URSINUS DEFEATS

DICKINSON TEAM, 1-0

Shellenberger Pitches Great Game on Wednesday Afternoon.

Up to date the game on Wednesday afternoon has been the best and fastest, which Ursinus has helped stage. It took less than one hour and a quarter to complete the overthrow of the confident Dickinson nine.

The spectators were sure they were to be treated to a few extra innings. Their hopes died in the seventh when Moser walloped the pill on the nose for a clean hit. He stole second. Helffrich followed with a three bagger, driving "Mose" across home plate for the only run scored.

Shellenberger allowed but two hits. Only two Dickinson men had the chance to step on the first sack.

Moser and Isenberg out in the garden were pulling down the line drives like big leaguers, while the infields playing was beyond criticism. There was not an error made by the Ursinus team, this speaks for itself.

Dickinson also played a wonderful game, having but two errors. Henner, the pitcher, allowed but three hits.

It was a game well worth while seeing, and promises much for the rest of the season.

Politics Supreme

On Tuesday an Edwards-for-President Club was organized with seventy-three charter members. D. B. Franklin was elected president and Herbert Howells vice-president. Several girls were elected testers and since then the number of members has been steadily increasing until now it is the largest and most substantial political organization in school.

E. H. DANCE

A stray wanderer peeped unceremoniously into the big windows of the Field Cage last Thursday evening and gave a sudden gasp of surprise. Was he lost in his directions or merely in a dream? No wonder he started for this is what he saw: a shadowy lighted little spot in the wood, boxed in with white lattice work, upon which pretty birds contentedly rested and sang softly to the flowers which twined in and out about them; a canopy, woven, I know, as only fairies can weave; brightly colored lanterns swaying back and forth, which brought thoughts of a gay little Japan; and, last of all, two royal personages, seated comfortably in the midst, about whom joyous revelers danced in natural, perfect rhythm to the entrancing strains of music filling the place. Some, he thought, made it like Bohemia—no—then where was he—in Japan or the Fairies Playground.

Nobody told the baffled creature that there were brown programs, which had golden letters of E-H engraved upon them; or that the spirit which sleeps in the apple blossoms had awakened, came out and filled all with its bewitchery; or that the two personages were Doc and Mrs. Smith and that all were having the best time possible.

ORDER MAY DAY TICKETS NOW

There will be a heavy demand for May Day tickets when they are placed on sale at the College and in a dozen surrounding towns on Thursday of this week, and alumni and friends are urged to send in cash orders for the event immediately.

May Day will be celebrated on Saturday the fifteenth. Lebanon Valley and Ursinus will meet in baseball at two-thirty; there will be a special supper at five; at six-fifteen the May Dances will be held on the campus, and at eight-fifteen "Miss Cherry Blossom," a musical comedy with fifty people, will be presented upon a large out-door stage on the east campus. The production promises to be the greatest musical and dramatic event at the College in a number of years. Tickets covering all events, including supper are two dollars. Separate tickets may be ordered as follows: Baseball, fifty cents; supper, seventy-five cents; Musical comedy, reserved section, seventy-five; general admission, fifty. Should the weather be unfavorable, the evening performance will be held under cover. Order tickets from Mr. Mertz at the College office.

The Collegeville School Board desires experienced applicants for the position of high school principal. There is also another vacancy on the high school faculty to be filled. Good salaries for good teachers. Address Ralph E. Miller, Collegeville.

FAMOUS SURGEON

ADDRESSES STUDENTS

Dr. Cyril H. Haas, Now With the Student Volunteer Movement, Visits College

It is not often that we are favored by having in our midst a man who not only has a world-wide outlook, but also a world-wide experience. Dr. Cyril H. Haas has worked many years in Turkey and during the War was physician-in-charge of the American hospital in Constantinople. His appeal on last Thursday evening was primarily to the student body and came as a call for clear thinking in a big way. So many of us get into a rut here at college and do little real thinking. And what is the difference between a rut and a grave, except that the latter is deeper and longer. How many of us are now in a rut that may be our intellectual grave some day?

Dr. Haas gave us a great many incidents from his varied experience in Turkey, in an effort to show how the missionary life is the greatest life in the world. It calls for tenacity and audacity. It makes us alert to every situation, keen of perception and ready to serve. Is this not the greatest thing in life after all? We see men who are accumulating great fortunes. What are they doing? Helping themselves—nothing more. But, on the other hand, we see men, and women, too, who are really doing things. To help men and women to see the Way of Life, as we know it thru Christ, to be helping others to a greater happiness, a greater life—is this not living? The joy of the Christian life comes only by experience in this life. So in working for men's souls. The world has tried its "isms," its "solutions"—yet Christ stands alone as the Way, the Truth and the Life. When we get a vision of this, and the vision of a seething world in need, we have the greatest life possible before us.

Math. Group Meeting

May 5 was commencement day in Math. Group. At 8 p. m. in Shreiner parlor the following program was rendered: Organ prelude; salutatory with essay, Miss Davis, '20, (made by Western Union); class prophecy, Miss Hook, '20; commencement oration, Prof. Clawson; presentations, Miss Fry, '20; valedictory, Miss Barnes, '20; presentation of diplomas (omitted because of paper shortage).

A very interesting social hour was then spent discussing ways, and means, also partners, for the group picnic, May 11.

Miss Heindel, '21, was elected president for next year and Miss Kirkpatrick, secretary.

The gross receipts for the Junior Play amounted to $260.

Editorial Comment

It seems a pity that the perfect and near perfect men lived many centuries ago, because we could find use for a few at Ursinus in these days. Had Buddha, Mohammed and a few more of those ancient protagonists only been immortal, so that they might pursue the Chem-Bi, or H-P course at Ursinus, then she might not only graduate teeming pedagogues but produce winning teams.

The apathy of the authorities, gives the prospective athletically inclined student an immediate antipathy for the school. The inevitable result is that Mr. Football Player attends some other institution of higher learning. Occasionally by some freak of fortune or by dint of strenuous persuasion he is inveigled to matriculate. Invariably mid-years finds him checking his suitcase on a Perkiomen railroad ticket.

Ursinus is a small school with a great number of activities other than academic which necessarily must be performed. All these side issues, whether athletic, social, religious, or foolish, combine to form part of College life. The men who venture to accomplish these redundant activities, as a rule fall below the scholastic average. No concessions are made, with the result that the baseball team loses a pitcher, the society programs become pitiful, and the social atmosphere repugnant.

The school is not exactly synchronized or the man who has his examination papers decorated with A's, but who throws a baseball like a stout woman, and depends upon some authentic numbskull for originality, would be compelled to take an extra course in athletics and incidentally character development.

If you can't get the drift of this, here it is in the vernacular of the gutter. It is expected that a star athlete be also an intellectual giant. This case is the exception. The majority are not built that way. We plead for more leniency for athletics. Give them a chance. If they can't read Latin at sight; neither can Latin sharks make a sixty yard run or catch a high fly. There is more manhood to be found in a game of sport than on a history reference shelf.

ZWINGLIAN LITERARY SOCIETY

An interesting and entertaining miscellaneous program was creditably given in Zwing Friday evening. Miss Frutchy, substituting for Miss Reimer, gave an amusing recitation entitled "The Trip To-Morrow." As a well deserved encore "The Three Stages" was given. Her work was very good and showed signs of conscientious preparation. Miss Clapham's monologue "Cat-sup" was the best number of the evening. The subject of her discourse was a conversation between Mr. Dertz and Mrs. Ermold. Being local in character only added to the cleverness and originality of the selection.

Mr. Frutchey and Mr. Deibler, having quite suddenly been called away on a "business trip" were fortunate in securing Mr. Farley as a substitute. Mr. Farley deserves unusual credit for his willingness to serve in this capacity. His violin solos are always appreciated by the Society and are quite beyond the criticism of a layman. "Freeland Freaks—Day by Day", Mr. L. Glass and Mr. Canan, leaders, was good for an extemporaneous production.

"Benediction a' la Der" by Messrs. Tippin and Yost was clever and enjoyable. Mr. Yost as an itinerant purveyor of the gospel showed signs of much Der Hall training.

The closing chorus "We Are From Shreiner" was the title of an entertaining skit by a group of Shreiner girls. Miss Heindel, as leader once more showed her ability as a comedian.

The Review by Mr. Vosburg was carefully edited and replete with humor. His editorial on Popularity contained many good thoughts.

The critic's report as given by Mr. Tippet was a constructive and impartial review of the evening's offering.

American Legion

Tuesday evening witnessed a departure from custom when the local Post of the American Legion met in Bomberger and presented a vaudeville number to a moderately filled house. The program included several stump speeches on various presidential candidates, a vocal solo by Prof. Myron T. Jolls and a pleasing act of song and frolic by the renowned Quaker City Trio. While the program was not elaborate it was well received by all.

Among the alumni who visited the College during the week were: Wallace Savage, '19, Emma Schweigert, '19, Irene Laub, ex-'21, Guy Koons, '17, Frank Hunter, '19, Carroll Deisher, '19, Dorothy Shiffert, '19, Philip May, '19, Grace Kramer, '14, Guillian G. Clamer, '19, Donald C. Evans, '18, Marion Reifsnider, '17, Sarah Mayberry, '15, Mrs. W. U. Helfrich, '93.

SCHAFF LITERARY SOCIETY

Schaff hall seemed almost entirely deserted on Friday evening. Only half the members were present. The absent ones missed a miscellaneous program of quality.

The exhibition started with two charming piano selections rendered by Miss Boeshore. Upon announcement of the second performer Miss Allen ascended the stump and recited in her customary entertaining manner. The parody on Schaff play, "The First Lady of the Land," led by Mr. J. L. Miller was comical from first entrance to final exit. The actors, Sheeder, Prizer and Reifsnider performed their parts very well indeed. This number was followed by a reading by Mr. Kirschner. A humorous recitation by Miss Richards established her reputation as a most charming entertainer.

The Gazette, read by the editor, Miss Lavelle, was well written and contained many witty remarks. This formed a fitting conclusion to the program.

M. L. Group Captures Valley Forge.

Wednesday afternoon saw an unusual occurrence taking place, a company of linguists making a frontal attack upon the hills of Valley Forge. Dr. and Mrs. Baden commanded the army thruout the entire action. After a sharp engagement lasting from 11 o'clock until evening the forces decided to retire having captured an immense amount of booty in the form of snapshots and souvenirs. The Motor Transport Corps and the Quartermaster Corps saw special service and were cited for bravery in action.

Ursinus was well represented at the 2nd Annual Student Volunteer Conference held at University Camp, Green Lane. Thirteen Ursinus Student Volunteers attended the series of meetings, which lasted from Friday evening till Sunday evening. Misses Mitman, Closson, Wagner, Greenover and Wood together with Messrs. Moore, Walton, Schlater, Klingaman, Bright, Neuroth, Ehlman and Hassler composed the Ursinus contingent. This is a showing of which Ursinus may well be proud.

Misses Ann Knauer, Marguerite Moyer, Beatrice Brooks, Pauline Davis, Doris Sutcliffe, Helen Reimer, and Ann High spent the week end at the Ash home in Phoenixville.

Spring is here in all its glory; if you don't believe it, take a glimpse at the gaily-clad couples marching with deliberate steps across the swarthy green, just before sunset.

The publicity department at Penn State has appointed one student from each county represented in its student body to keep each represented district informed of the college activities.

At an election in the Ironbridge Sunday School held May 2, N. S. Grenawalt, '22, was elected superintendent and F. N. Schlegel, '23, assistant superintendent. John Myers, '20, is the retiring superintendent.

The music lovers of the College must surely appreciate the fact that the average Victrola record is discarded after three thousand playings.

ALUMNI NOTES

A large number of alumni have expressed their intention of being at the College on May Day. Plan to enjoy the day with them—this Saturday.

Miss Rebecca Sheaffer, '19, of Ephrata, has joined the staff of teachers in the Recruit Educational Centre at Camp Upton, New York.

Mrs. Dora Moyer Campbell, '09, is a member of the faculty of the Woodbury (N. J.) High School.

The address of Mrs. Eva M. Sandt Kotz, '16, is 209 W. 9th Avenue, Columbus, Ohio.

William W. Baden, '19, spent the week end with his parents in Colledgeville. He is a member of the teaching staff at Camp Upton.

Rev. J. S. Tomlinson, '00, of Quarryville, has recently been transferred to the Thordale circuit of the Methodist Church.

Dr. Robert M. Yerkes, '97, was one of the leading speakers at the annual meeting of the American Philosophical Society on April 23 at Independence Square, Philadelphia. He spoke on the part which psychology played in the winning of the war.

Rev. W. Sherman Kerschner, '09, of York, will again be musical director of the Colledgeville Summer Assembly this summer.

H. H. Piggott, '75, Credit Manager of the J. H. Ashdown Hardware Company, Winnipeg, Canada, sends his subscription to the library fund, and writes:

"I may add that I have taken a good deal of interest in your "Weekly" which takes me back to the old days when I was active in your midst, very long ago. Indeed, I never went to any other school except Freeland Seminary and its successor, the College. I started as a Freshman in 1871, was captain of the baseball team for two years. I recollect that we played the Hill School and the Phoenixville, Norristown, and Royersford nines, and had not only a lot of fun, but a good deal of success. I wonder if any of the old players are still living.

"Also I was, I think, one of the founders of the Zwinglian Literary Society, which I notice had an anniversary recently. I suppose the old minute books are in existence, which will show whether I was a charter member or not."

Mr. Piggott promises the "Weekly" an article of reminiscences of the early days for publication at some future date.

The executive offices of the College have just issued a new and attractive folder called "A Three Minute Survey of Ursinus College." It states in brief outline the distinguishing facts about our institution, and is well illustrated with views of student life and scenes on the campus. It is especially designed for young people who are planning to go to college. The office will be glad to send copies to interested alumni and friends for the use of the young man or woman in whom an interest in Ursinus can be aroused.

The indications are that we will have a large enrollment next year. A much larger number than in former years at this time have already registered and applications for admission are coming in rapidly. Keep up the good work.
