Dr. Homer H. Blass: "Birthday Greetings to Mark"

Dr. Homer H. Blass (1940-2013):
Birthday Greetings to Dr. Mark Steinhoff (2011)

Editor's note: From 1983 until his passing, Dr. Blass was a much-beloved professor, colleague, and friend in the Liberty University History Department. He was an accomplished scholar and teacher, with an encyclopedic memory for historical facts, as well as the proprietor of a personal library of Jeffersonian proportions. He was also noted for his good humor and congeniality, and he is much missed.

I just posted this on Mark's wall who has a birthday tomorrow Thought you would appreciate it.
Special wishes for tomorrow. I am reminded of Shakespeare's Henry V. In ways that hard old core of veterans of us who taught History from the 70's to a new century at Liberty resemble the "band of brothers" of Agincourt, "We few, we happy few; we band of brothers! For he that stands with us shall be our brother no matter how different our conditions and Liberty's anniversaries shall not go by from this day forth but we in it shall be remembered. Boyd the provost; Cline the chair; Mark the scholar and classicists; Bill the missionary; and Homer the bibliophile" Happy Birthday brother.
