WANTED = = = $25,000 in additional pledges and cash by June 9th SOMETHING FROM EVERYONE WILL DO IT

ALUMNI LAY BRICKS FOR LEHIGH TOWER

(From Phila. Public Ledger)

"Bethlehem, Pa., May 12.—Old Lehigh graduates acted as stone masons today and laid a course of bricks on the west side of the tower of the new $500,000 alumni memorial building being erected on the campus through the subscriptions of the alumni.

"Prominent Lehigh men, leaders in the engineering world and heads of big contracting companies, inspected the memorial building and in order to take an active part in its erection as representing the alumni body each laid a brick in the tower."

Our friends at Lehigh are to be congratulated on their splendid spirit. We have never asked our alumni to be stone masons but we do ask them to try their ability as penmen. In this particular instance the pen is mightier than the trowel. Something from everybody will make that $25,000 feel like fifty cents.

HOT STUFF FROM THE FIRING LINE

The Committee now has a representative in the field, whose duty it is to visit all non-subscribers as well as those who have subscribed but who may find it possible to make an additional pledge. He has just returned from a trip through Ohio and western Pennsylvania and reports having been well received and delightfully entertained at every place he called. Some of the representative responses may be summed up in the following words:

Rev. Bernard R. Heller, '14, Vermilion, O.: "I can't do much at this time but what I can do I'll do wholeheartedly, for Ursinus means much to me."

George P. Kehl, '21, Seminary student, Dayton, O.: "Here's my check for $100, which is double what I pledged. The College did a lot for me and I'm glad to be able to do something in return now."

James A. Ellis, '07, Supt., American Vanadium Co., Bridgeville, Pa.: "You're from Ursinus? Well, I'm mighty glad to see you. Wish some of you fellows would drop in often. Sure! Mark me down for a hundred and to show you that I mean business, here's some hard cash on account."

Rev. Henry J. Herber, '11, Dayton, O.: "Put me down for another fifty. Wish I could do more, for the project certainly is a worthy one."

Rev. Richard R. Yocum, (former student), Youngstown, O.: "Well, it surely is good to see someone from the old place. While I can't do much I'll be glad to do what I can. And what's more I'll present the matter to my church. Perhaps they'll add something to my own personal subscription."

John F. Willauer, '20, teacher in McKeesport, Pa., High School: "Sorry I made you chase all the way down here after my subscription. I intended to send in my pledge card long ago but just kept putting it off. I sincerely hope they'll be able to put the project over on time."

Rev. and Mrs. J. K. Wetzel, '13, Juniata, Pa.: "There are no alumni more loyal than we and we take great pride in our Alma Mater. We're sorry we can't make a large subscription to the cause but what we do give is given freely and without regret."

And these are only a few of the many who were interviewed. The spirit of loyalty and devotion that was everywhere manifest is not only encouraging but inspiring as well. What may we not expect when this same spirit takes some definite form throughout the entire alumni body? The Committee is very anxious to save just as much expense as possible and in order to do this it asks that all the alumni cooperate. Those who have not made any pledges to date are urged to do so at once; and those who have pledged something but have not done their best are asked to send in their additional subscriptions promptly. By so doing the Committee will be spared the expense of sending their field representative on a special trip.

Do you recall those days, not so many years ago, when you promised yourself to help your Alma Mater when the opportunity presented itself? That time has come. Your Alma Mater needs your help. Don't desert her now.

WHAT DR. OMWAKE SAYS—

"This is a magnificent building which you have placed on our campus. Every visitor is pleased immensely with its spaciousness, completeness, strength and beauty. It will be a credit to the College for a hundred years to come."

WHAT OTHERS SAY—

Dr. Harlan Updegraff, President-elect of Cornell College, Iowa: "This building represents my ideal of what a college library should be. I should be very proud to have a building like it on the campus of my Alma Mater to which I am going as president."

Miss Dorothy L. Hawkins, Librarian, University of Delaware, Newark, Del.: "I think that you are to be congratulated on having succeeded in achieving a building that is economical, beautiful, and promises to be workable as well."

A completed transaction is an ASSET; unfinished business is a LIABILITY.

We must finish the job.

A pledge is nothing to be feared. It is something of which to be proud. It is an evidence of a noble purpose; a goal toward which to strive, especially when the cause is a worthy one. There's a certain feeling of satisfaction which comes to the person who has pledged his utmost and knows he has done his best. This is an experimental age. Why not try the experiment and experience the feeling?

The PESSIMIST is he who, after scanning the headlines of this issue, turns up his nose, drops his jaw and says in doleful tones: "It can't be done". The OPTIMIST is he who likewise scans the headlines, becomes interested, reads the paper from beginning to end, reaches for his check book and with a smile on his face writes a liberal check to the order of the Alumni Library Committee. Be an optimist.

"First things first!" That's how one alumnus responded to our appeal for an additional pledge. We like the thought. Your education came first. It's largely responsible for what you are today. You can never fully pay for it, you know, but you can pay off part of the debt now. PLEDGE UNTIL IT HURTS AND PAY AS YOU FIND IT CONVENIENT.

EDITORIAL

"Don't quit givin' till God quits givin' to you!" With these words as a slogan the city of Youngstown, Ohio recently put across a campaign for a Community Chest Fund which netted in the neighborhood of a half million dollars. The drive lasted one week and in that time every person living in the confines of the city was asked to give something to a cause which would mean the betterment of civic conditions in particular and which would also tend to give the city of Youngstown a new place in the sun. The ease with which the campaign was brought to a successful conclusion is an evidence of the general nature of the response.

A number of mid-western cities have conducted similar enterprises with the same measure of success and the result has always been the quickening of civic pride and the development of the co-operative spirit to a degree before unknown.

For the past four years our beloved college has been conducting a campaign for a Memorial Library Fund. Erected primarily to commemorate the noble lives of the nine young men of Ursinus who gave their all in a worthy cause, the building also constitutes the first step in the extensive building program which our Alma Mater is contemplating. It is the beginning of the realization of that dream which some of our number had in years gone by—a better and a greater Ursinus.

Ever since 1869 Ursinus has been growing, but her growth during the past decade has been in leaps and bounds. She has forged ahead like an old timer but she did not spring up over night. Worth-while institutions never do. They are not of the mushroom variety. Time is required to lay substantial foundations, but once the foundations are properly laid the remainder of the building may proceed with greater facility.

Ursinus has passed through her foundation stage; and, thanks to those who have gone before, she has weathered the storms of adversity in a remarkably satisfactory manner. She is now on the threshold of a future that has unlimited possibilities. The only requirement is that she have the proper support from her loyal and constantly growing alumni body. This she has had in the past, and this she will continue to have in an even greater degree in the future. It goes without saying that, as the college increases in strength and influence, so the alumni will grow in loyalty and devotion and will show their loyalty in a visible and concrete way.

The building which we, as Alumni, have erected on this campus is a structure of which we may well be proud. Nothing has been spared in making it the best ever, and all who see it marvel at its magnificence, both within and without. It is a worthy companion of Bomberger and an edifice which will bring to old Ursinus added prestige and glory, which in turn, will redound to our own advantage in our contacts with the world of which we are a part.

So far as finances go, the Building Committee has achieved notable success. For four long years they have given freely of their time and talents because their hearts have been in the work. But the end is not yet. $25,000 must be raised to complete the project. And the project must be completed before Dedication Day—June 9th. Approximately thirty per cent of the alumni have thus far subscribed nothing to the cause. Yet, in looking over the list, some of these non-subscribers seem more able to subscribe than many who did subscribe when the first call came. This, truly, is an unfortunate circumstance. No doubt many of this number have failed to respond to the numerous calls out of pure negligence. If these thirty per cent would do their bit at once, the $25,000 which is still needed would be greatly reduced, if not entirely wiped out. And so, Mr. Non-Subscriber, our first appeal is to you. Less than three weeks remain to get on the roll of honor. It's a grand and glorious feeling to be there. Try it and see for yourself.

Then too, there are those of our number who have given something to the cause but have not done their best. It has been estimated that in order to put the project over it will be necessary for every alumnus to pledge at least $100. Some of course cannot do this. Others can but haven't. And so our appeal to such is that they seriously consider the matter again and let their conclusions take some definite form, say, for instance, a liberal check drawn to the order of our Treasurer, A. P. Frantz; or a pledge card addressed to the Library Committee, bearing several numerals—the more the merrier.

A $25,000 debt on a Memorial Building such as the one we have erected would be dishonoring the dead whose memory we seek to honor. These nine young men gave their bit—their best—for a worthy cause. Your bit is your best. Have you given it? Think it over and let your pen tell the answer.

This $25,000 in additional pledges must be raised before June 9th and the only way it can be done is for every one to do his part. Something from all who have not subscribed and something additional from those who have subscribed will put the project over on time. We have faith that it will be done and we do dislike to be disappointed. Let's adopt as our slogan: "Don't quit givin' till God quits givin' to you" and go to it.

The mail man will do the rest.

Don't Quit Giving Until God Quits Giving to You!

VIVID SKETCHES PRESENTED

Campus Changed to Midway of Booths
Large Crowd Attends Dance in Field Cage

The annual Athletic Carnival for the purpose of raising money for the Athletic Association was staged on the College grounds on Saturday last with great success. Beginning at two o'clock in the afternoon all booths were opened for trade and before the evening shadows fell everything had disappeared, been consumed or put to practical use.

Landslide business was done by the quick lunch counter presided over by Mr. Fretz and his committee, where a variety of candy, cakes, sandwiches, sodas, ice cream and so forth were sold to a hungry public. No less to be commended was the work of the flower booth with Miss Lillian Isenberg in charge, assisted by Mrs. Omwake, Mrs. Gawthrop and others. The novelty booths run by Mr. Wikoff also proved lucrative, in spite of the fact that some one let the animals loose before the performance was over.

Sketches

Two selected scenes from "Seventeen" by Booth Tarkington were presented by Zwinglian Literary Society on Saturday afternoon. Leslie Wikoff as seventeen-year-old Billy Baxter with Helen Isenberg as Jane, his little sister, kept the audience in a continual uproar of laughter.

The first scene of the sketch was one between Mrs. Baxter, portrayed by Beatrice Shreve, Billy and Jane; in which Billy expressed emphatically his disapproval of his young sister and her liking for apple butter bread. The tea party given by Mrs. Baxter in honor of Miss Parcher, the object of Billy's infatuation, was depicted in the second scene. The humor reached a climax in the arrival of Billy at the party after the guests had departed. The scene closed with Billy in despair.

The entertainment given by Schaff opened with a musical garden scene. Millicent Xander and Kathryn Shipe as dainty old fashioned belles with Sarah Hinkle and Eva Alger as their respective lovers, sang a number of popular airs in a very charming manner. A particularly pleasing feature of this part of the program was a dance by Miss Shipe and Miss Alger.

The next part of the program was the scene from Hamlet in which the melancholy prince reproaches the queen for her part in the murder of his father. Clifford Long portrayed very creditably the characters of both Hamlet and Polonius. The role of Queen Gertrude was ably filled by Verna Kurtz.

A musical skit was the last feature of Schaff's entertainment. Millicent Xander and Arthur Pretz, costumed as Japanese, sang several songs from the old favorite, "Cherryblossom."

The May Dance

Featuring the day's activities came the May Dances under the able directorship of Miss Madeline Roe. Staged on the Olevian lawn and surrounded by a large crowd, which formed a sort of an amphitheatre, the two score performers outdid themselves in an exhibition of natural grace and beauty that has never been excelled at Ursinus.

At six-thirty the procession, headed by the May Queen, Miss Caroline McBlain, marched slowly from directly in front of Olevian to the throne which stood under a canopy of flowers. Four little girls, daughters of members of the faculty, acted as train bearers following the Queen in her stately march, and then sat down at the foot of the throne where they paid homage to their mistress during the entire performance.

Then followed a series of dances, headed by a charming folk dance in which a number of girls participated. Miss Xander and Miss Shipe then danced an interpretation of the well known piece "Music Hath Charms"

Caroline B. McBlain

QUEEN OF THE MAY

in which Miss Shipe as the shepherd boy charmed his sweetheart with his flute. The third of the series was a Scarf Dance, perhaps the best of all, grace, rhythm and skill being called into play at all times, with each performer responding beautifully to every note of music.

Last, the May Dance requiring the efforts of every girl in the exhibition took the eye of the many spectators for some minutes, and caused much admiration by the skilful way in which each girl took her part. Then after having wound the gaily colored ribbons in an artistic pattern around the pole and unwinding it again, the procession marched from the lawn, led by the Queen in her flowing robes, followed by the train bearers and her troupe.

Dance

The dance in Thompson Field Cage proved a fitting climax to the day. Alumni, townspeople, and students joined in making the affair a success. Brunner's orchestra from Pottstown furnished music for a program of twelve dances. The dance was handled very well by a committee headed by Earl Linck. Not a few of the visitors complimented especially the simple, but charming, decorative scheme consisting of huge sprays of dogwood tastefully distributed through the hall. It was pleasant to have as chaperons Dr. and Mrs. Allen and Mr. and Mrs. Gawthrop.

Final Student Council Dance Planned for May 26

The regular Student Council dance for the month of May which was previously announced for May 19 will be postponed until May 26. It is expected that there will be a large attendance of students and alumni since this is the last event of its kind of the season. Mr. Houck who has charge of the Council dances promises to make an interesting event of the final dance.

Editor-in-Chief of Weekly Elected
President of I. N. A.

At the business session of the Inter-collegiate Newspaper Association convention held at Haverford on Saturday morning, Richard F. Deitz, Editor-in-chief of the Weekly, was elected president of the organization. The other officers are: James C. Swartley, of Lehigh, vice president; F. B. ### SON OF URSINUS FOR COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER

"America and Americans" Will Be Subject of Dr. R. M. Yerkes '97

The Commencement speaker this year will be Robert Mearns Yerkes, Ph. D., of the Class of '97. The Faculty desired that it should have some one who has distinguished himself in the field of science and was happy to find such a one among our own alumni. After a trip to Washington, and a very persuasive interview by President Omwake, Doctor Yerkes consented to be the speaker. He has announced by letter that he will expect to speak on "America and Americans."

After his graduation from Ursinus, Dr. Yerkes went immediately to Harvard. On the completion of his graduate studies in 1901, he began immediately as a teacher and investigator, and from 1908 to 1917 was Assistant Professor of Psychology. In 1917 he was called to the University of Minnesota as Professor of Psychology and Director of the Psychological Laboratory. During the war he was in the service of the Nation in the War Department and distinguished himself as the author of the famous army tests for determining the abilities of soldiers. Since the war he has been in the National Research Council at Washington. At present he is Chairman of the Research Information Service, and directs many important investigations in various fields of scientific research.

Dr. Yerkes has been a constant contributor to the literature of his special field, is the author of several books, and is well known abroad as in this country. He is a nephew of Dr. Edward A. Krusen of Norristown, a director of Ursinus.

TRACK

Drexel Defeats Ursinus

Drexel Institute last Monday administered a 60 2-3—29 1-3 defeat to the Red and Black track squad. Although the score was doubled most of the races were very closely contested and only won by a scant margin. This is a remarkable showing when consideration is taken of the fact that several of the Ursinus participants competed with almost no practice at all. Of the ten events on the program Drexel won seven and Ursinus two, the high jump resulting in a tie.

Baden as usual starred for the Varsity, taking first place in both the shot-put and the discus throw. Herber placed third in both of these. The high jump resulted in a tie between Eckerd and Corson of Drexel. The former was also third in the broad jump. Wismer tied for second in the pole vault. Had he not broken his pole he very probably would have done better.

In the discus throw, Baden's heave of 119 feet, 1 inch set a new record for Strawbridge and Clothier field. This is almost five feet better than he did at Harrisburg last week. In the shot put he equalled his former mark of 40 feet, 9 inches.

In the track events Ursinus did not show so well. Roehm took second in both the 100 and 220 yard dashes. Faye finished third in the 100 and Shue the same in the 220. Bare, Michael and Tomlinson finished third in the quarter, half, and mile runs respectively.

Altogether the result is very encouraging and great hopes are held for next year when the new track will have been completed.

There are 371 distinct Indian tribes or remnants of Indian tribes in the United States, a total Indian population of 340,917.

NEW CONSTITUTION ADOPTED

AT W. S. G. A. MASS MEETING

At a mass meeting of the girls of the College on Friday evening, the new constitution of the Women's Self Government Association was ratified. The committee, consisting of Carolyn McBlain, Helen Isenberg, Helen Groninger, Ruth Nickel, Winifred Derr, should be complimented on the splendid form of the document. Out of a set of rules and regulations more or less loosely constructed, they formulated an orderly, well arranged constitution. Some parts remained intact, but a few singular changes were effected, notably the provision for presidents of the several halls, two additional privileges for Seniors, and the institution of a Committee system. Committees on honor, Sophomore-Freshman week, athletics, Junior advisory and finance will take charge of their respective duties. The constitution will go into effect no later than Friday, May 25, and will be printed so that it can be placed in the hands of the Freshmen upon their arrival.

"Brer Elmer" Holds Hard
Hitting Lancastrians

THEY GET BUT ONE RUN

Ursinus Scores Three Against Pollack
However, He Has Fourteen Strike
Outs to His Credit

The Ursinus baseball nine won its most glorious victory of the season on Saturday from its traditional Lancaster rivals by the close score of 3-1. Determined and confident, the Red and Black faced Coach "Whitey" Price's crack nine in a do-or-die spirit which would not accept defeat. Coach Price sacrificed the game with Susquehanna on Friday, to have all possible strength for the "big" game, but found to his surprise, the old fighting spirit of Ursinus at its highest peak. The large crowd present anticipated "just another" victory for the home boys but found to their utter dismay a bitter, stinging defeat.

Before the game several of the old "grads" wished the team success with the result that a fighting nine went out to uphold the good work of years gone by. The final words of Coach Cornog sent the team on to what proved to be victory.

The Collegeville lads went to work early for in the very first stanza a single by Wismer and "Eddie" Faye's scorching double counted the first marker. No concern was noticed for the crowd expected a fast evening of matters. In the last half of the inning Cocklin singled but never got past the first station. Wood, the robust twirler, who uses the wrong arm in tossing them up, had gotten his start and was very much in the game. The following five innings were wonderful to behold. Coach Price brought into play sacrifice hits, double steals, occasional bingles, but not a man reached "home sweet home." In the third J. Cragin singled but Wood promptly struck out Pollack and caused Yohn to fly out to Kern. In the last half of the fourth spasm Payn hit a liner over second but was retired in trying to stretch it to two bases via Flitter to Faye. The fifth inning showed how a team that "won't be beat can't be beat." Childs drew a pass and Martin pinch hitting for Fessler singled to left center. Here, J. Cragin hit a fast one to Wood who nabbed it forcing Martin at first. In the sixth the Ursinus lads started another offensive. Flitter was hit by a pitched ball, but Wismer forced him at second. High fied out to left field. Again Captain Faye responded with a drive to left which sent Wismer home. The latter's base-running was brilliant and it brought applause from the great crowd. Buchanan batting for Moyer came through with a sharp single which sent Faye home with the second run. This ended the Ursinus scoring but it was more than enough.

In justice to Pollack, the opposing twirler, it was a tough game to lose. The lanky southpaw fanned 14 Red and Black batsmen, but allowed hits when he should have used the strike-out method.

For Ursinus—above the excellent team-work stands out the work of "Goose" Wismer at third. He had three hits, scored two runs and accepted three chances faultlessly.

Opportunity for College Graduates in Library Work

On Thursday afternoon, Mrs. Howland, head of the library school at Drexel Institute, in giving an interested group of girls a concise idea of the education necessary for, and the opportunities open to, the librarian, stressed the desirability of college training prior to that of a library school course and told of the striking features of this new field of work.

This profession, she stated, with its maximum salary of $3200, reimburses with good sport and human interest rather than high pay and must, therefore, be carefully chosen. It is really social service with a difference, for the greatest minds in every field seek the aid of a librarian.

Alumni Notes

Ursinus has welcomed many of her sons and daughters during the past few days. Those who have visited her most recently are: Carroll Deisher '19, Mrs. Carroll Deisher '21, Lola Huttel '21, Catharine Heindel '21, Norman B. Gregory '21, Margaret McCavery '22, Louise Hinkle '22, Randal Zandt '22, Helen Reimer '22, Clyde Schwartz '22, Doris Allen '22, Melvin Rahn '22, Franklin I. Mrs. Carroll Deisher '21, is substituting in the English department of the Spring City High School.

Word comes to us of the death of Dr. Sayre, one of the founders of the Schoolmen's Club, and a great and influential worker among the people of the educational realm. Dr. Sayre, although he never attended a college, was admired as a man of exceptional learning and was honored with the degree of Doctor of Philosophy by Ursinus College.

The week of May 6th to 11th, 1923, was known in Brooklyn, New York, as the anniversary celebration of the Kent Street Reformed Church. This was its seventy-fifth anniversary. The pastor is Robert Thena ex-'17, and on Friday night one of the addresses was given by Rev. Harold B. Kerschner, A. M., '16.

The Norristown paper states: "The Montgomery County Council for Welfare Work at its annual session re-elected as president Abram H. Hendricks (graduated from Ursinus in 1888) of Collegeville, Assistant District Attorney of Montgomery County. The recording secretary as elected is Mrs. Ezra Allen, wife of the professor of Biology of Ursinus College."

Caroline E. Myers ex '12, and Garry C. Myers Ph. D. 1909, have published a Mental Measure which has reached the attention of all educators and has been greatly used. It is applicable to all ages. It measures native capacity rather than school achievement. It is being used in the Union, in England, and in Canada.

SCHAFF LITERARY SOCIETY

The annual Freshman-Sophomore debate was held Friday evening. The question debated was: "Resolved, That Congress Should Pass the Merchant Marine Subsidy Bill as introduced at the Past Session." The Freshmen were the victors having the decision of both the judges and the house.

Miss Humphries' sketch greatly relieved the monotony of the debate and was altogether enjoyable.

The piano solo by Miss Smith was exceptionally well played. Miss Boyd edited the Gazette.

Prof. Edwards was a visitor of Schaff and served as one of the judges of the debate. He also entertained the society with a French song, which was beyond criticism. The Society showed their appreciation by a long applause.

ZWINGLIAN LITERARY SOCIETY

Friday night was Sophomore night in Zwing. The Sophomores entertained an exceedingly large audience, including many visitors, with a top-notch program.

The features of the evening were the sketch by Miss Evans and the "Toy Act" by Miss Hollenbach. Miss Nickel and Mr. Williams, however, must be commended for the way in which they presented their more serious numbers to the attentive audience. Mr. Williams selected the subject of "Music" for his oration.

The numbers on the program were: Mandolin Airs ..... Mr. Eger
Sketch ..... Miss Evans, leader.
Piano Duet .. Misses Wagner and Mosser
Musical Recitation ..... Miss Nickel
Toy Act .... Miss Hollenbach, leader
Oration ..... Mr. Williams
Zwing Review ..... Mr. Seiber

The Society was honored by the presence of Mrs. C. V. Tower and Mr. David Tyson ex-'23. Mr. Tyson delighted the audience with several vocal selections.

WEDNESDAY'S GAME LOST TO LEHIGH BY LOPSIDED SCORE

Ursinus Unable to Hit in Pinches. Short Right Field Accounts for Opponents' Four Home Runs

The Red and Black still in its slump afield and at the bat bowed to the strong Lehigh nine by the one-sided score of 14-1. Three Red and Black pitchers essayed to stop the onslaught of the lads from Bethlehem but with little avail. The home team gathered Wood, deserved a better fate, for a four home runs among its 20 hits. fly to right-center dropped safe and it worried the star twirler who never could get settled any more that day. Ursinus scored its lone tally in the second inning on Buchanan's walk and singles by Shuts and Sellers. Lehigh scored in every inning but the fourth and seventh when good fielding cropped up and a score was prevented. The short right field made matters worse for Ursinus. Lehigh had a flock of right field hitters and the short distance there helped in securing hits where easy outs would have resulted. Aside from the hitting Ursinus loomed up as a worthy opponent, but lacked the drive to start the ball rolling. Occasional hits were garnered but they were scattered. The Red and Black gathered ten hits while only one run was accounted for. The game was played on a soggy field following the heavy rain directly before the game, which tended to slow up the infield play.

Dr. Good is Host at Brotherhood Banquet

The annual banquet of the Brotherhood of St. Paul was held Wednesday evening in Freeland Hall dining-room. After a dinner which words cannot describe, Paul Hassler, toastmaster for the evening, called for speeches and Dr. James I. Good was first to respond. He wished the Brotherhood all kinds of success and hoped that he would see all of them at Dayton, Ohio, after graduation from Ursinus. Speeches were heard from Dr. G. L. Omwake, Dean Kline, Prof. Yost, Rev. Clapp and F. I. Sheeder '22.

Before the banquet a business meeting was held and officers for the year 1923-24 were elected. The results were as follows: President, Paul Hassler; vice-president, E. Cook; secretary-treasurer, E. Ulrich. Wesley Bare was elected to active membership.

Y. W. C. A.

Beatrice Shreve was the leader of Y. W. on Wednesday evening and had for her subject the parable of the Ten Virgins. She brought the means home by which we can apply it to every day matters. "The experience of the five foolish virgins is a lesson," she said, "from which we can all profit."

A duet was beautifully sung by Beatrice Shaffer and Miriam Zaugg after which the service closed.

Psychological tests designed to show whether it is possible for one individual to judge another in tact, intelligence and general character are being carried on at the University of Michigan.

ON YOUR TOES, MEN!

The Alumni Athletic Club is all set to go. They've been dreaming and planning all year long how they might boom athletics for next year and now it's all decided. If you think for a minute that the home team is going to be a piker next season you're going to be given a chance to have your misgivings cleared away for all time. A big business dinner will be held in Dog House Dining Room on Friday, June 8, at 5.30 p. m. and all red-blooded Ursinusites are urged to be present. But, mind you, this affair is not for graduates and former students only. Any one interested in seeing Ursinus grow athletically is cordially invited to stick his feet under the table.

Come with your critical cap all set for action. Constructive criticism is solicited. You'll have all the chance in the world to boost and, while the hat will not be passed around, literally speaking, don't be surprised if you are asked to lend your moral support. Business is business and there's lots to be done. So be on hand and see it through.

Y. M. C. A.

Professor Edwards was the speaker at the Y. M.'s meeting on Wednesday evening. He gave a most inspiring and interesting address. One of the points he brought out was that we all feel lax at some time or other and have our deficiencies. He said, "There is incompleteness on one hand and misdirection on the other. Our laxity and deficiency can only be brought out when we see a greater man than ourself or some of the greater things in nature, as the mountains and the vast ocean. It is only then that we feel our littleness and see how incomplete we are."

In closing, he said, "We need Jesus Christ to supply what we lack in life. Only through Him we are complete; without Him we can do nothing."

Editorial Comment

This issue of the Weekly may just be termed "Alumni Memorial Library Issue." The whole front page is given over to the campaign to raise funds for the building. The Weekly has been carrying news and appeals issued by this campaign for some time, and prominent space has been accorded them. But now that the windup is on and everybody concerned is straining every nerve to finish paying for the building, the Weekly is also moved to do its best.

Of course the Alumni Association is publisher of the Weekly as well as being the active power back of the Building Campaign. But it is not in any spirit of compulsion that the Editorial Staff has accepted the job of giving publicity. With a deep realization of the high value of the new building to Ursinus, we have willingly curtailed our own plans and ambitions in the interest of a Greater Ursinus.

The Library is a wonderful addition to the equipment of the College. In itself it is a beautiful piece of architecture and a more than worthy companion to flank Old Bomberger on the right. The Weekly appreciates that self-sacrificing spirit of the Alumni and will do anything that it can to help it along. As well, we ask our readers to help pay for this, the "most beautiful small college library in Pennsylvania." R. D. '24
