BU recognises that open access publication of research outputs and data are essential to the effective sharing and dissemination of new knowledge for the good of society. IN EXCEPTIONAL CIRCUMSTANCES an author may ask the University to restrict access to the thesis and/or research data for a limited period, normally two years. If you require this, please refer to Section C and obtain your Faculty Executive Dean's signed agreement. If this agreement is obtained the restriction on access to a thesis overrides the consent given in paragraphs 2 and 3 above for the period of restriction.

Section C: Request to Restrict Access to a Thesis and/or research data

I request that no access of any kind be permitted to this thesis/ research data/ material in an integrated thesis (see Section B) for two years, commencing from the date of conferment. I understand that:

- i. 'No access' means that no one, not even I, or my supervisor, or my Faculty Executive Dean, will have access to the deposited copy of the thesis and/or research data during this period. This restriction may, however, be lifted, for a named person for a specified period at the joint request of my Faculty Executive Dean and myself;
- ii. At the end of the period, unless I make a request for the restriction to be extended, the thesis and/or research data will be made available on Bournemouth University's research and/or data repositories; a copy of the thesis will also be made available to the British Library.
- iii. Restriction may be extended to a maximum of 5 years commencing from the date of conferment. The restriction then lapses and cannot be renewed. Bournemouth University Library is under no obligation to contact me about extending the period of restriction.

The following information will be considered by the Faculty Executive Dean in deciding whether to support the request for restriction of access and in determining any request to extend restriction as referenced above.

I have read the full text of clauses i-iii above and I request restriction of access for the following reason(s) (tick all that apply):-

- The thesis and/or data contains information provided in confidence
- Releasing the thesis and/or data would cause substantial prejudice to commercial interests
- The thesis and/or data contains information about research in progress where there is an intention to publish at a later date
- Integrated thesis, of which some sections need to be restricted (see Section B)
- Other

If 'Other', please give further details, or use the space below to provide any other details
