Preamble

The States Parties to this (Legally Binding InstrumentConvention),

(PP1) Reaffirming the principles and purposes of the Charter of the United Nations;

(PP2) Recalling the nine core International Human Rights Instruments adopted by the United Nations, and the eight fundamental Conventions adopted by the International Labour Organization;

(PP3) Recalling also the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, as well as the Declaration on the Right to Development, the Vienna Declaration and Programme of Action, the Durban Declaration and Programme of Action, the UN Declaration on Human Rights Defenders, the UN Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples, relevant ILO Conventions, and recalling further the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development, as well as all internationally agreed human rights Declarations;

(PP4) Reaffirming the fundamental human rights and the dignity and worth of the human person, in the equal rights of men and women and the need to promote social progress and better standards of life in larger freedom while respecting the obligations arising from treaties and other sources of international law as set out in the Charter of the United Nations;

(PP5) Reaffirming that all human rights are universal, indivisible, interdependent, interrelated, and inalienable, and should be applied in a non-discriminatory way;

(PP6) Upholding the right of every person to have effective and equal access to justice and remedy in case of violations of international human rights law or international humanitarian law, including the rights to non-discrimination, participation and inclusion;

(PP7) Stressing that the primary obligation to respect, protect, fulfill and promote human rights and fundamental freedoms lie with the State, and that States must protect against human rights abuse by third parties, including business enterprises, within their territory, jurisdiction, or otherwise under their control, and ensure respect for and implementation of international human rights law;

(PP8) Recalling the United Nations Charter Articles 55 and 56 on international cooperation, including in particular with regard to universal respect for, and observance of, human rights and fundamental freedoms for all without distinction of race, colour, sex, language or religion;

(PP9) Upholding the principles of sovereign equality, peaceful settlement of disputes, and maintenance of the territorial integrity and political independence of States as set out in Article 2 of the United Nations Charter;

(PP10) Acknowledging that all business enterprises have the capacity to foster sustainable development through an increased productivity, inclusive economic growth and job creation that respect internationally recognized human rights, labour rights, health and safety standards, the environment and climate, in accordance with relevant international standards and agreements;

Commented [CMO1]: Preamble excluded from scope of this revision

(PP11) Underlining that business enterprises, regardless of their size, sector, location, operational context, ownership and structure have the obligation to respect internationally recognized human rights, including by avoiding causing or contributing to human rights abuses through their own activities and addressing such abuses when they occur, as well as by preventing or mitigating human rights abuses that are directly linked to their operations, products or services by their business relationships;

(PP12) Emphasizing that civil society actors including human rights defenders have an important and legitimate role in promoting the respect of human rights by business enterprises, and in preventing, mitigating and seeking effective remedy for business-related human rights abuses;

(PP13) Recognizing the distinctive and disproportionate impact of business-related human rights abuses on women and girls, children, indigenous peoples, persons with disabilities, people of African descent, older persons, migrants and refugees, and other persons in vulnerable situation, as well as the need for a business and human rights perspective that takes into account specific circumstances and vulnerabilities of different rights-holders and the structural obstacles for obtaining remedies for these persons;

(PP14) Emphasizing the need for States and business enterprises to integrate a gender perspective in all their measures, in line with the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women, the Beijing Declaration and Platform for Action, the ILO Convention 190 concerning the elimination of violence and harassment in the world of work, the Gender Guidance for the Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights, and other relevant international standards;

(PP15) Taking into account the work undertaken by the United Nations Commission on Human Rights and the Human Rights Council on the question of the responsibilities of transnational corporations and other business enterprises with respect to human rights, and all relevant previous Human Rights Council resolutions, including in particular Resolution 26/9;

(PP16) Recognizing the contribution and complementary role that the Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights: Implementing the United Nations "Protect, Respect and Remedy" Framework has played in that regard and to advancing respect for human rights in the business activities;

(PP17) Noting the ILO Declaration on Fundamental Principles and Rights at Work and the Tripartite Declaration of Principles concerning Multinational Enterprises and Social Policy;

(PP18) Desiring to clarify and facilitate effective implementation of the obligations of States regarding business-related human rights abuses and the obligations of business enterprises in that regard;

Have agreed as follows:

6.5. States Parties may provide incentives and adopt other measures to facilitate compliance with requirements under this Article by micro, small and medium sized business enterprises.

6.6. States Parties shall ensure that effective national procedures are in place to ensure compliance with the obligations laid down under this Article, taking into consideration the potential human rights abuses resulting from the business enterprises' size, nature, sector, location, operational context and the severity of associated risks associated with the business activities in their territory, jurisdiction, or otherwise under their control, including those of transnational character.

6.7. Without prejudice to the provisions on criminal, civil and administrative liability under Article 8, State Parties shall undertake to provide for appropriate, effective, adequate, proportionate and dissuasive penalties to secure the performance of such due diligence. including appropriate corrective_action where suitable, for business enterprises failing to comply with provisions of Articles

6.3 and 6.4.

6.8. In setting and implementing their public policies and legislation with respect to the implementation of this (Legally Binding InstrumentConvention), States Parties shall act in a transparentmanner and protect these policies from the influence of commercial and other vested interests of business enterprises, including those conducting business activities of transnational character.

Article 7. Access to Remedy

7.1. States Parties shall provide their courts and State-based non-judicial mechanisms, with the necessary competence in accordance with this (Legally Binding InstrumentConvention) to enable victims' access to adequate, timely and effective remedy and access to justice, and to overcome the specific obstacles which women, vulnerable and marginalized people and groups face in accessing such mechanisms and remedies.

7.2. States Parties shall ensure that their domestic laws facilitate access to information, including through international cooperation, as set out in this (Legally Binding

7.3. States Parties shall provide adequate and effective legal assistance to victims throughout the legal process, including by:

- a. Making information available and accessible to victims of their rights and the status of their claims, in relevant languages and accessible formats to adults and children alike, including those with disabilities;
- b. b. Guaranteeing the rights of victims to be heard in all stages of proceedings;

c. Avoiding unnecessary costs or delays for bringing a claim and during the disposition of cases and the execution of orders or decrees granting awards; and,

d. Removing legal obstacles, including the doctrine of forum non conveniens, to initiate proceedings in the courts of another State Party in appropriate cases of human rights abuses resulting from business activities of a transnational character.

7.4. States Parties shall ensure that court fees and rules concerning allocation of legal costs do not place an unfair and unreasonable burden on victims or become a barrier to commencing proceedings in accordance with this (Legally Binding InstrumentConvention) and that there is a provision for possible waiving of certain costs in suitable cases.

7.5. States Parties shall enact or amend laws allowing judges to reverse the burden of proof in appropriate cases to fulfill the victims' right to access to remedy, where consistent with international law and its domestic constitutional law.

7.6. State Parties shall provide effective mechanisms for the enforcement of remedies for human rights abuses, including through prompt execution of national or foreign judgments or awards, in accordance with the present (Legally Binding InstrumentConvention), domestic law and international legal obligations.

Article 8. Legal Liability

8.1. States Parties shall undertake to ensure that their domestic law provides for effective, proportionate, and dissuasive criminal, civil and/or administrative sanctions including a comprehensive and adequate system of legal liability of legal and natural persons to prevent address and remediate conducting business activities, within their territory, jurisdiction, or otherwise under their control, for business activities, including those of transnational character, or from their business relationships.

8.2. State Parties shall ensure that their domestic liability regime provides for liability of legal persons without prejudice to the liability of natural persons, and does not make civil liability contingent upon finding of criminal liability or its equivalent for the same acts.

8.3 States Parties shall adopt legal and other measures necessary to ensure that their domestic jurisdiction provides for effective, proportionate, and dissuasive criminal, civil and/or administrative sanctions where legal or natural persons conducting business activities have caused or contributed to human rights abuses.

8.4. States Parties shall adopt measures necessary to ensure that their domestic law provides for adequate, prompt, effective, gender and age responsive reparations to the victims of human rights abuses in the context of business activities, including those of a transnational character, in line with applicable international standards for reparations to the victims of human rights violations.

Where a legal or natural person conducting business activities is found liable for reparation to a victim of a human rights abuse, such person shall provide reparation to the victim or compensate the State, if that State has already provided reparation to the victim for the human rights abuse resulting from acts or omissions for which that legal or natural person conducting business activities is responsible.

8.5. States Parties shall require legal or natural persons conducting business activities in their territory or jurisdiction, including those of a transnational character, to establish and maintain financial security, such as insurance bonds or other financial guarantees, to cover potential claims of compensation.

8.6. States Parties shall ensure that their domestic law provides for the liability of legal and/or natural persons conducting business activities, including those of transnational character, for their failure to prevent another legal or natural person with whom they have had a business relationship, from causing or contributing to human rights abuses, when the former controls, manages or supervises such person or the relevant activity that caused or contributed to the human rights abuse, or should have foreseen risks of human rights abuses in the conduct of their business activities, including those of transnational character, or in their business relationships, but failed to take adequate measures to prevent the abuse.

8.7. Human rights due diligence shall not automatically absolve a legal or natural person conducting business activities from liability for causing or contributing to human rights abuses or failing to prevent such abuses by a natural or legal person as laid down in Article 8.6. The court or other competent authority will decide the liability of such legal or natural persons after an examination of compliance with applicable human rights due diligence standards.

8.8. Subject to their legal principles, States Parties shall ensure that their domestic law provides for the criminal or functionally equivalent liability of legal persons for human rights abuses that amount to criminal offenses under international human rights law binding on the State Party or customary international law, or their domestic law. Regardless of the nature of the liability, States Parties shall ensure that the applicable penalties are proportionate with the gravity of the offense. This Article shall apply without prejudice to any other international instrument which requires or establishes the criminal or administrative liability of legal persons for other offenses.

8.9. The liability of legal persons under Article 8.9. shall be without prejudice to the criminal liability of the natural person who have committed the offenses under the applicabledomestic law.

8.10. States Parties shall provide measures under domestic law to establish the criminal or functionally equivalent legal liability for legal or natural persons conducting business activities, including those of a transnational character, for acts or omissions that constitute attempt, participation or complicity in a criminal offense in accordance with this Article and criminal offenses as defined by their domestic law.

Article 9. Adjudicative Jurisdiction

9.1. Jurisdiction with respect to claims brought by victims, irrespectively of their nationality or place of domicile, arising from acts or omissions that result or may result in human rights abuses covered under this (Legally Binding InstrumentConvention), shall vest in the courts of the Statewhere:

a. the human rights abuse occurred and/or produced effects; or

b. an act or omission contributing to the human rights abuse occurred;

c. the legal or natural persons alleged to have committed an act or omission causing or contributing to such human rights abuse in the context of business activities, including those of a transnational character, are domiciled; or

d. the victim is a national of or is domiciled.

This provision does not exclude the exercise of civil jurisdiction on additional grounds provided for by international treaties or domestic laws.

9.2. Without prejudice to any broader definition of domicile provided for in any international instrument or domestic law, a legal person conducting business activities of a transnational character, including through their business relationships, is considered domiciled at the place where it has its:

a. place of incorporation or registration; or

b. place where the principal assets or operations are located; or

c. central administration or management is located; or

d. principal place of business or activity on a regular basis.

9.3. Courts vested with jurisdiction on the basis of Article 9.1 and 9.2 shall avoid imposing any legal obstacles, including the doctrine of forum non conveniens, to initiate proceedings in line with Article 7.5 of this (legally binding instrumentConvention).

9.4. Courts shall have jurisdiction over claims against legal or natural persons not domiciled in the territory of the forum State, if the claim is connected with a claim against a legal or natural person domiciled in the territory of the forum State.

9.5. Courts shall have jurisdiction over claims against legal or natural persons not domiciled in the territory of the forum State if no other effective forum guaranteeing a fair judicial process is available and there is a connection to the State Party concerned as follows:

a. the presence of the claimant on the territory of the forum;

b. the presence of assets of the defendant; or

c. a substantial activity of the defendant

Article 10. Statute of limitations

10.1. The States Parties to the present (Legally Binding InstrumentConvention) shall adopt anylogislative or other measures necessary to ensure that statutory or other limitations shall notapply for the commencement of legal proceedings in relation to human rights abuses resulting in violations of international law which constitute the most serious crimes of concern to the international community as a whole.

10.2. The States Parties to the present (Legally Binding InstrumentConvention) shall adopt anylegislative or other measures necessary to ensure that statutory or other limitations applicable to civil claims or violations that do not constitute the most serious crimes of concern to the international community as a whole allow a reasonable period of time for the commencement of legal proceedings in relation to human rights abuses, particularly in cases where the abuses occurred in another State or when the harm may be identifiable only after a long period of time.

Article 11. Applicable Law

11.1. All matters of procedure regarding claims before the competent court which are not specifically regulated in the (Legally Binding InstrumentConvention) shall be governed by the law of thatcourt seized on the matter.

11.2. All matters of substance which are not specifically regulated under this [international legally binding instrumentConvention] may, upon the request of the victim, be governed by the law of another State where:

a. the acts or omissions have occurred or produced effects; or

b. the natural or legal person alleged to have committed the acts or omissions is domiciled.

Article 12. Mutual Legal Assistance and International Judicial Cooperation 12.1. States Parties shall carry out their obligations under this Article in conformity with any treaties or other arrangements on mutual legal assistance or international judicialcooperation that may exist between them. In the absence of such treaties or arrangements, States Parties shall make available to one another, mutual legal assistance and international judicial cooperation to the fullest extent possible under domestic and international lew. 12.2. x. Assisting in regard to the application of domestic law;

xi. Any other type of assistance that is not contrary to the domestic law of the requested State Party.

b. International judicial cooperation under this (Legally Binding InstrumentConvention) is understood to include, inter alia: effective service of judicial documents; and, provision of judicial comity consistent with domestic law.

12.6. In criminal cases covered under this (Legally Binding InstrumentConvention), and without prejudice to the domestic law of the involved States Parties,

a. With respect to criminal offenses covered under this (Legally Binding InstrumentConvention), mutual legal assistance shall be provided to the fullest extent possible, in a manner consistent with the law of the requested Party and its commitments under treaties onmutual assistance in criminal matters to which it is Party;

b. In cases where such mutual assistance is related to the question of extradition, Parties agree to cooperate in accordance with this (Legally Binding InstrumentConvention), theirnational law and any treaties that exist between the concerned State Parties.

12.7. The competent authorities of a State Party may, without prior request, transmit and exchange information relating to criminal offenses covered under this (Legally Binding InstrumentConvention) to a competent authority in another State Party where they believe that such information could assist the authority in undertaking or successfully concluding inquiries and criminal proceedings or could result in a request formulated by the latter State Party pursuant to this (Legally Binding InstrumentConvention). The transmission and exchange of informationshall be without prejudice to inquiries and criminal proceedings in the State of the competent authorities providing the information, to guarantee the widest protection of human rights.

12.8. States Parties may consider concluding bilateral or multilateral agreements or arrangements whereby, in relation to matters that are subject of investigations, prosecutions or judicial proceedings under this (Legally Binding InstrumentConvention), the competent authorities concerned may establish joint investigative bodies. In the absence of such agreements or arrangements, joint investigations may be undertaken by agreement on a case-by-case basis. The States Parties involved shall ensure that the sovereignty of the State Party in whose territory such investigation is to take place, is fully respected.

12.9. States Parties shall designate a central authority that shall have the responsibility and power to receive requests for mutual legal assistance and either to execute them or to transmit them to the competent authorities for execution, in accordance with their domestic laws.

12.10. ## 14.2.

14.3.14.4. Nothing in the present (Legally Binding InstrumentConvention) shall affect any provisions in the domestic legislation of a State Party or in any regional or international treaty or agreement that is more conducive to the respect, protection, fulfillment and promotion of human rights in the context of business activities and to guaranteeing the access to justice and effective remedy to victims of human rights abuses in the context of business activities, including those of a transnational character.

14.4.14.5. This (Legally Binding InstrumentConvention) shall not affect the rights and obligations of the States Parties under the rules of general international law with respect to State immunity and the international responsibility of States. Earlier treaties relating to the same subject matter as this (Legally Binding InstrumentConvention) shall apply only to the extent that their provisions are compatible with this (Legally Binding InstrumentConvention), in accordance with Article 30 of the Vienna Convention on the Law of Treaties.

14.5.14.6. States Parties shall ensure that:

a. All existing bilateral or multilateral agreements, including regional or sub-regional agreements, on issues relevant to this (Legally Binding InstrumentConvention) and its protocols, including trade and investment agreements, shall be interpreted and implemented ina manner that does not undermine or restrict their capacity to fulfill their obligations under this (Legally Binding InstrumentConvention) and its protocols, if any, as well as other relevant human rights conventions and instruments.
