Roosevelt Scores Smashing Victory In Electoral College; Barkley, Bates, Bradley Win

Rowan Goes To FDR, Tom Yates, Bradley

Bradley Carries County Over Cox By 319 Majority

Franklin D. Roosevelt carried Rowan County for the fourth consecutive time as he registered a majority of 129 electors. Dewey in Tuesday's spirited balloting. The total vote was: Roosevelt 1,944, Dewey 1,815.

The President assumed a lead as No. 4 (Elliottville) precinct was counted, held an even hundred majority when the counting ceased Monday night with the tabulation of 10 precincts, relinquished it momentarily as the heavy Republican Plank (No. 15) precinct was tabulated and then carried four of the last five precincts to run up his majority.

Sen. Barkley carried the county with 32 votes, Republican nominee for Congress, carried Rowan County by 11 votes over incumbent Joe B. Bates, who won reelection in the district by overwhelming majority, held a lead of 28 votes going into the last precinct, but Bushy 20 gave Yates a 38 majority to enable him to carry the county.

Sen. Willis' margin of victory over the County Judge's race after five or six precincts had been tabulated. Luther Bradley, Republican, assumed a lead in Farmers (No. 2) precinct and never relinquished it. His final majority was 319.

Herbert Hoover, Democratic nominee for County Judge, kept almost up with the usual trend in the rural section in the Presidential election the voting was close throughout the county. President Roosevelt carried 14 precincts. They included all five Morehead precincts, Numbers 1, 7, 10, 18, and 19. In the rural vote he carried 19 of the 25 precincts. No. 5, Haldeman, Wagner, Farmers No. 11, Dry Creek, Hayes six precincts, Farmers No. 2, Piery, Cranston, McKenzie, Plank and Brushy No. 20.

Tom Yates, Republican candidate for Congress, ran a good race in Elliott, picking up a cross-voted and holding Congressmen Bates' majority there to 684.

Wins Fourth Term By Near Landslide

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT, President of the United States, Tuesday by an electoral majority that approached a landslide. His popular vote majority was between four and five million, about the same as he defeated Wendell Willkie in 1940.

On the crest of a tremendous fourth-term victory wave, President Roosevelt rode to enhanced prestige and power today in America and a warring world. As nations watched and awaited the results of the election, it was apparent that soon the Chief Executive must bring into use his newly strengthened power in international affairs. Another meeting with Winston Churchill, Prime Minister of Britain, and Josef Stalin, Premier of Russia, in the cards within a matter of weeks—for a look at the war and plans to be generated for assuring lasting peace.

Dewey Gets Soldier Vote In Rowan

Although the national trend showed that President Roosevelt ran substantially ahead of Tom Dewey in soldier and absentee voting throughout the nation this did not hold good in Rowan County.

The two candidates had about an even break on absentee ballots cast in Morehead precincts but from the rural sections Dewey got the ballots of Rowan County's absentee voters by a majority of three or four to one.

An example of this absentee voting may be gleaned from the defeated Republican vote in the county, always going four or five to one for the Democrats. This vote held up Tuesday as Roosevelt received 75 ballots for Dewey, but in the absentee voting there were six Republican votes against a lone Democrat.

In Haldeman, another Democratic precinct, Roosevelt received but one absentee ballot, in Elliottville he didn't get an absentee vote. This general trend held good in 31 precincts outside of Morehead, refuting claims of the Democrats that they held an edge on the absentee votes.

Dewey's advantage on absentee votes in Rowan County was very evident.

Morehead's oldest grocery—The S. L. Allen Store—which has done business from the same corner on Railroad Street for 45 years will be reconstructed from the embers of last week's disastrous fire which wiped it out. The Peoples Hotel out, Mr. Allen the owner, said today.

Qual, Rabbit Season To Open

Hunters were reminded today by Earl Wallace, director of the Division of Game and Fish, of the opening of the hunting season on rabbits and quail November 10th and ends December 31. The second half of the squirrel season begins November 24 and ends December 31. Trapping season begins December 1 and ends January 31.

Michigan Finally In FDR Column

President Wins In 36 States, Dewey Carries 12

Latest returns show that President Roosevelt has a probably carried Michigan, giving him 36 states to 12 for Dewey; 432 electoral votes to 98 and 23,841,460 popular votes to Dewey's 20,926,075 with some 10,000 precincts in the nation to be counted.

On the crest of a tremendous fourth-term victory wave, President Roosevelt rode to enhanced prestige and power today in America and a warring world. As nations watched and awaited the results of the election, it was apparent that soon the Chief Executive must bring into use his newly strengthened power in international affairs. Another meeting with Winston Churchill, Prime Minister of Britain, and Josef Stalin, Premier of Russia, in the cards within a matter of weeks—for a look at the war and plans to be generated for assuring lasting peace.

Latest returns built higher and higher the barrier of ballots cast for Roosevelt by Dewey, Republican, and the White House chair for which he battled so strenuously.

There was even a chance that final counts would leave Dewey with fewer than ten states and 82 electoral votes which Wendell Willkie captured four years ago.

Hershey Recalls 'Loan'

For Roosevelt, 35 states with 413 electoral votes. For Dewey, 118 votes.

And, of 42,394,340 popular votes thus far tabulated in 111-112 of 108,107 voting units, Roosevelt took 22,520,210 to Dewey's 19,873,460.

New Jersey had loaned its support and 16 electoral votes to the defeated Republican for a time but snatched them back in a hurry Oregon, in the Dewey column almost from the start of the tabulating, shifted to Roosevelt with a third of the precincts still out.

Democratic inroads into Republican territory in the Senate and House bulkwarked the President's position in dealing not only with foreign affairs but also with domestic problems.

Final December 5

The complete picture of America's first wartime presidential election since 1864 will not be drawn until December 5, when the final votes from fox hole and fox's are known. On the basis of isolated tallies in widely scattered areas, it looked as if the men among them in uniformly balloted approximately 5-1 kept their commander-in-chief.

State ballot tabulations placed in the men among them, more apparent that Dewey could claim only the Middle West as his own. That was where he got most of his states and most of his electoral votes.

In 11 Southern and five border states it was a clean sweep for Roosevelt and the East and Far West went as strongly for him as the Midwest did for Dewey.

In a number of the other areas Dewey had made a race of it in the early going but his pace soon fell off. State after state dropped until the only big ones left to him were Michigan, Ohio and Indiana.

And in Michigan most of the remaining count was in Wayne County and the industrial Detroit, where Roosevelt backing was heaviest. In Ohio, with more than 3,000,000 votes recorded and 124 precincts, 118,900 votes divided the rival tickets.

WAR EMERGENCY calls for MORE PULPWOOD

RECENT CHANGES in the War situation on both fronts have skyrocketed demands for pulpwood products.
 The Pacific timetable has been stepped up—and so have the needs for packaging materials and shipping containers made of pulpwood.
 Prospects of a Winter War in Europe require many additional tons of supplies packaged in pulpwood products.
The importance of quality
 Only the best is good enough for our boys, and you can't make the best munitions and supplies from wood that is rotted, charred or excessively crooked and knotty.
 Make every axe-stroke count. Cut only wood that is sound and straight.

The American Way

As you read this you will know who has been elected President of the United States—whether Franklin D. Roosevelt has, by the mandate of the people, been re-elected whether the majority of Americans have picked Thomas E. Dewey.

This is being written before the election. Regardless of whether it will be Franklin D. Roosevelt or Tom Dewey, we, as all Americans, have abided by our democratic rule—that the majority shall decide. No matter who is elected he is my President and your president for the next four years.

The American democracy is something that the entire world cannot understand. When Japan attacked Pearl Harbor — when Germany and Italy declared war on the United States they little dreamed that Americans could work so well together. They did not think that we could produce 105,000 airplanes in one year; they entertained considerable belief that ours was a nation divided. But, once again America showed the world how democracy does work. Real democracy where we overlook the smaller details and concentrate on the main objective.

Regardless of who is elected President the winning of the war must be the number one aim. Then must come the peace and we, of both political parties have dedicated ourselves towards seeing that a lasting peace is formulated.

During the present political campaign there has been much bitterness, much mud-slinging—much untruth. But the vast majority by American take this in stride because it is American politics. Now, that the heat of the battle is passed we resume our lives determined, as we have always to cooperate, regardless of who our commander-in-chief is.

Morehead Offers Ample Facilities For A Family

Morehead business and professional men and civel-minded individuals will meet tonight (Thursday) with two men relative to the establishment of a factory in Morehead. This factory will probably manufacture garments.

We are not in a position to discuss the pro's and con's of this particular proposition since we know so little of what it is. But we are able to talk knowingly of what Morehead offers as a factory site.

First, Morehead stands at a cross-roads with one main highway leading east and west and another north and south. It is a focal point for this section of Kentucky. It is served by truck lines and by the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Company thereby offering excellent transportation facilities, an item that must always be considered in the location of a factory or any industrial plant.

Secondly, although war conditions have made male labor the supply of both male and female workers here is almost unlimited. Besides the people that live in town and those on the outskirts Morehead has a large number of year-round feeder roads into town thereby giving any plant the opportunity to employ men or women from our rural sections.

In the third place we are not so far from large distributing centers. For example, Huntington, the largest city in West Virginia, only 70 miles distant.

Morehead's climate is good. It's utilities for any factory are entirely adequate. Morehead itself is inductive to bring people here to live. The Morehead State Teachers College, one of Kentucky's four largest institutions of higher learning, helps offer unlimited educational opportunities for the executives of a factory and for the workers likewise.

We have two sound, growing and progressive banks, an item always taken into consideration by men planning to locate factories.

Morehead has maintained a steady growth for twenty years and is still climbing. After the war, its rise should be more rapid.

Unquestionably, Morehead needs a factory. A plant employing female labor would probably be more adaptable here, since we have an almost unlimited and untapped supply of such workers. Morehead needs a factory. On the other hand, we feel sure that any business could locate here with assurances of success for the reasons named above.

Health Is A Personal Matter

Before the war, medical authorities predicted that in a comparatively few years tuberculosis would be virtually eradicated. A major tragedy of the present conflict has been the defeat of this prediction. The incidence of tuberculosis has gone up sharply. It has always been so in time of great stress, and in spite of the best efforts of enlightened medical men, the present emergency has been no exception. However, worse than the increase of tuberculosis is the reluctance of the infected individuals to take the proper action.

James G. Stone, of the National Tuberculosis Association, declares that: "More cases of tuberculosis are being found today than ever before, and fewer patients are in tuberculosis hospitals. The temptation of high wages in war industries is causing many to stay out of hospitals and accept jobs."

He emphasized that the proper program for control of tuberculosis consists of three parts: finding the cases, hospitalization, and education of the patient and public to the seriousness of the disease.

It may surprise some to learn that persuading the public to use readily available facilities, even where the question of financial ability is not involved, is one of the most difficult problems of the medical profession.

30 For The Mt. Sterling Gazette

Last week an institution in this section of Kentucky passed out of the picture. We speak of The Mt. Sterling Gazette which had been published continuously for nearly 61 years.

Started in 1884 by the late John C. Wood, The Gazette has been published in more recent years by W. Hoffman Wood.

We have seldom agreed with the Gazette politically. But, we would have defended with everything in our power their right to say it. Furthermore, we have never doubted but that the publishers were sincere in their policy.

It is with regret that we see The Gazette cease publication. Its purchase by N. A. Perry, editor of the Mt. Sterling Sentinel-Democrat, gives that newspaper a large circulation list and assures the Gazette's former readers a good weekly publication.

The News Is Not A Matrimonial Agency

In the last issue of The Rowan County News we carried an advertisement in the classified section, reading: "If you want to bet married write—"

This advertisement was supposed to also run in this issue and several future editions of it. However, we have deleted it from our columns and have notified the advertiser that we will hereafter refuse all such advertising matter.

The advertisement has been called to our attention by several people. One good friend, a merchant in Morehead—has helpfully suggested that it cheapens our paper. We agree with him. To however, we cannot recommend a matrimonial bureau of this kind. We offer the suggestion that if you're a woman and want to get married and just can't seem to find your mate that you are not discouraged. There will be plenty of eligible men one of these days. Just keep waiting and he'll come along. It is the just reward of perseverance and faith.

If you are a man and you want to marry you should find no trouble. The woods are full of eligible women now. Just look and act your best and we'll make you a two-to-one bet that you won't have to wait long.

But, in the meantime the columns of this newspaper will not constitute a go-between for any matrimonial agency. But, if there is some deserving man or woman in Rowan County or vicinity pining their life away for a mate, we may consider advertising your particular case. And, we pride ourselves in that advertising in The News always gets results.

Science Joins the Fight

Fire prevention week is past, but during those seven days of concentrated battle against fire the public learned the new weapons to combat uncontrolled fire. Among those weapons are such ingenious sounding devices as fog, foam and snow.

One story told how a munitions ship collided with a tanker off the East Coast a few months ago. The crash exploded and sank the munitions ship and turned the tanker into a raging inferno. By all the rules, the tanker should have been a total loss. It wasn't.

Two hours after the accident, Navy fire fighters arrived with some of the latest fire fighting tools. By then the heat was unbelievable. Bronze fittings melted like hot chocolate. Ahead of the Navy men as they went aboard the ship, traveled a ball of hissing fog. Sheltered behind it, they advanced toward the ship's stern. Arrived at the stern, they applied another modern fire fighting miracle: foam. From special nozzles they shot a smother of snowy bubbles which struck on everything. The bubbles piled up in the tanks, floating on the burning gasoline like super-vapors, choking out the fuel had been saved.

The mysterious fog that saved that ship was made by dozens of needle-fine streams of water rushing from a hose at 100 miles an hour. Backed by 150 pounds of pressure, these streams, aimed to shatter against each other, broke up—literally a million of water into 20,000,000,000 particles—literally a cooling fog.

Snow, another fire-fighting miracle is liquid carbon dioxide sprayed under high pressure. It leaves the nozzle at 100 degrees below zero. No fire can withstand it.

In spite of everything that has been done to prevent and extinguish fire, the tragic fact remains that fire losses are still rising—because we as a nation are too lazy and indifferent to use what science has given us!

The highest wisdom is continual cheerfulness; such a state, like the religion above the moon, is always clear and serene.

—Montaigne.

IT HAPPENED IN MOREHEAD

(FROM THE EDITOR'S DESK)

Commendable Service

Some quick thinking and fast work on the part of Frank Maxey, local manager for The Kentucky Utilities Co., enabled a large section of Morehead to have power and lights several hours before they ordinarily would have lost week.

The large fire at The Peoples Hotel and Allen's Grocery played havoc with some main lines that carried the current to almost half of the city. While the fire was still raging, Mr. Maxey, realizing that "restoration of the current entailed a big job, got in touch with a crew working between Richmond and Versailles, some 80 miles away. They made a record trip to Morehead, and as soon as the fire had been sufficiently cubed to permit them to go to work the crew pitched in under Mr. Maxey's supervision. At six o'clock that evening the current had been restored.

The Editor's Friend

The one thing that will make the editor gnash his teeth and the mechanical force rise up in arms is for you to bring in advertisements with the paper in the paper" at the last minute or a news story that "simply must be in this edition" just as the forms are being closed. It is one of the things that all weekly papers, and dailies, too, for that matter, must contend with. But our advertisers and merchants and people are very cooperative in this respect.

We write the above in order to let our advertisers appreciate this cooperation. For instance Dr. Fred Dudley handles a great deal of the publicity for the Morehead Electric Enterprise. At present he is commencing doing this in the War Fund. We have found that Dr. Dudley, although not a paid member of the staff, is very cooperative. His copy almost mark down the minute when his copy will arrive further, he has that spirit of cooperation with the paper. His copy is also well edited and neatly typed. Another example is that of Ray Wendel and the Stockyards. Just as soon as the sales have been computed each Tuesday they fill out their reports and he'll come along. It is with clock-like regularity. There are many others just like Dr. Dudley and Mr. Wendel. We just can't tell you how much we like these people.

Religious Tracts

Rev. H. H. Kazee, pastor of the Morehead Baptist Church will shortly have published a tract (that is the religious definition while we call them pamphlets) on religion. It will be the first of several such tracts that the Morehead pastor is planning. They are different from the ordinary religious tracts in that they incorporate local conditions and are primarily attending for people in this section of Kentucky. A copy of this tract may be seen at our office from Rev. Kazee.

MSTC's Honor Roll

While on a business mission up at the administration building of the Morehead State Teachers College our eyes were naturally attracted to the service flag hanging outside the Registrar's office. It's a beautiful banner or flag, whichever you prefer to call it. It has a red border, a white center and blue and gold stars—the blue forming the background for the numeral "680" and the gold for the figure "9." The "680" represents the number of former students and personnel of the college who are now in Uncle Sam's University of Fighting Men and Women. The "9" seems to stand out boldly and gallantly for it signifies the number that have lost their lives.

Without decoration but with solemnity there reposes a fairly large, red, neat box on a stand underneath the flag. Neatly typed or inscribed in its covers are the names and addresses of these former students and personnel. The book has been painstakingly and neatly kept by Miss Mary Page Milton, the colleges' general and very capable registrar. The front page is headed with a gold star. Underneath this star are nine names.

Our heart was heavy as we read those nine names. We knew each individual and personally brought back memories of the times that we had been together. We recalled the great football plays that Ed Ferrell was remembered for the times that Henry Hogan, an accountant in the business office used one day in speaking of Wayne Woods who was then working his way through college in that office. Mr. Hogan had said: "There is one of the most apt young men we ever had in our college... he's going places in the accounting field." We remembered George McCullough. It just didn't seem possible that there inscribed simply under a gold star was the name of a boy that we saw grow up so fast, the book we found that we knew practically everyone whose a carelessly tossed match or cigarette, an abandoned camp or warming fire, or any other negligence with fire, may cause great damage to woodlands, farm crops, or improvements, he said. Three tops and other debris left behind logging operations have greatly increased the hazard over wide areas.

The inscriptions under the gold star read thusly: Lt. Miller Ashcraft, Winchester, Ky. killed in plane crash, January 1, 1943; A.C. Hurston Cordell, Blaine, Ky. killed in plane crash, March 11, 1943; Lt. Ed Farrell, Louisville, Ky. killed in action, Lt. Cecil M. Hall, Warnock, Ky. killed in plane crash, March 13, 1943; Lt. Ed Farrell, Louisville, Ky. killed in action, Lt. Cecil M. Hall, Warnock, Ky. killed in plane crash, November 1, 1943; Lt. David O. Johnson, Salsersville, Ky. killed in action.

During the past week, the Division of Forestry has extinguished fifteen fires in eastern Kentucky. A total of 318 acres was burned, but one fire in logging slash in an inaccessible section of Leslie County covered 300 acres.

Warnings Against Forest Fires Are Issued In State

Extreme caution in the use of fire in woods and fields was urged today by H. B. Newland, director of the Division of Forestry. "Kentucky's forests are extremely dry and flammable, and we are reminded that we must be extremely careful. Every careless match or cigarette, an abandoned camp or warming fire, or any other negligence with fire, may cause great damage to woodlands, farm crops, or improvements, he said. Three tops and other debris left behind logging operations have greatly increased the hazard over wide areas. During the past week, the Division of Forestry has extinguished fifteen fires in eastern Kentucky. There's an unpaid balance due...

THE minute never comes when any of us can say, "I've done enough." Until the end of the war—and far years thereafter—there'll be an unpaid balance due the men who are winning Victory for us today.

But War Bonds do pay installments on that balance!

Right now, the only protection we can give our boys is guns, the fire quicker, planes that fly faster, and tanks that maneuver better than the enemy's. Your War Bonds help to buy them.

And when the war's over, War Bonds will go on making "payments"—because they'll help the country—including your farm—get back to peacetime prosperity. Let your returning boy find the farm backed with a strong financial reserve in Bonds... for new buildings, new stock, new ma-

2. In proportion to what we are doing, our financial reserves are not too big. MORE MONEY IS NEEDED... NOW!
3. War Bonds provide the fastest and easiest way to increase your financial reserves. They are the only way to increase your financial reserves. They are the only way to increase your financial reserves.

Lookout At Morehead Fire Observatory Points Out How Land Deteriorates And People Become Poor Because Of Fires

By Ray O. Fraley
Lookout at Morehead Observatory, U. S. Forest Service

This year I visited a certain section of the country, a community where I spent my boyhood days running over the hills, bringing home the cows, picking berries, going fishing and swimming. I traveled up the mountain trail horseback and I looked out over the country it seemed to me a tired wornout community. In every cabin I saw tired mothers. Each one seemed to have many babies and few household conveniences. The children were undernourished. The cows had a look as if they were about ready to quit giving milk on nothing but corn fodder and corn nubbins. Gates were hanging on one hinge. Most of the best soil had washed off of the hillsides leaving deep gullies. Part of the fields had been given up to "red brush" and "scrub-pine" and what forest land remained had been burned over often and was not profitable. In this section the roads were bad. The stream bed was filled with silt and debris. The old swimming hole where I caught the big bass was no longer there. There was no longer any fish in the stream. As I moved farther up the trail to where I used to go on my return trip to the swimming hole, get a cold drink of water from a spring that flowed out from under the shade of a large beech tree, the spring was no longer there. The beech tree had been cut. As a whole the country looked a little desolate and it seemed to me that people who lived here were tired of trying to make a living on these hillside farms.

prevent forest fires. They failed to restore and protect their forest boundaries. The community of trees which we call the forest is like the community of persons which we call the human race. If we kill the children what is the future of the human race? If we burn up the little trees what is to become of the forest? Yes, they had let fires kill all the little trees. They had no forest where there should have been forest boundaries. We are careful of fire in our houses because we value them. Why should we not be careful with fire in the woods or forest which furnish the material to build our homes, make improvements on our farm and give our men at home employment or part time employment with their farm work. Preventing fires makes better grazing for cattle, makes a more favorable place for wildlife. After repeated fires we are leaving the community, fresh fish is endangered, hunting in burned woods is poor, game is scarce, dogs track poor by charred leaves, trees make nasty going, thickets of thorn and briars sprang up. Fire is destructive to game and fish and to ruins the sport of hunting and fishing. The loss of soil fertility is the heaviest toll the forest fire takes, when the protective forest cover is destroyed by fire, rainstorms wash away the valuable top soil, gullies form on steep slopes, silt out from under the shade of a large beech tree, the spring was no longer there. The beach tree had been cut. As a whole the country looked a little desolate and it seemed to me that people who lived here were tired of trying to make a living on these hillside farms.

What had caused all this? The answer was they had failed to

Tire Quota Is Increased Some Over October

The November quota of new automobile tires allocated by the War Production Board will be 1,850,000—an increase of 250,000 over the October quota—the OPA announced this week.

OPA said that any broadening of eligibility requirements—that is, to enable "A" ration holders to buy new tires—must wait on three conditions:

- (1) Elimination of the present backlog of 850,000 approved, but unfilled, the applications of eligible "B" and "C" ration holders.
 - (2) An increase in the stocks of new tires in the hands of dealers and distributors to a level of 4 to 5 million. (As of September 30, estimated inventories were at the 2,800,000 level, with completion of September inventories not yet completed.)
 - (3) That the monthly rate of production be sufficiently in excess of "B" and "C" requirements at that time to permit quotas to satisfy a very substantial part of the "A" demand, beginning with the first month of liberalization. Otherwise, the demand for passenger tires might be so great that many essential uses would be denied while non-essential users received tires.
- Not until all these conditions are met can OPA consider including "A" ration holders in the list of eligibles for new passenger car tires.

The time during which leather-soled moccasins with a house-slipper type of construction may be stocked as ration-free footwear has been extended through December 31, the OPA announced this week.

Pvt. Hamm Assists Red Cross Club

NEW CALEDONIA—Pvt. Wm. A. Hamm of Rt. 2, Morehead, Ky., ably assisted the American Red Cross in building a new enlisted men's service club on the beach on this South Pacific island. He helped paint the rafters and walls a soft primrose and the floor a deep red.

The recreation program at this club includes picnics, sightseeing trips, quiz and stage shows from GI talent, dances, pool, ping pong, card games, letter writing, magazines and newspapers from the states. An attractive half-circular snack bar provides continuous service of coffee and doughnuts.

LOOK FORWARD to a World of Peace

Today, America Pays Tribute to Her Fighting Men of Both Wars!

The heroes of World War I live in our hearts yet. We have placed our soldiers of today beside them in a place of honor and set aside a day in which to remember and honor the brave men at Chateau Thierry, to praise the deeds of the soldiers at Argonne and the battle of the Marne. This November 11 they are joined by the fighters of the Philippines, bloody Tarawa, North Africa, and once again, France . . . two generations of Americans in a war for liberty.

The white crosses of war are soundposts to peace. The sacrifices of our men in war have always been made to bring their country peace and happiness regardless of the cost to themselves. They have covered America's name with a blaze of glory, kept for us the liberty past generations strove to win and preserve. These are the men we honor today, the ones for whom we observe a minute of prayerful silence. They died with the belief in their fellow countrymen strong in their hearts, knowing that we would carry on where they left off, not letting them down for a second.

The SOONER the victory the MORE boys who will come home. That great day is coming, and soon. All over America every whistle and bell that has a voice will shout the news, every mother that has a son will thank God, and every citizen of the world that loves Democracy will be free once more. It will truly be a great day. Stirring martial bands will hail the returning heroes as they march down Main Street, a lump will rise in everyone's throat as they recognize their sons and their neighbors' sons. To hasten the joyous day—let's pray, let's work and let's buy Bonds.

Americans know that this is a fight to the finish. Why leave it up to OTHER Americans to win? Play an important part in the big fight.

You'll want to be able to tell your servicemen that you really helped. Be proud to say: "I bought more than my share of bonds!"

The 26th Anniversary Of ARMISTICE DAY

November 11th . . . the 26th anniversary of the original Armistice Day . . . finds the world's greatest Nations again locked in bloody conflict.

That future Armistice Days may mean more, the fervent prayer of every citizen is that World War II accomplish what World War I failed to gain.

If the present struggle will put an end to dictatorship and international outlawry for all time—if it will bring us lasting peace—then the sacrifice of human life and treasure so keenly realized on this 26th Armistice Day will not have been in vain. May God, in His wisdom, direct that result.

I am glad you are sending a package, although I don't suppose I will get it for about a month yet. I get a Red Cross package every week. They sure are a great help. I am glad to hear you are both well. Send me some pictures and ask all the boys and girls to send me some and to write and you write real often.

Pfc. McKenzie Serves In Air Force

AN EIGHTH AIR FORCE LIBERATOR STATION, ENGLAND—Pfc. Charles McKenzie, son of Mr. Holly McKenzie, of Cogswell, Ky., is in a Military police company attached to the B-24 Liberator group commanded by Col. Jacob J. Brogger, of Butterfield, Minn.

The company came to its present post before the group arrived in England. Since then it has had charge of matters of discipline and has furnished protection to the aircraft and government installations on a mission. Under the direction of its Commanding Officer, 1st Lt. Paul T. Olson, of Gloucester, Mass., it has functioned with distinction.

Pvt. McKenzie's company is primarily concerned with the safety of the aircraft while on the ground, and they are proud of the group's record in the all-out bombing of Germany. The group, upon completion of their one hundredth mission, was cited for distinguished and outstanding performance of duty in combat. Dropping tons of bombs on targets in both Germany and France, this unit contributed immeasurably to the aerial war against the enemy.

Beating down all opposition through their own mission, as they fought their way to targets vital to the enemy's war effort, this group succeeded in completing these dangerous missions with a minimum of loss. The extraordinary teamwork, skill and devotion of both air and ground personnel which made possible these accomplishments reflect great credit upon themselves, their organization and the United States Army Air Force.

The M.P. Company's pride is reciprocated by the group, who upon them to give their planes adequate guard while they are stationed on the grounds.

Not As Easy As It Reads

Sgt. Alvie Guiley with the 3rd Army in France has sent us a clipping and picture. The picture is three graves of American soldiers. Another soldier has brought flowers. The article is an editorial from The Stars and Stripes. It was headed: "It's Not As Easy As It Reads." The article follows:

When you read about town after town falling into our hands, you sooner or later get into the frame of mind that it's easy. Well, here's how easy it is. These three Yanks were killed taking a place called Troyes. Ever hear of it? Neither have we.

Anyway, it was taken. "Nice going," we said when we read about it. "The boys are really rolling." These boys rolling days are lives!

done. The town they took so "easily" was the last town they'll ever see. The rest of their outfit moved on to the next town—and took that, too. And the next—and the next. And in every town there are a few GIs like these left by the roadside. Maybe this picture ought to be stuck inside every helmet liner in the ETO, and every Station in the States. Then every time we gloat over the headlines and take off our skimmers to pat ourselves on the head—we'd see these Joes who were hit by the silver platter for which the Nazis handed us Troyes.

To some these are just more dead GIs, but a darling to some mother or wife. There are towns falling into our hands every day, but not one of them without the cost of some GI's life. Yes, we are winning the war, but how many of us stop to think of the boys who were never returned to their homes, wives, mothers, and children, and not be able to live in this country of freedom for which they fought and gave their

Ernie Pyle's Slant on the War:

Officer Won Lasting Respect of His Soldiers Wounded GI Artist Becomes Most Popular Cartoonist to Soldiers

By Ernie Pyle

(Editor's Note): Pyle recalls some of his experiences while he was with the doughboys during the Italian campaign. He is now taking a long-needed rest in New Mexico.

AT THE FRONT LINES IN ITALY.—In this war I have known a lot of officers who were loved and respected by soldiers under them. But never have I crossed the trail of any man as beloved as Capt. Henry T. Waskow of Belton, Texas.

Captain Waskow was a company commander in the 36th division. He had led his company since long before it left the States. He was very young, only in his mid-thirties, but he carried in him a shrewdness and a confidence that made people to be guided by him.

Ernie Pyle "I've never known him to do anything unfair," another one said.

I was at the foot of the mile trail the night they brought Captain Waskow down. The night was full, and you could see far across the valley below. Soldiers made sketches as they walked.

Dead men had been coming down the mountain all evening, washed onto the backs of mules. They came lying belly down across the wooden packtrails, their heads hanging down on the left side of the mules. Their feet were sticking out awkwardly from the other side, bobbing up and down as the mules walked.

The Italian mule skinner was afraid to walk beside dead men, so American had to lead the mules down that night. Even the mules were reluctant to unlash and lift the bodies, when they got to the bottom, so an officer had to do it himself and ask others to help.

The first one came down early in the morning. They slid him down from the mule, and they laid him on his feet for a moment while they got a new grip. In the half light he might have been a man, but standing there leaning on the others. Then they laid him on the ground in the shadow of the low stone wall alongside the road.

I don't know who that first one was. You feel small in the presence of dead men, and you don't ask silly questions.

We left him there beside the road, that first one, and we all went back into the covered and sat on water cans or lay on the straw, waiting for the next batch of men.

Somebody said the dead soldier had been dead for four days, and then somebody said anything more about it. We talked about a sick man for an hour or more; the dead man lay all alone, outside in the shadow of the wall.

Then a soldier came into the covered and said there were some more men to be taken out into the road. Four mules stood there in the moonlight, in the road where the trail had been. The men were lying on their backs, their faces and their heads sticking out.

"This one is Captain Waskow," one of them said and took the body. One soldier came and looked down, and he said out loud: "Damn it!"

That's all he said, and then he walked away.

Another one came, and he said, "Damn it to hell anyway!" He looked down for a few last moments and then turned and left.

Another man came. I think he was an officer. It was hard to tell officers from men in the dim light, for they were all so weary and grimy. The man looked down at the dead man's face and then spoke directly to him, as though he were alive: "I'm sorry, old man."

Then a soldier came and stood beside the officer and bent over, and he too spoke to his dead captain, but in a whisper and with awfully tenderness, and he said: "I sure am sorry, sir."

Then the first man squatted down, and he reached down and took the dead hand, and he set there for a full five minutes holding the dead hand in his own and looking intently into the dead face. And he never moved and a sound all the time he was there.

Finally he put the hand down. He reached up and gently straightened the points of the captain's shirt collar, and then he set of re-arranged the tattered ends of the uniform and drew around the wound, and then he got up and walked away down the road in the moonlight, all alone.

The rest of us went back into the covered, leaving the five dead men lying in a line end to end in the shadow of the low stone wall. We lay down on the straw in the covered, and pretty soon we were all asleep.

Sgt. Bill Mauldin appears to us over here to be the finest cartoonist the war has produced. And that's not merely because his cartoons are funny, but because they are the funniest grim and real.

Mauldin's cartoons aren't about the war, but they are about the men in the line — the very percentage of our war army who are actually up there in that other world doing the dying. His cartoons are about the war.

Mauldin's central cartoon character is a soldier for whom he has named, unwarmed, unsmiling. He looks more like a babe than a man. He looks, in fact, exactly like a doughfoot who has been in the lines for two months.

And that's just pretty. His maturity comes simply from a native understanding of things, and from being a soldier himself in the army three years.

Bill Mauldin was born in Mountain Park, N. M. He now calls himself a Texan. He has lived in Mexico could claim him without much resistance on his part.

Bill has drawn over a thousand pictures of the things he wanted to grow up to be, such as cowboy, soldier and pilot. But what he really became was a man who draws pictures.

He graduated from high school in Phoenix at 17, took a year at the Academy of Fine Arts in Chicago, and at 18 was in the army. He did 64 days on K. P. duty in his first four months. That fairly cured him of a lifelong worship of uniforms.

Mauldin belongs to the 45th division. Their record has been a fine one, and their losses have been light.

Mauldin's typical grim cartoon soldier is really a 45th division infantryman, and he is one who has truly been through the mill.

Mauldin was drafted into the army straight soldier duty after a year in the infantry, and put to work on the front lines in Italy. He has true war cartoons since that time, and he has continued on through Italy, gradually gaining recognition. Capt. Bob Sevin, Stars and Stripes editor, shakes his head with a veteran's admiration and says of Mauldin:

"He's got it. Already he's the outstanding cartoonist of the war."

Mauldin works in a cold, dark building in the back of Stars and Stripes' Naples office. He wears all-weather glasses when he works. His eyes are used to be good, but he has learned them in his early army days by drawing for two many hours at night with poor light.

He averages about three days out of 18 at the front, then comes back and works in his office. A batch of cartoons. If the weather is good he sketches a few details at the front. But the weather is usually lousy.

"You don't need to sketch details anyway," he says. "You come back with a picture of misery and cold and danger in your mind and you don't need any more details than that."

Mauldin Still Just a Kid

Even though he's just a kid he's a husband and father. He married in 1942 while in camp in Texas, and his son was born last August 20 while Bill was in Sicily. His wife and child are living in Phoenix now. Bill carries pictures of them in his pocketbook.

opportunity to see his daily drawings. But that isn't worrying him. He realizes this is his big chance. After the war he wants to settle again in the Southwest, which he and I love. He wants to go on doing cartoons of these boys who are now fighting in the Italian hills, except that by then they'll be in their own clothes and living as they should be.

STAGE SCREEN RADIO

JIMMY CAGNEY is setting down to work on his new picture, "Blood on the Sun," after two long an absence from the screen. During that absence he's made a four-month overseas tour, and his brother William has gone through several hundred manuscripts, trying to find suitable material for James. Two possible stories turned up for the picture following "Blood on the Sun"; no matter which is selected, Cagney will be seen as a soldier in the American army in the days of the Indian wars.

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

Progress of our Pacific war progress and the growing possibilities of recently quick capture of some rubber areas in the Far East have made men who know the rubber industry best anxious to see the need for more policies to deal with the economic and political problems which the gradual return of natural rubber will raise.

Mexico has its own way of conserving fuel. Mexican motorists are required to use the Far East rubber to keep their cars idle one day a week. Car owners select their "motorless day" and then must display on their windshields a sticker of color designated for that day of the week.

Kentucky Is Trailing In W. Fund Drive

State Behind Iowa, Minnesota, Louisiana And South Carolina

Kentucky is trailing Iowa, Minnesota, Louisiana and South Carolina in the National War Fund campaign with but $1,100,000 State goal subscribed, John C. Nicholas, treasurer, has announced.

With Armistice Day set for the final reports, Kentucky at present has twenty-four counties over the top, eleven from 80 to 100 percent, twenty-five from 60 to 80 percent, sixteen from 40 to 60 percent, twenty-two up to 40 percent, and twenty-five counties just getting their campaign under way, Mr. Nicholas said.

The indications are that Kentucky will take its place in the roll of honor and will meet its National War Fund obligations, Mr. Nicholas declared, stressing the urgency of clearing the way for the 6th war loan drive which will take place in November. He pointed out that money is needed for emergency measures of the National War Fund. Relief for Philippine war victims will move in the wake of the military liberation of Islands with the U. S. Army, the Philippine Government and Philippine war relief coordinating their programs for maximum results, Mr. Nicholas said. A clothing project is now under way that is expected to make 450,000 garments available for early distribution in the Philippines. Philippine War Relief is organizing other relief work to supplement the emergency military program.

Backing up the men who are delivering the supplies for Gen. MacArthur's invasion of the Philippines is the USS Kiang, a 1,450 ton floating club for merchant seamen, is being operated by the United Seamens Service.

These are types of emergency service which the National War Fund is equipped to provide and toward which some of the contributions made to the Kentucky War Fund will go forward, the treasurer said, urging all counties to complete their drives speedily and to reach their assigned quotas.

At the opening of the general music on Friday evening, music will be provided by a band composed of students from Morehead High School, Breckinridge Training School, Salversville High School and West Liberty High School, under the direction of Mr. Marvin E. George, head of the department of music at Morehead State Teachers College.

On Friday afternoon there will be group meetings of teachers in various fields, held in the rooms of Ashland Junior College. Mr. Ross C. Anderson, head of the department of commerce at Morehead College will preside at the meeting of the science teachers.

The Morehead State Teachers College Dinner will be on Thursday evening from 6:00 to 7:30 in the ballroom of the Henry Clay Hotel.

Students, alumni friends and faculty members are invited. Tickets will be available in the rooms of the hotel, and Dr. Wm. H. Vaughan, president of Morehead College, is chairman of the banquet.

The list of outstanding speakers for the Association, besides Gov. Willis, includes Edward Tomlinson, noted authority on inter-American affairs; Bishop Herbert Welch, director of United China Relief; James T. Alton, President Kentucky Education Association; John Fred Williams, State superintendent of schools; and Dr. Francis Pendleton Gaines, president Washington and Lee University.

Sen. Alben W. Barkley, Majority Floor Leader in the United States was re-elected by Kentucky voters Tuesday by a majority that will run around 90,000 over his Republican opponent, James Park.

At the first session on Thursday evening, the group will be welcomed by Mr. Clyde R. Election Winner "Dishes" It Out

A graying, well-dressed man of about 50, The Atlanta Journal said, handed out several thousand dollars today in bills of $10, $20, and $100 denominations to amazed travelers at the Terminal Railway Station.

"You think I'm crazy," The Journal quoted him, "but I know what I'm doing. I just want to give this money to folks who can enjoy it." He said he won $10,000 on the election.

First, he attracted attention by handing to passers-by cartons of cigarettes from a large paper bag. Then he started handing out $10 bills left and right. A few skeptics refused his offer but most of the early-morning travelers accepted with delight.

Station observers said when he started running out of ten spots, he gave $50 and $60 bills to groups of soldiers, and sailors, who would divide it among themselves.

When Jimmy Pierce in the ticket office sold the generous stranger a ticket to Birmingham he gave the ticket seller $5.00 of the change.

"I want to bed early last night," The Journal story quoted him, "and when I woke up Roosevelt had won the election and I'd won the bet."

Onlookers estimated he gave away between $5,000 and $4,000.

Casualties Top Half Million

Almost three years of war have cost more than a half-million American battle casualties—dead, wounded, missing or prisoners.

The army said today that its casualties, from December 7, of 1941, through last October 28 totalled 437,356. The latest report by navy, marine corps and coast guard personnel accounts for 71,839.

The army total represents an increase of 20,235 since the report a week ago which covered the period through October 21. Secretary of War Stimson said part of this increase was due to a revision now being made in

Bates Runs Up Majority Of Over 7,000

Incumbent Wins Re-election Over Thomas S. Yates Riding the crest of a Democratic sweep in Kentucky, Congressman Joe B. Bates scored impressively in his race for re-election to Congress over his Republican opponent, Tom Yates of Grayson.

Many had touted the race as close but Congressman Bates, carrying 15 of the district's 20 counties ran up an early lead and increased it as the tabulation continued. Mr. Yates ran well in his home county of Carter, running up a 2,025 advantage. He carried Lawrence County, Lewis, Rowan and Fleming, the latter two by 21 and 1 majorities, respectively. Congressman Bates' majority will go between 7,000 and 8,000. Although Republicans had claimed Boyd and Greenup counties, Mr. Bates ran up appreciable majorities in both. He carried Morgan County by some thing over 1,900 votes and Harrison and Breathitt by nearly 2,000 each. Mr. Yates gained on the cross ballots in Elliott, losing the county by 684, almost 500 less than Dewey.

In most of the district the Senatorial and Congressional vote followed the pattern of the Presidential race. With the exception of Rowan, Carter, Greenup and Elliott Counties there were few crossed tickets. In Rowan County this resulted mostly from a County Judge's race. Carter is Mr. Yates' home county and Greenup that of Mr. Bates. Both ran ahead on their tickets in their home counties.

With 446 precincts out, about three-fourths of them in Jefferson County which is going Democratic, President Roosevelt held a lead in Kentucky of 69,770 votes. Senator Barkley in the same precincts was 76,345 ahead.

The totals in 3,183 precincts counted gave Roosevelt 409,391, Dewey 339,621. All indications are that this majority in Kentucky will climb past 80,000.

The Democrats gained an additional Congressional seat in Kentucky as Frank Chief, Democrat, defeated Republican incumbent Chester O. Carrier in the Fourth. Democrat A. J. "Jack" May in the seventh had a close race however but finally emerged with a little better than 3,000 majority.

Red Cross Needs More Workers On Pacific Front

As American military operations increase throughout the world, particularly in the Pacific, the American Red Cross revealed today an urgent need for more than 500 additional men to serve as assistant field directors with the United States forces overseas.

Now observing Red Cross overseas operations, chairman Basil O'Connor confirmed this need for more workers. "Expanding activities of the Army and Navy in the Pacific and China-Burma-India theaters already demand a proportionate increase in Red Cross services to American troops," he said.

"That demand will continue even greater, following V-E Day when the major flow of troops will be to those theaters, and eventually to the Far East proper. Concurrently, Red Cross services to the forces of occupation in Europe must be maintained."

American citizens, from 30 years of age through the middle 40s are eligible, chairman O'Connor pointed out. Proof of draft deferment and American citizenship is necessary, and candidates must be in good physical condition. Graduation from a

That Nagging Backache

May Warn of Disturbed Kidney Action
Modern life with its hurry and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking—the risk of kidney trouble is high. It shows in heavy strain on the work of the kidneys. They are not to be overworked and fail to filter waste and other impurities from the blood.
You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, getting up at night, the pain, swelling, complete destruction of a large proportion of the milk-producing tissue. The quality of milk is often lowered because of increased bacterial contamination and is not desirable for human consumption. There are often no clinical symptoms observed until milk production begins to fall and the cows become an expense.

DOAN'S PILLS

Candling Eggs on Farm Increases Profit

Their Quality Will Increase Consumption

While candling is not an exact science, it serves to eliminate those eggs which will mark down all eggs marketed. Fourteen out of every hundred eggs are "rejects" on the market. Many of these could be utilized on the farm, for home (the better ones) and as hog or poultry feed for the worse "rejects."

An unusual number of "spotted" eggs means that the flock has inherited this defect. It might be possible for the farmer, who has a large number of spotting in his eggs, to pick out the offenders and cull them out. The spotting rejects alone cost the farmer $45,000,000 annually. If the farmer removes all "rejects" he will secure a better price for the balance of his eggs than he would have for his entire output, good and bad.

Dirty eggs should be cleaned. A lime wash will not show, even when examined by inspectors. Fresh eggs will show an air-space of not over one-eighth of an inch in depth. When the egg is fresh the yolk will remain about center.

Blemishes, blood spots or damage spots on the yolk show up as dark spots when the egg is candled. Blood spots place the eggs as inedible, but can be utilized for home consumption. Development of germ in fertile eggs also places the egg in undesirable class.

In candling it is rather easy to tell eggs of high and low quality, but it does require skill to pick those in the intermediate stage. Persons who are skilled in the art, however, are able to accurately grade the eggs properly.

Peasants Gain.
The application of chemistry to agriculture has resulted in the ground pea or peanut becoming a real factor in its own name as well as a serious competitor for other farm crops, particularly the soybean.

Agriculture In the News

The peanut furnishes a cork substitute, they yield more oil per acre than cottonseed and they rank high as an energy food. A fiber similar to rayon is now being made from peanut protein. It can furnish artificial butter and a substitute coffee.

Peasants Cheap, milder and less stimulating than coffee, it might become a competitor to real article.
The peanut can be used in the manufacture of salad oils, shaving lotions, cosmetics, soaps, dressings, grease, massage paste for infantile paralysis, bases in medicine, flour, candy, insulation, explosives, paper board, textile lubricant, glycerine, floor sweeping compounds, fertilizer, stock and poultry feed and as fuel.

Diet Saves Pigs

Market savings in weaned pigs as a result of improved diets fed during gestation and lactation periods was found by E. W. Fairbanks of the University of Illinois. Successful weaning was increased from 7 to 83 per cent.
Satisfactory results during lactation are dependent in part upon feeding during gestation. The feeding regime during gestation must not be ignored when the question of high mortality among baby pigs is being considered. The addition of 10 per cent alfalfa meal to the ration brought the increased results.

Mastitis of Cows

Chronic infectious mastitis is a slowly progressive disease of the udder and in many cows causes partial and sometimes complete destruction of a large proportion of the milk-producing tissue. The quality of milk is often lowered because of increased bacterial contamination and is not desirable for human consumption. There are often no clinical symptoms observed until milk production begins to fall and the cows become an expense.
