Taylor May Join Liberals

J. S. Taylor, M.P., Contacting The Local Liberal Organizations To Learn Their Reaction; Believes He Can Serve Better As Member Of Liberal Party Than As An Independent As At Present

Of interest to all our readers, and especially those residing within the boundaries of the Nanaimo constituency, will be the following letter received from J. S. Taylor, the present Member of Parliament for this constituency in the House of Commons:

The Editors,
Saanich Peninsula and Gulf Islands Review,
Sidney, V.I., B.C.

Dear Sir and Madam:—

I am a Socialist. This has been publicly declared by me many times and, in my speech in the House on 3rd February this year I repeated the declaration unequivocally.

I am not, however, a Marxian Socialist, for reasons both good and sufficient to me, although not pertinent to the purpose of this letter.

Essentially of a liberal structure of mind, I arrived at the firm belief, after the most mature consideration, that my political activities and my ability will be more helpful to my constituents of the Federal District of Nanaimo, if I definitely associate myself with the Liberal Party.

The decision is, to me, momentous; it has not been lightly developed and has been contributed to definitely by my experiences with the Provincial and National organizations of the C.C.F., from which Party I was expelled in February, 1937, for my views and my activities arising thereout.

To be logical and forthright, I am now addressing letters to the various Liberal organizations within the Nanaimo Federal Constituency, placing my case before them and asking for their reaction to my proposal.

For the present, since my expulsion, I have assumed the description Independent and can remain so if the considered attitude of the Liberals in the Nanaimo constituency discloses lack of approval of my action.

Until this first question is decided satisfactorily I shall make no move to ally myself with the Liberal Party in the House; although, as stated, as a unit in that Party, my Socialist principles, unhampered, should assist and not hinder me from more efficiently performing my public services, not only to the Nanaimo constituency in particular but to Canada in general.

I am enclosing for your Editorial offices a copy of my speech of 3rd February, 1938, in order that you may properly evaluate the position and procedure being adopted by me.

I shall appreciate your courtesy if you print this for the information of your readers.

JAS. S. TAYLOR, M.P.
Federal Electoral District of Nanaimo.

House of Commons,
Ottawa, March 25th, 1938.

The Liberal candidate in the last Federal election was Alan Chambers, a young man of outstanding ability, who made a very creditable showing. After the campaign Mr. Chambers said:

"I congratulate Mr. Taylor on his victory, and wish him every success during his tenure of office as representative of Nanaimo riding at Ottawa. . . . I am satisfied that during the campaign I conducted a clean fight and made no personal enemies. I wish also to thank my opponents for the fair and tolerant campaign that they waged.

" . . . I desire to thank my supporters who so loyally worked to secure victory for the principles that I represented and can assure them that I will continue my best endeavors for the welfare of Vancouver Island."

Since the election Alan Chambers has been working hard for this constituency and we do not pretend to say what the Liberals will do as regards Mr. Taylor—also a man of outstanding ability who has been very conscientiously looking after the interests of the constituency. Is there room for the two of them federally and provincially?

Elsewhere in this issue we print Mr. Taylor's speech made at Ottawa.

J. S. TAYLOR, M.P.

SPEECH OF J. S. TAYLOR AT OTTAWA

Delivered in House Of Commons On Thursday, February 3rd, 1938

(This address in reply to the Speech from the Throne is published for the benefit of our readers and has a bearing on the article in this issue as regards Mr. Taylor.—Review Editors.)

Mr. J. S. TAYLOR (Nanaimo): Mr. Speaker, to avoid vain repetitions, it is not my purpose to make any major comments on the address in reply to the speech from the throne, but in the manner somewhat of an intellectual Antiochus, a snapper-up of unconsidered trifles, I want to make some special reference to things which I have noticed.

The Bank of Canada, the central bank of our country, authorized by the government to be the custodian and guardian of the people's currency, has recently issued the bilingual notes. Canada is already a fully established commercial country, and the fine arts and printing industry is definitely well established here, and can be said, I think, to be second to none.

The British American Bank Note Company is probably able to produce as excellent a bank note as any other bank note company in the world. Then why is it, Mr. Speaker, that in launching these notes in a public issue they should be of such a nature as to cause considerable distress and demand continuous attention because of their faulty identification? Since coming to the house this session I have already from the cash desks of the house received change for a two-dollar tender instead of a five-dollar tender. True, the error was immediately corrected, but it indicates that there is something wrong with the currency when one is liable in the rapid handling of money to make such mistakes. I think greater care should have been taken in the production of these notes, not only as to their color but as to their type, and I do hope that in any future printings these same mistakes will not be repeated.

A great many people in this country, a great many more than we are disposed to think, are color blind as to one or more colors, and when you have your five's and your one's so closely related in color, green and blue, it is not at all unlikely that in certain colored lights mistakes will be made. Not only that, but the backing of cer-

ZEBALLOS HAS TELEPHONE CONNECTION

Zeballos, booming mining town on the west coast of Vancouver Island, now has long-distance telephone service with the outside world.

An 180-mile radiotelephone link with Vancouver was put into commercial operation on March 30th by the Northwest Telephone Company, which has radiotelephone sending and receiving stations just south of Vancouver, on Lulu Island.

On a call from Zeballos, the voice travels to Lulu Island by radio and then by the lines of the British Columbia Telephone Company to its ultimate destination. Any telephone that can be reached via the British Columbia Telephone Company's system can now be connected with Zeballos.

Annual Card Party Tuesday, April 19th

An annual event of much acclaim will be staged on Tuesday night, April 19th, when the Catholic Ladies of South Saanich entertain at their yearly card party.

The committee in charge reports that plans are well under way to make this a gala event. With military "500" bridge, excellent prizes for cards and many tombola prizes to be won, all evidence points to a successful party.

This affair will be held in the Agricultural Hall, Sannichton, and you are invited to attend this 15th annual card party put on by the South Saanich Catholic Ladies.

Further particulars may be found in the Coming Events column.

ABOUT 60 AT CELEBRATION

ELGAR CHOIR IS WELL RECEIVED

Local And Visiting Artists Win Favor At Musical Concert

From the opening theme song of "Land of Hope and Glory" to the singing of the National Anthem the spring concert staged Tuesday night by the Elgar Choir in the North Saanich Service Club Hall was pronounced a great success.

The hall was well filled and the choir was in good form. Each annual concert shows remarkable improvement on the year's work and J. W. Buckler is to be congratulated on his untiring efforts as choir leader. The tone effects, rhythm, and harmony throughout the part songs was very pleasing and the solo work in the choral fantasia, "Melodies from Opera Carmen," were taken by Miss J. Charlebois, Miss E. Clarke, W. Jones and W. Gush.

The visiting soloists, Mrs. R. McIntosh and Fred Wright, well known to local music lovers, held the audience through two delightful numbers and encores. Miss Elizabeth Sledge rendered two violin solos, "Cavatina" and "Londonderry Air" which were beautifully played and were well received.

A pleasure much looked forward to and one which caused laughter and merriment was a humorous reading entitled "Mrs. Caudle's Lecture on Shirt Buttons" by J. F. Simister. He was suitably attired in costume befitting Mrs. Caudle. Mr. Simister was called back and again pleased everyone with another of his humorous numbers.

The men's quartette, composed of W. Jones, O. Thomas, W. Gush and J. W. Buckler, rendered two selections, "Lassie o' Mine" and a humorous song, "The Last Fly of Summer."

Miss Gertrude Riche, A.T.C.M., was pianist throughout the concert program.

ROYAL OAK

A daffodil tea was held Wednesday afternoon last week by the economics committee of the Royal Oak Women's Institute. An illustrated talk on New Zealand was given by the guest speaker, Mrs. Allan Peebles of Victoria.

Mrs. H. Smallshaw gave a recitation entitled "Grandmother's Wedding Dress," fortunes being told with cards in braile by Mrs. G. Watling. The box of candy was won by Mrs. F. Mellor. The tea tables were effectively decorated with bowls of daffodils and blue iris, Miss K. Oldfield presiding at the urn.

A card party was held recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Barker, Old West Road, under the auspices of the school committee of the Royal Oak Women's Institute. First prizes were won by Mrs. W. J. De Rousie and F. C. Eccleston; second, Miss D. Hewett and T. A. Scafe. Delightful refreshments were served by Mrs. P. Reeves, Mrs. T. Anus, Mrs. P. M. Monckton and Mrs. H. C. Oldfield.

NORTH SAANICH VOLUNTEER FIRE BRIGADE NOTES

The committee appointed to look into the matter of construction of the fire ladders, composed of Bob Slade, Bert Baldwin, George Wyke and Fred Muslow, visited the Saanich fire hall on Tuesday evening, when much information was gathered.

Arthur Gardner went along to get information regarding truck construction.

The brigade have now had a work practising for the competition to be held at Nanaimo on Saturday, April 16th.

It is not to be pitied who has not judgment enough to know his friends from his enemies.

tain of the notes is very confusing alongside the old issue. I think if the matter is carefully considered by someone in the interests of the currency issue, we shall soon determine that something should be done.

Another thing, in somewhat happier vein, I desire very sincerely to congratulate the government any everybody more particularly connected with the stone carving, which has been executed on the front porch or entrance of this stately building. More particularly do I feel satisfied and pleased that the supporters are symbolic. I remember when I left here last session learning that they would probably be, if not Atlantes, then typical of our historic past. The choice of the symbolic supporters for the shields is in my mind more permanently acceptable and I think will prove to be truer to the heraldic significance. Especially was I delighted to discover that the eastern steatone is left polished and uncharged. May I hope and have faith that that is left there so that our neighbor whose destinies lie in the isle so long ago discovered by the doughty Bristol rover John Cabot will recognize our quality as a nation and join us and bazon his charges on that waiting shield. Again, let me express pleasure in the treatment of the bosses around the stonework of the building and with particular reference to the delicate idea which placed the initials of Edward Rex and the Roman numerals VIII on the boss immediately over the foundation stone of the Victory peace tower. These things are worth remembering while we are struggling with our political issues, because they represent to us sermons being carved in stones as well as in the hearts of our people.

But there is another matter of an entirely different nature to which I wish to refer. It is almost exactly two years ago since the hon. member for Nanaimo stood in his place to make his speech in somewhat similar case as tonight. In those exciting moments he definitely proclaimed and orientated the political parties in the house and declared, with W. S. Gilbert, that:

Every little boy and gal That comes into this world alive Is either a little Liberal Or else a little Conservative.

Nor was he nonplussed at the obvious question: Where, then, is the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation? Let me read just a few words from that speech, on page 181 of Hansard, February 13, 1936:

If the house is composed of Liberals and Conservatives, where does this puny group of seven orientate itself? The answer is really simpler than the question. For the first time in the history of this august parliament we have come to a truly foundational opposition by a coherent group; and we, sir, are that foundational opposition and that small group, the outgrowth of the long continued and persistent efforts of our respected leader. . . . We are the scientific students of economies which in this day and age of the downfall and portending holocaust of capitalism must discover to the world the personal advantages, the national security and the universal brotherhood which underlie as foundation stones the social structures and the social culture and advancement of the system of society called socialism.

Nor was he to know that within five months of that night he would be placed on suspension by that coherent group and thrown into line for complete expulsion in February of 1937. And so, sir, to be consistent and honest, I say with the deepest regret that in British Columbia at least the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation is not a coherent group, nor does it represent any longer a truly foundational opposition to the existing so-called capitalist parties. Tragically, there has been lost to the cause of the constitutional and transitional development towards socialism the greatest mass movement which Canadian politics has ever experienced. I am not talking in spleen or in personal antagonism when I state those facts. I have been too closely identified with the very commencement of the movement in British Columbia to be in doubt of what I say. But I declare with sorrow that the ambitions and machinations of dogmatic and doctrinaire Marxian socialists brought about control of the British Columbia party's convention in 1936 and left no resting or abiding place for the socialists of a liberal structure of mind who would otherwise, in the enthusiasm of their desires, have provided added strength and intelligence to the new and greatly promising party. Whatever my personal thoughts may be, I shall not here lay blame on any particular person or persons, but I have little admiration for the intelligences that could conceive of the possibility of dominating one structure of mind by another without giving it even the opportunity of overthrowing itself or being disappointed. Of course this brings me to the unequivocal statement that the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation is losing ground in British Columbia and, I would say, in every other province where the same or similar conditions obtain.

It must be apparent, sir, that if an correct, and there are two structures of political mind, the Liberal and the Conservative, then these must be present in the interpretation of socialism as well as of capitalism. And they are, but not in the manner of the man in the street, who classifies the parties in their approach to socialism as conservatives, liberals, radicals, modern socialists, doctrinaire socialists, communists. The facts are that in capitalism we have the conservative and the liberal; in socialism we have the modern socialist and the doctrinaire or Marxian socialist. The liberal and the modern socialist have similar structures of mind. The conservative and the doctrinaire socialist have similar structures of mind. And if we want any verification of that fact, the obvious statements made by the leader of the opposition (Mr. Bennett) and remarked upon by the Minister of Agriculture (Mr. Gardiner) will at least have some value in bearing me out.

It thus follows, and it can be proved by numerous examples, that the conservative turned socialist becomes a dogmatic and doctrinaire socialist, and, according to his cultural and ethical outlook, a potential communist. If I am correct, then it must be right to say that fascism is an excess in the cultural and ethical expression of capital conservatism, and evidences will doubtless considerably support me. Through all this, it will be observed, I give communism no place; I give fascism no place in the intellectual structures of our political life. They represent excesses in the moral and ethical development of the conservative, just as unbridled freedom and licence, or, under other conditions, bureaucracy, might represent excesses in the moral and ethical field of liberalism. It matters not whether it be a big stick of wood or a big rod of steel, fascism or communism, it means excess and is to be condemned and despised as such. Now always, the dogmatic doctrine of Marx is a pro-communist; and here lies the grave danger developing out of the separation of the elements in the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation. Marx wrote the Communist Manifesto in German for the Germans in January, 1848, and Frederick Engels, who to my mind was very often his evil genius, made the following observations in 1888, in his translation of the Samuel Moore's translation of the German Communist Manifesto published by Charles H. Kerr and Company, of Chicago. With reference to the time when this was written, Engels says:

Whatever portion of the working class had become convinced of the insufficiency of mere political revolutions, and had proclaimed the necessity of a total social change, that portion, then called itself Communist. It was a crude, rough-hewn, purely instinctive sort of Communism; still, it touched the cardinal point and was powerful enough amongst the working class to produce the Working Class Movement, in France, of Cabot, and in Germany, of Weitling. Thus, Socialism was, in 1847, a middle-class movement. Socialism was, on the Continent at least, "respectable;" Communism was the very opposite. And as our notion, from the very beginning, was that "the emancipation of the working class must be the act of the working class itself, there could be no doubt as to which of the two names we must take. Moreover, we have, ever since, been far from repudiating it.

Now let me read from the last few lines of the fourth part of the Communist Manifesto:

In sort, the communists everywhere support every revolutionary movement against the existing social and political order of things.

In all these movements they bring to the front, as the leading question in each, the property question, no matter what its degree of development at the time.

Finally, they labor everywhere for the union and agreement of the democratic parties of all countries.

The communists disdain to conceal their views and aims. They openly declare that their ends can be attained only by the forcible overthrow of all existing social conditions. Let the ruling classes tremble at a Communist revolution. The proletarians have nothing to lose but their chains. They have a world to win.

Working men of all countries, unite!

With such sentiments I will have no truck, nor will I blindly attach any adherence to them. Karl Marx I admire for his most excellent analysis of capital and capitalism—the capitalist economy of his day. His analyses were excellent, but his formulae for the most part leave me unimpressed. Do I then fear the communists? No, save that they destroy everything and every organization to which they have attached themselves. And they have attached themselves with great assiduity and cunning to the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation.

Through sixteen years, from the meeting of the Third International in Moscow in 1919 until 1935, the Russian-directed communists throughout the world had attempted to foster and project internecine war in every country of the world. In June, 1935, when the international again met in Moscow at their seventh communist congress, their acknowledged having pursued the wrong tactics and declared that henceforth they must penetrate all human, ethical, social and political organizations everywhere. And this the least observant individual is able to discover today. This was in June, 1935. By November, 1935, they were already able to boast of their successful general penetration of the Canadian Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, as perusal of the reports and speeches at the fifth plenum of the central committee of the communist party of Canada in November, 1935, will most abundantly demonstrate. Let me read three short extracts from this publication—and I choose three at random from probably a hundred throughout the book, which it is extremely difficult to get hold of:

We Strive to Remove All Barriers. On all of these things we have common ground with the C.C.F. How can we win the C.C.F. for common action on all of these issues? How can we open up every possible avenue towards unity of action and remove every possible barrier that stands in the way?

We declare that in the interests of unity of action we are prepared to affiliate to the C.C.F., retaining our freedom of independent action on the basis of genuine democracy and to sincerely work with all our strength to transform the C.C.F. into the broadest united front party embracing all the organizations and endeavoring to come to an agreement and understanding with the mass organizations of middle class people on the basis of a united front program of action for peace, for democratic rights and to ease the economic position of the masses by shifting the burdens of the crisis on to the shoulders of the ruling class.

Then again on page 50 I find the following:

Cadres Decide Everything. Let me explain what is meant by "cadres." Three, four or five communists whose loyalty is not doubted are assigned to interpenetrate an organization. By dint of great purpose of mind, by strict attention to their duties and by working together ultimately they secure positions on committees; possibly a secretariat; possibly a chairmanship; possibly a deputation, and so on. They wait until all the men who are toilers have gone home, then push through resolutions in their own interests. It is not long before the organization so interpenetrated is directly controlled, with a lightly gloved hand, by the communists. These are the cadres, and this is what is said:

The organizational commission that we have set up at this plenum is taking up the problem of cadres as the central key problem confronting the party today. At the seventh congress of the Communist International this question was placed before all the parties as the decisive key problem. Comrade Dimitroff stated:

"The problem of what should be the correct policy with regard to cadres is the most vital (Continued on Page Four.)"

CHURCH OF CHRIST SCIENTIST Sunday, April 10th

"ARE SIN, DISEASE, AND DEATH REAL?" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday.

The Golden Text is: "The light of the moon shall be as the light of the sun, and the day shall be as the day, and the night shall be as the night, and the Lord shall bind up the breach of his people, and he shall heal the stroke of their wound" (Isaiah 30: 26).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Say to them that are of a fearful heart, Be strong, fear not; behold, your God will come with vengeance, even God will come and save you. Then will the eyes of the blind be opened, and the ears of the deaf shall be unstopped" (Isaiah 35: 4, 5).

The following sermon also includes the Lesson passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The prophet of today beholds in the mental picture the signs of these times, the reappearance of the Christianity which holds the sick and destroys error, and no other sign shall be given."

Rev. Canon Flinton passed away on Saturday, April 6, 1938, at the age of 72 years. He was born in Scotland and came to Victoria from the old land in 1890 on the invitation of the first bishop of the diocese and started his ministry in the days when clergymen had large territories to administer to and required to travel long distances by horse and buggy in order to cover their parishes. He was loved by his parishioners and took a keen part in all their interests, be it farming, fruit growing, hunting or fishing, and was always ready to discuss their problems and give advice in respect to many matters on which he was well versed.

He was first placed in charge of Fulford and Northfield parishes, where he remained for four years, then going to Cedar Hill. In 1901 he went to Alberni and Port Alberni. In 1905 he was named rector of North and South Saanich and it was while he was rector here that St. Andrew's Church was built. In 1912 he became vicar of St. Mark's Church and from there went to Courtenay and Merrville and was then vicar on Salt Spring Island until his retirement a few years ago.

During his ministry he made a host of friends and since his retirement the late Canon Flinton and his wife were visited by many former parishioners with whom he loved to recall the happenings of the earlier days.

Financing the food supply of the nation is a continuous process of extending bank credit.

Farmers borrow at the Bank to buy seed and sow it; to cultivate the grain and reap it; they borrow on security of the harvest.

Grain dealers borrow on security of warehouse receipts over grain in the elevators.

Grain processors borrow against grain supplies, pending the sale of flour, feed, prepared cereals and food specialties.

Shippers of grain and grain products borrow to finance shipments at home and abroad.

Wholesalers and retailers borrow to keep the grain foods moving to their customers, and so on—until the tables of millions are reached, in Canada and overseas.

Making loans to such borrowers is one feature of our modern, experienced banking service—the outcome of 120 years' successful operation.

DENTAL CLINIC PRACTICALLY ASSURED

Rev. Thompson Gives Talk On English Abbeys And Cathedrals

GANGES, April 6. — The Ganges Institute held its monthly meeting; recently in the committee room at the Mahon Hall, the president, Mrs. N. W. Wilson, was in the chair.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted. The financial statement showed a balance of $30.00 on hand.

Among the correspondence was a letter from Saskatchewan thanking the institute for the quilt sent to the Prairie Relief Fund.

Mrs. N. W. Wilson, Mrs. W. M. Mount and Mrs. A. B. Elliot were elected to serve on the dental clinic committee. The president stated that the clinic was now almost an accomplished fact. Dr. A. Coghlan of Vancouver had expressed willingness to start work in two months.

Rev. E. J. Thompson gave an interesting talk on "English Abbeys and Cathedrals."

BRANCH MEETING

The monthly meeting of the branch will be held in the Orange Hall, Saanichton, on Monday next, April 11th, at 8:30 p.m. Members are requested to make a special effort to be present. The subject of the attitude of the Legion in case of war will be discussed. Come and express your opinions. Rations as usual.

TO PRESENT CHARTER

The joint social evening of the ladies' auxiliary and the branch at which the charter will be presented to the auxiliary has been arranged for Wednesday, April 27th, at the North Saanich Service Club Hall. Music for dancing will be provided by Mrs. Holt's orchestra. Further particulars later.

of its representatives in the house. I fear they are doomed to find themselves compelled by the body of their procession to march in directions differing entirely from those indicated by the signposts of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation.

So it is that while still a socialist I declare that I am essentially of the liberal structure of mind, and while my election in 1935 constrains me to call myself an independent for the time being I recognize the weakness to the country and my people in the stand I am constrained to take. I definitely believe that there are many not only potential but essential socialists in the Liberal and Conservative ranks, and I believe it would be to the advantage of the country and its progress if the leaders of the old parties would declare their readiness to embrace all proper to their particular structure of mind, no matter how their intelligence and purpose may desire constitutionally to vary the country's present economy and economic social system.

In closing, and because I still have an earnest message to deliver, I must advise the government that I intend to vote for the amendment, not essentially because of its contents but as a definite protest against the continuance of orthodoxy in the treatment of the staggering problems of the country today.
