Excellent Program at College Opening

Dr. Paul Leinbach Delivers Strong Address to Students as Academic Year Begins

URSINUS CHOIR SINGS

Thursday evening the opening exercises of the fifty-sixth academic year at Ursinus were held in Bomberger Hall. It may be said in all sincerity that this was a most impressive occasion. The uniqueness of the program seemed to depict the general spirit of democratic progressiveness which appears to be so predominant in our institution at the present time.

The opening number was an anthem by the College Choir. Upon this, which was their first appearance of the year, they gave a good account of themselves. The Scripture lesson was read and prayer offered by Dr. Jordan.

Miss Gest, who is an artist on the piano and head of the Department of Music at Ursinus, ably rendered two selections. These were, "Rain" and "Morris Dance from Henry VIII." Both were favorably received by the audience.

Following Miss Gest's rendition Rev. Paul S. Leinbach of Philadelphia addressed the audience. His address was very appropriate upon the occasion of the initiation of a new College year; it was replete with warnings of obstacles against which the college student must some time be forced, and which he must plan to overcome. The essential elements of it were well selected, portraying a wide range of experience and an intimate knowledge of contemporary occurrences. The forcefulness and sincerity with which he spoke mark him as one of the most eloquent speakers that ever graced the rostrum in Bomberger Hall.

Dr. Leinbach, it will be remembered, is editor of the Reformed Church Messenger, and a most distinguished man in church affairs. His progressive attitude toward modern philosophic and religious problems proves him to be an open-minded individual, which will further explain his prominence in religious affairs. Without doubt, it was most fortunate that the College authorities were able to secure a man of his calibre to address the students at the opening ceremonies.

CLUB WILL SOON BEGIN FORESIC ACTIVITIES

In the very near future calls will be issued for candidates for debate. Ursinus ranks high in this activity and to uphold the standard set, all who are interested should keep a close eye for announcements, when the debating clubs will begin their activities. But two candidates of last year's teams remain, so that those who might be interested in the art can get in line for the year's work by actively assuming responsibility for work in the club, which holds regular meetings every two weeks. Here, all those who have any interest in orating whatsoever will gain a vast amount of knowledge and experience.

There is good chance for persons who become members of the teams thru the elimination process, to become members of the honorary fraternity, Tau Kappa Alpha.

THE FACT OF THE MATTER BY CALCULATION

A grizzly bear can carry a thousand pounds a half mile. Allowing the Penn eleven the gross weight of two thousand pounds, the horrible Ursinus should drag them for six touchdowns and finish the game in mid-field.

Pep Overflows at First of Booster Meetings

SPIRITED SPEECHES

A big booster meeting was held in Bomberger Hall on Friday evening for the purpose of having students, alumni and townspeople become acquainted with the new athletic regime at Ursinus, and to instill into all a new spirit of loyalty.

George Kirkpatrick, manager of football and one of the student representatives of the new Athletic Council presided as chairman of the meeting. Augustus Welsh, senior cheer-leader, was in charge of the cheering.

Dr. Spangler, chairman of the Athletic Council and one deeply interested in all college activities, was the first speaker. In a few brief statements he outlined the purpose and plans of the newly formed council in charge of all the college athletics.

Coach Ronald C. Kichline, one of the greatest football players who ever wore the Red, Old Gold and Black, was given a great ovation as he ascended the chapel platform. He spoke on the much needed loyalty toward the College, of the traditions belonging to Ursinus which all must uphold, and of the confidence he had in the men who would represent Ursinus on the gridiron this fall.

The "Bear" has been adopted as the standard insignia of Ursinus. Dr. G. L. Omwake told of the adoption at a recent council meeting of the grizzly as the special species of bear. In his own words "We have as fine a looking squad of football men as ever in the history of the College." Dr. Omwake at the conclusion of his talk introduced Mr. William Wallace Bancroft, newly chosen Graduate Manager of Athletics.

NEW FACES AGAIN NOTICED AMONG FACULTY MEMBERS

Additions to Teaching Staff Include Ursinus Graduate as Resident Nurse

In addition to the many changes seen on the campus this year Ursinus has also made some changes in the faculty.

Russell D. Sturgis, A. M., Ph. D., who is taking Mr. Gawthrop's place as professor of chemistry, comes to us from Franklin and Marshall College, where he taught in 1925. He received his degree at U. of P.

Franklin Irvin Sheeder, Jr., A. B., B. D., is the new assistant to the President and instructor in the English Bible. Mr. Sheeder is a graduate of Ursinus 1922. He comes to us from the Central Theological Seminary at Dayton, Ohio, where he studied for three years. In addition to his duties as assistant to the president and instructor in the English Bible, Mr. Sheeder also holds the responsible position of office manager of the big financial campaign now going on.

William Wallace Bancroft, A. M., who is also a graduate of Ursinus, has been appointed an instructor in English, and also holds the position of graduate manager of Athletics at Ursinus. He received his A. M. degree at the University of Pennsylvania in 1921, and since then has been teaching English in high school and the Y. M. C. A. School in Philadelphia.

Gladys M. Boorem, R. N., is filling a new position at Ursinus that of nurse. She was graduated from Ursinus in 1915. For a time she taught English in high schools. In January, 1925 she completed her training as a nurse in the University of Pennsylvania hospital, and has done private nursing since. Miss Boorem is an important part of the new health service at Ursinus, a step further toward a greater Ursinus.

Ursinus Recipient of New Gateway

Mr. Eger Donates Beautiful Piece of Architecture to Grace Entrance to Campus

GIFT FITTINGLY RECEIVED

There are some things in the life of a college that are so unique and outstanding that long after they are past the memory of them prevails. Years later the occasion is recalled and retold with fondness and enthusiasm. Such an event was added to the historical record last week in the brief but fitting presentation and acceptance of the Eger Gateway on Freeland Path.

Dr. J. H. Bierman, of Reading, in behalf of the donor, Mr. G. P. Eger, also of Reading, made a pleasing speech of presentation. He explained that it was in appreciation of the influence of the institution in the years that Mr. Eger's son spent here and in tribute to many intimate friendships which Mr. Eger himself had made here that such a beautiful gift had been bestowed upon us.

Dr. G. L. Omwake, in his address, gratefully accepted the monument so generously offered and told what it would mean to the College. He said the structure was the symbol of all that was strong, that was beautiful and lasting. It has been so constructed that far up in the future it will stand as the lovely token of a generous heart. The sheer beauty of it will make it an endearing landmark to the students and its solidity will give a sense of security and protection to the campus.

Dr. W. A. Kline, who presided at the meeting, in closing called for the singing of the Campus Song and for the first time the students sang it in shadow of their Eger Gateway.

FRESHMEN PULL ONE OVER ON LAST YEAR'S FROSH

The first interclass contest to be staged this year was the Frosh-Soph tug-of-war, held on the girls' hockey field last Thursday morning. The second year men were unable to pull their much heavier opponents and the Frosh team, to the applause of their classmates, won two of the three pulls.

Alumni Association Holds Business Meeting

NEW OFFICERS ELECTED

The annual meeting of the Alumni Association was held on June 6. Reports from the various officers were received. The treasurer's report showed a balance of $156.58. The Association made an appropriation of $50.00 to The Ursinus Weekly and $100.00 to the College Library. The result of the election of officers for the coming year held by ballot previous to the meeting was as follows: President, Paul W. Yoh; vice-president, Katherine E. Laros; secretary-treasurer, Calvin D. Yost; Historian, Carl G. Petri. The Association placed in nomination for membership on the Board of Directors, Rev. Titus A. Alspach, D. D., of Lancaster, Pa. W. S. Kerschner, chairman of the committee on local alumni associations, reported that during the year meetings and banquets had been held at Harrisburg, York, Dayton, O., Lebanon, Bethlehem, Philadelphia and New York. The Association elected M. W. Godshall a member of the Board of Control of The Ursinus Weekly for a period of three years. The following persons were elected members-at-large of the Executive Committee: M. W. Godshall, H. T. Spangler and W. W. Bancroft. Upon nomination by the class of 1925 Henry B. Sellers was elected a member of the Executive Committee. These together with the officers of the Association, the members of the Association on the College Faculty, and the secretaries of the local associations constitute the Executive Committee for the year. Dr. H. T. Spangler and Dr. W. A. Kline were re-elected to the Library Committee.

Y. M.-Y. W. RECEPTION HELD IN NEW SURROUNDINGS

Patterson Field Cage Scene of Cordial Welcome to Incoming Students

There are a number of things which the College does expressly to make the new students feel that this has become their college, and that they are a part of it. The largest of these affairs is the Y. M.-Y. W. Reception held on the first Saturday night of the college year. This year's reception was different, and bigger and better than ever.

The meeting, which was held in Patterson Field Cage, was opened with a welcoming address by Dr. Omwake. There was a sincerity about Dr. Omwake's greeting that left not a doubt in any Freshman's mind that here was a place in which he belonged. It made the older students realize once more their good fortune in having chosen Ursinus as their alma mater. The president also took the opportunity at this time to introduce the entire faculty to the newcomers.

Later Augustus Welsh took charge of the program arranged. Miss Margaret Ehly, president of Y. W., and Edmund Welker, president of Y. M., both ably expressed the true "Y" spirit. Miss Dorothy Threapleton, president of Women's Student Council, and Geo. Kirkpatrick, vice-president of Men's Student Council, told what student government has been doing and will continue to do for the College. Prof. Bancroft, the Graduate Manager of Men's Athletics, sketched the outlook in that field for the coming year. Misses Phoebe Cornog and Lena Carl spoke briefly of the plans for women's athletics.

The Literary societies, Zwing and Schaff, were represented in song and story, as it were. Misses Eppeheimer and Nickel entertained in behalf of the former and Misses Kauffman and Shipe in behalf of the latter. As miscellaneous numbers Maxwell (Continued on page 4)

Headquarters Hum With Work As Alumni and Church Groups Show Activity

BOARD MEMBERS GRATIFIED

The past week has been a busy one at Financial Campaign Headquarters. The staff of workers are making fine progress in digging out facts and assembling data for the information of the public. The appeal of Ursinus is to rest upon facts and not dreams. With help from various sources extensive card catalogues of possible contributors are also being compiled.

Along with this work no little progress has been made in the preparation of printed matter. "The Story of Ursinus College," an illustrated historical and descriptive pamphlet in magazine form is now coming from the press and will immediately go forward to all leaders in the several divisions as the "opening gun."

The work of organizing in the several fields is progressing in a gratifying manner. The Alumni are forming in eleven districts, each with an outstanding alumnus as chairman, and fifty-two zones, each with a head, through whom the appeal of Ursinus will come to each son and daughter of the institution. The Reformed Church in the Eastern Synod is also organizing through its twelve classes for presenting the appeal in the many congregations. Encouraging letters from many pastors indicate a widespread desire to help in this movement. On account of the Hood College campaign, Ursinus will make no extensive canvass in Potomac and Pittsburgh Synods, altho certain congregations in these synods have declared their intention to help in the Ursinus campaign.

The Directors held a special session at Headquarters on September 17 to hear reports and take action on certain matters. They have directed that a number of large signs be erected on the campus for the period of the campaign to carry the message of the College to the passers-by on the (Continued on page 4)

CHESTER BRACHMAN ELECTED SENIOR CLASS PRESIDENT

At a meeting held on Monday Chester Brachman, of Tamaqua, was elected president of the senior class. Claude Schoenley was chosen as vice president. Other officers selected were: Helen Walbert, secretary; Charles Hoerner, treasurer, and Axel Nelson, attorney. At this time Miss Isabelle Radcliffe was voted to write the class prophecy and Miss Phoebe Cornog to compose the class will for the 1926 Ruby.

URSINUS TO OPEN AGAINST PENN

Next Saturday the Ursinus football team will oppose Penn on Franklin field in the opening grid game of the season. For several weeks a large and encouraging number of husky athletes have been training and practicing diligently under brilliant leadership for this initial game of a difficult schedule. Last year the Red and Black team played Penn and was defeated. However, this season has brought many changes. A veteran team with excellent reserve material will be on hand to fight for Ursinus when the opening whistle blows, and a harder struggle will result than was witnessed on the same field one year ago.

While the members of the football squad are doing their share in preparation for the game, the students must perform a vital part to bring success. They must employ every means that is at their command to encourage the team and incite the players with such a high spirit that they will put forth their best efforts. There is no reason why every student in the institution can not go out to see the gridders practice and thereby demonstrate that the entire College is interested in the team and willing to support it. Attend the "pep" meetings and show your loyalty. Be a booster. The men on the squad are working hard and they deserve the whole-hearted support of every one.

Let every student enrolled at Ursinus journey to Philadelphia next Saturday and view the team in the opening game of the season. The alumni and friends will be there to cheer and all the students should do their part by being present. It is an obligation which the undergraduates owe to the College and to the players.

Varsity Training House

With the advent of the new regime controlling athletics at Ursinus there have come many long needed changes and additions. Undoubtedly one of the most important of these was the conversion of Highland Hall into a varsity training house. The old mansion that served as a dormitory for the overflow freshmen last year has been renovated and metamorphosed into a very fine club house for the athletes. The entire building is resplendent with its new coat of paint and presents a very neat and tidy appearance. The club has been equipped with a dining room and an up-to-date kitchen where a chef and his corps of assistants hold sway. This enables the athletes to be given certain necessary attention which is practically impossible to do in the college dining hall.

The advantages of the training house are innumerable but one of the greatest is the regularity of the life there. The players are far enough from the campus to avoid the din and commotion of the irregular dormitory life so that they will not be disturbed at the jeopardy of their physical condition. One might go on enumerating the advantages but there is one certainty and that is, the new athletic council is endeavoring to rid Ursinus of the prevailing "small town" concept and drag her out of the mire of mediocrity to give her proper place in the sun.

ALUMNI NOTES

Mrs. Mabel Hobson Fretz, '06, spent an enjoyable summer by touring thru Canada and the United States to California. While in Los Angeles she renewed acquaintances with Edward E. Kelley, '01, coach of the '02 successful football team. Mr. Kelley is now a prosperous lawyer in Los Angeles where he and his wife and two children make their home.

Marguerite Moyer, '21, is now teaching in the High School at Wray, Colorado.

Paul A. Mertz, '10, Asst. Director of Teacher's Training Extension, State College, Pa., taught at the fifty-eighth annual Teacher's Institute of Erie county this summer. Prof. Mertz talked on "The Obligation of Training in Service," "Teacher's Marks" and "Utility as an Educational End." While in Erie Prof. Mertz also addressed the Lion's Club.

Reverend A. M. Dixon, '17, pastor of the Brethren Church of Parkerford, Pa., is again teaching History in the Spring City, Pa., High School.

STATISTICS OF THE BEARS WHO WILL INVADE FRANKLIN FIELD

Coach Kichline is gradually whipping his Ursinus team into shape for the opening game against Penn. Saturday morning he sent the varsity squad through a stiff scrimmage. Team A was pitted against team B and neither one was able to score. This is the most promising news that the followers of the Red, Old Gold and Black have had for many years for it indicates that the reserve material is as good as the regulars and this gives confidence to all concerned.

The men who will journey to Franklin Field are given below.

The Tower Window

EVERY YEAR brings some valuable addition to the College property. This year it is the Eger Gateway. The institution is enriched materially by the erection of this substantial structure of stone and iron but in a far greater degree is enriched spiritually—that is in ideas and sentiments. It stands as an imposing contributor to the aesthetic environment in which the Ursinus professors and students do their work.

It stands at the entrance to the main avenue, about fifteen feet from the sidewalk. Two massive pillars of dressed stone surmounted with spherical capitals of Indiana limestone rise on either side to a height of about fourteen feet. Wing walls swing outward and forward from the pillars in arcs of ninety degrees to pillars standing five feet from the pavement. Thence the walls continue parallel to the latter and end in terminal pillars at the extreme right and left of the structure. The walls are of Chestnut Hill stone, more than six feet in height, having a coping of Indiana limestone which forms a horizontal top of uniform level, and rises in graceful ramps to meet the main pillars on either side.

On the inside of each pillar are two panels of wrought iron open work which meet each other in an artistic scroll across the top. This provides the setting for the words URSINUS COLLEGE in ten inch letters, and holds aloft in the center an attractive octagonal shaped lantern. In outline and workmanship it is a structure of genuine beauty.

This latter fact is what constitutes its real value. The gateway serves no utilitarian purpose whatever. It is not designed to keep anybody out or to keep anybody in. Its only justification is its aesthetic value. To those who pass by in the street it stands as a testimonial to the spiritual values in human life. In outline it proclaims beauty as a reality and in its sturdy walls it stands for strength. As one enters the portal or stands without and contemplates the expanse of campus within, with its stately buildings and beautiful trees, the thought of opportunity in education becomes uppermost. The college grounds take in the character of a vast sanctuary within which it is a sacred privilege to have one's abode. Having entered, the world seems closed out and a sense of security steals over one's soul. These are but suggestions of the wealth of thought and feeling which the gateway is sure to inspire.

To Mr. George P. Eger, the big-hearted donor, the College is forever indebted. It is remarkable that one who has been educated in the "university of hard knocks" and who has been occupied with practical affairs all his life should have applied his philanthropy to a work of this character. The gift was inspired out of appreciation of benefits which his son had enjoyed as a student at Ursinus. That parental affection should be accompanied with a sense of gratitude for the son's success as a student is too natural to be exceptional, but that it should inspire such generous benevolence toward the College as is witnessed in the presentation of this gateway is striking enough to arrest public attention.

In view of the College's many needs and in the presence of the appeal represented in the coming financial campaign in behalf of Ursinus, Mr. Eger's act is very suggestive.

LITERARY SOCIETIES

ZWING

Zwing Society was crowded with a record attendance of members and visitors in its opening meeting on Friday night. A miscellaneous program was rendered.

After an address of welcome by President Kirkpatrick, '26, a piano duet was given by Misses Wertman, '28, and Harter, '28. "Minute Waltz" from Chopin, their number, was rendered in a most pleasing style.

Miss Nickel, '28, very ably upheld the Nickel reputation in Zwing by a well chosen reading entitled "Mary Elizabeth." Mr. Faust, '28, then read a paper on "Advice to Freshmen," which was snappy and quite to the point.

Following that, Mr. Jones, '27, sang several selections from the "Student Prince in Heidelberg—"Golden Days" and "Deep in My Heart, Dear." In this rendition Mr. Jones added to his already well established reputation as a vocal entertainer in Zwing.

An oration on the "Home" was prepared by Mr. Harman, '26, and read by Mr. Ullrich, '26. The preparation and delivery were first class.

Mr. Novario, '28, in his "Delineation and Shadowgraphs" showed his ability and cleverness as an artist and entertainer.

Mr. Miller, '27, made a few valuable suggestions about the Penn game, which were emphasized by President Kirkpatrick.

Zwing Review by Editor No. 1, Mr. Denny, '27, pleasing in its timeliness and sincerity. The jokes were few but clever.

Miss Johnson, '27, Mr. Denny, '27, and Mr. Bigley, '28, had charge of the social hour.

SCHAFF

The first meeting of Schaff Literary Society was held on Friday evening, September 18. The hall was filled to its capacity and an excellent program was rendered.

In a very pleasing and friendly manner, Mr. Augustus Welsh, president of the society, welcomed all members and new students to its halls. Following this number, "Snappy Music" was rendered by Mr. Charles Hoerner on his violin. He is an excellent violinist and his numbers were greatly appreciated.

"The Charm of Ella-quence" was then presented by Miss Ella Watkins, an accomplished reader and interpreter. Miss Watkins read a very pleasing selection from "The Little Minister" by James Barrie. Miss Grace Kauffman in "The Return of Philomel" sang "The House of Memories" and the ever popular "Lilac Tree." After this number a dance was given under the leadership of Miss Bernice Leo.

An oration on "Ursinus Spirit" was presented by Mr. Charles Grove Haines. Mr. Haines made a very forceful plea that each student should grasp that Ursinus spirit which permeates all its surroundings. Mr. Haines' forceful delivery seemed to lie in the sincere manner in which he presented it. Mr. R. Maxwell Paine then entertained us with "Harmony" in which he sang "Invictus" and "Duna." Mr. Paine is an accomplished singer and his numbers were greatly appreciated. Mr. George H. Haines then read Schaff Gazette. His editorial "Can Our Aims Be Too High" was very timely.

Schaff welcomed into active membership Mr. Fitzkee, Keyser and Mulford.

On Wednesday, June 24, Mildred Mitman, '22, of Easton, Pa., became the bride of Frank D. Munroe, of Hazleton, Pa., in St. Mark's Reformed Church at Easton. Ruth Snyder, '21, was one of the bridesmaids and Dorothy Mentzer, '21, played the wedding march. After the wedding the couple left for Eaglesmere. Later they went to New York where both attended the summer session at New York University. Mr. Munroe is a graduate of Lafayette, class of 1918 and at present head of the physics department and vocational education in Hazleton High School.

J. Wilbur McKee, '18, who is pastor of the Royersford, Pa., Brethren church is teaching English at Drexel.

GLENWOOD HALL GIRLS ARE PLEASED WITH NEW LOCATION

Just as all great things are attained by degrees, so the advent of a new girls' dormitory building appears in the distance. But before this goal is achieved, the college authorities have endeavored to make conditions as comfortable as possible for its women students. This feeling resulted in the leasing of the new and larger home built by Mr. Clamer on Glenwood Avenue. The hall bears the name of the former Glenwood Hall, its location merely being changed from the last to the first house on the left side, facing the avenue.

All those who have seen it are agreed on its "spic and span" neatness and beauty. Its hardwood floors, white walls and homelike arrangement of rooms make it one of the best residence halls for the girls.

It is primarily a Freshman hall. Of its twenty-nine residents, twenty-four are of the first year class. On the side farthest from Main street, the four senior girls of the former Glenwood Hall are in charge with Miss McGowan, as preceptress of the entire hall. The twenty-ninth resident is Miss Mary Schaeffer, a new student, but of the fourth year class.

From the standpoint of the girls one can almost positively predict a most loyal and peppy bunch of Ursinus co-eds at Glenwood.

ALUMNI NOTES

Fred Frutchey, '22, is now superintendent of the schools of Eckley, Colorado.

John Knipe, '20, has a position as a teacher in the Otis, Colorado, High School.

Pauline B. Davis, '20, is teaching Mathematics in the Lower Merion Junior High School at Ardmore, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Fink, of Reading, Pa., announce the arrival of a son, Richard Douglas on August 30. Mrs. Fink will be remembered as Esther Peters of the class of '14. Mr. Fink is a member of the class of '15.

Webster S. Stover, '24, was ordained and installed as pastor of the Trinity Reformed Church of Tower City, Pa., on August 18.

Beatrice Brooks, '20, is teaching Science in the Bogota, N. J., High School.

Mrs. Claude B. Wagoner, '23, is teaching in the grade schools of Spring City, Pa. Mrs. Wagoner will be remembered as Kathryn Groff. An account of her marriage was in the issue of last week.

Lloyd Yost, '17, while piloting his aeroplane from the hangar at Sybertsville, Pa., to Altoona on September 7 encountered a bank of fog and rammed into "Old Buck Mountain", the "Mother Mountain" of Conyngham Valley. He was badly cut and bruised when his aeroplane was wrecked. Yost, whose home is at Palmyra, was an officer in the air service during the World War.

The marriage of Helen Reimer, '22, to A. Randall Zendt, '22, took place at the bride's home in Bangor, Pa., on June 18. Guests included near relatives and intimate college friends. Part of their wedding trip was spent at Eaglesmere where they joined the Ursinus delegation in attendance at some of the meetings of the Y. W. C. A. conference. Reverend and Mrs. Zendt are now busily engaged in pastoral duties at Catawissa, Pa. The Weekly extends its best wishes to the newly weds.

WOMEN'S DEBATING CLUB OPENS WITH SOCIAL

The Women's Debating Club held its opening meeting when on Saturday afternoon Dr. White and Ella Watkins entertained the club at Shreiner Hall. Probable questions for debate, a possible schedule for appointments with other colleges, the receiving of new members and like matters were discussed. The club is rapidly getting things in working order for their first real college year of activity and worth while results can be expected. According to the elections the following are the officers for this semester: Ella Watkins, president; Edna Harter, vice-president; Alice Miller, secretary-treasurer.

Pep Overflows at First of Booster Meetings

Dr. John B. Price, College physician, was the chief speaker of the evening. Dr. Price has been one of Ursinus' greatest athletes and one of the College's finest coaches. He is a staunch Ursinus man, and his spirited talk should cause all to have a greater love for Ursinus. He said: "Every Ursinus man or woman should love their school that much that every time Ursinus is mentioned they should feel a lump in their throats."

Captain Charles Hunsicker, for three years a varsity tackle, was given a great hand by his teammates and fellow students when he was called on to speak. He asked that the team be given strong support and promised that the Bears would do their very best.

Mr. Walter Douthett, a very active member of the alumni, talked about the present football schedule. "You can never defeat big teams without ever playing them." "The schedule this year is not as tough as some would have us believe; yet not as easy as some may think; still it is a schedule of the type that an Ursinus team should be capable of playing."

Mr. Ralph Miller, a prominent citizen of Collegeville, and an active one in all College affairs was the final speaker of the evening. He told of the differences between football today and that of twenty years ago and predicted successful seasons in all sports.

College yells and singing of the campus song brought to a close one of the greatest—if not the greatest pep meeting—ever held at Ursinus.

Lady (to new housemaid engaged by letter)—"Why didn't you tell me, when you wrote answering my questions so fully, that you were Scotch, Mary?" Mary—"I didna like to be boasting, mom."—Punch.

We have no doubt the New York man who has been convicted of having three wives and twenty-three children will find life in Sing Sing a delightful vacation. — New Orleans States.

Y. M.-Y. W. Reception Held in New Surroundings

Paine gave a vocal selection and Misses Derr, Kauffman and Ehly sang a trio.

After this the actual social part of the reception began. Miss Helen Walbert, in charge of this, superintended the playing of games, the main purpose of which was to get folks acquainted with each other. The altogether delightful evening was completed with refreshments.

Great Progress in Endowment Drive

William Penn Highway. One of the Alumni has suggested that a beacon light be placed at the top of the Bomberger tower to call attention to the College. It would be visible from many points in the vicinity of Collegeville.

The members of the Board are highly gratified with the progress being made in preparation for the canvass and with the many promises of success. The readiness with which everybody is disposed to aid and the absence of obstacles frequently found in the path of such movements are among the encouraging features of the situation. The unprecedented enrollment of students, crowding the institution notwithstanding the most strict application of entrance rules, has given a decided impetus to the campaign.

Cuthbert—"Father, what is tact?" Father—"Tact, my boy, is what prevents a gray-haired man with a wrinkled face from reminding a youthful-looking woman with the complexion of a rose that they were boy and girl together."—Answers.

SPORTING CHATTER

Some of the Athletic Club inmates will have quite a bit of extra road work to do this year—on social hour nights.

Captain Hunsicker is in the pink of condition and is ready for the greatest football season of his career.

Many a weak-chinned man has a fighting heart—watch Bill Denny. "Boo" Faust—bandit chaser—should be a bear at catching forward passes after his bravo stunt this summer.

Here's what makes a good football player:

- First—Determination
- Second—Perseverance
- Third—Co-ordination.
- Fourth—Brains.
- Fifth—Strength.

Another big pep meeting in Bomberger Hall on Friday at seven o'clock. Let's continue the good school spirit that was started at the last meeting.

LAST—Every man and woman of Ursinus should be at Penn on Saturday.

HEIDELBERG REFORMED CHURCH TO BE RELOCATED

Heideberg Reformed Church, 19th and Oxford Streets, Philadelphia, founded October 11, 1868, has decided to relocate at a most strategic center, thus perpetuating her long and honorable life and spiritual service. A merger has been effected with the Fern Rock Mission at Broad and Grange streets, 5800 North Broad st.) where Heideberg will erect a beautiful and adequate church plant in the near future. The present edifice at 19th and Oxford streets, built during the pastorate of the sainted Dr. James I. Good, has been purchased by the Philadelphia Electric Co., for $70,000.00.

Paul W. Yoh, '13, president of Ursinus Alumni Association has been the pastor of Heidelberg for four years.

The Class Endowment

And How It Can Be Done Through Life Insurance

THE JOHN HANCOCK MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY worked out this problem for the 1923 graduating class of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and is ready to do it for others.

Many graduating classes, wishing to benefit their Alma Mater have turned to the insurance idea since it allows the participation of a large number of students

This plan provides for the payment of a certain specified sum to the University at the end of 20 or 25 years, the members of the graduating class paying a nominal sum each year to create an endowment. In case of the death of a graduate before the endowment matures his full share is paid into the fund.

Every student is given a chance to put his John Hancock on the dotted line and become a continuing contributor to the future welfare of his Alma Mater. It has been successfully carried through in a number of cases, and it can be done with your institution.

The John Hancock organization will be glad to render any service it can to college classes and individuals; also to interest ambitious college men in life insurance work.
