URSINUS BEATS DELAWARE IN LAST GAME OF SEASON BUCKNELL DEFEATS BEARS

Season Ended as Begun with Victories on Foreign Floors Over
Worthy Opponents

BUCKNELL HAS STRONG SQUAD

Determined to end the season as it had started it, the Ursinus five won an uphill fight against the plucky U. of Delaware team. U. of Delaware took a commanding lead and when Capt. Clark called time out, the score stood 11-5 against the Bears. But the floor work of Hoagey and the shooting of Bigley soon put our boys in the "running" again, and at half time the score stood 17-15 in favor of Ursinus.

Bears Rally

In the second half U. of Delaware started off with a mad rush and the battle was "nip and tuck" from then on. Things looked gloomy for Ursinus when Bigley received a bad gash on the knee cap and Capt. Clark twisted his ankle. However Bigley was able to remain in the game and Francis filled Clark's shoes very ably. Bigley was high scorer for the evening with nine baskets and five out of five fouls. "Bozo" Strine played a "bang up" game at guard, and Hoagey played a good floor game.

The features of the contest were the long shots of the Delaware quintet who relied on this method to break up the five-man defense. Both Ursinus and Delaware used this system of defense to good advantage thruout the fray. Capt. Clark played his last varsity basketball game for Ursinus. This rounds out four years of consistent playing for the blond giant.

GIRLS SEXTET DEFEATS SCHUYLKILL AND DREXEL

On Wednesday afternoon the speedy Ursinus sextette added one more big conquest to its list of successes by a 35-7 victory over Schuylkill College in Patterson field cage. Thruout the entire game the Ursinus team showed decided superiority in passing, shooting and general team work. The Schuylkill team, apparently overwhelmed at first, made a slight rally in the fourth quarter.

Numerous substitutions were made, and all did creditable work. Sallie McGarvey in her first appearance on the home floor starred, scoring baskets in quick succession with remarkable accuracy and ease.

The team will meet Schuylkill College in Reading for a return game March 16.

Drexel Beaten 15-13

The victory over Drexel's fast girls' basketball team on Friday afternoon in Patterson field cage was of especial interest because the former game in Philadelphia had resulted in a tie score.

The play on both sides was hard and fast from beginning to end. In the first quarter Seitz scored a field goal, which McGarvey followed with two more. A number of opportunities to score were missed by Ursinus. Drexel failed to score. Score 6-0.

In the second period McGarvey rang in a pretty counter in the first play. Drexel followed with two successful shots from the foul line, and a beautiful

KATHRYN REIMERT ELECTED QUEEN OF MAY BY CO-EDS

Miss Kathryn Reimert, '27, has been chosen by the Women of Ursinus to represent them as Queen on their annual May Day. This honor is generally given not only for beauty but also for the service that the girl elected has rendered the school during her college career.

The pageant, which has been written by the class in pageantry under the direction of Miss Errett, will be presented on May 14. At present it is planned to hold the fete in the college woods where it was presented two years ago. The scene is laid in court life and the pageant is called "The Woodland Queen." From the efforts being expended by the class a beautiful entertainment is expected.

SKETCHES PRESENTED IN ZWING HALL, SATURDAY

Proceeds of Entertainment to Go to Women's Dorm Fund

PROGRAM WELL ATTENDED

On Saturday afternoon two clever one-act plays were given in the society halls for the benefit of the Women's Dormitory Fund. The first play, "The Trap" was capably directed by Misses Mary Kassab, '28, and Mary Jo Thomason, '29. The plot centers around a newly-married, middle-aged couple who wish to give up their up-to-date town apartment to retire into a little cottage in the country, and plan to bring together two friends of theirs so that they may rent the apartment. They invite the friends in to dinner. Irene, the clever wife, manages affairs so that she can propose for Claude, the bachelor guest. Millie, Irene's intimate friend, laughs at first but finally accepts the proposal and the two are caught in "the trap." Aaron, the "anchored" husband, is a very amusing character and adds much to the droll humor of the play. Irene and Aaron were taken by Miss Grace Kauffman, '27, and George Koch, '27. Millie and Claude were portrayed by Miss Geraldine Ohl, '30, and Mr. James Donaldson, '30.

"Pierrette's Heart"

The other production, "Pierrette's Heart" was under the efficient direction of Misses Mildred Stibitz, '28, and Ruth Goss, '30. Pierrot sets out to seek, and woo, and win the supposedly elusive Pierrette, but upon finding her, he is quite disappointed to discover that she is a "new" woman. He tries to convince himself that he does not love this modern Pierrette who wore her heart on her sleeve and invites his attentions, but when she stumbles into his arms he is a very happy man. In a conversation with the gardener he learns all about the "new" woman and inquires about Pierrette. The role of Pierrette was cleverly taken by Miss Janet Price, '30, and Pierrot was played very pleasingly by Mr. Frank Rohrbach, '30. Charles Fitzkee, '28, took the part of the gardener very well.

CHESS TOURNAMENT STARTED

The chess players of Ursinus College will soon have the opportunity of directing their efforts into organized channels. At a meeting of all persons interested in the ancient game on Monday night in the day study Geo. Koch acted as chairman pro tem. Discussion as to the best ways and means of conducting the organization decided that matches should be arranged to be played every Monday in the Day Study. Interested persons are requested to hand their names to either Ray Schell or George Koch. Several members of the faculty including Dr. Smith, Dr. Clawson, and Dr. Tower have signified their intention of entering the tournament.

BASEBALL SQUAD HOLDS FIRST WORKOUT; BRIGHT PROSPECTS FOR SEASON

List of Candidates Shows Several of Last Year's Varsity With Many New Faces

SEVEN LETTER MEN REPORT

Spring is here! Anyone doubting that statement need but stroll Field Cage-wards, one of these summer afternoons, where baseballs will be seen flying back and forth, as veterans and rookies alike get their "wings" in shape for the advent of the diamond sport.

As a pre-season glance at the old and new material for a ball club is taken, it looks as though the Bears ought to put a fast club of tossers on the field this season. Seven letter men from last year's nine will be available, and with a seeming wealth of new men, a winning combination is expected.

Owen Jones, Captain

"Toots" Jones, outfielder extraordinary, will captain the team this year. With three years varsity experience to back him up, Jones is due to have a fine Spring of fly-chasing. The other Varsity men from last year are Bigley, Hoagey, Clark, and W. Moyer, all infielders, Francis, who covers the outer gardens and who is said to be a dangerous man when he gets a bat in his hand, and "Mick" Carl, who does duty on the receiving end of the battery.

Many Mound Candidates

There seems a dearth of hurling material in the squad at a preliminary glance. Mink has done some work along that line, and it is hoped that he may show real "stuff" this year. Several freshmen come here with good high school flinging records to their credit. Among them we find Karpinnen, of Tom's River, N. J., Cherin, another resident of the "Skeeter State," and Place, of Collegeville High.

"Red" Evanson comes with a big name as a crack third baseman, while Joe Citta played second base in his high school days. Other new men who look as if they might make good future first-string material are Cain, Black, W. Francis, Schmeltzer, and Peters. Shink, new soph from Slippery Rock Normal, covered the initial sack last year.

The first regular practice was called by Coach Kichline for this afternoon. A better line on the players and their respective merits as handlers of the horsehide sphere will be obtainable within a short time, but at present stock in the Bruin nine for the 1927 series of contests is above par.

CLARK AND DENNY GRADUATE

Coach Ronald Kichline's Red and Black basketball quintet concluded their 1926-27 basketball season last Thursday evening with a 39-30 triumph over the University of Delaware on the latter's floor. The Bears played an off and on brand of basketball during the season, sometimes flashing a powerful offensive and sparkling in all departments, other times they appeared ragged. Eleven defeats were chalked up against Ursinus with only seven games on the right side of the ledger. The team scored a grand total of 548 points in eighteen games while their opponents tallied a total of 608 or an average of 33.7 points per game, far too much to be scored against a winning combination. Harry Bigley led in individual scoring honors, garnering a grand total of 201 points.

Resume of Games

The firemen inaugurated the season by baptizing the University of Pennsylvania quintet, giving them a surprise 28-23 humiliation. In this game the flaming firemen dazzled the big Red and Blue team with their sparkling play. The Bears had little difficulty in taking over the Textile team by a large count, 56-31.

Returning from the Christmas vacation Ursinus journeyed to Allentown to wage a stiff battle with the Muhlenberg quintet. Here the Bears lost 35-30 in a hard played game.

ANNUAL "GYM" EXHIBIT WILL BE HELD IN THOMPSON CAGE

Thompson Field Cage will be the scene of the annual "Gym" exhibition on Saturday, March 19. The yearlings and sophomore fellows under the direction of Robert E. L. "Jobby" Johnson have been practicing all year in marching and exercises, and they will show how much of a military finish and precision they can put into their work. Their exhibition will take the form of a regular gymnasium class and it will show what the fellows have learned since they came to college. A demonstration of mat and apparatus work will also furnish diversion.

The girls have been working hard to perfect their part of the exhibition. Miss Errett has been training them daily both in marching and dancing, and they are reported to have perfected a marching drill. The aesthetic dances will be more attractive than ever before, and the whole exhibition will be unusually delightful.

At the head of a long list of bequests to institutions and hospitals in the will of William Welsh Harrison, probated in Norristown on Saturday, stands Ursinus College. The amount given to this College is $50,000, twice that designated for any other single cause. According to the newspaper accounts, Mr. Harrison specified no special use to which the fund should be put. It is estimated that the entire estate will reach $4,000,000. The bequests to charities aggregate $295,000. There are numerous devises to individuals including many of the employees on his estate and in his offices. The residue is to be divided equally between his widow and an unmarried son, W. W. Harrison, Jr., who are also to have possession of the large estate "Gray Towers" near Glenside. If the son should die with issue, his share of the estate, with the exception of $500,000 is to be divided among the institutions mentioned in the will.

Many Previous Donations

This fine bequest to Ursinus is the result of an attachment formed many years ago and which ripened into a very friendly interest during the last decade. During this period he made annual contributions in sums of $500 or $1,000 toward the work of the College. It was not uncommon for him to fold a check in his Christmas card to President Omwake who it was a custom in late years to remember also at Easter with cut flowers from his greenhouses.

"THE FOOL," ZWING PLAY, TO BE PRESENTED APRIL 1

The cast for the Zwing Anniversary play "The Fool" is working hard and beginning to show the results of their coaching under Mr. and Mrs. Sheeder. "The Fool" is a modern moral play and as such contains many modern ways of thinking—there is a sound philosophy throughout the play.

The play will be held in Bomberger Friday, April 1. Instead of the usual free-will collection admissions of $.75 and $.50 will be charged. This step is necessitated by the increased cost of production.

If alumni members have not received any notice of the play, but desire tickets, send your request to Paul Wisler, Business Manager, Ursinus College.

WOMEN'S DORMITORY MOVEMENT

The movement fostered by the women of Ursinus College to raise a sufficient sum of money which will enable them "to realize their fondest dream—a dormitory for the co-eds on the campus," indeed deserves recognition of the highest merit.

To mention the idea is not sufficient, for the whole hearted earnestness with which the women are executing their plans is obviously indicative of success. Not only the co-operation of the co-eds but likewise of every student and alumnus is necessary to put across a movement of such a nature. As was stated in last week's issue of the Weekly the work is not to be limited to the confines of the College alone but must be carried on in the home towns. Alumni, therefore, enter heartily into the movement by showing your approval of the plan. The success of the organization will to a great extent depend upon your attitude and help. The Weekly will from time to time give an account of the progress being made by the committees in charge, and the plans for the future.

Any suggestions which alumni and friends of the College have to offer in this respect will be greatly appreciated.

S. A. R., '27.

HONORS IN COLLEGE

Due to the proximity of that season of the collegiate year when diplomas are given to those who have successfully completed the requirements of four years at their respective institutions a topic for discussion is suggested. It is the question of awarding honors.

These so called honors are in themselves absurd simply because they are based on standards which are unfair. They assume first, that all students are equal. This point needs no discussion, equality is a principle which like straight lines is abhorred by nature. Secondly, the assumption is that the students are undergoing the same training and pursuing similar work. How is it possible for a person who is studying the sciences to compete with one who studies the arts? The methods of teaching these branches differ widely, as widely as the subjects themselves. If there must be valedictorians there should at least be a distinction made in the courses which the contestants have undergone. In choosing for honors less emphasis should be placed on the marks, grades often given by teachers whose principal criterion of judgment is their personal feeling, and more placed on actual worth and ability. Extra curricular activities, if worth while, deserve a great deal of credit, ability, as shown in the classroom, interest in the work and not the mark, should all be taken into consideration when selecting an honor student. No one is infallible, not even college professors.

It is not unreasonable to suppose that the members of the graduating class should be allowed the privilege of electing those who are supposed to represent them as the highest type of student. Of course this method has many weaknesses, especially the impossibility of securing an honest election, however the chances are just as strong that it would be as honest as the method now in practice.

That there is a gross unfairness in the present method of choosing honor students is admitted by all. That any step toward changing this will be made is very doubtful, yet a crystallizing of opinions on the issue is of great importance.

Y. M. C. A. MEETING

The Y. M. C. A. met on Wednesday evening to continue the discussion of February 23, namely, "Is the Church Necessary?" Under the leadership of Willard Kratz, '27, a lively discussion ensued. It was unanimously agreed that the church was necessary to the worship life of man. Since the church is the only organization that always stands for the uplift of man both morally and spiritually, the task of the church is to give man a vision and a task; and in the light of this vision and power of the Christ, we are to perform our tasks. The church fulfills a need in the life of every man and when the church ceases to fulfill that need there must be something wrong with the organization.

Next Wednesday a member of the Biology Club will give a paper in the interest of religion and Science.

GAFF FROM THE GRIZZLY

The appellation "Ursinus Firemen" is no longer limited to the basketball quintet alone for those members of the male student body who helped put out the fire in Trappe last Thursday afternoon did nobly and the adept manner in which they swung burlap bags to distinguish the flames which threatened several barns, would indeed be a credit to any athletic team.

It was the first game of the season for the volunteers and when the final flame blew (out) the firemen were ahead 3-0 (having put to flight two rabbits and a pheasant) thereby making a good showing in the opening encounter.

The only casualties recorded to date were scratched hands, soiled clothes and dirty faces.

Prospects for the season look extremely bright despite the fact that only one veteran remains, namely Fire Chief Hoagland who was on the scene with a fire extinguisher.

Consensus of opinion has it that all the members of the brigade now know what it feels like to be a big strong fireman and can sympathize with the chief.

In line with the thought on the fire, the Women's Council (we'd hate to give anyone the wrong impression by saying Student Government Association) surely has pulled some hot ones lately. Someone has suggested that a fire extinguisher be applied to that organization in an attempt to dampen their childish methods.

Here are a few rules the Women's Council might inaugurate to make sure that College women won't break any rules:

1. Girls will march to classes in columns of squads and closely watched by a detective lest they cast a glance at a male student on the way or even dare to think of talking, that would be unbecoming to college students.

2. Before entering Bomberger each girl could be given a psychological test to determine whether or not she had any idea of breaking a rule—and if so, five demerits should be given for each idea and an additional ten demerits for every idea over two.

3. When not having a class co-eds should be locked in a vault lest they take social hour when they shouldn't.

Bomberger should be guarded (on Sunday especially) by a trained detective force lest any co-ed try to enter. All maps should be locked in the College safe and guarded by McCormick's Bull.

Y. W. C. A. MEETING

"Our Great Hymn Writers" was the topic discussed Wednesday evening in the Y. W. room. Betty Harter was in charge of the meeting and opened the discussion by giving a brief sketch of the life of George Matheson, a famous hymn-writer. This was followed by a very interesting talk on another well-known writer, Charles Wesley. In a different and most pleasing manner Marie Markley related the story of Martin Luther, telling when he wrote most of his hymns. The discussion was concluded when Mary Oberlin presented the life of John Greenleaf Whittier.

Throughout the program hymns, written by these different men, were sung. In this manner each girl realized that the hymn itself meant more to her because she knew something of its writer.

The meeting was closed by the singing of "The Search," a song written by the girls who attended the Conference at Eaglesmere in 1925.

READING COURSE ADVOCATED BY AMER. LIBRARY ASSO.

To the Seniors:

For four years you have been learning to use books—the fundamental tools of education. Are you now going to stop reading, as some men and women do, for two, perhaps five years, and then suddenly wake up to the fact that when your reading stopped your education stopped also. Or, are you going to make your reading, and therefore your education, a continuous life-long process.

Most of you, next year, will be within hailing distance of a public library. Libraries are increasingly aware of the fact that they are the university of the man who has ended his formal education. More and more they are making special provision for the serious reader.

The Reading with a Purpose series published by the American Library Association is one of the new tools provided for this purpose. These are little forty-page booklets written by such men as Vernon Kellogg, Lorado Taft, William Allen White, Alexander Meiklejohn, Edwin E. Slosson, Frederic L. Paxson, and Samuel McChord Crothers. They briefly introduce a subject—psychology, biology, painting or whatever it may be and then recommend six or eight readable books which will give a rounded view of the subject.

If you have majored in science you may have missed out in literature. Dallas Lore Sharps Some Great American Books, W. N. C. Carlton's English Literature, Samuel McChord Crother's The Modern Essay or Marguerite Wilkinson's The Poetry of Our Times will help to fill the gaps. Perhaps you have avoided history. Some days you may wish you hadn't. Then Herbert Adams Gibbons' The Europe of Our Day, or Frederic L. Paxson's The United States in Recent Times will prove a stimulating and useful guide. And so all of the major subjects have been covered and more are planned.

The Tower Window

FROM Battery Place to Forty-sixth street and Fifth Avenue on foot, in the subway cars, by taxi and motor bus with five excursions vertically, to talk with five persons out of a possible five millions and all in five hours was the diversion of a day in Gotham last week. It was a long time since I had "done" lower New York and the trip was full of interest. I stopped occasionally to look about and skyward too. No doubt the city-bred people spotted me promptly as a country man. But I looked at the people too and they didn't appear city-fied in the least.

From the Battery to a point in Nassau street I went on foot. It was twelve o'clock as I turned from Broadway into Wall street. I had not gone more than a hundred paces when the chimes in the steeple of Trinity Church announced the mid-day Lenten service. I had heard of this religious service and its part in the busy life of the stock market, so quite unexpectedly to myself I turned about and went to church. Already folks were passing over the long-worn threshold. How different the atmosphere within—quiet, solemn and uplifting. I was escorted to a pew well up the center aisle. Four others almost immediately filed in and so pew after pew filled up. There were over seven hundred at the service I was told by an usher at the close. A few old church hymns, recital of the creed, a prayer, a sermon and a benediction constituted the half-hour service. The sermon, fifteen minutes in length to the second, by a Boston preacher was a model of the homiletic art and bore a message full of thought-provoking ideas.

As I passed out into the sunshiny, balmy air and sauntered with the crowd down Wall street I thanked God for the church and what it represents in this world. In a moment I was at Nassau street and turned north. What a sight lay before me! The street runs down hill and up again. There was no traffic except that of pedestrians, and down the gentle decline, across the hollow, and up the hill beyond, the street from wall to wall was filled with people. Some were moving rapidly, some slowly and some were standing in knots talking, especially in places where the sunshine found its way down through the canyon. I was struck with the peacefulness and quiet of this place. The crowd was as docile as at a country sale. I do not recall having seen a policeman in all that walk. Maybe they were there in plain clothes. But it was lunch time, an hour when the whole race is good-natured.

Later in the afternoon, I had impressed upon me the difference between down-town and up-town. The latter is blue with burnt gasoline. Instead of darting about here and there the taxis move in phalanxes. They rush forward on signal at forty miles an hour and stop in their tracks when the signal changes. Three-quarters of an inch seems acres to a New York taxi driver. Pedestrians, too, seem satisfied with room to pass edgewise. They wind around through the autos in passing from one side of the street to the other. To be within an inch of one's life is a constant state of being and there appears to be no special excitement short of annihilation.

If I had to live in New York, I would buy a lot down on the point and build where the first Dutch immigrant located his mansion.

G. L. O.

Gettysburg debaters took an extended trip into New England and across New York State to Buffalo during the last week of February. The team visited Philadelphia, New York City, Hartford, Conn., Middletown, Conn., Durham, N. H., Boston, Buffalo, and made side trips to Niagara Falls and into Canada. In four of the nine debates in which they engaged they were victorious.

LITERARY SOCIETIES

SCHAFF

Schaff amused and entertained its members with a miscellaneous program last Friday evening. Following the usual formalities the program opened with a rendition of Kreisler's "Schron Rosmarin" by Walter Scheirer, '29 accompanied by Miss Shoop, '29. The audience was obliged with a melodious encore "Where Roses Fair." Two poems, "We and They" (Kipling) and "De Sunflowah and De Daisy" were quaintly read by Miss Tomlinson '30.

The third number on the program was a ukelele trio composed of Messrs. Mayer '28, Snyder '29 and Wilkinson '30. "Musical Ditties" proved informal and humorous.

The original story written and read by Mr. Lachman '28 held the interest of his audience to the end, cleverly proving the moral that some good can exist even in laziness.

Misses Sanderson '30 and Biondo '30 enacted a dramatic dialogue "57 Varieties of English Literature," a confusion of classical quotations, directed by Miss Kassab '28.

Gazette editor No. 3 concluded the program with an interesting article defining real intelligence.

Schaff received into active membership one new member, Roland Newhard '29.

ZWING

Owing to the number of members who went home for the week end and the necessary absence of those who are in the cast of "The Fool," Zwing held a short business session in the place of the regular literary program, and then adjourned.

Matters relative to the Anniversary Play were discussed and it was voted that instead of giving tickets to the Play and taking a voluntary offering, the tickets would be sold at 50 cents. This step, which is a radical departure from the custom of former years, has been made necessary by the fact that the collections taken at these plays in former years have not been large enough to pay for the costs of the plays and the literary societies have been forced each year to make up large deficits.

The proposition to hold the play on two successive nights in order to better fill the demands of alumni and friends of the Society was also discussed.

INTRA-DORM LEAGUE PROGRESSES IN MID-SEASON FORM

An intra-mural basketball league has been recently organized by a specially appointed committee of the local Y. M. C. A. consisting of Bob Henkels, Robert Johnson and George Dillinger. Everybody is eligible to play on any one of the six teams except Varsity, Junior Varsity and Freshman team members. This league is a good thing because it brings organized athletics within the reach of the great body of the students and not just the few select ones who can make varsity teams.

To date seven games have been played. The results follow:
Comets 25, Sparrows 18
Giants 27, Midgets 21.
Comets 26, Onions 10.
Hounds 35, Onions 12.
Comets 19, Giants 16.
Hounds 15, Sparrows 14.
Midgets 35, Onions 11.

Baker's Comets composed of Williams, Roth, Poley, Wilkinson, and Kauffman are leading the league with Henkel's Hounds only one half game behind.

The standing of the clubs:

| | W. | L. | P.C. |
|----------|----|----|-------|
| Comets | 3 | 0 | 1.000 |
| Hounds | 2 | 0 | 1.000 |
| Giants | 1 | 1 | .500 |
| Midgets | 1 | 1 | .500 |
| Sparrows | 0 | 2 | .000 |
| Onions | 0 | 3 | .000 |

The individual stars who have been uncovered in the games are Rordan, Schell, Roth, Spangler, Black, Pierson and Loux.

Mrs. Webb, of the dining dept., to Freshman waiter—"One thing I insist on. If you break any dishes, come and tell me at once." Freshman—"But I can't be running to you every minute of the day."

William Welsh Harrison

Stricken with a heart attack, William Welsh Harrison, LL. D., multi-millionaire sugar king, died on Friday, March 4, just after noon at his home, "Grey Towers," near Glenside, Pa. He was seventy-six years of age. Mr. Harrison had been ill for several years, but his condition did not become acute until a week before his death.

The latest breakdown of Mr. Harrison is believed to have been caused by the strain of going into Philadelphia last winter to appear as plaintiff in a lawsuit against his broker, Francis Ralston Welsh.

Mr. Harrison was born in Philadelphia and was educated at Germantown Academy and the University of Pennsylvania. Upon his graduation from the University he formed, with his brother Mitchell and William C. Frazier, the Harrison, Frazier and Company.

The honorary degree of LL. D., was conferred upon Mr. Harrison by Ursinus College in 1904.

Mr. Harrison retired from his duties as co-partner of the Franklin Sugar Refinery in 1892 and spent the remainder of his life at "Grey Towers." However, he continued to preserve many of his business connections during the past quarter-century and remained active in the social life of the city. He was a member of the Philadelphia Club and the University and Rittenhouse Clubs. He was also identified with various activities of the Philadelphia Friends' Society.

Mr. Harrison is survived by a widow—Bertha White Harrison; a son, William Harrison, Jr., and three brothers Charles Custus Harrison, who was provost of the University of Pennsylvania; Alfred C. Harrison and Mitchell Harrison.

"The London Times" in its Literary Supplement for February 17, 1927 devotes an entire column to a review of Dr. Norman E. McClure's recent book entitled "The Epigrams of Sir John Harrington." Dr. McClure, who is Dean of Pennsylvania Military College, Chester, Pa., was graduated from Ursinus with the class of 1915.

Rev. Francis C. Schlater '21, has been elected Director of Religious Education of Calvary Reformed Church, Reading, Pa. Mr. Schlater after graduating at Ursinus, completed his course in the Central Seminary at Dayton, where he became interested in the field of religious education. He has spent two years in Detroit in the same field.

Bucknell Team Wins

The large audience that crowded into the Field Cage last Wednesday evening witnessed one of the best games ever played on the local court. Bucknell playing like fleet-winged demons succeeded in solving the defense of Kichline's Bears and romped home with the Ursinus scalp after defeating the valiant fighters 43-24. Both teams played a passing game that would make the ordinary sleight of hand performer green with envy.

The score at the end of the first half was 16-8, due to the keen eyes of Bucknell's forwards and center, who garnered their 16 points, while the fast and elusive Bigley, dodging his larger opponents scored the 8 points for the Ursinus players.

In the second half, Ursinus men, influenced by the renewed fight that Hoagey manifested, were able by brilliant and fast playing to double the number of points they made in the first half while the tall center, Seiler with the aid of a few points by his teammates was able to score 23 points, the final score being 43-24.

Schink, Ursinus' pivot man, gave a good account of himself in the game as did Denny who substituted for him in the last half. Clark, playing the last home game of his career at Ursinus, kept many of the good intentions of Bucknell from materializing, and in this manner kept the score from mounting. The entire Ursinus team played a stellar brand of basketball but was defeated by a team better trained in every phase of the game. Seiler was the shining light of the Bucknell five, being responsible for 18 of their points. He was the "lighthouse" of their attack, as he stood on the foul line to attract any stray passes.

One of the distressing incidents of the evening was the booing with which the Ursinus rooters accompanied the decisions of the referee. It shows a lack of good sportsmanship and should be abolished by the true spirit of athletics. A remarkable exhibition of real sportsmanship was shown when Seiler made no attempt to shoot a foul that the referee unjustly called for him. Ursinus rooters and players received a lesson which should not fall on barren ground.

The unlimited cut system which is now in its second semester of trial at Haverford College has been a success in the semester completed, so Dean Frederick Palmer, Jr., has stated. Under the system as used upperclassmen are allowed an unlimited number of cuts. This removes responsibility from the faculty by placing it upon the student. The Dean reports that in only four cases has the privilege been abused.

to a distinguished Philadelphia family. On both his father's and mother's side his ancestry runs back to mediaeval times in England. He was a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania from which institution he also received the A. M. degree. He was honored with the LL. D. degree by Ursinus College in 1904. Upon graduation he entered the Franklin Sugar Refinery as an apprentice. He rose rapidly and later became a partner in the firm of Harrison, Havemeyer & Co. His senior partner said of him at the time of his retirement, "During all the twenty-three years of his connection with the business there never was a more devoted and painstaking partner than he. He cared naught for hours. Every day in all seasons he went into the heart of the work and every man in the service of the firm was devoted to him."

He joined his brothers, Charles Custis Harrison and Alfred C. Harrison in the erection at the University of Pennsylvania of the John Harrison Laboratory of Chemistry as a memorial to their grandfather, John Harrison who was a manufacturing chemist of Philadelphia. He made other gifts to the University and to various hospitals during his life. For the last twenty-five years he lived retired.

ful long shot immediately afterwards. This was repeated, making the score a tie, 10-10, when the half time whistle blew.

Lake substituted for Waltman in the third quarter. Close playing kept the score 13-15 in favor of Ursinus.

In the final quarter, the Ursinus girls, displaying fine passwork put themselves definitely in the lead. Drexel's score was made largely thru shots from the foul line. The fine work of the guards deserves mention.

LOCAL HIGH HOLDS BAZAAR

Something new in the annals of the history of the Collegeville High School will be inaugurated on Friday, March 25 in the form of a benefit bazaar under the direction of Dorothy Hottenstine, physical directress.

Preparations are rapidly being made for the event which will embrace the entire Friday afternoon and evening. Various and sundry amusement will afford the highest kind of entertainment the proceeds of which go toward the athletic association for the betterment of athletics at the high school.

Among many features of amusement including novelties and sketches the Ursinus Male Quartet composed of Messrs. Jones, Blum, Helffrich and McKee will sing a variety of songs which promises to afford entertainment "par excellence."

Refreshments of all kinds will be on sale throughout the day and lunch will be served to accommodate those present at 15c per person.

Dr. William Mather Lewis, president of George Washington University, has tendered his resignation to the college board of trustees to take effect September 1, 1927. At that time he will assume the duties of President of Lafayette College. He has been approached several times in the past few months by representatives of the Easton College and has finally determined to take up the position which was vacated last October by Dr. John Henry McCracken. Dr. Lewis is a graduate of Lake Forest College, Ill., where he received his A. B. degree in 1900 and two years later his Master's diploma. The president-elect has served in various political positions of importance and has done a great deal of excellent educational work. Although he has served only three years at George Washington University he is active

Summary of Basketball Season Reveals Interesting Facts

Osteopathy was easily conquered 32-17 but an off night proved the downfall of the Bears at New Brunswick where they lost to the crack Rutgers team, 37-26.

Swarthmore, in the biggest home game of the season, was vanquished 45-35 in a thrilling contest in Thompson Field Cage.

Five defeats in a row were next chalked up against the Ursinus quintet, F. & M., Temple, Juniata, Lebanon Valley, and Brooklyn C. C. jolting the Ursinus passers.

Brooklyn Poly. was trounced 31-23 and the disastrous losing streak was shattered on the New York trip.

Newcomer and Young, varsity stars, were declared ineligible soon after the second semester got under way. This caused a large gap in the team which took a while to heal. Evanson and Strine, Freshman stars, capably filled in at guard positions and Shink ended the season in fine style at center after becoming a working part of the quintet.

Haverford next trounced the Bruins in the poorest played game of the season 26-15.

The Bears in defeating Temple before a huge home crowd, 26-24 exhibited a brand of basketball which, if sustained thruout the season would have caused a better record to be chalked up for the season.

Bucknell and Penn State took the measure of the fighting Bears on a road trip and in a return game in Thompson Field Cage the Lewisburg collegians flashed a powerful offense to down Ursinus 43-24. The Bucknell team had one of the best teams in years, having lost only four games out of twenty one starts.

The Bears closed the season at Newark where the University of Delaware was vanquished 39-30.

Captain Tom Clark and Bill Denny are the only seniors on the squad who will be lost by graduation.

Thus concludes the 1926-27 basketball reign at Ursinus College. It was not a success in the strict sense of the word nor was it a complete failure. Victories over Penn, Temple, and Swarthmore did much to remove the sting of other defeats. A better record had been hoped for by the student body but as often is the case something slipped a cog and wins did not come as often as desired.

in several Washington Clubs. He gives as his reason for making the change that as a college man himself he is interested in the college which is close to the lives of the students. He feels that Lafayette is that type of an institution, that in making the change he will be able to enter closely into the life of the individual student, the situation which he so much desires.
