Faculty to Lose Two Members

Miss Waldron and Miss Roe Decide to Leave

PRECEPTRESS' OFFICES VACANT

The College is very unfortunate, in that it will lose the services of two of the most essential members of its corps of instructors for the ensuing year. The members of the faculty who will be leaving our midst are Miss Madeline Roe, Director of Physical Education and Instructor in Public Speaking for Women and Miss Clara E. Waldron, Instructor in Piano, Harmony and Counterpoint. These two individuals also served in the capacity of preceptress of Maples and Shreiner respectively.

Previous to coming to Ursinus Miss Roe, who is a graduate of the New Haven Normal School of Gymnastics, was Instructor in Gymnasium at the Y. W. C. A. of Utica, N. Y., where she was Instructor in Gymnasium, Dancing, and Swimming at the Woman's Club of that place from 1919 to 1921. While at Ursinus she has brought the girls' athletics up to a standard that is excelled by very few colleges in the country. At the same time she developed several championship aggregations in basketball and hockey to say nothing of the individual stars that have been turned out. Another sample of her fine work was displayed in the annual gym exhibitions and the May Day dances.

The world of service will receive a valuable addition when this young lady enters its ranks for she will enter the Hackensack Training School for Nurses at Hackensack, N. J. Previous to entering this school she will summer at Camp Woodmere on Paradox Lake, N. Y., in the Adirondacks.

Miss Waldron has devoted the greater part of her life to the study and teaching of music and will continue to do so. In order to continue with her work the college has granted her a one year leave of absence. Before coming to Ursinus in 1917 she studied under Harry R. Detweiler at Kidd-Key Conservatory of Music at Sherman, Texas; at Bush Conservatory at Chicago; at the Effa Ellis Perfield School and studied with

LIBRARY CAMPAIGN

IMPROVES BY DEGREES

The Appeal For Funds is an Appeal to Personal Honor

Support to the Pre-Commencement Campaign for the Memorial Library Building Fund has been picking up during the last week. Sheeder, '22, who has been representing the Committee on the road since May 1, worked eastward beginning at Dayton, Ohio, and arrived in Collegeville about the middle of last week. He has now taken up his headquarters in Philadelphia. He reports a fine spirit among most of the alumni of Ursinus everywhere and a disposition to stand by the Library proposition until it is finished.

The point that needs to be emphasized is that this is a job for all and not only a part of the Ursinus family. No true Ursinus man will take refuge behind the generosity of another, but will come forward and take his own part. There are still some who have yet their first dollar to give toward this great cause. We wonder what their feelings must be as they see their fellows going down into their pockets the second and third times to make good their failure. Strange comfort it must be to hold on to fifty or a hundred dollars at the

The Ursinus Varsity nine took the first of a two-game series with Penn State at State College on Memorial Day. The temperature was rather low but the boys had the required amount of life to enable them to knock out ten hits to State's six, and win by a 5 to 4 score.

Penn State got off to a three-run lead in the first inning after which Derk settled down and held them in check for the rest of the game. In the second frame Ursinus had three men on base with none out and was able to score only two runs before the side was retired. Ursinus again scored in the next two frames registering one tally in each round. There was no more scoring done until the seventh when each team accounted for one marker. The count now stood 5 to 4 with the Collegeville boys in front.

State started a rally in the ninth but it was not productive of any runs. It was a tight game throughout the nine innings. Derk pitched a great game and was effective after the first inning. Wismer, Faye, and Capt. High had two safeties apiece. "Ed-die" Faye had the longest drive of the game but was held to a double by fast fielding. Kerstetter, the State catcher, started getting no less than four men stealing second. Five errors for the Nittany Lions aided Ursinus in garnering her tallies.

Ursinus was helpless before the brilliant twirling of Longhurst, Penn State's veteran hurler, in the second game of the series played on New Beaver Field. While the State moundsman was holding the Varsity to three hits, his teammates proceeded to pound out a 9-0 victory. Only two Ursinus players were able to reach third base, while nine were retired via the strike out route.

Wood, who started on the pitching peak for the Varsity, proved ineffective, State collecting seven runs from his delivery in two innings. A pass to Mairs, Eisenhuth's life on an error, followed by singles by Palm and McVicker, coupled with an overthrow netted the home team three runs in the opening round.

McVicker's circuit clout with three of the his team mates on the paths ran the State total up to seven and sent Lloyd Wood to the showers in the second frame. "Sam" Eckerd took Wood's place upon the mound and proceeded to mow down the opposing batsmen. He pitched a fine game, yielding only two tallies which the Nittany sluggers secured in the eighth round on triples by Longhurst and Palm, followed by McVicker's third bat, a single.

Clark's stop of Loeffler's hard drive in the second and Jones' catch of Slattery's long clout in the fifth were the fielding features of the game. High put up a good game behind the bat for Ursinus.

Glenwood Alumni Hold Reunion

Y. W. Room Scene of Business and Pleasure

SCHOLARSHIP GIRLS PRESENT

"Should auld acquaintance be forgot And never brought to mind?"

By no means. At least this is what several alumni of the Penna. Female College decided about 1907. Although these "girls" are scattered from Massachusetts to California, the last Thursday in May brings many of them back to "Dear Old Glenwood" and messages from many more. Meetings of this association have been held regularly each spring at Ursinus College. The reunion song which was written at the second meeting is now one of the main features of every meeting. There are, of course class greetings, reminiscences, poems, experiences and they sadly find that the memorial service contains more and more names every year.

So, last Thursday, in spite of the inclemency of the weather the loyalty of these enthusiastic alumni was not dampened and about twenty-five came again to Ursinus to renew this "auld acquaintance." They met in the Y. W. room in the new library to carry on their business. The president of the association is Mrs. H. A. Arnold, who was appointed recently after the death of the former president. Of course the regular business of the occasion was carried through and even to an outsider it was extremely interesting. As they talked over old customs and ways when they were going to college, it brought back again to mind how very thankful and grateful we should all be for a college such as we have today.

The two scholarship girls—Ruth Eppeheimer and Ruth Heppel, were next presented to the association and were made to feel extremely at home and were intensely interested in everything that was going on.

Then—to some the greatest event of all—the dinner. It even surpassed Founder's Day. Here, gathered 'round the table new acquaintances were made, old tales of college days were enumerated and there was general

ANNOUNCED IN DETAIL

Class Day, Baccalaureate Sermon, A Glee Club Concert, Banquets, Etc.

The present Senior class is making extensive preparations for Commencement Week which begins on Friday, June 6. It promises to be a fitting climax for the class of 1924 which has so nobly upheld the standards of Ursinus in many different fields.

A varied program has been arranged for Class Day on June 6. The exercises will include an address of welcome by Warren F. Bietsch. The class oration will be delivered by Edwin N. Faye. Richard F. Deitz will give the mantle oration and Henry F. Sellers, '25, will give a few words of acceptance. Eugene B. Michael will present the tree oration. Excellent musical numbers have been arranged consisting of an organ prelude, a quartette under the leadership of Robert Rensch, a mixed chorus, and the class song. Margaret Mills will present the class history while Cyril Helfrich will deliver the class prophesy. Presentations will be made by Helen Groninger, Helen Isenberg, William Reimert, and Henry Kauffman. Edna Detweiler will give the senior class will. On Saturday the

LET ACTIONS SPEAK

The members of a family are so bound by the ties of their relationship that a loss, the disgrace, or ill fortune of one of the members brings pressure to bear on the rest—the good is overlooked—the bad invariably springs into the limelight. An effort therefore, is always made by all concerned to carry out and live up to the aims and standards necessary for every group in a community.

We at Ursinus, as one family, have or should have one purpose in mind—to conduct our actions, words and deeds in a manner befitting and coinciding with those highest ideals set for us. Not only must we live up to all precepts, carry out all regulations, live up to all existing standards, all this would not be enough. Any tendencies to the contrary on the part of other weaker individuals must be discouraged.

There seems to be a prevalent unrest especially in the matter of conforming to restrictions of any sort. An uneasy variety of unruliness seems to have taken hold of some freedom-loving souls who appear to have no sense as to the fitness of doing certain things. On every hand revolts to set laws occur. "Breaking rules" has been the seemingly chief pastime of these restless spirits. No thought of our common interests is taken into account. We do not argue that some rules could not be modified or completely changed, but this certainly cannot be accomplished by a wholesale disregard of them.

Now that the work of the year is in its last stages, a general lawlessness as an outlet for pent-up energies or a contrast to the period of study and work should not be the aim of the students.

Everyone is needed—and we hope the draft system is not necessary—to co-operate with the new Student Councils in these last few days before the close of the school year. Warnings have been given, yet it seems almost a duty to remind every student that all our actions will appear as they are, and not as they may be intended to be, to a visitor. Any misstep is sure to have some bearing on the system of the institution. We should all be bound in honor to help, do, obey, and uphold those things considered by the authorities to be a necessary part in the administration of the College. The co-operative family spirit must be uppermost, before we may really hope to be sure of success along these lines. To deliberately set out to disregard all rules is certainly not the plan to be put into operation. Our sense of loyalty to our Alma Mater can best be demonstrated by careful application to "the straight and narrow path." For commencement with its privileges is at hand. Are we to acknowledge them by taking every advantage of them we possibly can? Can't we at least think it over and try to do our best for our Ursinus family life?

ALUMNI AND STUDENTS

Commencement week at Ursinus means more than the mere granting of the "sheep-skins" to the members of the graduating class. It affords opportunities, than which there are none greater throughout the College year. These are offered to both alumni and students and are all ours if we but grasp them and make use of them.

The alumnus is drawn back to his college by certain ties and affinities which, although invisible, are strong enough to pull him for miles and at a great sacrifice. He comes with a deep feeling of respect, love and reverence for his Alma Mater. As he approaches his college home he is reminded of many incidents and happenings of his college career. He renews old acquaintances and makes new friends. He sees with a proud eye the progress of his college and perhaps envies those who now have splendid opportunities offered to them. The alumnus also brings with him suggestions for the betterment of the various phases of college life, which he, because of his contact with the outside world, is in a position to bring.

The student who has perhaps one, two, or three more years of college life is lost in amazement of the transformation of the personnel of the campus. He sees here and there an alumnus who wears the smile of satisfaction and who has made a success of his post-college days. The student sees that the college really means something to her graduates. He appreciates more her opportunities. He feels sad to see the Seniors leave but is glad to advance one year in the college career. His best thoughts are in anticipation of the coveted diploma.

Unfortunately there are some students who leave before commencement and there are members of the alumni body who do not take time to come to the commencement activities. Some of course are kept away by distance. Others could come. It is not for those who will be here to discuss their position. Rather, efforts should be made to have the week-end mean more than it ordinarily means. Students, can we not try to make the graduates feel at home among us? Let us try to get from them the love and reverence for Ursinus which has developed since their departure. Alumni, remember that you are our elder brothers and sisters. We look to you as a young boy or girl who has an older brother or sister making a success of life looks to them. We want your encouragement, your suggestions and criticisms, and your example to help us through our college career and through life. May the commencement season be a real "home-coming" for the family of Ursinus. Students, stay for commencement, and alumni, return to us for the week end. "Let's get acquainted." It will be worth our while.

SUMMER SESSION AT UNIVER. OF MEXICO

During the past four years the University of Mexico has conducted a Summer Session, with unusual advantages for American students who wish to become better acquainted with Mexican life.

Courses are given in elementary, intermediate and advanced Spanish; in the history, geography and literature of Latin America and Spain, as well as in such fields as archaeology, folklore and politics.

Special opportunities are afforded students of the Summer School under the direction of trained guides to visit places of interest near the City of Mexico. Excursions are made to pyramids, volcanoes, monasteries or Indian villages.

A tuition fee of $30 entitles students to register for four or more courses. Living accommodations can be obtained for from $2.50 to $4.00 a day. Special rates can be arranged for transportation by railroad or by steamship companies.

Mexico City is 7,500 feet above sea-level; the entire summer is pleasantly cool, and the air is invigorating. The University officials and the Mexican people are particularly cordial in welcoming American students and in helping make the occasion a helpful one.

Students or teachers interested in the 1924 Summer Session are asked to consult the nearest Mexican Consul or write to

"The Mexican Consulate, New York City"

or The American Friends Service Committee, 20 So. 12th St., Philadelphia, Pa.

The University of Nebraska has eliminated final examinations. Both the students and faculty members maintain that the examinations given at the close of a term are an endurance test and not a fair test of the knowledge gained during the semester. Many other colleges are taking similar steps and instead of holding final examinations, they are giving weekly tests in each subject.

COLLEGE REPUBLICAN CLUBS

With student Republican clubs at nine of its colleges and universities, Pennsylvania leads all eastern states in the nation-wide organization of these clubs directed by the College Bureau of the Republican National Committee. Steps have been taken to extend the movement during the coming weeks to every college in the state.

The Pennsylvania clubs already under way include those at the University of Pittsburgh, Washington & Jefferson college, Lehigh university, Dickinson college, Irving college, Albright college, Allegheny college, Lebanon Valley college and Carnegie Institute of Technology.

These clubs are organized for the purpose of developing an early interest on the part of undergraduates in national affairs and in Republican party principles. To assist this, prominent Republican speakers are addressing college audiences under the auspices of these clubs, mock conventions are being staged, and discussions of leading political issues encouraged at meetings of the student body. Men and women at over a hundred colleges are taking part in the activities of the organizations. Furthermore, many faculty officers and alumni are lending support to the movement.

Senator David A. Reed, in the following statement to the College Bureau, endorses the move to encourage student interest in the nation's political affairs:

"Every young man and woman," he says, "who participates in the activities afforded by these college Republican clubs, will enter upon the duties of citizenship with a deeper, more intelligent interest. Not only do these meetings, debates and discussions lead to a better acquaintance with current politics, but they also develop in the mind of the future voter a strong sense of the responsibility which makes for sound government."

The Tower Window

THE General Alumni Association will vote on the proposed new constitution at the coming Annual Meeting on Saturday next. If its adoption will have the effect to enlarge the membership, by all means let it be voted through. The proposal to offer the privilege of Associate Membership to non-graduate former students seems to me to be a wise one. I had a conversation some years ago with a gentleman in one of our larger cities who had been a student in Ursinus until he had reached the junior year and then had to drop out. Not being on the roll of graduates the College had not kept in touch with him. There was no bond or medium by which his interest and support had been maintained. Twenty years, or more, had passed around, and now this man regretted that he had not finished his course, for, said he, "It would be a great advantage to me in every way if I were a college graduate." Then he added with a tone of lament, "The College seems to have forgotten that I was ever there." This provision for making such persons Associate Members will help to overcome this seeming neglect. Furthermore it will probably add a considerable number to the enrollment and increase the funds of the Association. Those who might, at first feel disposed to oppose the provision are reminded that the Alumni Association is not an honor society but a working organization, and as such merits and needs the support of non-graduates as well as graduates.

The proposed election of officers by ballot in the same manner that the nomination for Director has been made, will stimulate interest in the Association and secure a more deliberate choice. No additional cost will be entailed as the ballot sent out by mail can carry provision for election to all the offices as well as to the one position of Director as at present. The plan to collect the annual dues through local associations is of doubtful expediency, unless it is intended to be merely a device that may be employed in addition to and not in place of the present method by which all members pay their dues directly to the Secretary-Treasurer. The plan has the merit of raising the local associations to a plane of greater importance and may make their perpetuation a little more certain.

The new constitution proposes, on the whole, a more elaborate organization and a wider and more varied field of usefulness—the latter a fine idea, but it will not work unless there is some one to work it. Under it, the Secretary will have to be both watch dog and promotion agent. In view of this, the salary specified is too small.

PUPILS RECITAL OF THE URSINUS SCHOOL OF MUSIC

The pupils' recital of the Ursinus School of Music held some time ago offered a variety of numbers, showing marked preparation.

Mildred Spenser, in her two selections, opened the program and made all wish for more. The desire was granted when Donald Ebert continued with two other well rendered numbers. Adeline Thomas played "To Spring" by Grieg and was followed by two vocal solos by Janice Weigley.

Margaret Kuntz credibly performed her part on the program. She was followed by Vesta Grater, who, with her three peppy numbers, added to the charm of the entertainment.

"Danny Boy," as interpreted by Winifred Derr, was a welcome number. Kathleen Heisler, in her two selections displayed remarkable skill and technique. Helen Wagner put the finishing touch to the program in her three very well played numbers. The program as a whole was a credit to the instructresses Misses Waldron, Hartenstine and Mentzer.

Alumni Notes

W. Harry Snyder, '23, has again been awarded a $750 fellowship in government in New York University, according to an announcement made by Dean E. B. Babcock. Snyder was first granted the fellowship a year ago, and it was renewed this year because of his exceptional work since entering New York University. Students at Ursinus will long remember the most outstanding qualities and brilliant leadership of Snyder, who was valedictorian of the class of '23.

'22. Edwin T. Undercuffler has completed his work at Columbia University for the A. M. degree. He was elected to the Phi Delta Kappa, an honorary educational fraternity, last week.

'11. Henry J. Herber was one of a group of alumni of Central Theological Seminary who made some "spicy but serious toasts" at the alumni banquet.

Rev. W. S. Harman, '06, and wife have recently become the parents of twin daughters. Congratulations!

James Neuroth, '23, visited some Ursinus associates over the week end.

Gordon Poley, ex-member of '26, was married at Schwenksville last Thursday.

Wesley Updike, '23, spent the early part of the week on the campus, a welcome visitor during exams. "Updy" has been teaching at Green Cove Springs, Fla., also coaching at the Florida Military Academy. Now he is a special agent for the Mo. State Life Insurance Company, Newark, New Jersey.

Forrey Stauffer, ex-'23, who has also been in Florida, is still down there.

Dr. William J. Hinke, S. T. '94, formerly professor in the Ursinus School of Theology and now professor in Auburn Theological Seminary, visited the College on Memorial Day. Dr. Hinke was particularly interested in the Memorial Library building and in the campus development. In addition to his professorial duties Dr. Hinke is also librarian of the Auburn Seminary library and is at present engaged in re-classifying and cataloging the library of 40,000 volumes.

John W. Myers, B. D., '20, graduate student at Boston University School of Religious Education in his thesis on "The Organization and Promotion of Religious Education in a Denomination of Less than One Million Members," has met the requirements for the "Master of Religious Education," (M. R. E.) degree at commencement on June 16th.

SCHAFF SEMI-ANNUAL BUSINESS MEETING

Schaff held its second semi-annual business meeting of the year on Tuesday evening. After roll call and prayer, the treasurer gave his report which was accepted. The financial secretary read the outstanding dues to be handed in.

Officers for the fall term were then elected and are as follows:

President—John Bisbing; vice-president, Augustus Welsh; secretary, Merle Jenkins; corresponding secretary, Christine Borkey; shaplain, Edward Cook; pianist, Grace Kauffman; first editor, Thelma Snape; second editor, Julia Shutack; third editor, Ella Watkins; critic, Henry Sellers; Janitor, Grove Haines and assistant janitor, Ruth Kuder.

The financial secretary and treasurer were now elected. Nettie Boyer was elected secretary and Sherman Gilpin treasurer. The trustees are as follows: Katherine Stevenson, Thelma Snape, Edward Cook, Howard Herber and Sherman Gilpin. The meeting now adjourned, there being no further business to transact.

At a meeting of the old and new Boards, Howard Herber was selected president. Other matters pertaining to the Board were also arranged. Sherman Gilpin was appointed chairman of the Anniversary Committee. Plans for next year were also discussed.

GIRLS GLEE CLUB ASSISTS AT POTTSTOWN

On Thursday evening, as a unique aftermath of examinations, about twenty-five Ursinus girls made a very pleasant trip to Pottstown in automobiles furnished by masters of the Hill School. The Glee Club had been invited to assist at an entertainment given by the Business Club of the Y. W. C. A. of Pottstown.

An unlooked for pleasure previous to the concert was a trip around the Hill School grounds, where the many beauties of the campus were seen, and very much enjoyed.

The girls arrived at the Y. M. C. A. Memorial Hall in time for the first part of the program which consisted of violin solos, a dance number, and two readings.

Then followed the Ursinus part which was composed of seven numbers by the Club interspersed with solos by Misses Ehly, Hinkle and Kauffman. The singing of the campus song ended a program which seemed to be much enjoyed by the audience, judging by the amount of applause received.

The Glee Club was pleased to see in the audience Miss Angeline Herricks, '22, for it showed that the alumni are interested in its progress.

BASKETBALL U'S AWARDED MANAGERS ELECTED

At the meeting of the Athletic Association on Wednesday seven men were presented with the varsity U for services during the basketball season 1923-24. The fortunate men were Wismer, Gotshalk, Heiges, Derk, Sterner, Kern and Manager Helfrich. At the same time junior varsity letters and freshmen numerals were awarded.

The football letter men convened and elected the following managers for football: Manager, John Bisbing; Assistant Managers—Molitor and Kirkpatrick; 1927—Brown, L. Miller, Koch and Enoch. It is the aim of the coach to put the managership on a more competitive basis instead of the haphazard manner it has been conducted the last few years.

Intercollegiate Comment

The largest faculty in an American college, 1,250 in number, is to be found at the University of Minnesota. The smallest, registering two, is the property of Beaver College, Beaver, Pa.

Intercollegiate debating is now held by radio. The first contest by this method took place on February 27, when the Universities of Oregon and California debated the question "Resolved that the Bok Peace Plan Be Adopted." In this discussion an unusual feature was the exchange of briefs between the opposing teams in order to insure a direct clash of the main issues.

Rutgers College will offer a new course next fall when Municipal and Sanitary Engineering will be instituted as a complete course on a par with those in civil, electrical, and mechanical engineering.

The freshman class will hereafter be limited to a thousand students and no one will be admitted to advanced standing without extraordinary qualifications. This action was taken recently by the Harvard faculty for the administration of new students.

Marking the completion of ten years as president of Dickinson College, Dr. James Henry Morgan was tendered a testimonial dinner by members of the Dickinson faculty in recognition of his service. President Morgan was presented with a leather-bound book containing the autographed expression of the professors of their appreciation for his efforts in behalf of Dickinson.

ing. Dr. Wehler is a graduate of Ursinus, having received his degree from this institution in 1887. He is an able man and has gained a wide reputation as a minister of the gospel.

Commencement exercises on June 9, will include orations by Miss Dortha L. Haelig, Valedictorian, and Mr. Webster S. Stover, Salutatorian. The Commencement address will be delivered by Royal Meeker, Ph. D., Secretary of Labor and Industry, Harrisburg, Pa. The speaker has had abundant experience as a professor and man of public affairs. He began his career as Professor of History and Politics at Ursinus College in 1904-05. From here he was called to Princeton and later served as Commissioner of Labor Statistics in the Federal Government under the administration of President Wilson. In 1920 he was a representative at the League of Nations Conference held at Geneva. Dr. Meeker has recently distinguished himself in the cabinet of Governor Pinchot and this, combined with his vast experience in national affairs, makes him a well qualified commencement speaker.

A band concert by a noted organization from Pottstown will bring the Commencement Week program to a close and will also end the career of the class of 1924 at Ursinus.

HIKING CLUB SHOWS MARKED IMPROVEMENT

Every organization has to have a constitution and by-laws of some sort to prosper. This year, due to systematic organization under the leadership of "K" Stevenson interest in the hiking club took a big step forward. Every morning the five mile jaunts were greeted by health earners and the noon day sun smiled down on sturdy travelers until the hall charts began to show forth results worth looking at twice. This sport is a health giving one, calling forth as much of the spirit of good sportsmanship as any other on the campus and is one, which if carefully managed, is worthy of the best support of all students. Let us hope that next year the one who has charge of the "Hiking Club" will keep interest high and make a go of it even as basketball and hockey.

Percy Grainger in the summer of 1920. Previous to taking up the reins of the music department of Ursinus Miss Waldron was Instructor in Piano at Galloway College, Searcy, Ark.; College of Industrial Arts, Denton, Texas, and Baylor College, Belton, Texas. During her leave of absence Miss Waldron will sojourn in Detroit where she will study and do some teaching but not so strenuously as she was doing while here.

The loss of these two women will not only be felt in the courses of instruction but also in their role of preceptresses. They have endeared themselves in the hearts of those whose care and discipline were entrusted to them and a feeling of true sorrow pervades the beings of the girls of these halls when they think of returning and finding new faces awaiting their arrival. But since circumstances are such and these changes are inevitable, it is the hope of all that they be for the best and that these two may ever have none but the best that luck can bring.

good spirit and joy on every hand. Chicken, real asparagus tips and ice cream were among the good eats served.

The afternoon was again spent in the Y. W. room discussing more ways and means of keeping old Glenwood associations. Then—to part for another year.

How wonderful it must be to come back after thirty years of separation and recognize and meet old classmates and friends. Each year these ladies find that "Friends have been scattered as flowers in June—

Some to the bridal and some to the tomb." But still they are not discouraged and with ever growing loyalty to "dear old Glenwood" return each year with a greater thankfulness in their hearts for the benefits they have enjoyed.

cost of feeling ashamed the rest of one's days every time he thinks of his College or sees a fellow alumnus.

But there is a higher call than this coming to the graduates and former students. Beyond mere co-operation and taking one's part side by side with living associates, there is that silent call from our noble dead. Go into that latest and most sacred shrine of Ursinus—the beautiful marble vestibule of the Library and read the names of our heroes and the annals of their death on fields of battle and in army hospitals. They gave their very life to make good the liberty and prosperity which we enjoy. What we are asked to give is as nothing in comparison. How fitting, as a memorial is the beautiful and useful building which we have placed at the dear old place where, as college boys, they learned to cherish the ideals for which they went forth to fight. Shall there be a debt hanging over such a building? What do the men of Ursinus say?

varsity will oppose F. & M. in the final baseball game of the season. This engagement will end the collegiate careers of Captain High, Faye, Wismer, Flitter, and Rensch who have very nobly helped to win many athletic contests for their Alma Mater. The Alumni Banquet and President's reception will follow in the Memorial Library building, while the Men's Glee Club will broadcast a radio concert from station WIP, Philadelphia.

Rev. Charles E. Wehler, D. D., pastor of Faith Reformed Church, Baltimore, Maryland, will preach the baccalaureate sermon on Sunday morn-

"What a whale of a difference just a few cents make!"

—all the difference between just an ordinary cigarette and—FATIMA, the most skillful blend in cigarette history.
