

Dr. Glista Sees Advances In Poultry Field

The serving table and broiler pit crews were busy Saturday evening as members of IEPA fed close to 400 persons at a chicken barbecue prior to the meeting of poultrymen on the grounds of the former Knox Arboretum in Warren.

A restricted program of feeding for laying hens and vaccination for coccidiosis are soon coming out of the testing stage into the poultry houses, according to Dr. Walter Glista, vice president of Wirthmore Feeds, Inc., in charge of research, speaking before an audience of nearly 100 at the Knox Arboretum in Warren Saturday night. This meeting followed the second annual barbecue of the Independent Egg Producers Association which was even more successful than last year. Nearly 400 hungry guests went through the serving line.

Elliot Schubert, Methuen, Mass., hatching egg producer and chairman of the New England Egg Producers Association expressed the belief that this new Association will move toward bargaining and egg contracts with more stable prices for market eggs.

"Private receivers," said Mr. Schubert, "are more interested in the volume through their hands at so much a case handling charge and profit than they are in whether the producer gets a fair price. It seems time we stick together and speak up—not as rabble rousers and trouble makes—but in a sincere and firm way and on the basis that we need our markets, they need us, and we all have much to gain."

Joseph Fletcher, Wentworth, N. H., egg producer who is working with the New England group as an executive committee member, declared that unions have done far more for industrial workers than farm organizations had done for the farmers in the way of raising incomes to a point where the family could cope with the present economic conditions.

He said that the idea that unions were anxious to hold food prices down was false. Practically every union contract has so-called escalator clauses that key wages to commodity prices.

Carl B. Erickson, president of the I.E.P.A. who acted as chairman of the meeting also called on Frank Reed, Extension poultry and egg marketing specialist; Harry Whelden, Extension poultryman and Dr. John Barry, geneticist, all of the University of Maine.

During the first part of his talk, Dr. Glista described some of the testing and experimental work being done at the Wirthmore experimental farm in Berkeley, Mass. Colored slides were shown of the farm.

About two weeks ago a crew made up of several members of the Independent Egg Producers Association moved onto the grounds in front of the Arboretum building and did a thorough job of cleaning up and general manuring. All sorts of farm equipment was brought onto the job and guests found the results most pleasant. Another visit was made by a crew two days before the event to clean up the building and decorate the auditorium. A third crew moved in plenty of tables and seats during Saturday afternoon and the final touch came when Irving Spear of Warren, flock supervisor at the Erickson farm, brought in a power duster and put all mosquitoes and other noxious insects to sleep more or less permanently.

An innovation this year in the Arboretum building entrance hall included an egg demonstration by Earl Ramsdell, from the Maine Department of Agriculture and several displays of poultry. Leroy Brown of Clements hatchery brought a pair of partly grown sex-link breeder birds, sexlink pullets and some baby sexlink chicks. He later presented the chicks to two little girls, John Barry Parker of Hall Brothers displayed silver cross and sexlink layers, Dennis Graffam of Cheshire hatchery had white sexlinks, leghorns and black sexlinks on display. Carl Erickson, representative of Hubbard farms showed leghorn cross, Kimberchick layers and the new 496 reds.

Mr. Ramsdell had an interested group around him most of the time as he showed with an electric candle how the housewife could determine the quality of an egg by holding it to a shielded light. He also gave out many folders on the cooking of eggs and barbecuing of chicken.

Republicans Set Up "Guess the Vote" Contest

A program of stimulating voter interest with the ultimate goal of a record vote on Sept. 8 is being undertaken by the Knox County Republican Committee, it was revealed Monday by Paul Dillaway of Warren, G.O.P. county chairman.

One of the principal components of this drive is a "Guess the Vote" contest which will be kicked off at the county Republican booth at the Union Fair this week. At the booth, voters will have an opportunity to guess the total vote in the county for each of the Republican candidates for U. S. Senate, Governor and Second District Congressman.

Dillaway said a $25 award will be made to the person who comes closest on all three, $10 for second and $5 for third.

The booth, in the exhibition hall, will be manned all the time with county candidates making frequent appearances. Also, county Republican women plan to sell home cooked food and party emblems. Free candidates material also will be available. A fresh water cooler has been set up and the public is invited to make the booth a rest stop in their tour of the fair grounds.

"Inspiring every voter in Knox County to go to the polls in September goes beyond party lines," Dillaway stated in announcing the contest. "We are doing our best to get everyone to the polls to register his or her choice."

Flash Fire Threatens Algin Plant

Plant workers and a policeman watch as firemen check the electrical switch panel where the Algin flash fire was supposed to have originated Sunday. The switch room is between the alcohol plant and the boiler room in a building separated from the offices, laboratories and processing buildings. The same structure houses the grinding and packaging rooms.

A flash fire in the alcohol storage building of the Algin Corporation on Crockett's Point shortly before 11 a. m. Sunday called out all city apparatus.

He said that the loss was small and that the plant would be back in operation today. Several workmen were in or about the building at the time. All report hearing an explosion, some thought there were two. Bert Dearborn and Gerald Grierson were working in the building and were joined by John Kinsey and William Brann. They killed the flames which were running over the floor, fed by alcohol fumes.

VOLUNTEER FIRE COMPANY AND NEW TANK TRUCK RESULT IN CUT IN OWLS HEAD FIRE INSURANCE

The New England Fire Rating Bureau has changed the classification of Owls Head from F to E, thereby lessening the premiums which property holders must pay for fire insurance.

Fire Chief Earl Montgomery said Sunday that the rate change went into effect about three weeks ago.

ing this with graduated work at Kansas University. He is a member of the Geological Society of America, Missouri Geological Society, is married and has five children.

and that several property owners have already received rebates on premiums paid to the underwriters in advance.

Montgomery said that he recently asked for a re-rating of the town, taking into consideration the establishing of the Owls Head Volunteer Fire Company and the purchase of the new tank truck a year or more ago.

The study of the town by a representative of the Fire Rating Bureau resulted in the new, and more favorable rating. The area covered by the new rate schedule is three miles from the fire station, which is at the Village, over traveled highways. The restriction includes all the town except a small portion of the tip of Ash Point which is beyond the limit.

The volunteers are planning a new fire station and have held several suppers this summer to raise funds and now have approximately $800 set aside for what they hope will eventually be a 40 by 60 foot, one story cinder block building across the road from the present station. Contributed funds and those earned from suppers, plus considerable donated labor and materials is expected to make the building a reality.

Police Receive New Cruiser

Miller's Garage, Inc. of Rockland delivered the new cruiser to the Rockland Police Department Monday, Chief Maurice Benner said.

The new Plymouth, V-8, two door, standard shift sedan was outfitted Monday afternoon with the two-way radio equipment and was ready for service that night, Benner noted.

Miller's Garage submitted the lowest of two bids for the new police cruiser. The 1958 police car, which was also purchased from Miller's Garage, had 43,000 miles registered on the speedometer.

It's possible to be a rolling stone and still be on the level.

Camden Man To Stand Trial In Florida Court

John F. Howard of Camden waived his rights to a writ of habeas corpus in Municipal Court Monday morning on a governor's warrant and was handed over in the custody of Sheriff P. Willard Pease to await the arrival of the Miami, Fla., Police.

The Miami Police notified the Camden Police that Howard is wanted on a breaking, entering and larceny charge that allegedly was committed in the home of Frank Ryan on June 29 in Miami where $818 worth of furniture was stolen.

Camden Police arrested Howard on a fugitive from justice warrant July 18 to await the arrival of an extradition warrant signed by Governor Edmund S. Muskie.

The charge was continued for three 10 day periods by Judge Alfred M. Strout until a warrant could be secured. County Attorney Curtis Payson of Union explained that the detailed legal procedure that involved requesting the extradition warrant from Governor LeRoy Collins of Florida to Governor Muskie of Maine took the 30 days.

Ten Year Old Girl Bruised As She Runs Into Auto

Sheila Nye, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Nye of 22 Oak Street, Rockland, was admitted to Knox Hospital Saturday morning after she ran into a passing car on Camden Street in Rockland.

The driver of the car, Henrietta P. Crane, 45, of Glen Cove, told Rockland Police that the child darted from behind a Staples bus, that had stopped to discharge passengers, in front of her car.

She was treated at the hospital for contusions and abrasions of her legs Saturday and held for a 24 hour observation.

On Friday, two people were treated at Knox Hospital. Joseph Young, 14, son of Mrs. Margaret Young of Pleasant Point, fell on rocks and was treated for a lacerated right knee. He was later discharged.

Neal Jackson, 25, of 10 Summer Street, Rockland, sustained a lacerated right index finger while he was moving a freezer at the Albert MacPhail appliance store on Main Street in Rockland, where he is employed. He was released following treatment at the hospital.

Daniel Hall, 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Hall, was treated at the hospital for a dog bite on his face and later released.

Three people were treated at Knox Hospital for injuries suffered Sunday and were later discharged.

Jeffrey Fales, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adriel Fales of Camden fell on rocks at a beach and was treated for a lacerated lower leg.

Edward Gibbs, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Austin Ulmer of 44 Gay Street, Rockland, was treated for a lacerated forehead, sustained when he slipped on a metal pipe.

TRUCK BREAKS THROUGH WHARF

that the weight of the truck and the load of tanks totaled about 10 tons. He said that the rear tailgate and the rear tire support under the body of the truck prevented the vehicle from plunging any further through the boards on the wharf.

While waiting for a wrecker, Leonas unloaded about all of the tanks and jacked up the rear end several feet.

He remarked that this has been the first time that such an incident happened to him during the past six years that he has been carrying gas to the McLoon Wharf.

NOT JUST BEFORE ELECTION BUT ALL THE TIME

We recently said that Senator Frederick G. Payne would win the renomination in September because he was a veteran fighter who knows all the angles in political rough and tumble battles.

A case in point which shows the Senator's constant attention to the small details which spell the difference between victory and defeat appeared on our desk this morning.

It was a postcard bearing on one side the Senator's likeness and on the other this brief but vital message.

"Please accept my sincere thanks for signing my primary papers. Your continued interest in my candidacy for re-election and your support at the polls on Sept. 8th will be deeply appreciated.

"With best always,
Frederick G. Payne."

In the vernacular "the old one-two" punch that makes Senator Payne's victory a certainty in our mind is this constant attention to detail. The amount of attention and help he gives his constituents every day in the year, not just before election, is amazing. It makes no difference whether you are celebrating your golden wedding anniversary, have a new addition to the family or are in deep trouble, you always hear from Senator Payne.

Why shouldn't we stay with such a man when he needs our support?

CAMDEN'S NEW HOSPITAL

As Camden opens its drive for funds for the construction of a new 28 bed hospital it means that three fine new hospital units will soon be at the service of this area. Rockland is adding a large addition to Knox County General Hospital and Belfast has a splendid new plant. Near enough to still further augment the hospital service of the area is the fine Miles Memorial Hospital in Damariscotta.

The new plant in Camden is intended to replace the long outgrown Community Hospital on Mountain Street in Camden which has served so well for thirty-one years.

Gilbert Harmon and Robert Laite head the unusually efficient executive committee and A. Murray Austin is chairman of the important building committee.

CONGRESS WILL KNOW HE IS THERE

We were dismayed and not a little shocked to read in a well known State newspaper that Republicans were to a large extent withdrawing their support for Neil Bishop of Stockton Springs in his hard fought bid for Republican Congressman from this, the Old Second District.

We have heard no such talk in this area. All the Republicans we know, and we know most of them, are supporting Bishop vigorously, and while all don't agree on his past political activities all do agree on his present loyalty to the G. O. P. There are some, to be sure, who feel that Mr. Bishop's naturally outspoken personality is a detriment but as far as we know all are going to vote for him and all agree that all Congress will know that the Second Maine District has a two-fisted, blunt-spoken Representative.

A WISE MOVE

It is good sense indeed for Chief of Police Benner to warn all persons that they are liable to a substantial fine if they give or sell air rifles, generally called B-B guns, to children 14 years of age or under.

Such weapons in irresponsible hands have resulted in much property damage especially true in the case of street lights, causing great replacement expense. Also it should be borne in mind that lack of light in areas where the lights have been shot out could cause great damage of life and limb of pedestrians as well as motorists.

FULL REASON TO BE PROUD

This newspaper takes great pleasure in noting the achievement of our young people in whatever field.

It is perfectly natural that we should take special pride when one of our favorites, Peter Sulides of Ocean Street, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Sulides, tied with a Biddeford young man for second highest rank out of thirty-one who took the Maine Bar examinations.

Young Sulides graduated from Bowdoin and served two years as a lieutenant in the Army before attending Boston University Law School from which he graduated last June.

A GOOD MAN TO LEAVE

It is with genuine regret that we learn of the forthcoming end of the political service of Dr. Roswell P. Bates of Orono, chairman of the Governor's Council. We have followed the political career of Dr. Bates with pleasure and Maine will suffer a real loss when he completes his present service in the Council in January.

His strength of character put an end to the bickering and petty politics that hampered the Council before his coming and his two two-year terms have been graced by consistently wise action by the Council in all its wide range of activities.

Our first acquaintance with Dr. Bates was a far cry from politics because it came through the medium of our long time friend Rev. Alfred G. Hempstead. Since then Dr. Bates has borne out all the good things said of him by Mr. Hempstead, hence this word of appreciation of the fine service to the Republican party and the State of Maine rendered by Dr. Bates.

We voice our regret that it was not to be that he should serve the State in higher capacities.

"NONSENSE"

President Eisenhower did his level best to squelch all this nonsensical talk that has swept the nation, especially Washington, as to the debates in the Senate about surrender in case this country were attacked by a nuclear armed enemy.

"All this talk is nonsense" exclaimed the president in an effort to stop the senseless argument that went on for two days in the Senate.

"There has been no public money spent to study how or when the United States might surrender. There will be no money spent for such a purpose," said Mr. Eisenhower in his most forceful language.

The whole situation is nothing short of ridiculous and its very absurdity must bring comfort to our enemies.

Tiger Football Squad Called For Next Monday

Rockland High School football coach, Robert Morrill, has called the opening practice of the football squad for 5 p. m. Aug. 25 at the South Field.

Morrill commented Monday that this will be a building year for the Rockland Tigers, since 11 varsity men graduated last June. He hopes to use many of the promising junior varsity members to fill the gaps in the Tiger line.

The Tiger schedule opens with an away game against Lisbon Falls High School Sept. 13. The first home game will be with Madison High School Sept. 20. In addition to Lisbon Falls and Madison, the other new teams this year will be Crosby of Belfast, Ellsworth and the Boothbay Harbor Seahawks.

Friendship Nine Whips Vinalhaven

A big three run sixth inning gave the Friendship nine their second win over the Vinalhaven Chiefs Sunday afternoon at Vinalhaven. The visitors took the contest 11 to 8.

The Friendship team tallied for two in the second; six in the third and three in the eighth. The three runs in the eighth frame came on three safeties, a double and a hit batsman.

Hitting stars for the Friendship nine were Bob Larson with two doubles and a pair of singles, and Dana Verge, who hit three singles. The Vinalhaven Chiefs were led by Harold Anderson with a pair of two baggers and a single for four times at bat.

The Chiefs face Richmond August 24 and Turner August 31 on the island.

Golf Finals Due First of Month

The semi-finals of the Rockland Golf Club men's championship are in the process of being completed. The deadline is August 25 and the finals are scheduled to be completed by September 1.

In the first round of the tourney, Al Emery downed John Mazzeo, three and two; Al Winchenbach over Dick Kaler, five and four; George Starr defeated Charles Wotton, two up; Nat Mazzeo over Bob Anderson, two up; Gene Kenniston over Ray Cross, two and one; George Phillips over Jim Wear, four and two; and Dick Perry defeated Leon Melvin, eight and seven.

The one match still remaining in the first round is Dick French versus Mike DiRenzo.

The results of the second round are: Fred Spaulding who defeated Dr. David Hodgkins, two up; Douglas Heald over Clayton Staples, seven and five; and Henry Gardner over Walter Dimick, three and two. The one match remaining in the second round is between Frank Kaler and Harold Jutnam.

Mrs. Ruth A. Harvey of Rockland was the winner of the children's and babies' division of the Amateur Snapshot Contest Sunday sponsored by a State Sunday paper. Her picture entitled, "Puppy Love", was her first entry in the contest.

The officers and members of the Knox County Shriners Club will hold a meeting Thursday at 7.30 p. m. at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Perry at Holiday Beach, where plans will be discussed in relation to the Carnival of Cans Drive, the food project for the benefit of the Shriners Crippled Children's Hospital in Springfield, Mass., sponsored by Potentate Carroll McElverry of Kora Temple. Dr. E. R. Moss, president of the club, will outline the details pertinent to the collecting of the canned goods from the members. Other committee members are Robert Rippey, Sidney Segal, Carl Stiller, Fred Black, Lawrence Miller, Frank Kalor and Sam Small.

Quick Cleaning Job Rescues "Painted" Family

A mother and her two children who remain unidentified, must have a warm feeling for two Rockland merchants.

It seems that the other day a Mother and the two tots went shopping at Sears and bought a gallon of gloss white paint. The little boy proudly carried the paint can on his shoulder. However, in front of Kilroy's he stubbed his toe and the can shot to the street and the cover came off, shooting a shower of the paint cover all three.

The first Everett Blithen knew of the trouble was when the paint-covered mother entered Kilroy's to ask use of a phone in an effort to get someone in the family to come for them. Everett popped in next door and told dry cleaner Joe Lamb of the situation and the pair ushered the family into Joe's establishment and to the dressing rooms. They shed their paint covered clothing and it was rushed through the cleaning process, dried and pressed in jig time.

In three-quarters of an hour, the three were on their way home with not a sign of paint on them and the highway department had even cleaned up the paint on the sidewalk.

CARD OF THANKS I wish to express my sincere thanks to my many friends and neighbors for the cards and gifts sent me while I was a patient at the Maine Medical Center in Portland. Charles Bradley 99-11

It's Union Fair Week On The Coast

One of the many features of Union Fair this week will be the Regulus 1, a guided missile developed by the Navy and now a part of the national defenses against attack. The unit, which appears to be an aircraft in itself, is flown by ground control stations or from other planes carrying control equipment. The missile is pictured at the moment of takeoff from a Navy installation. In practice sessions, it is guided back to an airfield and landed, undamaged, by remote control.

The event which annually heralds the arrival of late summer, Union Fair, opens at 11 a. m. today with a round of events which will take it through Saturday evening.

President Robert Heald and his staff have in readiness for the public a complete midway, horse and oxen pulling contests and two exhibit halls packed with handicrafts and products of agricultural and culinary skills of the people of the area. Race Secretary Curtis Payson has the harness racing schedule lined up with post time set for 1.30 each afternoon. Vaudeville shows will be presented on the stage in front of the grandstand each afternoon between dashes of the racing program. The same shows will be presented, plus a band concert, evenings Tuesday through Friday. On Thursday and Friday evenings, the night show will wind up with a display of fireworks. Tonight and Saturday night, there will be an auto thrill show on the track in front of the grandstand.

The barbecue pit was in the hands of Ralph Funt of Lincolnville. All agreed that Mr. Hunt certainly knows his job as the extra-sized one and one-half pound broiler halves were done to a turn.

Charles Varnam and his crew at the serving table kept the line moving right along and Edgar Robbins toured the grounds frequently with a pitcher of steaming coffee to make sure that all had plenty of the brew. Behind the scenes, Tauno Manner was busy in the kitchen preparing the coffee. This to mention only a few of the egg producers who contributed plenty of time and effort to make the event a success.

It might also be said that Edgar Robbins purchased and prepared the chickens, Herb Alexander saw to it that all necessary food supplies were there. Dave White and Joe Eckert kept a careful eye on the tickets and money; Remo Ekikila and Dave moved in most of the chairs and tables. Charlie Hudson kept a watch for possible new members and Pete Leach and boys did a fine parking job. Elwyn Henderson and Pat Bowen had charge of cold drinks. Several visitors from hatcheries, supply and grain companies turned to give the boys a lift from time to time when the pressure was on.

The Independent Egg Producers Association, not yet two years old, has become one of the most active, poultry associations in New England. Its membership of close to 100 includes members not only in Maine but other New England States as well. Now that the Association is represented in the New England Egg Producers Association, it is quite possible that I.E.P.A. will eventually be affiliated with the New England group.

Failure demonstrates the fact that there is also plenty of room at the bottom. Every individual has his price—and sooner or later the majority land on the bargain counter. Advertis in The Courier-Gazette

IT'S TIME TO ELECT A NEW COUNTY ATTORNEY!

Since I am the Democratic candidate for the office of County Attorney, the people should know my qualifications, the issues concerning the office; what I stand for, and what I propose to do if elected. In this edition of the newspaper, I shall present my QUALIFICATIONS. I was born in Rockland in 1920, and attended the Rockland Schools, participated in the major sports, and graduated in 1937; I then obtained a position as office manager at the Algin Corporation, and during the evenings I attended Ballard Business College, from which I graduated in 1939, still maintaining my job, until 1941 when I got a position as personal secretary and aide to John E. Newell, Bath Iron Works. I served in the Army from 1942 to 1944, overseas duty. Upon discharge from the service, I attended the University of Maine under the G. I. Bill, 1944-45, and also was captain of the varsity baseball team; I transferred to Syracuse University to continue my pre-law studies, and then entered the Syracuse Law College from which I graduated in 1948. I then passed the Maine Bar examinations and opened my own law office in Rockland where I have had extensive criminal and civil trial practice for the past 10 years. At present I hold the office of Recorder of the Rockland Municipal Court; a Dis-closure Commissioner, and have been obtained a practice before all the Maine Courts, the Federal District Court; and U. S. Tax Court. I have several issues I shall discuss with you during the next few weeks. WATCH FOR ISSUES 1 AND 2 in this newspaper August 21st!

SENATOR PAYNE REPORTS

There were several important developments in Congress last week which are of interest. Though I was in Maine I did keep in very close touch with these legislative activities.

Education Legislation Passed

The Senate last week gave its approval to the first real education bill since the Morrill Land Grant Act of 1862 which was responsible for our land grant colleges—including the University of Maine. The bill, known as the National Defense Education Act of 1958, incorporates the recommendations made earlier this year by President Eisenhower. It would provide scholarships and loans to deserving students as well as Federal funds to improve the teaching of science, mathematics and languages; the training of teachers; and testing and counseling services given to students in elementary and secondary schools. The education bill then went to a Senate-House conference committee to iron out some differences between the two versions of the bill. It is my hope that the conference will speedily resolve the differences so that this important legislation can be finally enacted. We have tarried too long in taking steps to provide essential assistance to education.

Civil Defense Program

Earlier this year the Congress enacted a very important measure to expand and strengthen the Civil Defense Program. The Administration then requested Congress to appropriate the funds necessary to put the newly authorized program into effect. In acting on the Supplemental Appropriation bill the House rejected the request completely. The Senate Appropriations Committee did recommend some of the funds but refused the most important item which is funds for Federal contributions to the state to help support state civil defense activities. When this bill came before the Senate last week an amendment was offered on the floor to restore this money which had my complete support. Over the years I have been actively interested in the Civil Defense Program for it is my belief that this program is of paramount importance to the safety of our Nation.

Hoover Commission Budget Bill Approved By Congress

Last week final Congressional action was taken on legislation to implement the vitally important recommendation of the Second Hoover Commission to give closer control over the budgetary process by placing the Federal Budget on an annual accrued expenditure basis. This bill, of which I am one of the co-authors, has had my wholehearted interest and support for the last few years. The measure was passed by the Senate in both the 84th and 85th Congresses, but it was not until this year that the House took any positive action. When it did act the House adopted a substitute which didn't go as far as the Hoover Commission and the Senate authors of the bill would have liked. Still the House bill was definitely a step in the right direction and it was accepted by the Senate with minor amendments. The bill has been finally approved by the House and sent to the President for his signature. This legislation is of vital importance because it should result in substantial savings by making possible closer control over the expenditure of the vast sums of money which are appropriated each year.

Fishery Legislation

Several important fishery bills are still pending before the Congress. The Saltonstall bill which I co-sponsored to provide assistance to distressed segments of the fishing industry is on the Senate Calendar. Also on the Senate Calendar is the bill I introduced to require that lobsters imported into this country meet the lowest minimum size standard imposed by any lobster producing state. My bill to establish a fishery extension service has been passed by the Senate and is before the House Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee. Last week that Committee reported to the House a bill introduced by Senator Magnuson and myself to increase the important fisheries loan fund by $10 million. The House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee has also reported a lobster bill very similar to the one now before the Senate. It is hoped that final action on all of this legislation which would assist the hard pressed fishing industry will be taken before the Congress adjourns.

SOUTH WARREN

Mrs. Doris Page of Winterport was a guest Friday of Mr. Marion Wood.

Mr. and Mrs. John Leavitt of Marblehead, Mass., have been recent callers in the neighborhood.

Mrs. Eunice Beane, Mrs. Olive Fales, Mrs. Kathryn Draper, Jean Draper, Terry and Tony Vigue have employment with E. C. Cutting during the blueberry season.

Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Libby were supper guests Monday at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Libby in Cushing.

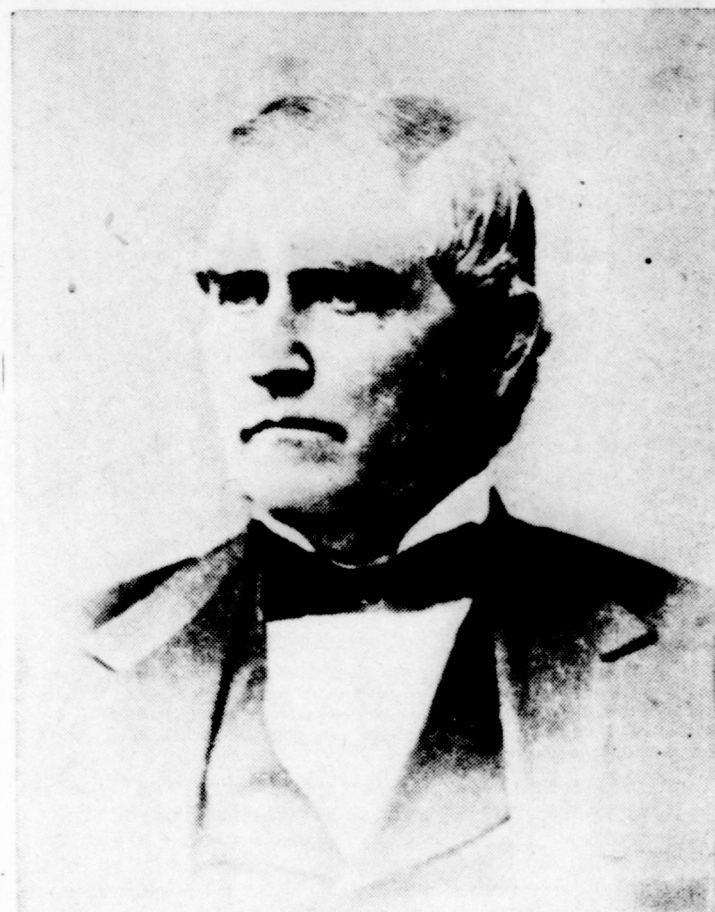

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Fogg of Wilmington, Delaware, who have been occupying one of the Moody cottages at North Pond, have returned home. Mrs. Lucretia McNeil returned to Lynn, Mass., where she will visit at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Virginia Hernes, and return to Delaware later.

Jaywalking in Jersey is not a paying proposition. Recently it cost a New Jersey woman $5 to tear up a court summons, after she told a policeman he "should be in Russia" when he asked her to stay on the curb.

To prevent falls, hand rails are called for on both sides of open stairs and on at least one side of closed stairways. That's the word from Maine Extension Service Home Management Specialist Pauline Lush.

THOMASTON SCRAP BOOK MAKES HISTORY LIVE AS EDITED BY LEE MORSE

By F. L. S. Morse

Capt. Samuel Watts, distinguished builder of Down Easters. He gave the first Watts Block to Thomaston in 1890. The new block was built after the fire of 1915 with insurance money and gift from the late Mary Jane Watts.

Sam Watts And His Down Easters

To quote Fairburn's Merchant Sail, "Samuel Watts did not have a career so interestingly novel and spectacular as that of Edward O'Brien, but he was a sound business man and highly successful builder and managing owner of deep sea wood square riggers of the Down Easter type and late of coastwise schooners.

"Associated with Samuel Watts in the business of shipbuilding and operation was his brother, Capt. Alfred Watts, who had been in command of the ship Barnabas Webb and General McClellan, and who retired from the sea to be manager of the Samuel Watts shipyard."

His obituary in a local newspaper stated that Alfred Watts was born in St. George, April 24, 1816, that he went to Thomaston when a young man and married Elizabeth, daughter of Edward Brown, a prominent citizen. He left a son, Edward Brown Watts, captain of one of the largest ships of the Watts fleet and two daughters, Iada, later wife of Rev. W. A. Newcombe and Sadie Stone, wife of William Washburne. He represented Thomaston for three years in the legislature, and served for two terms in the State Senate. Capt. Alfred Watts died in 1882 in the same year as that Edward O'Brien passed away, and without these two great planners, square rigged ships ceased to be built in our good old town.

Two of Capt. Alfred Watts' grandsons are known locally. Prof. Alfred Newcombe of Galesburg, Ill., and Edward B. Newcombe of Pleasantville, N. J., and two great granddaughters, Miss Elizabeth Newcombe of Montclair, N. J., and Miss Helen of Washington, D. C. These are daughters of George S. Newcombe and the late Edith Washburn Newcombe. Mr. Newcombe and Miss Elizabeth have spent a part of the present summer at Spruce Head. These are splendid persons, worthy of the grand old families of our town.

Of the Watts fleet Fairburn lists the following as outstanding ships, the date of their launching and tonnage is given: 1862, General McClellan, 1518 tons; 1866, Joseph Fish, 1262 tons; 1866, L.

B. Gilchrist, 1158 tons; 1867, Kendrick Fish, 1326 tons; Loretto Fish, 1945 tons.

1870, Samuel Watts (11), 2035 tons; 1871, Eliza McNeil, 1582 tons; 1874, Abner I. Benyon (Alfred Watts), 1956 tons; 1875, H. S. Gregory, 2020 tons; 1876, John T. Berry, 1420 tons; 1877, Alfred D. Snow, 1957 tons; 1877, Levi G. Burgess, 1356 tons.

1875, Snow and Burgess, 1655 tons; 1881, Joseph B. Thomas, 1851 tons; 1882, Cyrus Wakefield, 2013 tons; 1883, R. D. Rice, 2134 tons.

Joseph Fish was a businessman and shipbuilder of Port Clyde and Kendrick was his son and Loretto his daughter. The ships Joseph Fish and the Kendrick Fish were sold to German concerns after several successful years.

The Loretto Fish in 1874 required 183 days on the westward passage around Cape Horn to San Francisco. On this voyage, a seaman was killed by a fall, two died of scurvy, and it was reported that the crew almost starved. Capt. Hodgeman and the officers were tried for cruelty but were acquitted. The ship was sold to the Germans as was the Samuel Watts II after two years in the grain trade.

The Eliza McNeil will be discussed in a later number of the Scrap Book.

The Abner Benyon was named for a Boston banker, who got into financial difficulties that proved embarrassing and costly to Thomaston shipping interests, so Capt. Sam re-christened the ship, calling her the Alfred Watts.

To change the name thus was supposed to be very unlucky. In 1877 this ship grounded in the Delaware River and later encountered a hurricane and capsized with a loss of 25 lives.

The H. S. Gregory foundered when she was seven and one half years old.

The John T. Berry was built at the yard of James A. Creighton by Joseph Hill, master builder for Capt. Samuel Watts. On Jan. 9, 1888 on a voyage to Japan loaded with kerosene she caught fire and was destroyed.

The Alfred D. Snow named for a son of Capt. Ambrose Snow who was connected with W. R. Grace and Co. She was at times faster than the clipper ships, a wonderful ship, that went ashore at Waterford, Ireland, and was a total loss.

The Levi Burgess ran successfully for 45 years and was burned for her metal, while the Snow and Burgess ran for 43 years and was at last sold to the ship breakers.

The Joseph B. Thomas, at first employed in the Cape Horn run, during the Nineties was in the case oil trade with the Far East. Later was a coal barge and foundered off Cape Cod in 1913.

The Cyrus Wakefield made many passages around the Horn and sometimes made better time than did the clipper ships. Two of her captains were unfortunate, Capt. Halver Hyler had to retire because of failing eyesight, and Capt. Henry was killed by a blow on the head which Fairburn states was never satisfactorily explained.

The R. D. Rice, the last square rigger built in Thomaston was burned in Tiago, a total loss, in 1901. The Rice had been sold to Flint and Co. in 1894, and according to the Courier-Gazette of June in that year only one ship of the Watts fleet was left to Thomaston, the ship Joseph B. Thomas, commanded, said the Courier, by Capt. William J. Lermond.

From a story in The Courier-Gazette of 1919 it is stated that Capt. Edward Watts of St. George, who had just died, was commander of the H. S. Gregory of the Watts fleet when she foundered on a voyage to Antwerp. The cargo of grain fermented and Capt. Watts was blinded for several days by the steam. The crew pumped for 13 days and there was 10 feet of water in the hold when they were taken off by a Scotch ship.

Capt. Edward Watts was the father of the late Charles S. Watts of South Thomaston and so grandfather of Charles Watts and Mrs. Helen Colby of that town.

In this as in the preceding article it has seemed necessary to be brief and perhaps the narrative may seem as dry as a catalog, but when one considers how much of life and toil, hardship and tragedy involved in the story of these old ships, one must be impressed with the wonder of it all. Truly the days of the Down Easters were glorious times gone forever, but new times will yet bring more wonderful and we hope even happier times. Even with so much that is menacing, man aspires and still dares to hope for a glorious future.

The photograph of Capt. Samuel Watts was obtained by the kindness of Mrs. Charlotte Gray from Mr. Lewis, a great grandson of Capt. Watts.

F. L. S. Morse.

I stated in the above story that the ship J. B. Thomas was long commanded by Capt. William J. Lermond. I have since learned that Capt. Lermond commanded

Capt. Alfred Watts

Four Suggestions For Survivors of Deceased Veterans

Four suggestions to aid survivors of deceased veterans in filing claims for death compensation and pension were offered today by M. L. Stoddard, Manager, Veterans Administration Center, Topus.

By following these four suggestions, survivors will expedite adjudication of their claims, Stoddard said.

(1) If the veteran's death certificate does not contain a statement as to the cause of death, it should be accompanied by a certificate from the attending physician, showing dates of treatment and cause of death.

(2) A widow filing a claim should furnish the record of her marriage to the veteran. If she or the veteran were previously married, she should furnish copies of death or divorce certificates to establish that the previous marriages were dissolved.

(3) If minor children are among the survivors, birth or baptismal records are required, containing the names of both parents.

(4) Parents filing a claim must establish their relationship to the veteran by furnishing VA with a certified copy of the veteran's birth or baptismal certificate containing the names of both parents, and they also must provide evidence of their dependency.

ents and date of birth. If the children were adopted, a copy of the court order of adoption is needed.

Stoddard said this evidence is required by the laws governing compensation and pension payments.

Having a way of your own helps you keep out of the way of others.

State-Toughening Regulations On Teenage Drivers

The current trend toward placing restrictions on teen-age drivers' licenses will soon be common practice among all states, the Automobile Legal Association predicted today. More and more states are adopting some type of restriction, the Association says, because of the high accident and death rate of younger drivers.

New York State issues a Junior License which allows driving during daylight hours only (except when accompanied by a duly licensed operator) and which prohibits driving in New York City.

Tennessee restricts its younger drivers to the immediate neighborhood in which they reside, while Oklahoma lets its new drivers go between home and school only.

Maryland is probably the roughest on its teen-agers trying to get a license. There, the applicant must furnish a Certificate of Insurance showing that he personally has coverage in the amounts of $10/20/000 for personal injury and $5,000 property damage. He must then keep this coverage in force until he reaches 21.

Idaho restricts its youngsters to daylight driving only. Arkansas makes the parents of those below 18 sign the application making them financially responsible for the minor's obligations. California and Florida are equally stiff.

There has also been talk in recent months, the ALA says, of issuing a Probationary License to new drivers which they would retain until they reach the age of 21. One "at fault" accident or one moving violation during this time would result in the suspension of the license until the driver reaches the age of legal maturity.

"Of all the various restrictions on teen-age licenses in the country," Paul H. Thibodeau, Secretary of the ALA, said, "we would favor the latter. If our teen-age drivers knew they were on probation for several years and that one wrong step would take them off the road until they were old enough to appreciate a license, they would see a big change in their driving habits."

SAFE WALKING TIPS HOW UNPREDICTABLE ARE YOU? Pedestrians, as a whole, are an unpredictable lot. You simply cannot tell what they will do. While most drivers stay on the right side of the street, signal before turning and passing other vehicles on the left, the pedestrian all too often seems to feel the need for no such orderly pattern in walking. He may cross at mid-block, fail to stay in the crosswalks, step unexpectedly in the street, disobey traffic signals and generally tend to keep motorists guessing. Yet, the American Automobile Association points out that it is just as important for you, as a pedestrian, to observe traffic laws and ordinances as it is when you get behind the wheel of your car. Statistics show that two out of three pedestrians killed in traffic accidents had either violated an ordinance or committed an obviously unsafe act. So, be sure you observe the pedestrian laws established for your protection in crossing the street. To do otherwise is foolhardy.
