THE URSINUS FOOTBALL SITUATION

From the gridiron battlefield the smoke has lifted and it is now possible of Palmyra, N. J., were visitors on to obtain a clearer view of the wreckage. How foolish, how futile and self-defeating, some may argue, is this whining over the past and wailing over the irrevocable. But are Ursinus athletics forever to stay in the rut into which they have fallen? Are they never to be raised to their former position of prestige. Can loyal Ursinus backers allow such circumstances to go on and sit back in peace, repose and importure hability and let the good let the go imperturbability and let things take their own course?

What is it that arouses College spirit among the undergraduates, that causes the innermost being to thrill with a sense of pride, that makes loyal alumni? It is not a winning team? What is it that shatters the moral of a team-that makes one hang his head in shame when talking of athleticsis it not a losing team?

The majority of undergraduates have as yet not caught that winning spirit which is instrumental in a college. They have not caught it for the simple reason that they have never had the chance to catch it and until the present era of athletic policies changes they will never catch it.

would not soon be forgotten by the present generation of undergraduates and would cause unheard of loyalty. Every student would have the real devotion to the College which every student should have and which so many Ursinus students sadly lack.

If such were the case, can you imagine the results? Ursinus alumni and students would certainly be sleeping better nights and friends would be in looking at athletics with pride and not apologies.

This is a vital problem. What will be the result? Will there be a procession of Ursinus men ready to remedy the situation and find out what kind of athletics can be produced when a loyal Ursinus community sets out to make conditions right, or are athletics forever to live on the reputation of victorious teams of years ago?
