ESTIMATED COST OF EXTENSION

Given the Sewerage Committee by Engineer Libby at Meeting Held Yesterday

NOT OVER $14,000 FOR PIPING ENTIRE TOWN

Abutters on Line of Proposed Extension Will Be Given Hearing by Board of Selectmen at 2 o'clock Friday Afternoon, July 28th—Town Meeting Will Be Called at Later Date When Committee Will Make Recommendations

Plans and estimates for a continuance of the sewerage system was submitted to the committee, yesterday afternoon. The engineer showed drawings for taking care of the sewerage of the entire town. He roughly estimated the cost as a little over $12,000, but this amount did not figure the possibility of ledge excavations. It is thought that about $14,000 would meet the whole cost, $10,000 for the East side of the river and $4,000 for the West side of the river.

The plan calls for a main line from Water street to Storer street, with a branch along Garden street, and then a pipe along Scotchman's brook to Fletcher street. Sewerage from the Knights of Phythias block would enter into a main on Bourne street. All of the upper side of Main street would empty into the Garden street pipe.

The Woodbury Hall and the Dr. Ross house, also the Ross block, would be connected with the main pipe on Grove street. The houses above the Woodbury Hall estate would connect with the pipe on Bourne street. On the West side of the bridge the pipe would run along Brown street, over Tavern hill, to the rag shop and then along the river to the tide water.

Plans and specifications are made for every street in the town. A hearing will be given by the Selectmen at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon, July 28th, when abutters along the proposed lines will be given an opportunity to give their views on the plans and suggest any changes they may desire. Following this hearing the selectmen will be requested to call a town meeting at which time the committee will make recommendations to the citizens.

Tax Rate $20.50

Tax Collector Warren is busy making out tax bills. The rate this year will be $20.50, a sum of $2.90 less than a year ago. Tax payers will not know if this is really a reduction in the amount they will pay until the bills are received, as the valuation may have been increased to such an extent that the tax will equal if not increase the assessment of last year. The total amount to be raised by the town this year is $51,897.80, divided as follows. The figures are given by Collector Warren:

State tax,	$15,177.88
County tax,	2,773.32
Town tax,	33,946.60
	$51,897.80

Will Have Lawn Party

There will be a rally of the Young Campaigners for Prohibition, Tuesday, July 25, at 3 o'clock on the lawn of R. W. Lord. All who have joined the Y. C. P. and all who wish to join are invited, also the parents and friends of the young people. A short program by the Y. C. P. will be offered and Miss Rowan of Kansas will speak for twenty minutes.

The young people are asked to meet at the Town Hall at 2.15 to march together with their banners to the lawn party.

Prohibition Auto Coming

The prohibition auto, carrying the Boston Campaigners will be in Kennebunk, Monday noon at 12.30. A meeting will be held in Postoffice square, speeches of five minutes being given from the auto.

The Boston auto party is composed of Mrs. Catharine Lente Stevenson, Hon. John B. Lewis, president of the Twentieth Century Pledge Signing Crusade, Prof. John A. Nicholls and David Reid, cornetist. All of these people will take part.

Kittery is going to put on gala attire in honor of the Boston people next Saturday. Houses and places of business will be decorated and a big parade with floats will be one of the features of the day.

Temperance Service

There will be a Temperance service in the Town Hall, Sunday night at 7.30 o'clock. A speaker from the Boston automobile party, which is touring the state in favor of Prohibition will address the meeting. The whole party will drive in town Monday and hold an out-door meeting in Postoffice square at 12.40. This is practically the opening of the speaking campaign in behalf of the Prohibition issue in our town and all citizens are invited to attend these opening rallies.

Card of Thanks

Mr. and Mrs. S. Frank Fairfield wish to express their thanks to the many friends for their kind words and loving remembrances on the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage.
Mr. and Mrs. S. Frank Fairfield.

Second Parish

Sunday, July 23, "The Liquor saloon as related to modern movements," will be the subject at the morning service in the Congregational church. Men and voters especially invited. The evening meeting will be omitted to attend the temperance service in the Town Hall at 7.30 o'clock.

Delvan Joy substituted for the Kennebunkport telegraph operator, Monday night. He will act as chauffeur for Mrs. J. R. Haley for the remainder of the season.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 19, 1911

Dr. Wiley is loved for the enemies he has made.

Local option makes the smaller places pay the bills, while the cities get the money.

If prohibition is an abridgement of rights, license is an infringement. Why not free rum if prohibition must be given up?

Every mother and father cannot but see the danger of an open saloon to their children. The repeal of the prohibitory amendment is the first step toward that condition.

Hundreds, yes thousands, of young men in back villages and towns are kept in the right path because of prohibition. Open saloons are a temptation that in many cases cannot be resisted.

Every business man must realize that money spent in saloons cannot be used by the spenders for clothes, shoes, or other necessities of life. Can you, Mr. Business Man, afford to vote to repeal the Constitutional Amendment?

Did you ever notice that people who really do things of value in this world are invariably unassuming? They are every day people, don't consider themselves superior to those with whom they associate, or if they do, never show it. They are ready to meet and talk with anyone they may overtake on the journey of life.

A Canadian writer in the London National Review says that sooner or later Canada will be annexed to the United States. This is interesting, coming from a citizen of the Dominion. Canada is a great and rapidly growing country, peopled with men who are now developing a national spirit that will not consider annexation. In fact as time goes on Canada is less likely to join this country but there is every reason to believe that the relations of the two countries are bound to be more intimate and more friendly every day.

Cartoons will play a prominent part in the present campaign. Some are more telling than the best written news story by the star reporter. They have long been recognized by political managers as the best ammunition to defeat the enemy. The anti-prohibition papers have engaged Cartoonist Scarbrough, a pupil of Davenport, and a former employee of the New York Globe. After Hearst had been defeated for mayor of New York he is said to have expressed the belief that the cartoons and caricatures by "Scar" in the Globe had caused his defeat. However true that may be, both as to this cartoonists ability and the effect of his work, some of his productions during the past week give the impression that Portland, Biddeford and other parts of Maine have slum districts far more disgraceful than Chicago or New York. Some of the pictures have too much of the "tenderloin" district flavor and appear to be much overdrawn. One cartoon, last week, pictured Maine as a ragged, poverty-stricken girl who was enviously watching the "well-dressed high licensed females of the other New England states." The truth is taken out of the picture when it is known that Maine, instead of being ragged and poverty-stricken, is second in per capita bank deposits, being exceeded only by Kansas, which is another prohibition state.

KENNEBUNK AFFAIRS

Some of the Little Stories that the Enterprise Has Heard

Woodbury Hall has installed a telephone.

Mrs. Ora Stery spent Sunday at Old Orchard.

Edward Ward was a Boston visitor this week.

Mrs. William D. Hay visited in Portland yesterday.

Frank W. Bonser made a business trip to Portland yesterday.

The services at Old Orchard are reported as the largest attended for four years.

Mr. and Mrs. Adelbert Watkins of Roxbury, Mass., are the guests of Miss Helen Richards.

Mrs. Isabella Cousens left yesterday for an extended visit with her sister at Edgartown, Mass.

Dr. E. S. Hawkes of Swan's Island has rented a tenement in the Perkins' house on Main street.

Miss Sue Thompson of Exeter, N. H., has returned to her home after a visit with Mrs. Fred P. Hall.

Edward Kelley has concluded his services with W. D. Hay and has a position at the Eagle Rock Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. George Moore and Miss Eva Marshall of Auburn were week end guests of Mrs. Emma Joyce.

Mrs. W. C. Avery and children, Miss Edith and Master Roland of Bath, are the guests of Mrs. Fred Titcomb.

A man isn't necessarily a fool at 60, but he might as well be for all the influence he can have with men under 30.

Mrs. Frances Burnham has purchased through the Bowdoin Agency the Richmond Littlefield place on Fletcher street.

Mrs. Sarah Lord Cram of this village, president of the York County W. C. T. U., attended in Kittery Saturday, the funeral of Mrs. George W. Damon.

Mrs. Joseph Chase, who is recovering from an attack of nervous prostration, left Tuesday for a visit with relatives in New York. She was accompanied by her daughter.

Edward Gaddis has accepted a position as chauffeur for Mr. Jones at Kennebunkport. His position at the Littlefield & Webber Grocery store has been taken by Harold Gowen.

Massachusetts objects to John L. Sullivan being chosen to the Legislature because he has not any of the earmarks of a statesman. That seems to be true of the great majority of the other men who manage to get elected to office.

Mrs. Wooley and Miss Wakeman of Chicago, Ill., Mrs. M. G. Hilton, of Mount Vernon, N. Y., and Mrs. Parcher, matron at the Orono State College—summer visitors at Biddeford Pool—were the guests last Thursday of Mrs. Annie Joyce Crediford.

William McCulloch, who has been seriously ill, is reported as somewhat improved. A severe attack of indigestion, aggravated by the intense heat, developed a dangerous condition which caused much alarm to his relatives and friends. All will be pleased to know he is convalescing.

Notwithstanding the severe drouth the garden of Dr. O. R. Carter has produced some excellent heads of lettuce and other produce. Local merchants, who were unable to buy in the market, were helped out in their orders by his large stock. The shortage of lettuce has advanced the price to $1.80 a box. The highest price during the winter was 80 cents.

The Conference board of the Free Baptist church of America, composed of 21 members, have voted to merge the foreign and home missionary interests of the Baptist and Free Baptist denominations. The transfer is to be made not later than October 1. It has long been the belief of the Baptist and Free Baptist leaders that it would prove beneficial to both churches to operate the missionary branches under one head.

The Kittery W. C. T. U. will have a big parade in that town, Saturday, July 22. Many beautiful floats have already been promised, including three from Sunday Schools. The South Berwick band has been engaged for the day and evening. Many visitors are expected and it promises to be a day of much enthusiasm and profit. Mrs. Lillian M. N. Stevens, national president, and Miss Anna Gordon, national vice president of the W. C. T. U., will give addresses.

MIDNIGHT LIGHT

At Hope Cemetery Tomb Causes Investigation

EXPECTED TO SEE SPOOK

Business Man Forces Unwilling Feet Through Cemetery Gate as the Clock Strikes Twelve and Moon Sinks Behind a Cloud—Mystery Solved

Returning home at a late hour one night, recently, a prominent business man had an opportunity to test his courage and incidentally disprove, to his satisfaction, the existence of ghosts. At the corner of Portland and Summer streets he noticed a grey colored and unusual shaped light in the direction of Hope cemetery. As he progressed he came in direct path of the light and he readily saw that it emerged from the tomb.

This business man lays no claim to being braver than his fellows nor does he lay awake nights worrying about the time when he will be decorated with a Carnegie hero medal, but he decided to investigate. As he slowly advanced, every ghost and goblin story he had heard from childhood rushed to his mind. He tried to forget them, but the harder he tried the more wierd were the stories that came to him. He recalled distractedly that ghosts wore white and he was sure they carried a grey colored and unusual shaped light. Within a hundred feet of the tomb the door suddenly opened wide, a bare arm raised itself in the air and another arm was seen to throw a large white sheeting under it. Then a body was raised and the white shroud wound around. By this time the hair of the business man was a pompadour shape, his hat resting unevenly on the top. A cold, clammy perspiration broke over him, but he stood pat and vowed he would solve the mystery. He forced his unwilling feet nearer and nearer. Two men could be seen in the tomb and they were handling a dead body, but he was unable to recognize them. Dismissing the ghost story, he immediately thought of grave robbers and was at his wit's ends as to the best means to capture them. To telephone for officers or to arouse the neighbors would take time and the robbers might depart before help could be summoned. He could not understand why the tomb was utilized at this time of year as he recalled that in summer all dead bodies were interred.

Then not quite sure whether he was asleep and dreaming or that the severe strain of a hard business day had upset him, two vigorous kicks were applied to his ankles. Then he was quite sure he was awake and that his eyes did not deceive him. Bound to know the men who were up to such dastardly acts he kept on until he reached the turnstile at the main gate. It creaked ominously as he tried to gently push it open. Passing to within ten feet of the tomb he heard voices. One of the men turned and the reflection of the light made recognition possible. He knew then that an undertaker and his assistant were at work preparing for burial the body of a man which he recalled had been washed ashore at Ogunquit late that afternoon.

Slowly and gently he withdrew, and in a half hour's time was back at home sleeping the sleep of a well satisfied man. He says it was quite an experience, but he is glad he investigated for his mind never would have rested until he had known the cause of the midnight light and solved the "mystery of Hope Cemetery Tomb."

The picture of the baby racoon, seated in the hollow top of a tree, which is on exhibition at the Larrobee store, never fails to attract the pedestrian. It was taken by George Fiske a number of years ago. He copyrighted the picture and sold the rights in both America and England. In the latter country the manufacturers of Pear's soap use it as an advertisement, having printed on the bottom of the frame, "Have you used Pear's Soap this morning?" The work of Mr. Fiske is of the highest order and when he exhibits his specimen's they give pleasure to many people.

Kennebunk

Maine

ARE HAVING A VERY SUCCESSFUL SEASON

It Is Estimated That Over 5000 People Are Stopping at the Watering Places in the Kennebunks

Kennebunkport is experiencing as successful a season as she has ever had in her summer history, and already a record number of people are registered at her hotels and housed for the season in her numerous cottages. The recent hot wave which affected the greater part of New England, caused many people to seek relief at the beaches here in Maine, and Kennebunkport received her full share of the outpouring. The old Fort Inn, the Oceanic, the Cliff, the Columbia, the Highland, the Arlington, the Nonantum, the Parker and the Riverside are taxed to their limit to find rooms for their guests. On the other side of the Kennebunk the Forest Hill, the Seaside, the Sagamore and the Hewett are having a very successful season. The same at Kennebunk Beach, at the Atlantis, Wentworth, Narragansett, Seaview, Mineral Spring, New Bass Rock and the Granite State. It is estimated that upward of 5000 people are already stopping at our bustling watering places here in the Kennebunks.

St. Ann's stone church on the point at the Port is one of the most beautiful yet simple sights on the coast. The ivy or woodbine which climbs up the sides of this little structure contrast very effectively with the gray stone and visitors are filled with admiration at the view, which is best from the bathing beach across the river. An amusing incident occurred this week in connection with this church. A guest, presumably from the backwoods of Canada, inquired of a young man on the bathing beach as to what sort of building that was across the water with the green overgrown vines climbing on it, asserting that never before had she seen such a peculiar looking building. The young man answered shortly: "Oh, beg pardon,

I should have thought you would have recognized that structure. It's a laundry!" The young lady put implicit faith in this statement, too.

The automobiles are not exactly observing the speed law of 8 miles per hour. But then, we can hardly expect them to walk. The number of machines this year is nearly double those of last season.

Mr. D. M. Hickey of the Boston Riding School, and assistant, are here for the summer and already have several pupils.

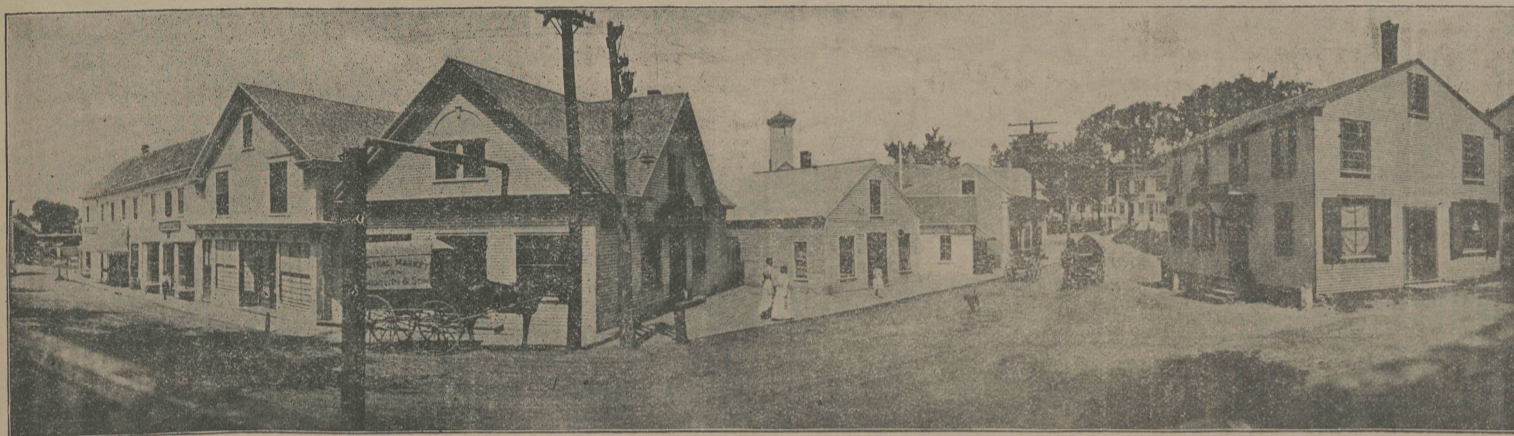

It is understood that a river carnival will be held this year. This feature was greatly missed in 1910.

Mr. Edgar Tourne, proprietor of the Ocean Bath houses, reports unprecedented business. In three years Mr. Tourne has increased the number of his houses one half.

George Barr McCutcheon, the author, has a cottage at Kennebunkport this year.

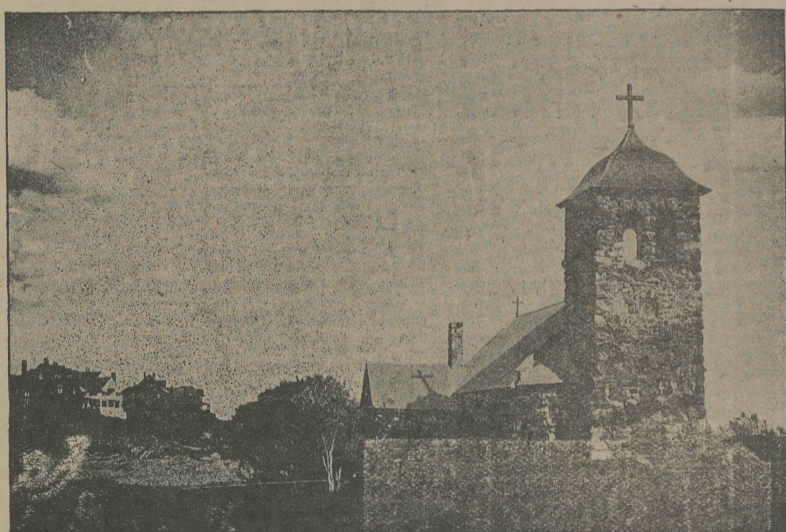

In a recent article the Boston Post stated that in all principal summer resorts of Maine, the rush of summer guests is marvelous this season, but fails to include Kennebunkport in this list of "principal" resorts. As far as real class and exclusiveness is concerned, that place is only one notch in the rear of Bar Harbor and is likely to yet outshine even that place. A prominent Philadelphian of extensive travel, recently stated that a tour of Maine was not complete until a canoe ride had been experienced and a carnival witnessed on the waters of the Kennebunk river at Kennebunkport. So jealous residents of other resorts can put that in their pipe and smoke it. Kennebunkport ranks second in the state in exclusiveness and in the class of people which she annually harbours.

Charles Penny of Brockton Mass. gave an interesting talk at the church last Sunday evening. His subject, "Lost Opportunity" was presented to a very attentive audience.

Mrs. Henry B. Hutchins and grand-daughter, Miss Pearl Hutchins, have been spending a few days at the Old Orchard camp-meeting.

Miss Edith Morton of Woodfords is spending a three weeks' vacation at the Cape.

Charles Benjamin and family of Saco have been visiting Mrs. J. Frank Seavey of this place.

Mrs. John McNeil and family of Belmont, Mass., is visiting her sister, Mrs. A. J. McKenney.

George Billings has moved back to his home opposite the church, and remains seriously ill.

The Ladies Aid will hold their annual sale at the vestry next Tuesday afternoon and evening.

Mrs. Sarah Marshall, who has been spending the winter with her daughter, Mrs. A. B. McKenney of Mattapan, Mass., is with her niece Mrs. J. Frank Seavey for the summer.

Mrs. Hattie Baston was seriously ill last week, being overcome by the extreme heat, but is now better.

Albert Seavey is building a house.

Miss Milly Pinkham is entertaining Mrs. Rose Rogers of Orrington, a former classmate of Miss Pinkham's at Castine.

DECLINES RE-ELECTION

Charles W. Goodnow Succeeded as Treasurer by P. I. Andrews

At the annual meeting of the Leath-eroid Mfg. Co., to-day, Paul I. Andrews was chosen treasurer to succeed C. W. Goodnow, who declined re-election. The retirement of Mr. Goodnow from the active work of treasurer does not mean severing his connections with the company. He will continue as one of the directors, the other members being P. I. Andrews, H. E. Andrews and Elliott Rogers.

Mr. Goodnow has been connected with the corporation for 35 years, beginning in his teens. People of Kennebunk will be glad to know that he is still to remain an active resident of Kennebunk.

Local Notes

B. S. Fogg of Chicago returned to that city, Monday, after a two-weeks stay with his sister, Mrs. Eva M. Richardson of Park street. Mr. Fogg is a native of Norway, Maine, and this is his first visit to his native state in twenty-five years.

LOST—On the sidewalk between the residence of Mrs. Pierce and Dane street, a lavender silk scarf trimmed with Irish point lace. Will the finder please leave it with Mrs. Vinnie Pierce and get a reward, and oblige. Mrs. Abbie Warren.

George E. Cousens, the Old Corner Grocery proprietor, created quite a sensation, yesterday, by riding through Main street on one of the old high wheel bicycles. It is not so many years since these wheels were considered quite an up-to-date mode of traveling, but with mile a minute automobiles and the aeroplanes they seem quite antiquated.

Kennebunkport

Rev. and Mrs. S. E. Leech of Bridgton are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Clough for the week. They have also been attending the Methodist camp meeting at Old Orchard.

The lawn sale of the Ladies' Aid society of the Methodist church was held on the premises of Cleveland Trott on Tuesday. The weather was very favorable, and the tables were tastefully arranged and decorated for the occasion. All the articles offered were purchased, and a pleasant time was enjoyed by those who attended.

MANY GIFTS, INCLUDING GOLD AND SILVER

Reception from 7 to 9 O'clock—Telegrams, Post Cards and Letters of Congratulation Received During the Day and Evening—House Beautifully Decorated With Golden Rod, Yellow Daisies and Ferns—Couple Receive Under Arch

Mr. and Mrs. S. Frank Fairfield celebrated the 50th anniversary of their wedding, Monday evening, July 17, at the home of their son, Orren R. Fairfield, Pack street, where a reception was tendered them by their sons and daughters.

About 80 friends and neighbors joined with the relatives in extending congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Fairfield, who during the evening were the recipients of many choice gifts, including $100 in gold, silver and bills. A beautiful bouquet of 50 pinks was presented by Florist and Mrs. J. O. Elwell; also a very rare-plant, known as the Yucca Filamentosa, by Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Kelley. It is the national plant of Mexico and the blossoms are white and in the shape of a bell. The plant is sometimes called "needle and thread."

Mr. and Mrs. Fairfield, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. James A. Fairfield, received under an arch covered with ferns. Conspicuous on the arch were the figures 1861—1911, in gilt. On either side of the arch were large bouquets of Oxide daisies. The house was prettily decorated with yellow bunting, golden rod, yellow daisies and ferns.

During the evening music was furnished by Mrs. J. Starr Barker and daughter, Miss Dorothy Barker. Miss Eleanor M. Fairfield received the guests at the door. Mrs. Wilbur Webber and Miss Sue Elwell were the ushers. The Guest Book was in charge of Mrs. Augusta Lord. Mrs. O. M. Hall cared for the gifts. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Orren Fairfield, Mrs. E. A. Fairfield, Miss Lella B. Murphy.

Telegrams, postal cards and letters of congratulation were received during the afternoon and evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Fairfield are natives of Kennebunk, and were joined in marriage at Kennebunkport by Rev. George Barbour. Her maiden name was Lavina Porter. Six children were born to them: Postmaster E.

A. Fairfield and William T. Fairfield of Kennebunk, Attorney Orren R. Fairfield of Somersworth, N. H., Leon B. Fairfield of Belden, California, Mrs. W. P. Merchant of Wells, Mrs. A. W. Prentice of Gorham, N. H.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Fairfield are about 75 years of age and in good health. The goodly number present and the many beautiful and costly remembrances from far and near evidenced the high respect in which this elderly couple is held. The Boston Globe of Tuesday printed an excellent likeness of Mr. and Mrs. Fairfield. Those present were: Postmaster and Mrs. E. A. Fairfield, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Cousins, Lucy P. Fairfield, Lizzie Junkins, J. O. Elwell, W. P. Gaw, William Fairfield, Mrs. Helen A. Lord, Mrs. Olive N. Hall, Rev. D. M. Wilson, Mrs. Elmer Johnson, Helen L. Johnson, Mrs. W. D. Hay, Victoria T. Boothby, Mrs. William E. Barry, Addie A. Straw, Walter H. Hobbs, Mrs. Sarah L. Cram, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Dresser, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Lucas, Cora E. Lucas, Carrie M. Lucas, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Clark, Mary L. Goodwin, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Curtis, Clara Hamilton Meserve, Mrs. Ann Remick, Miss Carrie E. Remick, Sarah F. Wright, Mrs. Wilbur Webber, Mrs. C. N. Getchell, Sue P. Elwell, Rev. Charles Lemaire, Charles W. Kelley, Eleanor Mae Fairfield, Miss Lella B. Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Fairfield, Dorothy Barker, Dr. and Mrs. J. Starr Barker, Isabella W. Kelley, Mary R. M. Ross, all of Kennebunk; and E. C. Fairfield of Waterville.

Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Fairfield of Somersworth, N. H., Mrs. Roscoe D. Fairfield and Abbie H. Fairfield of Biddeford, Stella F. Prentiss, Philip Fairfield Prentiss, Joseph Leon Prentiss and Gordon Nichols Prentiss of Gorham, N. H., Alfred G. Prentiss and Charles B. Lamb of Saco, Mary Fairfield Haynes of Townsend, Mass., Josephine C. Hooper of Mansfield, Mass., Mrs. H. E. Murphy of Kennebunkport.

Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Hadlock were guests of Mrs. Kimball, recently.

Thomas Maling of Salem, was the guest of his mother, Sunday, at the Maling house.

Mrs. Louis Martin, we can truthfully say, has the most beautiful roses in town or county. One side of her house is covered with the most beautiful roses, Crimson Ramblers, Dorothy Perkins and Seven Sister Climbers. I should say that there were at least 5,000 roses in full bloom and they are worth going miles to see. The only thing against them is, they are on the back side of the house, and one passing would doubt my words but let them just pass around to the rear, and they will agree with me, I am sure.

Ivory Ross of North Kennebunkport has had excellent success selling the International harvest and farm implements, having sold all he had in stock.

Mrs. Henry Gould is having a very pretty iron fence replace the wooden fence which enclosed her pretty summer home here. This was formerly Mrs. Gould's husband's home, and also the late home of Samuel Gould of North street. Edward Meserve and Louis Martin are doing the work, under the direction of Antorne Silva, care taker. This is a great improvement.

The hay crop is reported to be light on high ground, but in lower land it seems to be about as good as usual.

We are glad to have our hot weather over for a few days. Now we should like rain. This, Monday, looks as if we might get—some.

Bert Kimball is acting as chauffeur for Mr. Durrell at Kennebunkport.

Ernest Kimball is working for Hall and Littlefield at Kennebunkport.

I. T. Ross, with his help, G. W. Ross of Biddeford, and his sons, Lawrence and Norman and horses, are cutting the hay on several farms, his own large farm, the farm of Hugh McIntire, and D. W. Hadlock.

Wells

There are to be two new teachers in the high school this fall, the principal, Leroy Woods, and the second assistant, Mrs. Alta W. Rankin, having resigned. Mr. Woods will go to Attleboro, Mass., in the fall. As yet these places have not been filled, although several applicants are being considered.

The people of Wells are exceedingly gratified over the decision of Judge Bird, who will not grant an injunction restraining the people from carrying out their wishes in regard to the building of the town house to replace that burned late last winter. It will be remembered that the vote to rebuild a three-story structure similar to the old was two to one, and it is pleasing to the people of the town to know that they are to be allowed to carry out their wishes, also to know that the law stands behind this vote. At a meeting of the building committee Saturday evening it was voted to have the specifications at the home of W. E. Barry of Kennebunk, the architect, this week, and next week at W. J. Storer's in Wells. The bids are to be in by August 5.

West Kennebunk

Eighteen Italians arrived Friday from Patterson, N. J., and have commenced digging for the foundation for the Engine House at the Twine mill where steam is to be installed.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Thyng spent the week end at Kennebunk Beach the guests of Mrs. Roy Webber.

E. I. Littlefield was in Waterboro Thursday.

Mrs. Dora Hartigan and daughter of Lawrence, will spend the summer at their camp on the Alewife road.

Miss Loda Burnham is the guest of her cousin, Mrs. Georgia Lowell at Highland Lake.

On account of the absence of Rev. W. T. Carter, there was no service at the M. E. Church Sunday.

Continual stopping of electric cars to ascertain whether they are bound for Sanford or Wells has brought forth the idea that it would be an excellent plan to have the cars carry placards on the front end which would denote destination. At present the signs run along the deck of the cars and cannot be seen until within a few feet of the waiting people. As a result there is a continual stopping of the electric and if a mistake has been made the motor-man naturally resents being held up and in some instances gives vent to his feelings. "Car Following," "Extra" and "Show Cards" are quite often hung at the end of the cars and can be seen for a hundred or more feet. Destination signs could be large enough to be seen at the same distance.

As the stopping and starting of a locomotive engine is quite an expense it is probable that there must be a cost to starting and stopping an electric car. If that is so the cost of printing or painting signs would soon be met by the saving in less frequent hold-ups. The management of the Pennsylvania railroad acts on the idea that the average passenger is bound to go wrong, but it's their duty to see that he goes right.
