CHEM-BI BANQUET A GREAT SUCCESS

Abundance of Mirth Marks Delightful Event at the Hamilton

A jolly group of about forty students left the campus last Monday evening and journeyed to the Hamilton Hotel in Norristown to participate in the annual-Biological Group banquet and dance.

Everything being in readiness, the banqueters entered the dining hall promptly at seven forty-five and seated themselves about a table artistically arranged in the shape of a U. Soon the tones of the Apollo Orchestra broke the silence and everyone realized that there was indeed a night of revelry in full sway.

Interspersed between the courses were several toasts. Miss Boyd, '19, gave a very good explanation of "Opportunities of Women in the Field of Science" and then Mr. Grove, '20, emphasized the "Ideals of the Chem-Bi Group." Mr. John C. Wood, ex-'19, gave a witty talk on "Activities Over There." Mr. Light, '20, very cleverly answered to the toast "The Only Group." Finally the program was brought to a close by a very interesting discourse by the group's adviser, Professor Youngken.

Needless to say the guests did not require any entreaties for them to enter upon the second act of the event after so thoroughly enjoying the first. Everyone made use of the smooth floor for the next few hours by keeping time with the orchestra in that art called "tripping the light fantastic." The musicians were given little rest owing to the many encores called for and when the time of departure arrived the guests very reluctantly left the dining hall.

Without a doubt the group that returned to the campus during the "wee" hours was well repaid for the evening spent in mirth and good fellowship.

Professor Youngken and his wife were the honored guests of the evening and although Dr. Beardwood's presence was requested he was unable to attend.

Brotherhood of St. Paul Holds Banquet

Last Monday evening the Brotherhood of St. Paul met for a business meeting in Bomberger Hall after which the association proceeded to Freeland Hall dining room where a banquet was served. The Brotherhood of St. Paul claims Dr. Good as its special patron thru whose bounty the repast was provided. Short after dinner speeches were made by Dr. Good, President Omwake, Dean Kline, Prof. Yost and Rev. Dr. Messinger.

The officers elected for the ensuing year were: President, John Meyers; vice-president, F. C. Schlater; secretary, C. E. Hefelfinger; treasurer, S. L. Hoke.

URSINUS HAS DISASTROUS WEEK IN BASEBALL.

One Victory in Four Games; Trough St. Joseph's, 19-1

With four games confronting them the baseball nine started the past week of baseball schedule with a rather unpleasant outlook. On Tuesday Drexel Institute walked away with a 6-3 victory on Patterson field and then on Wednesday the team journeyed to Swarthmore where the "Little Quakers" handed them a severe beating by the score of 11-0. However at home on Friday the team seemed to take on new life or at least demonstrated their batting ability against St. Joseph's College nine by winning 19-1. Another loosely played game on Saturday at Newark, Delaware, brought another defeat on the schedule, this one being 8-2.

Considerable improvement is expected this week in preparation for the three-day trip to Albright, Franklin and Marshall and Dickinson. Development in the new infield shift will most likely bring the desired results. "Red" Grove now covers first base, Knipe moved to short-stop and Deisher is the new second-base man.

Tennis Team Loses First Match

The tennis team lost its first game to Swarthmore 3-0. All the matches were fast and exciting. Due to the fact that this was the first match of the season for Ursinus the showing of the team proved very encouraging. The summary:

Singles

Landis, Swarthmore, defeated Lentz 6-2, 6-2.

Brown, Swarthmore, defeated Nishiyama 9-11, 6-3, 6-1.

Doubles

Landis and Brown, Swarthmore, defeated Lentz and Nishiyama 6-1, 4-6, 6-4.

May-day Fete Next Thursday

The girls of the College will give a May-day fete on the campus next Thursday evening at 7.15. A regular May pole will be erected and the girls dressed to represent the customary figures will dance about it. The fete is under the direction of Miss Agnes MacCann and promises to be a very novel event. Not only will there be the regular May pole dancing but folk dances as well. The Junior class has made arrangement to have refreshments for sale. Everyone who so desires is invited to attend.

William Mitchell gave a party for the benefit of the waiters Saturday evening. After a very sociable time, "eats" were served. Needless to say all went away with the best possible feeling for the one who made the party possible.

PIANO RECITAL BY MISSES SNYDER AND WAGNER

Program Varied by Miss Greta Hinkle as Soloist and Mr. Farley as Violinist

An excellent piano recital was given in Bomberger Hall last Tuesday evening by Miss Ruth Snyder and Miss Bernice Wagner assisted by Miss Greta Hinkle as soloist and Mr. Farley as violinist. All are students in the school of music of the College and the quality of the program rendered spoke emphatically of the musical talent which we have about the college. That recitals such as this are popular with the outside public, was shown by the number in attendance.

The program given was as follows: Sonata Op. 10, No. 3—"Presto," "Largo e Mesto," Beethoven (Miss Snyder); "By the Waters of Minnetonka," Thurlow-Lieurance (Miss Wagner, Miss Hinkle and Mr. Farley); "Barcarolle," Meyer Helmund; "Witches Dance," MacDowell; "By the Sea," Schubert-Liszt; "Valse," Op. 39, No. 2, Brahms (all by Miss Snyder); "A Fragment," Kramer; "Le Postillion de Lonjumeau," Adam; "Cunning Cupid," Eilenberg (Miss Wagner and Mr. Farley); Sonata, Op. 27, No. 2—"Adagio Sostenuto," "Allegretto," "Presto Agitato" Beethoven (Miss Wagner); "Inter Nos," MacFayden; "Love is the Wind," MacFayden, (Miss Hinkle and Miss Wagner); "Marcarolle in A Minor," Rubinstein; "Chant du Voyageur," Paderewski; "Premiere Arabesque," Debussy; "Deuxieme Arabesque," Debussy; "Rondo Capriccioso," Mendelssohn (Miss Wagner).

DR. GOOD SPEAKS ON "RELIGIOUS LIBERTY"

Gives Final Message Before Leaving for Europe

Dr. James I. Good, professor of church history at the College, gave an address in chapel last Tuesday. His theme was "Religious Liberty." He showed that the great reformers were by no means advocates of religious liberty and that while we have a tendency to think of them as very liberal in their views, they urged all kinds of inhuman tortures or death for those who held tenets different from their own. To-day we have universal toleration, but not universal religious liberty. In certain cities of Europe various denominations are forced to build their churches without steeples and then are allowed to have them only on a back street. In Serbia and Rumania the Greek Catholic church is even now stifling the Protestants. In Russia one is born and dies under the established church. There is no leaving it and he cited an instance of a woman who committed suicide because of her inability to become a Protestant.

Editorial Comment

There has been some complaint recently that the students are not supporting baseball as they should. There is nothing so discouraging and dampening to the spirits of the players as this. They feel that the school is not caring whether they win or not and somehow or other a I-don't-care feeling takes hold of them with the result that their efficiency is lowered and the game is lost. If this were all the ill results that are produced it would be bad enough but there is another far worse. The visiting team gets the idea that our college is of a poor disjointed type and when such an idea gets abroad the harm it causes is inestimable. Besides this not many of the professors come out to the games. We know that the presence of the members of the faculty is often engaged elsewhere, but a representative or two from the faculty would not only enable them to understand the school spirit better but would add to the hearty support that should be given the team.

* * * *

Tennis is proving to be very popular this year and on every clear day from six o'clock (p. m.) until darkness the courts are occupied every minute. This is a game which everyone in the College can play if he chooses and although it may be sneered at as a kid-glove game by players of the "higher athletics" it is really a racy and clean sport.

This activity does not come under the list of those officially supported by the College and exists as a separate association. This should not be, for it is more in keeping with the spirit of our College than any other game. And while it may not be so good an advertisement as football or baseball that is no reason why it should not be popular and should receive the same support as the major sports. Tennis is far more democratic and does not promote that snobbishness and superciliousness which effect the weaker headed participants in the major sports.

ZWINGLIAN LITERARY SOCIETY.

A miscellaneous program was enjoyed by Zwinglians on Friday night. Miss Wagner rendered a piano solo at the opening of the program. This and a pleasing encore were well given. Mr. Griffin then spoke to the society on a "New Way to Treat Heroes," holding that since the dead were the only real heroes those returning alive should be treated as ordinary men. He was the best speaker of the evening. A mock Junior Play entitled "Truth Crushed to Earth Shall Rise Again" was then given under the leadership of Miss Ash, Miss Reimer and Mr. Lentz. The first scene was laid in a kindergarten in 1931 that was managed by the teacher, Mrs. Frank Hunter. Among the children in the kindergarten were Billy Isenberg, Jessie Yaukey, Jr., Rustiette Grove, Perline Moore, Lizzie Kate Leiphart and Buck Patrick Hunter. Helen Reimer impersonated Mrs. Hunter and the "kids" parts were taken respectively by Mr. Lentz, Mr. Arms, Mr. Moser, Miss Heindel, Miss Clapham, Miss Ash and Mr. C. C. Helffrich. They all interpreted their parts splendidly and their amusing tales about their papas and mammas were very clever. The second scene was laid in Clarence Heffelfinger's Bevo Emporium sixty years later. It marked the reunion of the kindergarten "kids." Between the scenes Miss Snyder played some very pretty piano solos. The orator of the evening, Mr. Beers, then delivered a forceful oration, "Modern College Ideals." He deplored the removing of the Greek and Latin requirements from the Arts course in some colleges as the robbing of generations to come of a rightful heritage.

Mr. Canan then read his review. His editorial "What's the Use" outlined the advantages and necessity of a college training.

Mr. Leiphart then read his critic's report.

Miss Maurer, chairman of the Sophomore Essay Contest, announced the winners of that contest. The first prize, $10.00 in gold, was won by Miss Snyder for her essay "Effect of the World War on Religion." Miss Wood's "Homer's Intimacy With Nature as Shown by the Iliad" won for her the second prize, $5.00 in gold. "A new Attitude Toward Music" won for Miss Mentzer the third prize, $2.50 in gold.

Two members of Zwing of former years, Misses Rayser and Leiby expressed their delight at being back again to visit their cherished society.

Philip May Wins Prize

Philip May, Ursinus' representative at the Intercollegiate Oratorical Contest held at Swarthmore on April 26, won the third prize—ten dollars in gold. The subject of his oration was "The Assassination of a Race." The first prize went to Drew Pearson of Swarthmore who spoke on "Our Debt to Humanity" while second place was taken by Russell S. Bachman of Muhlenberg whose subject was "Americanizing America."

The Seniors planted their class tree on the campus last Friday. It is a red oak.

In all the institutions of man we can trace a certain code by which his actions are regulated. We can look to history and in industry, politics or religion there has always been some set standard which has determined his actions. Can we truly say that there exists a standard for the college man? Is there a certain code by which he is regulated, or is his life of a more individualistic nature, living as he pleases and seemingly setting his own standards? It was along this line that the discussion in the association meeting on last Wednesday evening ran and the trend of thought seemed to bring forth that there was no set code, no standard to which one might point and which one might label as a college man's standard. There is a certain indefinite something which we recognize immediately marking the man of higher education, but what its limits or boundaries are no one could tell. It was recognized, however, that, whereas in the past our point of view was somewhat narrow, one must look to the college man as the one who is to lead the world, not merely his own country, to greater things. The world is passing from the old into the new and if we cannot look to the man of the college to take the lead we must fail in the fullest accomplishment of our ideal—world brotherhood. Therefore the standard of the college man, though at times an undefinable something, yet in practice a felt reality, must be broadened so as to take the whole world into its scope.

Y. W. C. A.

On Wednesday evening a "long session" of the association was held. Miss Fries took charge of the devotional exercises after which the leader Miss Schweigert announced the topic "Just You and Me." Many considerations were laid before the association, some of which were: Are we as college women doing all that we can? Are we doing what we do to the best of our ability? We are all here because of the interests of parents or friends. Are they to be disappointed in us? The greatest spiritual leaders have failed at some time in their life and one of our field workers has said, "I wonder what a life wholly dedicated to Christ could do." If each girl would "take stock" and begin anew it would be surprising just what we could accomplish. The talk this week, simple in phraseology, was one of the most inspiring of the year.

After the regular meeting a business meeting was held at which time the election of Eaglesmere delegates took place. Some of our members have decided to represent our association altho not sent as delegates. These are: Misses Kerschner, '20, Beddow, '20, Erney, '20, and Hall, '20. Those sent as delegates are: Misses Gingrich, '20, Grim, '20, Hook, '20, Slamp, '20, Fries, '20, Wagner, '20, Keely, '20, Closson, '20, High, '20, Heindel, '21, Clapham, '21, Mitman, '22. Of such a delegation Ursinus may well be proud.

The Ursinus second team was defeated last Friday by the Spring City high school nine by a score of 5 to 4.

The Tower Window

AN important question should receive the careful consideration of alumni during the next few weeks, namely that of a fitting memorial at Ursinus for the boys who gave their lives in the war. We cannot read the list without being moved to do something. Here are the illustrious names:

- Alvin Leroy Isenberg, '12.
- Frederick Leroy Moser, '10.
- Charles Otto Reinhold, '13.
- Frank Moulton Glendenning, '15.
- Byron Snyder Fegely, '15.
- William Henry Yoch, '18.
- William Harvey Ott, ex-'18.

Had the call to arms not come, these men would probably all be alive and with us to-day. But they went forth and laid their very lives on the altar of Right, Liberty and Justice. In their ideals and in their action they were true to the teachings of their Alma Mater. From the College they received encouragement as one by one they answered their country's call. These, with the hundreds of others who went forth with the spirit of Ursinus stirring their souls, were cheered by us as they went. They would have shared with all our soldier boys our love and pride could they, like the rest, have come back to us. But their forms and faces will never again appear on this campus or within these halls. Somewhere we must set up a memorial which shall do them honor and which shall serve to remind succeeding generations of students of their brave hearts and heroic deeds. The value of such a memorial standing before students during the four formative years of their college course is incalculable.

What shall our tribute be? The answer of the alumni of Lafayette, as given in the newspapers, is a $250,000 gymnasium. The question of what we shall do here at Ursinus will be the principal question before the annual meeting of the alumni on Tuesday of Commencement week—June 10. Mark the day, and come prepared to give a helpful suggestion, or better still, send your idea to me in advance by letter.

G. L. O.

The girls tennis match held at Bryn Mawr on Saturday proved disastrous to Ursinus. Misses Hook, Erney and Clossen composed the team.

Wallace Bancroft, '19, preached in the Trinity Reformed church, Sunday evening. His subject was "Life and Death."

Canoeing was very popular Saturday and quite a number spent their afternoon on the Perkiomen.

SCHAFF LITERARY SOCIETY

An entertaining miscellaneous program was rendered in Schaff Hall on Friday evening.

The performance was opened by a piano trio by Misses Hinkle and Mr. Stock. The encore, a song by Miss Greta Hinkle was very humorous and original. Miss Schweigert then read a selection from "The Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam." An interesting talk was given by Mr. Light on: "Experiences as a Second Lieutenant." This was given in delightful style, and was a deserving number of the program. Another novel number was given next by Mr. Detwiler. It was an impersonation of "Old Black Joe," and was very realistic, to say the least. The hit of the program as then scored in the form of a sketch, with Miss Sheaffer and Mr. Rutschky leaders. This was acted in first class vaudeville style, keeping the audience in continual laughter. The Gazette was read by Mr. Brooke. His editorial was very stimulating and helpful, asking for better support of athletic teams at Ursinus, in the future. His jokes were new and mirthful.

After a very instructive and suggestive report by the critic, Mr. Paladino, the society adjourned.

There were an unusual large number of visitors about the College over the week end..
