FRIDAY AUGUST 30, 2019

UD in the news Aug. 17-31

UD President Eric Spina wrote an op-ed about easing transfers between two- and four-year colleges for Education Dive. Kristen Krupa-Comfort's research was the subject of a Conversation video of the day. Rob Franek, editor-in-chief at The Princeton Review, listed the University of Dayton among his 'hidden gems' in a segment on CNBC.

Faculty were guests of Al Jazeera English and CTV in Canada. Newsweek Japan picked up auto historian John Heitmann's piece on America's art car movement in The Conversation. AmeriDisability featured engineering student Spencer Janning and his Freedom Brace. The peer-reviewed blog Gender & Society picked up sociologist Jamie Small's piece about 'Leaving Neverland.' Teen Vogue interviewed sociologist Anya Galli Robertson on the history of glitter in protest.

The Columbus Dispatch interviewed political scientist Joshua Ambrosius about Marianne Williamson's presidential candidacy.

The Dayton Daily News and Dayton Business Journal wrote about the pending opening for the building housing the partnership among the University of Dayton's Fitz Center for Leadership in Community, the Dayton Foundation and the Dayton Development Coalition.
