COURSE DESCRIPTION

The 2000 U.S. Census reveals that Latinos are this nation's fastest growing minority population. According to the Greater Richmond Area Immigrant Health Needs Assessment, more than 20,000 persons immigrated into the Greater Richmond Area between 1990 and 2000. Latin Americans represent one of the largest population groups immigrating to the area, with a growth rate of five times the overall population. This Summit seeks to equip health care providers, community leaders and individuals involved in the provision of health services with information, knowledge and resources to better serve the growing Latino population in Central Virginia.

Nationally known leaders and researchers will be brought together in a critical mass to share their knowledge and experience with regard to demographic trends, key health issues, current best practices in healthcare, and key provider and patient resources for achieving better health outcomes for Latinos. Plenary sessions include opportunities for interaction with speakers and colleagues. Small group breakout sessions on selected topic areas related to Health Policy and Administration, Language Access, and Culture and Health will provide further opportunities for learning and interaction. Participants may select two breakout sessions. Breakout session assignments will be made on a first-come, first-served basis due to seating restrictions (please indicate your first and second choices for each session in the space provided on the course registration form).

COURSE REGISTRATION

Limited space is available and registrations will be on a first-come first-served basis. All registration fees are Non-Refundable. The course registration fee is $60.00 ($25 for students). The registration fee includes tuition, course materials, dinner, continental breakfast, lunch and coffee breaks. Scholarships are available.

SCHOLARSHIPS

A limited number of scholarships are available in cases of financial need. For more information about how you can apply for a scholarship, please contact Bill Nelson at bill.nelson@vdh.virginia.gov

- Define and discuss the cultural and linguistic barriers to healthcare encountered by Latinos
- Describe effective strategies and best practices for overcoming the cultural and linguistic barriers to healthcare encountered by Latinos
- Identify key provider and patient resources

Thursday, November 16, 2006

PM

- 3:00 – 4:30 Exhibit Set Up (Exhibits Open on Friday)
- 5:00 – 6:00 Registration Open
- 6:00-6:05 Welcome and Introduction
Presenter: Wally Smith, MD
- 6:05– 6:45 Cultural and Linguistic Barriers to Health Care:
The Patient’s Voice
Presenter: Joseph Betancourt, MD, MPH
Dr. Betancourt will examine some of the cultural and linguistic barriers to health care experienced by Latino patients and introduce participants to an award-winning training resource entitled Worlds Apart: A Four-Part Series on Cross-Cultural Healthcare. Filmed in patients’ homes, neighborhoods and places of worship, as well as hospital wards and community clinics, these unique trigger films follow four real patients and their families as they face critical medical decisions. Each of the four modules provides a balanced yet penetrating look at both the patients’ cultures and the culture of medicine. Participants will view the video module about Alicia Mercado. Alicia is a Puerto Rican immigrant who has struggled with diabetes, hypertension and asthma for years and has strong beliefs about using natural home remedies to manage her chronic conditions.
- 6:45 – 7:45 Dinner and Discussion
*Facilitators: Camilo Castillo, MD; Milagritos Flinn;
Mayra Granados; Lilia Mayer, EdM;
Wally Smith, MD; Carolina Velez*
Participants will engage in facilitated discussion at their respective dinner tables about the Alicia Mercado video module. Participants will share their overall impressions of what they just saw and heard and discuss one of the following issues introduced by the video: 1) the patient’s perspectives on chronic disease; 2) social stressors and support networks; 3) fears about potential consequences of medications; and 4) complementary/alternative therapies (home remedies). Table participants will have the opportunity to report out to the large group the highlights of their discussion.
- 7:45 - 7:55 Stretch Break
- 7:55 – 8:55 Effective Strategies for Delivering Culturally Appropriate Health Care Services to Latinos
Moderator: Joseph Betancourt, MD, MPH
*Panelists: Maria Gomez, RN, MPH
Rudy Valenzuela, FSP, RN, MSN, FNP-C*
Dr. Betancourt will highlight key “take-home points” from the Alicia Mercado video module. Panel members will share their experiences and describe strategies for effectively addressing cultural barriers to communication with Latino patients.
- 9:00 Wrap Up, Turn in Evaluations

This Summit has been made possible through the generous support from the following:

- VCU Health Systems
- Virginia Department of Health
Office of Minority Health and Culturally and Linguistically Appropriate Services Program

9:00

Latinos in Virginia: Statistics, Trends, Emerging Issues and Virginia's Response

Presenter: Fabiana Borkowsky, BS

The Virginia Latino Advisory Commission (VLAC) was created to provide information about, identify and prioritize the most pressing issues confronting the Latino population in the Commonwealth of Virginia. VLAC also makes recommendations on better ways that Virginia may respond to meet the needs of the Commonwealth's Latino community. Participants will learn about the activities and findings of the VLAC, particularly as they relate to health.

9:30

Unequal Treatment: Implications for Latino Health

Presenter: Joseph Betancourt, MD, MPH

The Institute of Medicine's report "Unequal Treatment" explores how persons of color experience the health care environment. The report gives evidence for significant predictors that affect the quality of health care received based on race and ethnicity, even after socioeconomic differences are taken into account. Dr. Betancourt will highlight key issues involving racial and ethnic disparities in healthcare and describe how Latinos are disproportionately affected by these issues.

10:30

Break and Visit Exhibits

10:45

BREAKOUT SESSIONS (CHOOSE ONE AM SESSION and ONE PM SESSION)

"all sessions will be repeated in the afternoon"

TRACK 1: HEALTH POLICY AND ADMINISTRATION

A Culturally and Linguistically Appropriate Health Care:

Understanding Laws and Policies that Impact Health Care Providers

Moderator: Elizabeth Lee-Rey, MD

Panelists: Paul Cushing, BA

Guadalupe Pacheco, Jr., MSW

Amy Wilson-Stronks, MPP, CPHQ

Participants will become acquainted with federal and national initiatives about the delivery of culturally and linguistically appropriate health care services of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services Office for Civil Rights and Office of Minority Health, and the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Healthcare Organizations. Participants will gain a better understanding of the history, background, and research behind existing requirements and standards, plus learn what is expected in the near future.

B Immigrants, Refugees, Asylees and the Undocumented:

Understanding Laws that Impact their Health and Well-Being

Moderator: Claire Guthrie Gastañaga, Esq.

Panelists: Anthony Basch, JD

Debra Dowd, JD

Jeffrey Nelson, MPH, MSW

Jennifer Ng'andu

Participants will gain a better understanding of the various status types (e.g., immigrants, refugees) of Latinos residing in the United States and learn how these status types impact individual legal rights. Specific areas to be addressed include employment, bad debt and collections, domestic violence, human trafficking, access to culturally and linguistically appropriate health care services, and access to Medicaid/SCHIP, food stamps, school lunches and other public benefit programs.

TRACK 2: LINGUISTIC ACCESS

C Can You Hear Me Now? Bridging the Language Gap in Health Care Settings

Moderator: Kevin Fergusson, MD, MSHA

Panelists: Yolanda Partida, MSW, DPA
Elita Rosillo-Christiansen, MA, MPA
Rudy Valenzuela, FSP, MSN, RN, FNP-C

Participants will learn about creative strategies for bridging the language gap in health care settings. These strategies include the development and utilization of universal symbols for health care; the adoption of a multi-pronged language access model, including challenges and key lessons learned in establishing and implementing Inova's language access program; and the recruitment and retention of Latino/bilingual nurses and other health professionals.

D When Words Fail Us: Communicating Through Interpreters in Health Care Settings

Moderator: Brett Allen Rosenberg, PhD

Presenter: Alejandro Muzio

The increased need for interpreters as a consequence of changing demographics, legal requirements and a desire to manage risk poses a number of challenges; particularly in health care settings. The challenges of working with bilingual interpreters, both trained and untrained, will be addressed. Participants will develop a greater appreciation for the intricacies of the interpreting profession and be provided with the basic tools and techniques needed to maximize the effectiveness of the interpreting services available to them. This session will be highly interactive, with opportunities for participants to ask questions and share about their experiences with interpretation encounters.

TRACK 3: CULTURE AND HEALTH

E Cancer, Diabetes and Sexual Health: Closing the Health Disparities Gap

Moderator: Milagritos Flinn

Panelists: Francisco Semião, MS, MPH
Andrea Zaldivar, MS, C-ANP, CDE
Vivian Bruzzese, MD

Latinos are at a disproportionate risk of poor health outcomes in a variety of areas, including cancer, diabetes, and sexual health. Participants will gain an understanding of health disparities that exist in the Latino community as they relate to these health conditions. Culturally appropriate health promotion, prevention, and treatment strategies will be addressed.

F Healthy Latino Families: Getting Past the Stereotypes

Moderator: Dennis Hunt, PhD

Panelists: Jane Delgado, PhD, MS
Maria Gomez, RN, MPH
Grace Perez

Participants will gain a better understanding of some of the most salient issues affecting the health and well-being of Latino families in the U.S. Presenters will look at maternal and child health, as well as domestic and family violence within the socio-cultural, experiential, and in some instances genetic context of the Latino population.

PM

12:15

Lunch and Luncheon Speaker

Building Healthy Communities

Presenter: Jane Delgado, PhD, MS

Dr. Delgado will illustrate how environmental problems disproportionately affect the public health of Latino communities. Participants will gain a better understanding of the value of partnering with Latino community-based organizations in the development of an environmental health leadership infrastructure that is grounded in community-based priorities and needs.

1:30

Break and Visit Exhibits

1:45

AFTERNOON BREAKOUT SESSIONS

"repeat of morning offerings"

3:15

Break and Visit Exhibits (Last Chance to Visit Exhibits)

3:30

Tools You Can Use: Señora de la Cruz and More

Moderator: Francisco Semião, MS, MPH

Participants will learn about several resources for facilitating the delivery of culturally and linguistically appropriate services to Latinos – all of which are available at no cost! Included in this session is a special showing of Señora De La Cruz. This is the latest educational tool used by Baltimore public health advocates to guide immigrant Latinos through the convoluted U.S. health care system. The video and accompanying booklet serve as a know-your-rights manual for immigrant women who are pregnant. These materials also explain language and cultural barriers that may prevent women from seeking vital prenatal care. A discussion will follow the viewing of the video.
