Curriculum Vitae

Anouk Kesselring was born on September 15, 1978 in Rotterdam. She spent her childhood in Driel (Overbetuwe) and Erichem (Buren) and passed Gymnasium B at GSG Lingecollege Tiel (1996). She studied Medicine at RUCA in Antwerp, Belgium for two years and continued medical school at Erasmus Medical Center in Rotterdam where she graduated in 2005. During her medical studies she obtained a master degree in Clinical Epidemiology at the Netherlands Institute for Health Sciences (nihes 2002). As part of this programme she attended a summer course in Statistics at Harvard School of Public Health. Before starting her medical rotations she travelled for half a year through Australia and New Zealand. During her clinical rotations, she participated in an elective in public health in Leon, Nicaragua for 4 months. After obtaining her medical degree in Aug 2005, she started the work described in this thesis under the supervision of Professor Peter Reiss and Professor Frank de Wolf at HIV Monitoring Foundation and Academic Medical Center in Amsterdam. Anouk is living happily together with Dimitri Vissers and their children, Cecilia and Samuel.
