while Peter placed 4th. There were a total of 73 competitors in the tournament.

Most of our students will be participating in the Milk Run on April 28. All schools throughout B.C. are asked to try and raise money for crippled children by holding this event.

Unfortunately our senior boys rugby team was edged out by Spectrum last week. With three tough games left in the season, the boys are looking forward to looking back on the last few weeks.

Congratulations to Cheryl Underwood who led the senior girls soccer team to a 1-1 tie with Mt. Doug last week.

Parkland Parade

By WENDY LAING

Parkland's performing arts programs are really something to be proud of — both the dance and drama departments, taught tremely well in the school's dance festival Apr. 22 and 23 and topped all classes. The adjudicator judged the number Peter Gunn (accompanied by our stage band) most outstanding and Parkland has been invited to the honours performance held today. Good luck to all dancers in the more difficult "studio category" this week.

Grassroots Theatre Company's next show, The Songs We Sing is in full swing and opens at McPherson Playhouse, May 12, 13, and 14 ($3.50, $4.50 and $5.50). This is another exciting musical all about people and is going on tour May 19 to 21 up-Island.

Our student council executive has been changed: New vice-president is Andreas Weichert; treasurer, Kendal Lutz; and intra-mural chairperson, Kathleen Cochrane.

Students council has planned its first car rally '82 for May, and for non-drivers and bike buffs a bike rally also next month.

A notice to the residents of the peninsula: Put aside a little change as Parkland's annual spring fair will be held May 5. For gamblers, our regular casino night will be featured. Also Atari experts, video games will be on hand for those who enjoy battling the computer-age.

Parkland's grads are having another car wash, Saturday at Saanicha Hall. Wouldn't it be nice to have a shiny, clean car without lifting a finger?

Another popular up-coming event is our annual spring dance. A date has not been decided yet, but more news will follow.

Congratulations to the girls soccer team who held down Mt. Doug's 'B' team to a scoreless tie last Wednesday after being edged out by the 'A' team earlier that week.

The Tragic land: Cambodian holocaust

[Fifth in a continuing series]
Clearings and terrified villagers clutching their children and fleeing with whatever wretched possessions they can carry are scenes we have all associated with Cambodia over the last few years.

This tragic land has been captured, unwillingly into the cauldron of superpower geopolitics in Southeast Asia and has paid a terrible toll. No less than two million, perhaps even three, of its people have perished, a further 100,000 exist miserably in refugee camps in neighbouring Thailand and a few have managed to re-settle abroad, mostly in the U.S.

In the early days of the Indo-China conflict when Legionnaires were still dying in the jungle and the former classification while her two smaller neighbours are "across the line" in the Indian sphere of historic cultural influence. Thus Vietnam has a history of a highly ordered Confucian bureaucracy in capitals like the central city of Hue.

Indeed, the tragic figure of Ngo Dinh Diem — (the first president of the Republic of Vietnam following partition at the departure of the French) was tragic sequence of events that nature's happy, carefree people dead in the sun with two million smiles and dances stilled forever.

The dimensions of this horror are not easy to comprehend as the population of Cambodia was less than Cambodia's 10 million to start with. If a proportionate number of Canadians were to perish we would have lost over seven million, three times the population of British Columbia!

considerations one fact is clear and undeniable; Norodom Sihanouk, descendant of the Khmer Kings, loves Cambodia and its people and they love him.

In his quixotic way, he personifies his country — charming, bubbly, naive, tough and contradictory.

In March, 1970, Sihanouk's Cambodia began to fly apart when his own Prime Minister General Lon Nol overthrew him in a coup with the complicity of his cousin Prince Sirik Matak, who the French had passed over when they placed Sihanouk on the Khouer throne. Everything went downhill from here, the North Vietnamese were digging in ever so cozily in their many sanctuaries along the border. So called COSVN (Central Office for South Vietnam).

The legendary Viet Cong h.q. was thought to be in Cambodia and the wheels were already rapidly turning towards death and desolation in a paradise. Who is to blame is academic — the North Vietnamese generals routing the invasion of the south, Richard Nixon, Henry Kissinger, Sihanouk himself can all take some blame for what followed.

Events moved quickly and with Sihanouk out, the military government stumbled from disaster to disaster — a communist insurgency which was minimal became a real threat and the whole structure, extremely fragile from the beginning, disintegrated along with South Vietnam, Laos and the dream of a Pax Americana in Southeast Asia.

The North Vietnamese were now in control of all of Vietnam (the so-called Viet Cong were hardly relevant anymore) and indeed these old communists felt they controlled all of Indo China and have acted accordingly ever since.

Those shadowy, mysterious Cambodian communists who were suddenly prominent and now victorious began to implement their plans. Unknown characters emerged from the misty jungles — Pol Pot, Ieng Sary, Khien Samphan. These names will surely live in infamy in many ways as they are the architects of the holocaust which followed.

It is grim and real history and millions of skulls and bones are a macabre reminder of this grim interlude.

[In the next instalment: Enter Vietnam — and how do we sort all this out?]

called "the Last Mandarin" in an excellent book so titled and written by Stephen Becker.

Vietnam is characterized by Confucianist ethics, Mahayana Buddhism (also termed the "Greater Vehicle" in contrast to Theravada or "Lesser Vehicle" Buddhism which is the characteristic faith of Thailand, Burma, Sri Lanka along with Cambodia and Laos), Chinese style architecture (with roof corners turned up for example), Chinese lifestyle (use of chopsticks) etc.

What I am suggesting is that in the war over Vietnam, the smaller neighbours gradually became embroiled — "sucked into the vortex" of the storm, as it were. I mentioned earlier that Cambodia, also called Kampuchea and the Khmer Republic in recognition of the powerful empire of the same name that built Angkor, led a relatively untroubled existence until she was dragged into the fray.

As usual in these matters, the circumstances are not straightforward, but characteristically complicated. It happened in a number of ways and it is difficult to determine with any precision that the actual chronology of the

So it can accurately be described as a southeast Asian holocaust.

It must be said that the side the Fathers Berrigan and their friends in the Vietnam protest movement were cheering for in Cambodia snuffed out almost a third of the people they were meant to be liberating.

I remember hearing and seeing the B-52 flying over me when I was in the Central Highlands of Vietnam, winging their way westward toward Cambodia. Then I heard the explosions far off in the night. This was operation "Rolling Thunder", obviously an apt name.

This curbing of Cambodia "sanctuaries" in Cambodia started in 1970 following the coup that removed prince Sihanouk from power. The prince, a very interesting, very human figure, ruled Cambodia from 1941 to 1970. During these years he assumed many roles and wore many hats — shifting from hereditary feudal ruler to popular political leader and man of the people.

He even renounced his royal throne at one point. He was and remains a contradictory character. Aside from all other

The tri-color still flew over the Indochina France, Cambodia was an island of peace and tranquility.

The magnificent remnants of grandeur and triumphs long past of Viet Nam and Laos (the other two parts of French Indo-China).

Now the French are long gone except for the little white crosses found all over these troubled lands with the words "Mort pour la France". During their time, the French administered all of "Indo-China" from Hanoi, but there were significant regional disparities between the various protectorates and colonies that made up their Southeast Asian Empire.

The sad little crosses are not the only legacy left by France; among the many worthwhile reminders of their presence is one with long lasting and troublesome facets to it. For administrative ease, France handled three very different countries as one entity and further used the more aggressive and westernized Vietnamese as bureaucrats throughout the area.

This has left a lingering thought that there is some basis for union between the three separate nations, and further, the Vietnamese presence in the neighbouring countries and in positions of control provided a basis for hegemony in the future.

In the 19th century, France controlled Laos and Cambodia as "protectorates" and separated Tonkin into two protectorates Vietnam in the north, Annam in the centre and the south (including Saigon and the Mekong Delta) as the colony of Cochinchina.

The nations of Cambodia and Laos are distinct from Vietnam historically, culturally and ethnically. The line between the sinicized countries of East Asia and the countries influenced by Indian or Hindu culture runs between Vietnam on the one hand and Cambodia and Laos on the other side.

Vietnam, along with Korea, Mongolia, Tibet and Japan are in

WORKERS' COMPENSATION.

NOT USING IT COULD COST YOUR BUSINESS A BUNDLE.

With all the other problems of operating a small business, it's sometimes easy to put off or overlook the responsibility of ensuring that your business is protected by the Workers' Compensation Board.

And that could be one of the most expensive omissions you ever made.

Because, if one of your workers is involved in an on-the-job accident, you would be liable for the entire cost of his injuries and rehabilitation - a cost that could be many times that of compensation coverage.

Don't risk it. A simple phone call or visit to any W.C.B. office will give you all the information you need about compulsory or elective coverage. You'll find that, for a small cost, you can buy a big piece of "peace of mind".

EMPLOYEES: if you're not sure about your coverage, discuss this ad with your employer or call the Assessment Department in your nearest W.C.B. office.

TAX TIP OF THE WEEK

A PUBLIC SERVICE OF HMR BLOCK

Q. Eight years ago my wife and I bought a home for $50,000, and we always used it as our principal residence. Over the years we invested several thousand dollars as improvements, but last year we sold it for only $40,000. Is this loss deductible on our tax return?

A. No. Losses on the sale of a personal residence are not deductible. There are no provisions in the tax Act which compensate the taxpayer for such a loss. Likewise, profit on the sale of a principal residence is not taxed.

WILL MONEY CONQUER ILL-HEALTH?

Money is vitally important in the war against disease and the U.S. Government alone has devoted a billion dollars to cancer research. But perhaps the most critical need now in the battle against disease — and other ills of society — is not money but trained and dedicated minds. That's why a donation or gift to enable an outstanding boy or girl to receive a challenging education may be the most far-sighted and rewarding way for you to build a better world. And what better way for anyone to be remembered?

For information about St. Michaels University School in Victoria, (a school which attracts eager gifted boys and girls from many parts of Canada), contact John Schaffner, M.A., Headmaster, 3400 Richmond Road, Victoria B.C. V8P 4P5, or phone 582-2411.

EFFECTIVE SALE DATES April 28 to May 9, 1982 Only.

By HELEN LANG

Today I have that horrible fluttery feeling usually associated with sheer panic, and it has all come about as a result of the suddenly summery weather. Have I mislead innocent gardeners by suggesting they delay planting, or will we get a late frost and I'll be thankful I did? I get nightmares from thoughts like these!

One way to test your soil for warmth is to turn over a shovelfull, and feel the underlying layer. If it feels cold and wet, delay planting beans, corn, tomatoes, cucumbers and any of the squashes. Beets and carrots, turnips and parsnips might be okay as they take a while to germinate, and get their roots down to the chillier areas, but please leave the others until May 15.

The second thing to consider is the warmth of the night air. The experts say never put out our tomatoes, squash, peppers or plant corn until night temperatures reach 50 degrees. I suppose you could get ahead of that if you used "hot caps" or cloches of some sort or another.

More than once I have gone out when frost threatened and covered tender plants with a series of inverted gallon pots. The thing about doing this is you simply must remember to uncover the plants by about 9 a.m. the following morning or you will have deep-fried the whole lot.

There is nothing that turns an avid gardener into a condominium dweller (without even a deck to put a tulip on) quicker than something like the above.

One thing I find useful in "timing" planting is to watch local farmers. When they dig, we dig, when they plant corn so do we... their livelihood hinges on their accuracy in planting dates so they are certain to be dependable.

If we should have a late frost, and you have plants outside "hardening off," quick! Before the sunshine touches them get out the hose and give them a thorough spraying. This really works!

Another thing to remember is to open up your greenhouse or cold frame early in the morning... the heat, even at this time of the year is fantastic, in any glass enclosed area.

Not a bad idea to visit your favorite garden centre soon. This is partly to see what plants are available and to buy what you want while there is a good selection. There will be sales of plants later on, of course, but you won't find the choices you'll get now. It's a very good idea to make a list before you go otherwise you are sure to arrive home with a lot of things that don't fit in with your overall plan.

Most of us get carried away, everything looks so fresh and healthy, but do try to decide ahead of time what grows best in certain beds... a shady bed won't grow strong sturdy petunias, or good marigolds, but it will produce delightful pansies, lush impatiens, and handsome begonias. Ask for advice if you need it, and watch for signs near the plants telling you the best location for each variety.

One small suggestion for planting onion seedlings bought in a plastic basket. Partly fill a bucket with water and dump the plastic pot of onions into it. Stir them very gently and all dirt will drop to the bottom of the bucket, leaving the onions floating on the top with all the roots intact.

Makes it very much easier to separate the individual plants. Spread the roots out and cover, then firm the soil and water with a dilute mixture of 20-20-20.

If you attempt to transplant anything like petunias into your garden it is a good idea to take a sharp knife and split the soil, rather like cutting a cake. This way you don't end up with a lot of injured roots, rather you have a series of clean cuts, severing the roots, rather than tearing them.

As soon as your tulips and daffodils have finished flowering, cut off the seed pods, but leave the foliage to grow on for at least a few more weeks, annoying as this is. When you are ready to put in your bedding plants, tie the daffodil leaves in a loose knot, to get them out of the way, and leave them to dry off.

Tulips are another matter entirely. They don't lend themselves to being tied, and usually break off, which is not what you want. All I can suggest is that you plant around them, assuring yourself the tulip leaves are protecting your petunias, and endure! By June both the daffodil and tulip foliage will have withered and you will be able to give a firm pull, and pitch the lot into the compost.

One of my dear gardening friends has a wonderful suggestion for those of you who may be lucky enough to have swallows nesting against a wall. They can be messy, as we all know. Her suggestion is that you fasten a shoe box (or something similar) underneath the nest to catch the droppings... she hastened to point out that this notion was not original, but what a neat idea!

I was asked this week how to keep stray cats out of the garden, where they always seem to insist on leaving specimens of unmentionable... er... stuff... so vile even the cat can't bear the smell, and insists on covering it, building a reasonable facsimile of Mount Everest over the top, meanwhile, turving out some of your choicest plants.

We have tried everything — commercial repellent, pepper, plants with sharp thorns, all to no avail. I think I heard a cat sneeze once, and that was our greatest success! Now we cut up pieces of chicken wire and place these strategically... usually over newly dug, or newly planted areas. These pieces of wire last for years, and I just let the plants grow up through the wire, not bothering to move it unless needed somewhere else.

N.B. There are still some packets of seed left at The Review. Don't forget, they're free — just help yourself from the bowl on the counter.

FAITH PROVIDES US WITH A DEFINITION OF REAL WEALTH

It would seem that financial problems are forever destined to dominate our lives, from the way that every succeeding administration is obliged to provide answers to the chronic ills of inflation, high interest rates, taxes, unemployment, defense spending, social programs, etc.; all with a balanced budget. Many remedies are proposed, but we will probably wait a long time for one that will please everyone. Meanwhile, you learn at your House of Worship that, beyond life's basic necessities, money isn't everything; and that faith, love, companionship, spending time with those dear to you, and appreciation of the simple things are of prime importance. When you realize all this, you will attend your religious services regularly, and thank God for whatever blessings He has given you, material or otherwise.
