THE BIG QUESTION

How're we coming--with our new building program, that is? It's a question many of us, including Chief Architect Gormly Miller, would like an answer to.

G. Miller has cautiously admitted that he thinks construction has shifted from low to second gear now that the dispute over the quality of the limestone has been resolved. It's like pulling teeth to pry any sort of prediction from him--he's been predicting for the past two years--only to have his guesses prove too optimistic. Mr. Miller's best guess, qualified, of course, is that during May and June we will begin moving equipment into the three buildings on Garden Avenue--the Extension Building, the Conference Center, and the Research Building. It is hoped that these buildings will be in limited operation by July 1.

Present plans call for moving most of the remaining faculty and staff out of the barracks into the Faculty-Administration Building during August, with the expectation that the move will be completed by the opening of School in September.

Remaining in the old quarters will be the Office of Resident Instruction and the Library, since they will be ultimately housed in the Library-Classroom building now under construction and thus will have no new quarters until about a year from now. It is planned to convert some vacated office space in the barracks building into much-needed classrooms.

ILR STAFF CHANGES

Three girls have resigned during the past few weeks. Phyllis Van Etten, formerly of the Research Division, has accepted a higher-grade position in the Ag College's Department of Plant Pathology. Phyllis had been at IIR for almost four years, first as secretary to Professor Mesics.

Mrs. Linda Morse has left Extension to become a full-time homemaker and to await the birth of a second child. Linda was secretary to Professor Emerson for the past two years.

Mrs. Shirley Foster of the Library catalog room has quit to await the coming of a child. Shirley has worked at her library job for almost four years.

Mrs. Connie Bulkley, library circulation clerk, is taking a three-month maternity leave. Replacing her is Mrs. Ellen Reitkoff, a February graduate of Home Ec College. Ellen's husband, Howard, is an IIR senior.

Replacing Phyllis Van Etten in Research is Charlotte Sheridan who until his recent death was secretary to the Director of Nutrition at GLF. Charlotte is a graduate of the College of New Rochelle.

Mrs. Colleen Pierson of Groton is a new Extension secretary, working for Professors Donovan and French. For the past two years she has been employed in the Department of Plant Pathology. The Piersons have a 7-month daughter, Dianne.

Mrs. Maxine Henry of Extension is now secretary to Professor Emerson.

Mrs. Barbara Lillie, formerly of St. Louis, now of Groton, has replaced Shirley Foster in the Library circulation room. For the past five years Barbara has been employed in the University Library. Her husband works at Morse Chain.

FACULTY, ALUMS TO MEET IN NEW YORK

Such timely topics as welfare programs for the aged and automation and white-collar unionization will be up for discussion at the seventh annual IIR Faculty-Alumni Seminar in New York on Friday, March 24.

Meeting in the Park Sheraton, more than 100 faculty and alumni will be welcomed by Dean John McConnell at an opening luncheon. After-luncheon topic will be "Automation and White-Collar Unionization" by Howard Coughlin, President, Office Employees International Union.

The afternoon's first panel session on "Collective Bargaining Strategies in the 1960's" will include IIR faculty members Vernon Jensen (chairman), George Hildebrand, and Jean McKelvey, and alumni Malcolm MacGregor '51 and Samuel Sackman '49.

At 4:30 attendees may choose one of two concurrent panels: "Welfare Programs for the Aged--Whose Responsibility?", chaired by Peter Con-tuzzi '54 and panelists Duncan MacIntyre, John McConnell, Jean Couturier '55 and Willys DeVoll '51 or "The Roles of Line and Staff in Management Development," with Henry LaParo '54 (chairman), and IIR faculty Henry Landsberger and Emil Mesics.

Dinner speaker will be William G. Caples, Vice President, Inland Steel Company, member of the School's Advisory Council. Peter Con-tuzzi '54 will preside.

WHYTE GRANTED FULBRIGHT

Professor William F. Whyte has been awarded a Fulbright grant for research in industrial sociology at the National University of Engineering in Lima, Peru. He will study human problems arising from the growth of industrial organizations. He will leave Ithaca in late June accompanied by his wife, their 13-year-old daughter and 8-year-old son. The Whytes will remain in Peru for 15 months.

ILR TO MOVE THIS SUMMER

The big move to the new IIR quarters will begin in June and the schedule is still pretty much as planned, according to Gormly Miller.

During June most of the new equipment will be installed in the Garden Avenue buildings.

Present plans call for personnel to move to the three Garden Avenue buildings--Conference Center, Extension Building and Research Building--the week of July 10. The move to the Faculty-Administration Building will get under way two weeks later on July 24 and will continue into August.

Distribution Center, Materials Lab and Mailing Room staff will shift the week of August 14. All personnel will be moved by the end of August.

Note: Ten days prior to moving, each office will receive a supply of packing boxes. Comment by John Paterson: "When you see a supply of boxes coming at you, it'll be "M" day minus 10."

WHO WILL SIT WHERE

The problem of who will sit where in IIR's new quarters has been solved and is explained briefly below:

The first floor of the Faculty-Administration building will be occupied in the main by administrative offices. The Division of International Affairs and a few individual faculty will also have offices there. The second floor will house the Departments of Collective Bargaining, Labor Law and Labor Movement, and Labor Economics and Income Security. The Materials Lab and the Supply Room will be housed at the rear (ground level). The third floor will be occupied by the Human Resources and Administration Department and that of the Department of Economic and Social Statistics.

The Extension Building will house the School's Extension staff. In addition, Professor Pauk's Reading Center will rent space in the basement. The Conference Center will house the Coordinator of Special Programs and his staff as well as the Audio-Visual Center.

The first two floors of the Research Building will be occupied by the Research staff. The third floor will contain offices for the School's Retirement Study staff and the Social Science Research Center staff. The IIR Distribution Center and Mail Room will be housed in the basement.

STAFF TRAVELS ABROAD

Ardis Adams of the School's Distribution Center is taking advantage of a rare opportunity--a free trip to Paris, courtesy of an uncle who is a pilot. She flew to Paris May 17 and expects to remain a month sightseeing in Paris and visiting her brother who is stationed with the armed forces in Germany.

Teddie Bergen, Research Associate, will spend six weeks touring Europe this summer. Accompanied by a former roommate she will leave in late June to visit England, Scotland, France, Switzerland and Italy.

KONVITZ VISITS ISRAEL

Professor Milton Konvitz left May 25 for Israel at the invitation of the Israeli Government and the Hebrew University in Jerusalem. Professor Konvitz will assist the Hebrew University in instituting a department of labor studies and will deliver a series of four public lectures on the American labor union movement. He also will consult with the Histadrut (the Israeli general labor union) and with the Ministry of Labor.

Mrs. Konvitz and their son Josef will accompany him. The Konvitz' expect to return to Ithaca on July 7.

TO WED IN BRITAIN

Pauline Lewis of Resident Instruction has a busy two months ahead of her. In mid-June she will quit her IIR job as secretary to Donald Dietrich. She and her fiance, George Hoffman, Arts '61, will travel to her home in Yorkshire, England to spend the summer. The couple plan to be married in mid-August and to return to the States in time for George to enter Columbia University's Graduate School of Political Science. Pauline plans to find secretarial work in the City.

OTHER IIR'ERS PLAN TO WED

Four other IIRers plan to marry within the next few weeks: two on the same day.

On June 24 Charles Dwyer, graduate assistant to Assistant Dean Risley, will be married to Miss Sandra Vought of Philadelphia. Miss Vought, who is currently teaching in Woodbury, N.J., will teach in Candor Central School next year. Chuck plans to complete his master's this summer and work toward a doctorate.

On the same day Marilyn Staples, secretary to Professors Jensen and Hanslowe, will marry Clifford Hickok of the same village. They will live on a nearby farm which Clif will work. Marilyn will continue working.

Graduate assistant Carl Harter will be married July 2 to Kay Lindquist of Emporia, Kansas. She is currently a master's candidate at Tulane University and will teach at Dryden Central School next year. The couple will live at 413 Hector Street.

Connie Rotunno, secretary to Assistant Dean Risley, will be married July 8 in Ithaca to Jim Blyler, a International Labor Program trainee. They will spend a month's honeymoon in California, Jim's home state, before returning to Ithaca to spend the summer. In September they plan to return to California to live.

STAFF PERSONNEL CHANGES

Karen Wooster of Canton, Pa. has replaced Sandra Blanchard as receptionist in the Dean's Office. She is a recent graduate of a business school in Pittsburgh. Karen is living at the House on Fall Creek Drive occupied by Cornell secretaries.

Joyce Doucette, who filled in the Dean's Office job for a month, has returned to her American Airlines position in Oklahoma.

Mrs. Mary Ward of Elmira, who was temporarily employed as Research Office secretary, has resigned because of illness in her family.

Mrs. Mary Wager Pavling has returned to the Extension Division after an absence of three years, this time as secretary to Professors Donovan and French. She and husband Jack have a 16-month-old daughter Jaqueline.

Jim Moore, IIR '61, is assisting John Paterson in scheduling the moving of furniture and equipment to the new IIR buildings. He has been working parttime for the past several weeks and will work full-time during the vacation months. (See below).

NEW ARRIVALS

The stork was working overtime during April--at least at IIR. Two boys and two girls were delivered to IIR secretaries (and their husbands).

First to arrive was a daughter, Katherine Cole, to Connie and Alan Bulkley on April 4; she weighed a tiny 5 lbs. 6 oz. Connie, a Library circulation clerk, will return June 1 from maternity leave.

Shirley and George Foster are parents of a son, Randall George, born April 19; he weighed 6 lbs. 2 oz. Shirley previously worked in the Library catalogue room.

The following day, April 20, a daughter, Annette Marie, arrived at the home of Sandra and Jim Blanchard. Annette weighed 7 lbs. 1 oz. Sandy was formerly receptionist in the Dean's office.

Five days later a son, Stephen Lewis, was born to Linda and Louis Morse; weight 7 lbs. 15 oz. Linda, before quitting IIR, was an Extension Division secretary.

SPRING LUNCHEON TO BE HELD

IIR staffers will hold their annual spring luncheon at the Ithaca Bowl on Thursday, June 1. This twice-a-year affair is held to bid goodbye to those girls who are leaving and to welcome newcomers. This spring, farewells will be said to Pauline Lewis, Evelyn Johnson, and Irmgard Weber.

Luncheon arrangements were made by the Staff Organization Social Committee: Irene Franklin, Evelyn Johnson, Pauline Lewis and Marilyn Mengle.

DISTRICT SECRETARIES AT SCHOOL

Secretaries from the three Extension district offices visited the School last week to become updated on things extension. Visiting the School were Peg Haynes from the Capital District, Joan Fitzpatrick from the Western District, and Hattie Schwartz from the Metropolitan New York office. A group of IIR secretaries lunched with the visitors last Wednesday noon at Willard Straight dining room.

Additional Personnel Changes: Mrs. Evelyn Johnson, secretary to F. F. Foltman and Ted Lisberger, is leaving IIR next month to join her husband in Lexington, Kentucky.

Amanda Adams, Keuka college junior from Ithaca, will be summer conference secretary.
