Mrs. Karnell, Prominent Social Worker and Speaker, Talks on "The Challenge of the Impossible"

"The Challenge of the Impossible" was the subject of an unusually interesting talk heard by the members of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. at a joint meeting in Bomberger Hall on Wednesday evening.

At 6.30 devotional service was opened by singing; followed by reading of the Scripture from Saint Mark and St. Matthew by Miss Reimer. Mr. Weller lead in prayer, and then Miss Reimer introduced the speaker, Mrs. Almer W. Karnell.

Mrs. Karnell brought a message which she presented to the students in a particularly vivid manner. She is a Norwegian by birth, but her heart and interests lie in America, upon which she looks as the greatest nation today and the beacon light of the world. Mrs. Karnell has traveled so extensively that she is fully prepared to talk authoritatively on social, religious and industrial problems of life. It is this wide experience in life which she has acquired which enabled her to deliver her message so forcibly. Her abundant illustrations and word-pictures, such as those describing the beauties of Norway, and her introduction into the talk of so many colorful incidents from life as she has seen it, served admirably to heighten the force of her message. Mrs. Karnell has addressed thousands of students, industrial workers and people in all walks of life but her interest is the same in all classes and conditions.

Excluding the many stories and incidents which she related by way of illustration, the substance of her talk is as follows:

Most people passively accept a thing as being impossible of accomplishment which has never been attempted before; but when a man or woman comes to the point of being willing to take off their hat and coat and absolutely buckle down to the job and set themselves to the task, nothing is impossible. The history of the universe is the history of the accomplishment of the impossible. Everything worthwhile that has been accomplished is something that was once called impossible. Man today in science, industry and education has taken literally the word of Jesus—"Nothing shall be impossible unto you", and accomplished things seemingly impossible.

Historically the same is true. The early Christians accepted the challenge from God, and died by the thousands for it; but the world is today what it is because of their acceptance. At the time of the Reformation period religion had degenerated, but out of the darkness the challenge was again hurled and all Europe took it up. Having sunk again, the true faith was later revived and its strength tested in the settlement of America. Leaving their homes and country and settling on the wild and

College Gives Third Pastor To Thornville, Ohio, Charge

Mr. J. Stanley Richards, student at the Central Theological Seminary, has accepted a call from the Trinity Reformed Church, Thornville, Ohio, and will become their pastor some time in June. Meanwhile, he will supply every two weeks. Mr. Richards comes from eastern Pennsylvania and is a graduate of the College of the class of '17. Mr. Richards has won the hearts of the people by his splendid personality and his power from the pulpit. He succeeds E. Bruce Jacobs '13, who left Thornville October 1 of last year to take charge of the Calvary Reformed Church at Lima, Ohio. J. E. Stone '00 was a former pastor at the Thornville charge.

JUNIATA WINS FROM 'SINUS IN HARD FOUGHT BATTLE

Local Tossers Continue Hard Luck Streak, Losing by Three Points

Hard luck followed the Ursinus tossers on Thursday when they were defeated by the strong Juniata team by the score of 27-24 in a hard fought game in Thompson Field Cage. At no time during the game did Juniata show superiority over the local five, altho both teams played a loose game and missed many chances to score on fumbles. The absence of a foul shooter on the Ursinus team probably accounted more than anything else for the defeat. Both teams scored the same number of field goals.

First Period

Juniata started off with a bang, gaining a 6 point lead before Frutchey and Wismer were able to find the circle for a tally. The Ursinus five man defense failed to function and frequent fumbles prevented the evening of the score. Gottshalk and Evans played an excellent floor game but were unable to keep track of the Juniata forwards.

Wismer started the scoring for the home team with a foul. Frutchey followed with a couple of baskets; Evans and Kengle each contributed one and the half ended 14-10 in favor of the visitors.

Second Period

Ursinus tore loose and completely swamped the opposition by quick passes and clever shots. Wismer, the new addition to the team made a noble showing, tallying six goals and two fouls. Donalson, Hoffman and Shaute were able to score for Juniata and the

Open Forum Meeting Postponed

The open forum meeting that was to have been held in Trinity Church by the local chapter of the American Legion on last Sunday evening and was then postponed until Sunday, February 12, because of the heavy snow which intervened, has now been indefinitely postponed. The reason given is that it has come to be impossible to have the desired speaker here on that evening.

SCRUBS LOSE TO LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL

Second Team Makes Poor Showing

Coach "Mel" Rahn's High School proteges defeated the Scrubs in a rather uninteresting game preliminary to the varsity contest by the score of 18-16. The passing of the Scrubs was ragged in spots and spoiled many chances at the basket.

Sheeley, Wikoff and Kauffman worked well, but when a pass was needed on the cut in, poor attempts were made. The team is fast and well balanced. However, they will be more successful when the passing improves. Shots were hurried and erratic.

Sterner, for the High School, played his usual brilliant game, passing and shooting very well. The High School team guarded well. As a result many long shots were tried by the Scrubs and failed to go thru the net. Due to the local coloring of the game, the play was rough and only the fast eye of Referee Rahn saved football tactics from entering.

Rahn at center, and Yenser at guard played well. For Ursinus Sheely and Kauffman starred while Hunter led in scoring.

Princeton—The University is planning to supply homes to members of its faculty, on the theory that returns will come from the investment, in increased efficiency, if the professor's domestic difficulties are lessened. The University proposes to finance and operate an extensive housing scheme, according to plans outlined by Professor Shirley M. Morgan, of the Princeton School of Architecture. Under the tentative plan which is being considered at present, commodious houses under a single roof will be erected for the younger teachers, and individual homes will be provided for the others.

URSIINUS LOSES TO VILLANOVA BY ONE POINT

Much Spirit Shown by Players and Spectators at Thrilling Contest

In one of the fastest, most gruelling games ever witnessed on the gymnasium floor, Villanova nosed out the reconstructed Ursinus five by the score of 29-28. At no time this year had the Collegeville lads displayed such a marked brand of team work and clever passing.

The main line cagemen, who have lost only one game and that to the championship Penn team, presented a large, fast and well balanced quintet. Due to their excellent showing up to this time, chances for a victory over "Coach Cornog's Cagemen" loomed very bright.

Changes in Personnel

However the main line lads received quite a rude reception. The fact that Penn nearly fell victims to Villanova, only added more grit to the Ursinus team. As a running mate to Capt. Frutchey, the addition of Wismer, former Norristown High star, completed a remarkable change. Up to this time it seemed the latter utterly ran away with the opposite forward, but with the speedy Wismer the passing was faultless. Kengle jumping center, in place of "Mel" Rahn, who has been ill for some time, while Gottshalk and Evans playing the guards, completed the team.

Villanova opened the game with a swift passing attack and before the game was fairly started, Krieg had succeeded in caging three two-pointers from directly under the basket. The lanky main line center broke away quite frequently and had little opposition at the basket. Aided by Gray's long shot and Ryan's foul shooting the main liners soon held a commanding lead, 18-9. Kengle, then broke territory and played Krieg. The two worked fast against each other with the result that no more "sleepers" were made by Krieg. As the first half ended Ursinus was playing fast and seemed to get together for the final drive.

Playing Improves Second Period
The second half showed complete reversal in scoring. The rest seems to

VARSITY IN CAGE DUEL

HUMBLES SWARTHMORE

Remarkable Teamwork Displayed By Red and Black Passers
Score 35-30

"Allie" Cornog, once the idol of Swarthmore's athletics, turned the tables, when his lightning passers left his Alma Mater's quintet struggling, gasping and choking in the dust of a 30-35 score at Swarthmore last Saturday evening.

And Allie's popularity had waned but little, for it was debatable which team had the most supporters. Even tho Allie was a traitor, the juvenile population in the town broke down doors, smashed sashes, and even outdid the ancient Vandals just to see if their old idol was as good against them as with them.

It was to be a pompous affair—the stage all set to guillotine the Ursinus five. And too, it was a most surprisingly gruelling, thrilling and spectacular contest, for during the entire game the score see-sawed except for the last five minutes of play when Ursinus made her buckets one after another just like popping so many birds off the fence.

Swarthmore's defense was good at times and again rather ragged. Ursinus founded a defense that was absolutely impregnable with Gottshalk and Kengle as bulwarks. Ursinus did little field work in the first half while in the last half three fouls were the only aid. Paine showed the edge on Earnshaw in foul shooting.

The first half of the game closed with Swarthmore having the advantage to the score of 15-13. Ursinus would have stood an equal footing had not Frutchey been called for blocking when Paine dropped the pill thru the rim.

Ursinus felt a jolt when Evans at guard was removed because of personal fouls. The last half of the game left the two teams to interchange low man's rating on the score sheet except after Swarthmore's time out with but five minutes to play. The score was now 27-22 with Swarthmore in the lead. The enthusiasm was high and Ursinus was now displaying a tenacious fighting spirit. It was but a few moments until Ursinus had cut down the 27-22 margin and was fast filling the score column to the 35 mark. It was tap the ball and bucket, tap the ball and bucket, and Wismer was the man who produced the goods.

Ursinus credits her victory to the remarkable team work which was displayed thruout the entire game. Gottshalk and Kengle hounded their forwards with a hot and torturing fervor. Evans played a brilliant game as long as his football tactics were tolerated, producing three tallies. Wismer, at forward, was the man of the hour, repeating his spectacular work which conclusively credits him with skill.

Capt. Frutchey at center showed the edge in keenness and prowess. Paine

Editorial Comment

Hardly a day passes but that the newspapers and magazines of the country frame sensational headlines about the college student. He is characterized as an idler, spendthrift, scatterbrained fop by men who are responsible for the development of his better qualities. He is accused of superficiality and his weaknesses are exploited and microscopically revealed for the entertainment and ridicule of a gullible public by those organs of "truth and justice"—the newspapers.

Granted that there are thousands of students in college to-day whose abilities, morals and ideals are questionable. But how about the thousands of earnest young men and women who are striving to develop in themselves those attributes which the modern exponents of higher education would have us believe are as rare as a day in June? Does not the shadow of the cloud of censure fall upon these innocent as well as upon the deserving?

Blinded by their learning and surrounded by the husks of conservatism these self-satisfied, self-sacrificing, office-bound devotees to the cause of education launch one penned attack after another upon the undergraduates they have pledged society to aid and develop. They base their tirades upon their "years of patient observation and intimate connections with undergraduates" whom they feel they fully understand! In proof of this claim they have catalogued student morals with a fervor that almost amounts to radicalism.

If these students of the moral and mental status of the undergraduate are so altruistically interested in their task why do they not seek solutions rather than notoriety in the treatment of this vexatious problem. Let them devote a few of their superior cerebral convolutions to the finding of means for the attack and dissemination of collegiate evils. It clearly appears like a case of "passing the buck" by a responsible party. Is it fair?

INTERNATIONALISM.

The cure for the world's ills, according to Dr. John Mez, Washington correspondent of the Frankfurter Zeitung, may be found in the substitution of internationalism for nationalism. This is an opinion which more than one political writer of the day holds and it is well founded. Nationalism, biologists now believe, is the result of environment and not of heredity, and since nationalism is the cause of war, the elimination of war depends on altering the environment.

The great practical difficulty, however, lies in the fact that any such alteration is a matter of education. If we can begin at the bottom and bring up the next generation of the world's millions in an internationalistic atmosphere in the course of a few generations wars will be no longer possible. It may result in a further substitution of class for nationalistic conflict but we must run the risk of that. In the meantime, however, war will continue to be as imminent as ever.

Frankly utilitarian, we believe that honesty is the best policy because it pays. And it does pay for the individual because there is an organized society to make dishonesty unprofitable. But what is there to make national dishonesty—or aggression or whatever—unprofitable? Nothing that is evident to the eyes of the majority; therefore when in the crisis of war nationalism comes rampant to the fore, we say "A fig for rules!"

If we are to abolish war forever we must do it by means of educating the coming generations out of the materialistic viewpoint. If we are to abolish war in the immediate future we must also devise some scheme for making worth while the sacrifice of a nation's interests for those of the world. This, in our opinion, constitutes the argument in favor of some sort of a superstate where in the form of a league or an association of nations.—Harvard Crimson

ZWINGLIAN LITERARY SOCIETY

An unusually high number of Zwingers gathered in the Society hall on Friday last to enjoy a program that was of exceptional excellence. The meeting was featured by the transaction of much important business.

"Dog House" Orchestra," Mr. Flitter leader, the first number of the program unearthed a number of excellent musicians, who produced a volume of sound and a variety of gestures that immediately made them famous as jazz artists.

"Modern Essayists," Miss Hoover, was made up of a brief biography of the modern essayists among whom were Thoreau, Muir, and Burroughs.

An impromptu performance by Mr. Glass was well received and furnished a source of laughter for some minutes.

"Samples of American Humor," Miss Frutchey, proved one of the most delightful numbers on the program, the excellence of the selections being added to by Miss Frutchey's admirable interpretation of a scene from Tom Sawyer.

"Today's Novelists," Mr. C. Bright, contained a fund of valuable information and gave evidence of a great deal of preparation. It was Mr. Bright's first appearance on the Zwinglian platform.

"Flute Solo," Mr. Neuroth, added further to Mr. Neuroth's reputation as a musician.

The "Zwinglian Review" was read by Mr. Deibler in the absence of Mr. Howells.

Miss Elizabeth Holloway and Miss Reba Muschlitz were formally installed as recording secretary and musical director.

'11. Harry W. Mathieu, in addition to his regular duties with the Fisher Machine Company of Philadelphia, is promoting the sales of a patent jar top. He is putting a number of salesmen on the road.

Y. M. C. A.

The weekly devotional meeting was held in the Social Rooms on Wednesday evening, January 25th. The meeting formed a welcome means of needed and helpful diversion for the week of examinations and was attended by a large number of fellows. After some spirited singing, Mr. Zandt read the scripture lesson from the 22nd chapter of Acts and Mr. Ehlman offered prayer.

The speaker of the meeting was Mr. C. Z. Gordon, a second year student at the University of Pennsylvania Law School, and a member of the 1920 graduating class of Yale University. The subject of his talk was "Will-power".

"The purpose of this talk," said Mr. Gordon "is to bring out and emphasize a universal quality in human nature—will power. Paul Schroeder, who made the world's altitude record several years ago, and those who battle with a smile, fearlessly and cheerfully against poverty and want, illustrate two different kinds of will power, but there is in both, that spirit of determination which brooks no defeat. Every human being is endowed with a certain measure of success—we need it to succeed even in the lesser things of life. All along the course of civilization, beginning with the savage—will power has played a prominent part in the forward march of progress.

"In art and literature we have some admirable demonstrations of strong wills, which are mostly overlooked. Not in vain did R. L. Stevenson battle against a terrible disease but he has left to the world a treasure not soon to be forgotten. Wm. Cowper did not surrender, when he was informed that he faced insanity. With supreme determination to win, he retired to his home at Olney where he wrote a number of beautiful hymns. Poe and Milton fought against immense odds, and left to the world, in spite of handicaps, undying memorials. In the world of music, our admiration goes out to Beethoven, who composed his greatest masterpieces while unable to hear a note.

"The history of the Christian church and religion is filled with heroic figures, whose 'wills' were a driving force. It is the story of tortured men facing great odds with supreme will power. Will power fills the breach between a Christian existence and a Christian life. It is the all important virtue. Christ furnishes the finest example of the 'power of will' as he faced unflinchingly a death which he might have avoided.

"Last of all let me say that God is depending upon us to use our will power. In spreading abroad the gospel it is our hope in the face of trials. And Christ has no other place for spreading his gospel except thru men. We cannot, we dare not fail Him."

SCHAFF LITERARY SOCIETY

The general literary program in Schaff last Friday night was of unusual brilliancy. With few exceptions all the numbers were stellar. Two especially good papers featured—a criticism of Poe by Miss Snape and a student life of Poe by Miss Gross. The Hippodrome leavened the program with its light and entertaining wit.

Miss Knipe's piano solo opened the program, Mr. Truitt read from Poe, and Mr. Wm. Miller gave a biography of Poe. Messrs. Reifsneider and Kulp gave a miniature Hippodrome program and Miss Deibert recited. Miss Snape followed with her criticism of Poe after which Mr. Gobrecht's orchestra—Misses Kurtz, Poley, Sara Hinkle and Marian Hersberger and Mr. Kaufman rendered several numbers. Miss Gross read the student Life of Poe. The Gazette followed.

The newly-elected officers were installed. Mr. Newitt, the new president, made a fine address. Miss Richman '21 was present and spoke.

Mr. Regar, who so ably coached the Anniversary Play, "When Knighthood Was in Flower" was presented with a token of the appreciation of the Society for his arduous labor.

The Philadelphia Record reports the death of Dr. Levi Oberholtzer, of Phoenixville, Pa., last Friday. Dr. Oberholtzer was a graduate of Free-land Seminary and the father of George Kurtz Oberholtzer '99, deceased.

JANUARY DANCE

SOCIAL SUCCESS

Students Trot Away Examination Troubles at Monthly Function

The January dance was a success in spite of the frigidity of the Field Cage. The Arctic atmosphere was calculated to cool the most ardent devotee of Terpsichore but with the abandon inspired by the fact that exams were over, the neophytes enjoyed every dance. As before, Brunner's Harmony Boys furnished excellent music.

Mr. and Mrs. Gawthrop and Mr. and Mrs. Cornog made their debut at chaperones along with Prof. and Mrs. Small, who have acted in this capacity before.

The committee in charge consisted of Mr. Sheely, chairman, Misses Muschlitz, Achenbach, and Weigley, Messrs. Kulp, William Miller, and Williams.

Boiler House Wall Falls at Night

Considerable excitement was created on the night of January 13 when passers-by put in an alarm of fire at the boiler house. What seemed to be huge clouds of smoke proved to be steam escaping from a broken feed pipe. After an entrance had been forced it was discovered that the ten inch wall, which acted as a retaining wall of the great coal bin, had given way under the strain of the fifty-five tons of coal behind it, and in falling, had broken off one of the feed valves at one end of the boilers. After "Jack" Hoag, the fireman, had released the safety valve and permitted all the harnessed steam to escape thru the roof, the break was quickly repaired. The most of the damage done was the entire demolition of the nine foot wall as well as the smashing of the door at the side entrance. Luckily no one was in the building when the accident occurred.

A more substantial retaining wall will be erected before the attempt is again made to store so large a quantity of coal.

Four students have been discontinued as members of the College on account of total failure in their studies.

The Tower Window

THE scholarship records of Ursinus athletes present an interesting study. We have before us the grades of forty-three men selected at random from the athletic roster of the past twenty years. The list is made up of about two from each class. In addition to the grades which in themselves tell an interesting story, there is the personal knowledge which we have of each man as a student, and an acquaintance with the record each man has made thus far in his life work since graduation. The facts from all these fields of interest go to make up an interesting story of athletics and scholarship at Ursinus.

We find that these forty-three men have together 1,045 grades and that these are distributed as follows: A, 332; B, 401; C, 227; D, 76; E, 9. Seventy per cent of all the grades made by these athletes are B or better. Thirty-two per cent of them are A grades. We have not at hand the percentage of similar grades made by the entire student body but we are inclined to believe that these athletes are above the average of the college as a whole. And this is true notwithstanding the fact that some of the most scholarly athletes the College has ever turned out are not included in the random list. For example, among those not listed are two who afterwards became Ph. D.'s from two of the best universities in America and who are today both university professors and research scholars.

Among those on the list before us are men who made exceptional undergraduate records. One has to his credit 26 A's and 1 B, another 20 A's and 4 B's, two have 21 A's and 4 B's each. One student, a man who with no other athletic training than that which he got on Patterson Field and with comparatively little university study after completing the course at Ursinus, became a college professor, a author of widely used textbooks in his field, and a football coach famous for his success in turning out winning teams. He has all A's to his credit on the College records. There is not a man on the list who has not been successful in his occupation since graduation. Eight have become physicians; twelve, ministers; three, lawyers; eight, teachers; two, foreign missionaries; and ten, business men. Twelve engaged in coaching school and college athletic teams for a time after graduation.

The average athlete, as determined by the forty-three cases studied, received 8 A's, 9 B's, 5 C's and 2 D's—certainly a creditable record. This is due no doubt to the policy always adhered to at Ursinus of making scholarship of first importance. This policy has not interfered with successful athletics and it certainly results, as this study shows, in producing successful athletes.

It is a distinct honor to be an athlete in a college whose athletic traditions have been formed by men of such high grade.

Athletic Committee Appoints Snyder As Acting Basketball Manager

At a meeting of the Athletic Committee held last Friday evening, communication was brought before the committee from Melvin Rahn stating his inability to continue the duties of basketball managership due to illness. A statement from his attending physician that Rahn would not be able to take up basketball any more this season, prompted the appointment of W. Harry Snyder as acting manager. Announcement concerning completed plans for the Ursinus-Albright football game for next season was given by Graduate Manager Paul A. Mertz. This game will be played on a neutral field in Reading, Pa., and will be sponsored by the University Club of that city.

ALUMNI NOTES

'88. Prof. James Leuba, of Bryn Mawr College, has been abroad since the first of May, 1921, and expects to return to his duties in September of this year.

'91. Rev. Irwin F. Wagner, of Reading, Pa., has been recently unanimously elected as pastor of the Elsmere Presbyterian church, Wilmington, Del., and will shortly remove to that place. He was for nearly ten years pastor of the historic Lower Providence Presbyterian church at Eagleville, Pa., resigning in September, 1917, and has recovered sufficiently from a severe nervous breakdown and siege of rheumatic trouble to again take up the active duties of the ministry. Mr. Wagner is the father of L. Bernice Wagner, '20, now instructor of Music and English in the DuPont High School, Wilmington, also organist of Westminster Presbyterian Church, that city, and Helen Wagner, a member of the Freshman class at the College. His many friends wish him success in his new field.

'11. Harry W. Mathieu is commander of the American Legion Post 119 at Collegeville, succeeding Clarence W. Scheuren '17.

THE MINISTRY OF TODAY

Rev. Nevin D. Bartholomew, '02 of the New Era Movement

It is very necessary that the minister of today know men as well as books. He must know the people of his own parish. Faithful pastoral work is necessary not only as a means of ministering to the sick and the aged, but still more as a means to successful preaching. No man can preach successfully for any length of time to an audience of strangers.

I am also aware of the fact that the ministry of today demands business tact, careful planning and scientific methods. The man who will depend solely on his preaching for success will be disappointed. Our age demands more of us than mere preaching however acceptable our preaching may be. Organization, scientific advertising, efficiency in getting things done, are key-words in the business world. These methods have brought results in business; and business men in the Church will demand that the work of the Kingdom be done in a business-like way.

But there is a pitfall right here Under the spell which the idea of a practical ministry is fastening upon us too many good brethren are spending the major portion of their time and energy devising schemes to induce people to come and hear them preach, while they are neglecting that careful preparation which alone can make it worth while for anyone to hear them. It is my honest conviction that nothing good as it may be in itself, can atone for the sin of neglecting the study.

Paul in one of his Letters, refers to gifts bestowed upon men in the Church as follows: "And He gave to some to be apostles; and some evangelists; and some, pastors and teachers." To fulfill his function every pastor must also be a teacher. The Church needs desperately a teaching ministry.

If I were asked to state what in my judgment, is the besetting sin of the ministry as I have had opportunity to observe it, I would have to say with all sincerity that it is our ceasing to be real students after we leave the Theological Seminary. The work of the preparation of our ministry is not completed when we leave the Theological Seminary. It has only begun then. Preparation for a successful ministry must continue all through life. No man is a faithful minister of the Lord Jesus Christ until he has become as good a preacher as it is possible for him to be

RESERVES LOSE TO BETHLEHEM PREP. AND NAZARETH HIGH SCHOOL OVER WEEK-END

The scrubs played two games on Saturday losing a hard fought game to Bethlehem Prep. while the poor floor at Nazareth High spelled defeat for the Collegeville lads.

The Bethlehem score was 48-23 while at Nazareth the final count stood 21-15. The Bethlehem score seems to have resembled an utter rout, but many "lucky" shots from mid-floor while the five man defense was waiting for the play, were responsible for at least 20 of the Bethlehem total points. Reese, Kirkwood and Mazona registered fourteen "buckets" between them and had a merry time with their long, archy shots.

The bright light in our defeat was Sheely, our petite forward, who was opposed by Kirkwood, Bethlem's giant guard, but slipped thru and past his man for four pretty two-pointers which brought large ovations from the crowd. Kauffman with three two-pointers and 3 fouls led in scoring for the scrubs. Yarnall played his initial game for the scrubs and performed in good style.

Line-up:
Ursinus Reserves Beth. Prep
Sheely (Capt.) forward Reese
Hunter forward Mazona
Kauffman center .. Humpleby
(Capt.)

Wikoff guard Kirkwood
Kulp guard Ziegenfuss
Field goals—Reese, 5; Kirkwood, 5; Mazona, 4; Ziegenfuss, 3; Humpleby, 2; Sample, 2; Sheely, 4; Yarnall, 2; Kauffman, 3. Foul goals—Mazona, 6 out of 13; Kauffman, 3 out of 7; Yarnall, 2 out of 5.

Nazareth 21—Ursinus Reserves 15

In the evening the scrubs, still full of pep, traveled to Nazareth where the High School team was met. The cage which was very long and narrow puzzled the 'Sinus passers, who found it hard passing the three Nazareth players who covered the entire width of the floor. The Nazareth players dribbled along the wall and in this way were able to get thru the defense of the scrubs. Owing to the low ceiling man of the scrubs long shots hit the wall and went for nought. Allen, the High School star, played well for his team and led in individual scoring.

For Ursinus each man succeeded in getting a two-pointer. Yarnall in 12 tries from the twelve foot mark, succeeded in caging four.

The line-up:
Ursinus Reserves Nazareth High
Yarnall forward Allen
Sheely forward Roberts
Kauffman center Kummer
Deitz guard Black
Wikoff guard Sedian
Field goals—Sheely, 1; Yarnall, 1; Kauffman, 1; Deitz, 1; Kulp, 1; Wikoff, 1; Allen, 4; Roberts, 2; Sedian. Foul goals—Yarnall, 4 out of 12; Allen, 8 out of 15.

Woman Lecturer Commands Attention

unknown shores of the new land was the result of the acceptance of the challenge by those staunch believers. All these people accepted the challenge. But what of those to whom Jesus spoke who did not take his word literally because they did not have faith.

So in our life to-day the challenge is ever before us, and many are its illustrations in everyday life. Conditions among immigrants in America are an excellent example. What America does for these helpless folk shows the wonderful spirit of America and the great duty to humanity of which it is capable. But what of the prevalent apathy and indifference to the challenge? Could we only realize this challenge which is upon us today. It is flung to the men and women and to the boys and girls to lift the banner of Christ to its highest pinnacle. Thousands say it cannot be done, but if we buckle down, it can be done.

Even an innocent goat may do a poor college student a favor. When one entered the hall of a western college, it was well along in the mastication of a certain chemistry quizz paper before it was discovered. Students repaid the debt of gratitude by providing an evening repast consisting of high-grade tin cans.

New Students

New students who were admitted at mid-years include the following: Edna Heimer, Norristown; Andrew Stein, Nesquehoning; Hiroshi Ohno, Tokio, Japan; Roland Wismer, Norristown; and Robert Smith, Pottstown.

Mr. Wismer was formerly an engineering student at Penn State but has been more recently employed at his home in Norristown. At Penn State he played upon the Freshmen basketball team. He has already made a place for himself on the 'varsity at Ursinus. Mr. Smith comes to Ursinus from Penn State where he entered as an art student last fall.

Olevianites Entertain

Olevian social hour on Saturday night took the form of a real party since all the members participated. At 7.30 original identification cards of various colors and descriptions announced the arrival of "titled" guests from Derr, Freeland and Dog House. Games of unusual amusement and merriment portraed likes, dislikes, individual talents and abilities of all present. Sandwiches, cocoa, and ice cream added a tasty touch to the happy evening. A little figure costumed in red, old gold and black crepe paper accompanied each guest home, and doubtless now graces the walls of some rooms in the respective halls.

Miss Marguerite Moyer '21, and friend, Miss Elizabeth Snyder, both teachers in Birdsboro, and Miss Mazie Richman '21, teacher in Bridgeton, N. J., were visitors over the week end.

'09. A son was born to Dr. and Mrs. Francis C. Krusen, of Norristown, on Tuesday last.

Basketball Originated At Mount Union College

Mount Union College claims to be the originator of basketball. A tablet in the gymnasium has an inscription to the effect that the first game was played there in March, 1892. "The Wynomo," the student publication, says, "We know of no other college in the United States which can establish the claim that basketball was played previously to this date."—Exchange.

Chickens Send Student To College

A flock of nine hundred White Leghorns with an average production of six hundred eggs per day during the laying season is sending a student thru Witmarsum Seminary at Bluffton, Ohio.

University of Kansas—In a survey at the University of Kansas, it was found that the average expense of the average student there was $827.29 annually. It was found that fifty per cent. of the students earned all the money they spent, and seventeen per cent. earned all of it while at school.

Varsity in Cage Duel Humbles Swarthmore

held down the right forward position in a very creditable manner. His reappearance on the floor has greatly strengthened the morale of the Red and Black cagemen. For Swarthmore, Yarnall stood out particularly. His uncanny eye, accurate passing and skillful shots kept Ursinus' eyes continually upon him.

Line-up:
Swarthmore Ursinus
Baxter forward Wismer
Dieterlie forward Paine
Ogden center Frutchey
Yarnall guard Gotshalk
Earnshaw guard Evans
Subs—Grenhart for Baxter; Kengle for Evans. Field goals—Ogden, 2; Earnshaw, 3; Yarnall, 4; Frutchey, 2; Paine, 3; Evans, 3; Wismer, 4; Kengle. Foul goals—Earnshaw, 12; Paine, 9. Referee—Tigert. Time—Two 20-minute halves.

Ursinus Loses to Villanova By One Point

have worked wonders with the 'Sinus lads. From the first toss-up they passed and dribbled about the Villanova lads with great speed. With only ten minutes played the score was tie. First "Wissie" would cut in for a two-pointer, followed closely by Frutchey. Kengle and Evans also added long two-pointers. On the defense, the five man defense gave way to an individual guarding game and it worked very well. The close guarding made the Villanova shots erratic.

The dying minutes were hard fought. Villanova never held over a one-point advantage during this time. The fans were calling for the Ursinus lads to come thru with a brilliant victory, but the final whistle blew as Frutchey was getting set for a long try.

Considering the record made thus far by Villanova Ursinus showed it has a team to be feared. Up to now the foul shooting has been ragged, but that department seems to be in good hands, for Wismer failed only once in eight tries from the 12 foot mark in the second half. The remaining games should be more than interesting for their opponents.

Ryan, Krieg and Capt. Longhlon played well for Villanova while Wismer brought joy to Ursinus chances for success in the remaining games.

The line-up:
Ursinus Villanova
Wismer forward Ryan
Frutchey (Capt) forward Gray
Kengle center Krieg
Evans guard Longhlon (Capt.)
Gottshalk guard Pickett
Field goals—Krieg 5; Ryan, Gray, Pickett, Longhlon, Wismer 3; Frutchey, 3; Kengle, Gottshalk. Foul goals—Ryan, 11 out of 13; Wismer, 12 out of 19. Substitutions—Francella for Longhlon. Referee—Zimmerman.
