Next Generation Leadership - Jawun Emerging Leaders Program Mr Chad Creighton, Kimberley Land Council

Chad Creighton is a Bardi and Nyul Nyul man who was born and raised in Broome. In February 2014, Chad was appointed as Regional Manager - West Kimberley in the Native Title Service Unit at the Kimberley Land Council (KLC). Chad holds a Bachelor of Fine Art and a Post Graduate Diploma in Applied Heritage Studies.

The Jawun Emerging Leaders Program is run every two years and the inaugural program commenced in 2011. It is a "Best Practice Study Tour and Leadership Experience" aimed at broadening the exposure of emerging Indigenous Leaders across the locations that Jawun currently supports: Goulburn-Murray, Cape York, Central Coast NSW, East Kimberley, West Kimberley, Northeast Arnhem Land, Inner Sydney and the APY Lands.

The 2015 theme is "innovative change requires leadership for action". This unique program gives Emerging Leaders from across the Jawun regions the opportunity to share insights and lessons by engaging with individuals and organisations that demonstrate best practice and innovation. Chad will talk about his experience of being involved in the 2015 Jawun Emerging Leaders Program and the growing discussion about leadership with the Kimberley and across Australia.
