URSINUS NEGATIVE TEAM DEFEATS ELIZABETHTOWN IN INITIAL MEN'S DEBATE

Affirmative Team Loses By a Close Decision at Elizabethtown

ALLIED DEBTS QUESTION

On Tuesday evening, December 7, in Bomberger Hall, the Ursinus debating season for 1926-27 was opened with a bang by a 3-0 victory over Elizabethtown College. The question debated upon was: "Resolved, That the United States Should Cancel the War Debts Owed to it by the Allied Nations." The superiority of our team was clearly evidenced and the decision of the judges met with the hearty approval of the audience of about 100 loyal Ursinusites.

Mr. George W. R. Kirkpatrick, '26, chairman, opened the program with appropriate and brief remarks. The debate proper then followed. Each speaker presented his points well for his side and all were interesting and instructive. If any best speaker of the evening could be chosen, it would probably be Captain Grove Haines, our final orator. His summary of the negative arguments and application of them aided very greatly.

After the main speeches, while the debaters were preparing their refutations, the glee club quartette, composed of Messrs. Jones, Blum, Helfrich and Krasley, rendered several pleasing selections.

The refutations were keen and to the point and many a point, thought to be resting safely by its proposer, had its props knocked from under it.

For the first debate of the year our team showed up very well. They showed a clear grasp of the subject, and ability to think clearly and to speak convincingly. Our debaters work hard; harder than any except themselves know. Let us support them and give them the encouragement necessary to continue the good work.

Affirmative, Elizabethtown—Keller, Wenger, Bittinger, Hilefiner (alt.)
Negative, Ursinus—Moore, Geo. Haines, Grove Haines, Clayton (alt.)
Chairman, Mr. Geo. Kirkpatrick.
Judges, Prof. A. J. English, Prof. S. H. H. Lengel, and Thomas Hallman, Esq.

Affirmative Team Loses

CHRISTMAS DANCE DRAWS RECORD ATTENDANCE

On Saturday night Thompson Field Cage was the scene of the annual Christmas dance, in all probability the most successful one of the season. Amid bright decorations of red and green the usual somber aspect of the gym was transformed into a gay scene of festivity. The huge Christmas tree at one end of the room, decorated with many colored lights, and the flickering rays of the candles characterized the predominating spirit of Christmas. The merry crowd danced to the strains of popular music furnished by a Pottstown orchestra.

The dance was well attended both by students and their friends. Schaff play brought many alumni to the campus, most of whom attended the dance.

The committee was fortunate in securing as its patrons and patronesses, Mrs. Salter, Miss Boorem and Mr. Ethelbert Yost. Much credit for the success of the dance is due to the committee in charge, headed by Miss Betty Smith '27. Other members of the committee were:

- Ruth Moyer '28
- Cora Gulick '28
- Mary Cobb '29
- William Benner '29
- Merritt Jeffers '29
- Joseph Armento '28
- Charles Clark '29

DAY STUDENTS ARE GUESTS AT STUDENT COUNCIL TEA

Something new in the social life of Ursinus took place on Wednesday afternoon when Dr. White and the Women's Student Council sponsored a tea for the Day Student girls in the Day Study. Other guests for the occasion were the big sisters of day student girls, members of the Junior Advisory Committee and the members of the Social Committee of the Student Council. The event was attended by a display of the new furnishings of the Day Study, including cheerful, creton curtains and serviceable shades.

An interesting program of entertainment and diversion occupied the late afternoon, and refreshments were served in the course of events. Group singing and little stunts made the event one of the most delightful of its kind. The clever hostesses are to be congratulated upon their idea and the success of the affair.

PRECEPTRESSES WILL BE HOSTESSES TO COLLEGE GIRLS THURSDAY NIGHT

Elaborate Banquet Will be Prior to Holiday Vacation

COLLEGE SONG CONTEST

One of the many festivities that lend color to the Christmas season at Ursinus is the dinner, which is given to the girls of the College by the preceptresses. This dinner takes the place of individual hall "feeds" of former years and creates a holiday spirit of merriment.

This will take place Thursday evening in the college dining room. It is sincerely wished that all girls, day students as well as residents, will enjoy this evening together, and that those who find it impossible to come will notify Dr. White.

The specific plans for the dinner have not been revealed but, judging by previous occasions, the event will be one of enjoyment for all. There will be toasts and speeches suitable to the time, and other special features.

Among these is the song contest. Last year each hall contributed a school song and a hall song, Glenwood's offering being judged the best. This year school songs of a more general nature are being required, spirited songs that are suitable to any occasion, athletic or otherwise. It is felt that there is a need for this type of singing at Ursinus, and it is hoped that the contributions will be helpful in fulfilling this need. The preceptresses are offering a prize for the best of these.

BEARS MEET TEXTILE ON HOME FLOOR TUESDAY

The students of Ursinus will get their first glimpse of their "famous fighting firemen" when they swing into action Tuesday evening, on the home floor. The "fighting firemen," who recently drenched the fiery spirits of the Penn Quintet, are determined to fan the spark of hope they rescued from the Penn ruins into a flaming conflagration—that hope of an UNDEFEATED TEAM. The little leaks in the hose which appeared last week have all been repaired by Coach Kichline, and the squad is ready to pour water on any blaze—large or small—which the Textile "firebugs" might start. Temple, with a husky five succeeded in defeating Textile in a hard fought game, but Textile is sure to put up a spirited fight to try conquer the team that beat Penn. All out for the first home game and wear your slickers for the "fighting firemen" are going to REIGN.

The first game for the Junior Varsity will be on Wednesday when they play Allentown Prep, at Allentown. These boys can give a good account of themselves and should emulate the Varsity in their opening game.

DR. A. V. CASSELMAN WILL DELIVER DECEMBER SERMON

On Friday, the last day before the Christmas Recess, there will be the usual observance of Christmas at the morning chapel service. The features of this service will be special music by the College Choir and the Christmas sermon which will be preached by the Rev. Arthur V. Casselman, D. D., of Philadelphia. Dr. Casselman is a speaker of fine ability and is a favorite with college students.

ATTENTION!

Due to the fact that the Christmas recess begins Friday, December 17, the next issue of the Ursinus Weekly will not appear until January 10.

MRS. OMWAKE ENTERTAINS Y. W. C. A. AT XMAS PARTY

On Monday evening the Y. W. C. A. of Ursinus will observe the celebration of Christmas with a candle light service at the home of Mrs. Omwake, according to the custom established several years ago by Mrs. Gawthrop. This Christmas party is treasured in the memory of those Ursinus girls who have been able to attend in former years, and it is looked forward to each year with an eager anticipation.

This year's service promises to be no exception, as it is under the capable management of Miss Elizabeth Miller, '27, and will be held in the home of our charming and popular hostess, Mrs. Omwake. Following the reading of the Bible and the singing of the choir, Miss Lois Nickel will give selections from "Bird's Christmas Carol." Misses Moyer and Gulick will then play a mandolin duet, after which, the meeting will become informal and social.

DERR HALL MEN HOLD ANNUAL BANQUET ON WEDNESDAY EVENING

Dean Kline and Prof. Sheeder Give Interesting and Clever Talks

SKINNER TOASTMASTER

Gathered around the festive board, amidst the burning of candles, timely speeches and the closest of friendships, the annual banquet of the Loyal Sons of Derr was ushered in with a grand style on Wednesday evening, forming a fitting climax to the hall events leading up to the Christmas holidays. It was the gathering together of men, both new and old, coupled with the closest spirit of loyalty prevailing in that august body which made the occasion a most enjoyable one, leaving in the mind of the individual a deeper sense of devotion and pride in one's hall and one's college.

A most delicious dinner of palate tickling delicacies served by none other than Mrs. Webb's culinary department interspersed by the witty remarks of Toastmaster Skinner, the famous speeches of Prof. Sheeder and Dean Kline and the clever jokes of Robert Henkels and George Haines marked another memorable occasion in the history of Derr banquets.

After Dinner Speeches

"Life is worth living only as we spread broadcast the good fellowship we enjoy," said Prof. Sheeder, a graduate of Derr, while summing up in an interesting manner the benefits to be received from the close harmony of (Continued on page 4)

DR. WHITE ELECTED INTO TAU KAPPA ALPHA

Last Tuesday night at a meeting of Tau Kappa Alpha, Dr. Elizabeth B. White, Professor of History was elected to honorary membership of the local chapter. She is the third member of the Ursinus faculty who has been accorded this honor.

Three years ago when Dr. White came to Ursinus she displayed at once an unusual interest in forensics. Her keen knowledge of the various debating subjects and her invaluable advice soon made her a much-sought-for personage by embryo debaters. When the girls founded a Debating Club she was the first one to help give it form. Later when the girls established an intercollegiate debating team she was selected as coach. Her ability in this field can be judged when we consider the remarkable success of the girls' season last year. The members of last year's women's debating teams—Catherine Shipe, Ella Watkins, Miriam Ehret, Ruth Eppehimer Betty Miller and Mary Garber were taken into the organization last May.

"THE RIVALS" PRESENTED BY SCHAFF TO CELEBRATE FIFTY-SIXTH ANNIVERSARY

Exceptionally Fine Cast Portrays Sheridan's Popular Comedy

LARGE AUDIENCE ATTENDS

This year Schaff Literary Society celebrated its fifty-sixth anniversary with the same dramatic performance it had used two decades ago on the same occasion. This drama, "The Rivals," from the versatile hand of Richard Brinsley Sheridan, has come to be accorded the most popular of Sheridan's plays. It contains an abundance of wit and pervasive humor and displays an ingenious grouping of characters. The heartiness of the fun from beginning to end coupled with the untiring array of surprising scenes constituted an appeal which moved the whole audience with a pleasurable appreciation.

Prof. and Mrs. Sheeder Coaches

Yet not the intrinsic worth of this comedy alone determined in most part the success of Schaff's anniversary evening, but the excellent portrayal of the various character roles. Without a doubt Schaff's guests beheld one of the finest adaptations of dramatic characters that has ever greeted them on such an occasion. All of this is due to the tireless efforts and kindness of Mr. and Mrs. Fraklin I. Sheeder who very graciously coached the play. It is impossible to fully estimate the value of their work in this respect for Schaff Society.

As the action of the play took place in the fashionable English resort of Bath during the latter half of the eighteenth century, the costuming of that period contributed much to the attractiveness of the play. These varied colorful costumes lent a peculiar beauty and charm to the entire play.

Leo and Lachman Stars

Sir Anthony Absolute, the designing father who was quickly provoked into a rage, was the outstanding impersonation of the evening. Mr. Albert L. Lachman, in his first appearance on the stage, played this part with ease and assurance. His irritability and his intensive speech while arousing much mirth were enacted in a fine manner. Mrs. Malaprop, the eccentric old aunt who assisted Sir Anthony in his matrimonial scheme, was equally well characterized by Miss Bernice Leo. Her interpretation (Continued on page 4)

URSINUS RECEIVES SESQUI SILVER MEDAL AWARD

The Executive Jury of Awards of the Sesqui-centennial International Exposition has notified the College authorities that the Silver Medal for distinguished service in the field of higher education has been awarded to Ursinus College. The Ursinus College exhibit at the Sesqui-centennial Exposition was regarded as one of the best of the many college exhibits.

UPSULA COLLEGE SCHEDULED FOR 1927 GRIDIRON CONTEST

An addition to the 1927 football schedule has been announced by Graduate Manager Wallace Bancroft in the form of a game with Upsula College of East Orange, New Jersey to be played on Patterson field, Collegeville, September 24, the Saturday previous to the Lehigh game at South Bethlehem.

Upsula is a co-educational institutional institution of approximately two hundred students. This game should prove highly beneficial to the coach in determining the strength of the team before tackling Lehigh the following week.

HOLIDAY MEDITATIONS

Just a few more days until we again leave the campus for a short recess. We are all rejoicing that the occasion of this vacation is the celebration of Christmas. Many events will be crowded into these last few days—dramatic, social, and athletic. This is undoubtedly the most beautiful and impressive series of events that takes place on the campus during the whole year. To the girls, new girls especially, one of the most delightful parts of the celebration is the serenading at the different halls by the male songsters of the school. In the hustle and bustle of the early fall the absence of serenades was almost inevitable, but their prominent place in college life should come to light in the few days preceding the Christmas vacation. Banquets and parties in the halls are among the last of the functions.

Many students will go home with the idea of working on term papers, doing back work, or forging ahead, but those who have tried before realize that such intentions are of no avail. A vacation at this time of the year is quite in order and well-deserved; the average professor realizes this and does not make unreasonable assignments that must be covered before the first class after vacation.

During the two weeks' absence from the campus Ursinus students will go out into diverse parts of the eastern United States. Some will renew the friendships of former or just passing days in a whirlwind of dances, parties and other social functions; others will take it as an opportunity to spend some time at home, probably recuperating from the strain of previous revels. Christmas day itself will be attended by the exchange of presents among friends and relatives, an indication that the spirit of giving is a dominating attitude during the holiday season. The ideal situation brings this spirit of giving to the fore, and dismisses the expectation of what will be received. To a philanthropic person a happy Christmas means the ability to bring joy into the lives of those less fortunate in material blessings by giving out baskets of provisions and garments. Almost all of us are in a position to do some deed of this sort that will make the Yuletide Season more generally happy.

Just a Christmas card brings joy to those who think they have been or might be forgotten. The sick and disabled get their greatest enjoyment of the season from these thoughtful little remembrances, which show that the spirit of love still exists as a dynamic force in the hearts of men. With a little thought and serious consideration Christmas can be made a truly wonderful and satisfying experience.

Those who take it merely as an occasion for high spirits and feasting are missing the real significance which makes it a day of days. Too often the traditions for celebration undermine the deep religious significance of the birth of our Lord. Not for the world would we deprive the tiny tots of their joy in anticipating the coming of Santa Claus; this gives them an anxious longing for the approach of Christmas. Probably one of the most distinct periods in a child's development is marked by his ceasing to believe in a Santa Claus with his reindeers and toy factory and gifts galore. But, on the other hand, we would not have them think that this is all Christmas means. How many people spend the day without even entering a House of the Lord to give thanks for that graciousness which brought it all about. It is true we may give thanks in the home or wherever else we are, but it naturally follows that whoever does not make it a point to attend a service of worship may neglect the offering of thanks and praise. The college student in his joy over being home and renewing acquaintances at Christmas time often forgets the sacred celebration attached to the event. To be sure Ursinus students are no exception, and they must be reminded of the season. A word to the wise is sufficient.

C. E. J. G., '28.

GAFF FROM THE GRIZZLY

Just a suggestion. It is well to send out a scouting expedition before walking out on a professor. This avoids embarrassment for everyone involved.

The girls are consoled to learn that "thinking does not become a young lady." It is to be hoped that all the professors attended the play and will remember it at midyears.

Santa Claus is not the only one who hands things out generously at this time of the year. Would that we could appreciate examinations as we do our other gifts.

Hiking in a blizzard may well be considered a positive criterion of true love.

May Derr Hall prosper and have many more banquets. It isn't always that ice cream is served in the dining room on Wednesday evening.

We wonder if the deer hunting expedition came across any "dears"—Why go so far away from home?

According to the chairlady of the last dance committee the field cage must be dimly lighted in order to hide the deficiencies of the place—the dance was a decided success.

"Hurrah!" cried the empty benches of the Perkiomen flier as the College students started on their homeward journey. "We're having company now."

Harken, ye poor students. If you want to pull a C up to a B send the professor a Christmas card. Just a little gift may bring an A.

Y. W. C. A.

One of the most well-planned Y. W. meetings of the year was held on last Wednesday evening. Miss Jane Kohler, '29, had charge and selected as her subject, "Friendship." A few hymns were sung, after which the Scripture lesson taken from St. John, was read. This was followed by a reading of Christine Rossetti's prayer on Friendship. To introduce the subject, a number of girls read excerpts from the works of prominent men expressing opinions on Friendship. Miss Betty Greager, '29, read "The Man Who Walks in the Road."

The topic of the evening very aptly formed a sequence to last week's discussion meeting in which the friendliness of Ursinus students was praised by the new members. The formation of cliques and exclusive "gangs" was discouraged by the speaker who advanced a plea for a wider camaraderie. The talk was divided by the rendition of several delightful numbers, the first of which was a flute solo by Miss Arlene Kresge, '27. Her interpretation of "Reverie" was very pleasing. Miss Margaret Johnson then read a poem, "I Have a Friend," by Vlyna Johnson.

Special announcements were made by Miss Alice Feters, '28, and Miss Betty Miller, '27. The former was a reminder of the Christmas box soon to be sent to Miss La Rose for the Jewish Mission of South Philadelphia, and the latter extended an invitation to all Y. W. girls to attend the Christmas meeting at Mrs. Omwake's on Monday evening.

NEW DINOSAUR EGG FIND

QUESTIONED BY SCIENTISTS

Washington, Dec. 8, 1926—(By Science Service).—Well-known scientists when questioned today as to the reported discovery of five dinosaur eggs in Mexico by L. V. Stevens, American mining engineer, stated that such a find, if true, is certainly remarkable.

Commenting on the statement that the eggs were said to be found in lead and silver ore, Charles W. Gilmore, paleontologist of the National Museum pointed out that no dinosaur remains have ever been found in such deposits. It might be possible for bones or eggs of these reptilian monsters to turn up in such surroundings, he added, but it is not where they would be expected.

Mr. Gilmore pointed out that the report is also remarkable in that no remains of the dinosaurs have ever been found in Mexico.

"Bones of these extinct reptiles have been dug up in Texas," Mr. Gilmore said. "And there is no reason that we know of why the gigantic creatures should not have crossed the Rio Grande, but the dinosaurs of Mexico, if any, have always been an unknown quantity."

The possibility of identifying an embryo dinosaur emerging from a shell was declared by this paleontologist to be a difficult task for an expert. The embryo in the shell has been declared to resemble a brontosaurus and to have a trunk, but none of the known forms of dinosaurs is equipped with a trunk in any form.

New York, Dec. 8.—Stating that he had not examined the evidence in the reported discovery of brontosaurus eggs, Dr. Henry Fairfield Osborn, president of the American Museum of Natural History, pointed out that no dinosaurs of this kind have hitherto been reported from Mexico.

The Tower Window

WITHOUT much ado about it, Ursinus is making her way up into the front rank again athletically. The grade of team work has been high and we have some brilliant athletes. The football team held Swarthmore, Delaware and Geo. Washington to close scores, beat F. & M., and wound up the season by running up a score against the Army that attracted the attention of the whole country.

Last Saturday evening in Weightman Hall, Philadelphia, 2,500 Penn students turned out to see Ursinus win from the University once again in a major sport. As in football in 1911 and as in baseball last spring, so in basketball this season, Ursinus won an undisputed victory over Penn because we had a superior team.

I have watched athletics rise and fall at Ursinus for thirty years, I know what the index of success is and that index is at the present time pointing toward a rising tide. Ursinus athletics are sound. We have good athletes in college, our athletics are under good management and our teams are well coached. If we were to win all the games we play, or even most of them and keep it up season after season it would be regarded as proof positive by the outside world that there is something wrong at Ursinus. At rare intervals in the athletic history of a small college like ours it is possible to attain such a degree of excellence as to be a consistent winner. We have had a number of such epochs, and it looks as though we are emerging on such a crest in our career again.

At any rate I would suggest to the Ursinus fans that there is a pretty good guaranty of an old time thrill in going to see the Ursinus basketball team of 1926-27 in action against any of their competitors. Follow the schedule.

THE BROTHERHOOD OF ST. PAUL

It was agreed upon by all present that it was a helpful and interesting meeting of the Brotherhood of St. Paul held on Thursday evening in Schaff Hall.

Mr. Gardner, '27, led the devotional exercises, and then a short business meeting followed. Three new members, Harold Sullivan, Joseph Brooke and William Denny, all '30, were received.

The program consisted of two papers, one by Mr. Brant, '29, on the question "Does the Minister Serve the People or a class?" the other by Mr. Barr, '29, "Does the Man or the Message get across?" Both papers were well thought out and interesting, and provoked a hearty discussion among the members.

Dr. Tower, the newly elected faculty advisor, was present and made a brief address. Dr. Tower told of his sincere interest in the Brotherhood and gave assurance of his desire to help both the organization and the individual members.

The meeting was concluded with a poem "Faith" written by Student Kennedy, and the singing of "Faith of Our Fathers."

The University of Southern California Honor System of student regulations has been declared a failure by the faculty of that institution. The failure of the system is placed on the reluctance of students to report violations of the code on the part of their fellow students.

The Women's Athletic Association of Bucknell University demands a new scales. The one in present use is ready for the discard due to overwork by the University co-eds. The girls claim fur coats account for the several pounds increase in their weight over that registered the previous day on the same scales.

By the will of the late Dr. Charles Murtha, '86, of Philadelphia, Ursinus College shares contingently in his estate, one-third of the same having been bequeathed to the College provided there be no heirs to receive it following the present generation. The value of the estate is not mentioned, although it is well known that Mr. Murtha was a man of large means.

GLEE CLUB PROSPECTS LOOK BRIGHT FOR COMING SEASON

With a practically veteran organization, and with its already fine reputation throughout the entire state, a busy season is in store for the Men's Glee Club. One concert has been given to date, at Huntington Valley High School and Manager Henkels is busy making arrangements for what will doubtless be the biggest season since the organization of the Glee Club.

A three-day trip, with concerts at Hazleton on February 23, Tamaqua on February 24, and Mahanoy City on February 25, has been booked. A two-day trip to Lebanon and York has been arranged for—the dates will probably be February 8 and 9. Tentative arrangements have been made for concerts at Conshohocken, Nazareth, Germantown High School, Roxboro High School, Allentown, Bethlehem, Upper Darby, Philadelphia, and Harrisburg. All together, Manager Henkels estimates that about fifteen concerts will be given during the season.

Under the capable direction of Miss Hartenstine, the programs of the Club this year are expected to equal, if not surpass their former high quality. The organization of male singers representing Ursinus has always received widespread commendation for the excellence of interpretation shown in its choral work, as well as the pleasing variety of numbers which it presents. The Club this year will have a traveling membership of 32 men, and its many friends and well-wishers are expecting big things from the Ursinus Men's Glee Club for the 1926-27 season.

INTERCOLLEGIATE COMMENT

The faculty of Rutgers University has taken a drastic step to eliminate willful cutting of chapel exercises. The penalty for overcutting is an addition of three hours work in addition to the required number of hours for graduation.

Lafayette College has been given the collegiate football championship of the East by the Associaed Press. Captain Kirkleski, Mike Wilson and Cothran were also given positions on the All-American first team selected by the New York World.

Georgia School of Technology may be the first college of the South to establish a School of Aeronautics. Aeronautical schools have been established at New York University, Stanford University, University of Southern California and the University of Michigan.

Leading Fascist intellectuals have submitted plans to Premier Mussolini for the establishment of a semi-military, semi-scholastic school with a curriculum based on science, politics, and the art of government, for the purpose of creating a specially selected and educated aristocracy of Fascisti who would guide the future destinies of the Italian state. Many features of this school would be similar to America's West Point. Chief among these would be a selective system of obtaining candidates who would represent the cream of the applicants. O wise Fascisti! O polite Fascisti!

President William Wistar Comfort of Haverford College will be one of the members of a special commission which is being sent to Canton, China, by the trustees of Canton Christian College, to confer with the Chinese in regards to the recent government regulations affecting private educational institutions.

"The Rivals" Presented by Schaff

of this unreasonable old lady whose extensive vocabulary was indeed "ingeniously misapplied without being mispronounced" delineated very well. Mrs. Malaprop's niece Lydia Languish, an obstinate, self-willed girl, was represented by Miss Grace Kauffman.

The Three Rivals

The rivals were three in number, each presuming to acquire the same honor. Captain Absolute, a dashing young fellow, under the guises of Beverly, whose suit is most certain, was taken by Mr. Clair E. Blum. Sir Lucius O'Trigger, the Irish aspirant, who was in reality addressing his affections to the "oracular" aunt was taken by Mr. James Poff. The last rival yet not the least valorous of the three was the unique individual, Acres. In the words of Captain Absolute his character did "direct" the onlookers. His personality and oddity were admirably portrayed by Mr. C. Grove Haines.

Other Characters

Faulkland, enacted by Mr. George U. Smith, and Julia, enacted by Miss Mary Kassab, furnished a pleasing sub-theme to the play. Lucy, Lydia's maid, and the courier of the various love missives was charmingly characterized by Miss Gladys Burr. Other characters in the play were taken by Mr. Walter Scheirer as Thomas, the coachman; Mr. George Koch as Fag, Captain Absolute's servant; Mr. Chas. T. Kirby, Jr., as a servant; Mr. Chas. W. Fitzkee as David, Acres' fearful servant; and Miss Elizabeth Howell as a boy.

Summary of Play

The play opens with a dialogue on the North Parade between Fag and his friend Thomas, who has just arrived at Bath. Their gossip reveals that Fag's master, Captain Absolute, is courting Miss Lydia Languish under pretence of being Ensign Beverly. The action turns then to Mrs. Malaprop's home where Lydia is confined to her room because her aunt has discovered her secret correspondence with Beverly. Sir Anthony Absolute joins them and after Lydia has been dismissed the two plan for her marriage to Captain Absolute.

Sir Anthony, in the second scene, visits his son, offers him an estate and fortune which he refuses upon the discovery that a wife is included in this proposal. Sir Anthony's indomitable will and uncontrollable rage prevent any explanation from his son, who, promised to Lydia, remains firm in his refusal to such a proposition. Then by an accident in the conversation between Fag and Lucy, Fag discovers that the young lady to be wished on his master is none but Lydia. Upon hearing this news Captain Absolute very humbly apologizes to his father and agrees to his wishes.

Mrs. Malaprop has become a victim of amorous notes from Sir Lucius O'Trigger, who from Lucy's deception, thinks the scholarly notes are from Lydia. In the meantime she and Sir Anthony arrange an interview for Lydia and her future husband and then it is revealed that Ensign Beverly is the same person as Captain Absolute. For this trifling Lydia decides she can not hear him, and again arrangements have failed.

Acres, a former suiter, is dismissed. The poor fellow hurt by this unexpected happening challenges Beverly to fight despite David's fearful forebodings of an evil outcome. Sir Lucius instructs Acres how to fight and just as the fight begins the ladies with Sir Anthony and David rush in and explanations are made. Acres welcomes the timely intervention and resigns his claims gladly. Lydia and her lover, and Faulkland and Julia, are certain now of their mutual affection and Mrs. Malaprop, after rudely discovered Sir Lucius cared nothing for her, turns to Sir Anthony for support.

The Play Committee

The play committee consisted of Mr. Clair E. Blum, chairman, Mr. Charles Fitzkee, Miss Grace Kauffman, Miss Bernice Leo, and Miss Evelyn Lesser. The efficient coaching, the ability of the cast, the necessary and appropriate stage furnishings, and the serious work of all the committees contributed to making the rendition of this drama of high quality.

Derr Hall Men Hold Annual Banquet

friendships in evidence. Giving a concrete example of the cycles into which life is divided he classed them under three periods: Hatched, Matched and Dispatched. All those present were pictured as being in the matching period in respect to the forming of friendships, some of them soon to be transposed to the dispatching period but never to forget the close ties of companionship formed at Ursinus.

In an interesting manner, the guardian and father of Derr, Dean Kline, portrayed vividly the history and traditions of east wing men in the past which at one time included the classical group, embryo preachers and famous men on the faculty. Dr. Kline sounded the keynote of the occasion when he said, "The purpose of a banquet of this sort is to act and react upon one another the inner life of the individual, resulting in real friendships never to be forgotten.

That famous Derr Hall song bellowing from the throats of those sturdy, staunch, stalwart, steadfast sons of Derr capped by the singing of the Alma Mater formed an appropriate close to the event of events in the dormitory life of Derr men.

Ursinus Negative Team Wins

firmative team journeyed to Elizabethtown to meet defeat by a 2-1 decision. The following men upheld the Affirmative: Earl Burgard, Nesbit Straley, and Abel Fink, with Paul Wisler as alternate; the Negative was upheld by Clarence Fry, Arthur Miller, and Eli Engle, with John Brinser as alternate. Both teams manifested a keen interest in the debate and their main speeches and rebuttals indicated that they were well versed with the facts of the case. The close decision is a sufficient evidence that the arguments were rather well balanced.

The judges were Dr. S. L. Mohler, Franklin and Marshall College; Prof. Joel B. Thomas, Millersville State Normal School; and Mr. Robert Rupp, Attorney at Law, Lancaster. Following the debate the visiting team was tendered a fine reception and the men left well pleased with the hospitality and courtesy shown them.

INTERCOLLEGIATE COMMENT

Apparently scientists need not go to unexplored portions of Asia to find remains of prehistoric animal life. Dr. H. Justin Roddy, curator of the Franklin and Marshall Museum has found dinosaur tracks in an ancient sandstone slab which was brought from York Haven, just across the Susquehanna River from Falmouth. Franklin and Marshall is indeed to be congratulated for having Dr. Roddy as one of its faculty.
