DINNER FOR STUDENTS' MOTHERS HELD IN NEW DINING HALL

The May Pageant

The annual Ursinus May Day Pag-Queen," proved one of the most charming and colorful ever given. Unlike any of the preceding years the sea setting, with its mermaids, sea monsters and various kinds of fish, made a very delightful scene.

The story is based on an old legend that once a year the mermaids become mortals, dance upon the land, and then hurry back again into the waves. No one has ever seen them and lived to tell the tale with the exception of an old sailor and a little girl. Captain Bill and little Trot, wandering about on the sea shore, are enticed by mermaids and finally, dis- Nickel, of North Wales. appear into the waves. The Girls' Glee Club surpassed themselves in their rendering of "How Summer Came," a beautiful chorus number, enhanced in its impressiveness by the reading of the poem by Dorothy Berger.

The vocal and instrumental solos were definitely a much appreciated part of the program. The bass solo, "Gunga Din," by William Saalman, '29 and the baritone solo, "The Builder," by Robert Weller '28, were well sung and indicative of their training in the voice department. Besides these, the trumpet solo by Harold Peterson, '28, and the violin solo by Walter Scheirer '29 must be commended.

BEAR BALL TOSSERS WIN ONE AND LOSE TWO GAMES

Varsity Wins From Schuylkill But is Nosed Out by Bucknell and Susquehanna

GAMES MARKED BY RUN LEADS

Those fence-busting Grizzlies lost their first ball game of the season last Thursday afternoon at Lewisburg when the Bucknell Bisons jolted Coach Kichline's apple crashers 13-12 in the first of a three-day trip of the Bears which carried them into as many hostile camps. After the Bucknell scramble Ursinus lost their second game in as many days when Susquehanna eked out an 8-7 decision over the Grizzlies. The trip was made a partial success, however, by a victory on Saturday afternoon over Schuylkill by a 10-9 score.

Ursinus tallied enough runs to win an ordinary ball game, averaging ten runs per contest but the pitching failed to hold up their end and this, coupled with some breaks of the game, spelled defeat for the Bears.

Bucknell Game

Ursinus, invading the lair of their supposed-to-be foe of the trip, first, fought gamely to overcome a four run lead made by the Bisons in the first inning. The pitching of Halicki, Bucknell ace, presented no difficulties to the Grizzly sluggers, Hoagey and Moyer garnering homers while Young, LaClair and Schink pounded out triples.

The pitching, however, was weak and all three hurlers, Strine, Mink, and Riordan were under constant fire. A homer with two on base sounded the death knell of Strine in the first inning and Mink, his successor, lasted until the fourth when he was re-

THE NEW COUNCIL

The recent elections to Student Council bring to mind an old, familiar and even trite topic for the pens of earnest editorial writers, namely, the success and failure of student government. It is safe to say that most students have a sane and logical conception of the idea of self-government but they fail to express that conception in a sane and logical way. Any government from the largest to the smallest stands firm only by the consent of the governed, the opinions of pessimists to the contrary notwithstanding, and ity to catch forward passes must both efficiency of government and the standard of justice depends directly on the part which each individual member plays. Today when nations contain greater masses of people than ever before the fact is more forcibly demonstrated than ever before that the action of the individual is the force which pushes forward the government of the whole people. Efficacy of government depends upon the co-operation of the individual. And this is the crux of the situation in student government.

Student government for the last several years has been a failure, both at Ursinus and many other colleges. That fact has been impressed upon the minds of all by several very untoward and unhappy incidents of the last year. Councils have made blunders, serious blunders. Pessimists might say that they had been blundering enough to warrant the abolition of the system, but that is not possible for there must obviously rest in some one's hands a measure of control over the actions of some students. The faculty have no desire at all to exercise this control. Nothing would be more to their taste than to have absolutely nothing to do with such problems. The officers of the administration want the task even less. For students as a group are often very hard to cooperate with though few will admit the fact. But it is obvious that there must be some sort of control and hitherto this R. F. D. No. 2 control has rested in the hands of the students.

Some previous Councils have made mistakes as was said before. Some erred in not doing the right thing, some by indulging in favoritism, and some by ill-made decisions. But most often the major share of the blame rested not on the Council's shoulder's but on those of the student body as a whole. There should be very little need for the Council to act beyond the formation and carrying out of Freshman customs and regulations. Though accidents will happen there should be no necessity for the Council to punish any student. All that is needed is a sincere cooperation on the part of every student. There are a few rules which must be maintained in the institution and it is a small sacrifice on the part of some students and no sacrifice on the part of most to obey these. It would seem rather shameful to admit that a picked body of young people who are on the average above the common degree of intelligence cannot govern themselves. But there is no need to admit this for we can and will with the conscious aid and help of all.

A new Council has been elected and next fall these men will begin their task which we hope may be easy. The College has suffered more than many of us in its walls can imagine. This loss of reputation has already tangibly taken form in several ways. None of us know just how far it may go. But it should stop, and stop at once. Ursinus means more to each of her undergraduates than merely a college, or she should. None of us would care to have the stigma of the adjective backwoods applied to Ursinus. The College is just what we make it, and this is one of the very definite ways in which we can make it better. Although this thought may seem a little Founded 1825 LANCASTER, PA out of season and premature to some, nevertheless this is the time to begin giving the new Council an even and more than even break. The Councilmen both this term and next are going to do their best, and their most powerful tool to accomplish the best is the aid of every student.

C. D. Y., '30.

A BIGGER WEEKLY

With this issue of the Weekly, the five-week term of the present Editor-in-Chief ceases, and we pass out of the picture until next fall. In this our last appearance in the editorial column for the present term, we wish to present a matter which has been in our head and close to our heart ever since the change of staffs five weeks ago.

This is the question of an increase in the size of our paper. We need more space if we are to record adequately all of the many doings about the campus. Unquestionably, the present term has witnessed a greater number of events which have a rightful place in our news columns than any other year in Ursinus' history. The athletic teams are more numerous, have longer schedules, and are winning intercollegiate contests with almost monotonous regularity. The social functions on the campus have taken on a new lease of life. Then there is always the regular amount of undergraduate and alumni news, and with the steady increase in the size of both these bodies, this news also increases.

With all these conditions obtaining, we find that every week we are cramped for space, and some extensive "cutting" by "ye editor" must take place in order that everything that happens at least receives mention.

With a larger paper, we would be able to give more complete accounts of all happenings, as well as including a certain amount of intercollegiate news, which has its legitimate place in this sheet. We would be able to embrace some other features which would improve the quality of our paper, such as cuts of individuals and organizations, small personal items, and a larger humorous column.

The question of the cost of printing a larger paper naturally arises. We feel certain that practically all of this increase could be met by the larger amount of space which could be alloted to advertisements.

As to the nature of this increase in size, whether it will mean more pages, or perhaps larger pages that remains to be decided. What we wish to do now it to present to the Alumni and students who read the Weekly our problem, and ask them, if they have any strong opinions pro or con, to let us hear them. It is our hope that next year will find us a bigger, and, nerhaps a better Weekly.

WEEKLY WITTICISMS

Lots of things were learned by many people when the Carnegie Foundation Tests were taken last week. In the first place, the Seniors found out how little they knew. We may expect to see many of the '28 graduates on Commencement refusing their diplomas, shaking their heads and sadly saying: "I can't accept the sheepskin. I'm ignorant, and the Carnegie Tests have found me

The examiners of the papers will also find out many new facts. For instance they will learn that rabbits hibernate in winter, and that a copperhead is a bird.

Some of the questions also revealed that the authors of the tests were not any too well informed on some subjects. For instance, they asked whether a knot was longer than a mile. It may be, but that would make a minute longer than an inch, and we couldn't allow that.

The record for Shreiner Hall's back-yard golf course has at last been broken! It looks as if the abiltransfer to the old Scotch game.

It seems that some of the boys were of the opinion that the Glee Club concert was a "dry" affair, and tried to remedy that condition when one of the singers returned. As it happened, however, their intended victim had already taken a bath this month, and he politely declined the

I KNOW what I like in a pipe, and what I like is good old Prince Albert. Fragrant as can be. Cool and mild and long-burning, right to the bottom of the bowl. Welcome as the week-end reprieve. Welcome . . . and satisfying!

No matter how often I load up and light up, I never tire of good old P.A. Always friendly. Always companionable. P.A. suits my taste. I'll say it does. Take my tip, Fellows, and load up from a tidy red tin.

Hess was high scorer for the Frosh with six points. The meet was won by Muhlenberg with 41 points. Reese of Gettysburg topped the scorers with three first places, winning the hundred, 220-yard dash, and quarter. The Frosh score-sheet shows a well-balanced team. Mac-Bath took second in the shot put and discus throw. Campiglio took second in the javelin and fourth in the shot. Hess was third in the quarter, second in the discus and fourth in the javelin, and Allen took third in the latter event. Clark placed third in the shot and tied for fourth in the pole vault.
