HISTORICAL NOTE

The Ford Hall Forum, the nation's oldest continuously operating free public lecture series, was established in 1908. It began as a series of Sunday evening public meetings held in Boston at Ford Hall on Beacon Hill by George W. Coleman, a prominent local businessman and then-president of the Boston Baptist Social Union. The affiliation with the Boston Baptist Social Union lasted until 1928 when tensions between the Union and Coleman prompted Coleman to incorporate the Ford Hall Forum as an independent organization.

Coleman's unique format, which provided equal time to speakers' remarks and questions from the audience, gave any interested citizen the opportunity to debate issues with some of the most influential figures of the day. According to Coleman's vision, the lecture series would enable the "full, free, and open discussion of all vital questions affecting human welfare." Since its founding, the Forum has gone on to host discussions with the some of the most prominent—and in some cases controversial—public figures in the arts, science, literature, and politics. Notable speakers have included Maya Angelou, Louis Brandeis, David Duke, W.E.B. DuBois, Robert Frost, John Kenneth Galbraith, Al Gore, Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., Henry Kissinger, Margaret Sanger, Eleanor Roosevelt, Malcolm X and many others. Ayn Rand was a noted supporter of the forum and spoke at lectures frequently. The lectures were originally held in Ford Hall which was located on the corner of Ashburton Place and Bowdoin Street in Boston's Beacon Hill neighborhood. In later years, the Forum held lectures in different venues across Boston including: Faneuil Hall, Old South Church, Jordan Hall, Northeastern University, and Suffolk University's C. Walsh Theatre.

In addition to hosting forums, the organization's programming included their First Amendment Award, a radio program, anniversary celebrations, and fundraising events with the Boston Pops. In 1981, the Forum created the First Amendment Award in honor of Louis P. and Evelyn Smith. The award recognizes "those individuals and organizations that demonstrate extraordinary commitment to promoting and facilitating the thoughtful exercise of our right to freedom of expression." Award recipients have included: Maya Angelou, the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU), Barney Frank, Anita Hill, Norman Lear, John Lewis, Rosa Parks, and Pete Seeger.¹ From 1987-1991 the Ford Hall Forum, in collaboration with eight presidential libraries and the National Archives, produced its own radio series, the New American Gazette. Hosted by Barbara Jordan, the series featured a combination of programs that included its own speaker series, presentations made at eight presidential libraries and the National Archive, as well as previously recorded speakers from the Ford Hall Forum archives. Much like the Ford

Hall Forum, the New American Gazette aimed to encourage public discourse about current affairs.²

The Ford Hall Forum has traditionally operated with a small staff, dedicated volunteers, and its board of directors who oversee programming, fund raising, and other administrative aspects. The organization also utilized partnerships with a variety of local foundations, corporations, academic institutions to support the operations of the Forum. During the late 1980s and mid-1990s the Forum was headquartered at Northeastern University. In 2008, the Forum moved to Suffolk University where it received administrative support and access to an event venue, the C. Walsh Theatre. The Ford Hall's non-profit organization was dissolved in 2014 and it became a programmatic unit of Suffolk University, where its lectures and public programs continue.

Ford Hall Forum's website provides information about upcoming programs, the organization's history, and an online archive that includes a comprehensive lists of lectures and speakers. The following publications provide additional information about the organization's founding and history:

SCOPE AND CONTENT

This collection contains a wide range of materials relating to the Ford Hall Forum's administrative operations, lectures, fundraising activities, partnerships, and its radio program, the New American Gazette. The inclusive dates span from 1908 to 2013 but the bulk of the collection covers the years 1930-2000. The collection is arranged into three series: Lecture, Event, and Program Files; Administrative Records; and Special Materials.

Records and objects related to lectures consist of speaker files, transcripts, news clippings, programs and posters, photographs, audio and video recordings and correspondence. The organization's administrative files include the board of director's records, budget and other financial materials, organizational histories, press and outreach materials, membership cards, and other pieces of memorabilia.

CONTAINER LIST

Series I: Lecture, Event and Program Files, 1915-2013, undated

Series 1.1: Lecture, Event and Program Files, 1915-2013

Description: This series contains materials associated with many (but not all) of the lectures and special events hosted by the Ford Hall Forum. The files from 1915 through the 1950s consist primarily of programs, posters and mailers for each season. Starting in the 1960s, the collection includes more detailed event planning files that contain correspondence with the speakers, speaker releases, news clippings, head-shots, bios, and transcripts. Also included are files for speakers who declined to speak or canceled a scheduled appearance. Special events such as anniversaries and the First Amendment Award celebrations are also represented in this series.

Arrangement: Chronological

Sub-series 1.2: New American Gazette, 1986-1991

Description: In 1988, the Ford Hall Forum, in collaboration with eight presidential libraries and the National Archives, produced its own radio series, the New American Gazette. Hosted by Barbara Jordan, the series featured a combination of programs including its own speaker series; presentations made at eight presidential libraries and the National Archive; as well as previously recorded speakers from the Ford Hall Forum archives. Much like the Ford Hall Forum, the New American Gazette aimed to encourage public discourse about current affairs. The New American Gazette aired until 1991. The files include administrative records, correspondence, listener letters, host and guest-host scripts, credit scripts, committee records, and station/ broadcasting information, and audio recordings of the programs. Also included are documents related to the New American Gazette collaboration between Ford Hall, the presidential libraries, and the National Archives.

Arrangement: Alphabetical

See Also: Lecture recordings in Series 3.1.

Series II: Administrative Records, 1910-2007

Sub-series 2.1: Board of Directors Records, 1910-2007

Description: This series documents the activities of the Board of Directors and contains board and committee files as well as strategic planning and outreach materials. The files contain primarily administrative and some personal records that deal with the organization's founding and ongoing business operations. The administrative files contain financial documents, record books, minutes from the board of directors meetings, and several committees (development, program, publicity/marketing, membership, nominating, new media, and executive). The document types mainly consist of correspondence, meeting minutes, memos and financial records, but also include strategic planning, focus groups, audience surveys and by-laws. Of special note are the handwritten record books which contain the earliest administrative records of the Forum.

Series III: Special Materials, 1908-2013

Sub-series 3.1: Audio and Video Recordings, 1923-2013 (bulk 1981-2013)

Description: This series contains a partial set of the audio and video recordings of the Ford Hall Forum's lectures, programs, and the New American Gazette radio series. The majority of the collection's items date from 1981-2013 with the exception of one recording from 1923 and a small number from the 1960s and 1970s. The lectures, which were often broadcast on the radio or distributed to other organizations, have been recorded on a variety of formats including reel-to-reel, VHS, Betacam, audio cassettes, and digital media.

Note: Many recordings are held by the Boston Public Library, WGBH, and Northeastern. Additionally, many recordings have been made available online (indicated on the folder list where possible) via the Boston Public Library, WBGH, YouTube and iTunes.

Arrangement: Chronological
