HOME TEAM WINS FROM HAVERFORD

Pitching of Ziegler and Johnson's Home Run Features in Fast Game.

The Ursinus College baseball nine sprung a surprise on Haverford College on Wednesday afternoon when they handed the Main Liners a 7-1 drubbing through the masterly pitching of Ziegler and the errorless fielding and hard hitting of the entire team.

Johnson carried off the batting honors of the day. His playing was most fatal to Haverford, as his scorching single, two-base hit and home run swat played a feature role in their defeat. He also pulled two circus catches in right field.

The work of Ziegler in the box was particularly noteworthy. He pitched one of the best games of his career, holding his opponents to two hits. During the nine innings but twenty-nine men faced him and not a Haverford man reached first base until the eighth inning.

Ursinus registered her first run in the third inning. Stugart singled and stole second. Diemer followed with another single, advancing Stugart to third, and on Rutledge's drive to second base, Stugart crossed home plate with the first tally of the game.

Two more runs were added in the fourth frame. Johnson opened the inning very auspiciously with a home run swat to deep left field. Lape singled, reached third base on errors and scored when Stugart drove a hot grounder along the third base line. There was no further scoring until the seventh when Haverford's victory hopes were shattered by four more tallies for Ursinus.

Haverford scored its only run in the eighth inning. With two strikes on Crossman, the latter drove the ball into right field. By fast fielding Johnson made a one handed stop and held the runner on first base. Crossman stole second and scored on Steere's drive to Rutledge.

The playing of the entire team is worthy of commendation. Adams, Barkley and Diemer did some remarkable fielding. "Doc" Kerr's first base playing was also a feature. Stugart also got two hits and the entire team hit Buzby hard. The victory is all the more

Y. M. C. A. PROSPECTS FOR NEXT YEAR

Religious Life About Ursinus More Firmly Established Than Ever

We do not wish to imply by the heading of this article that the reader is to receive some insight or clue to the future workings and manifestations of the Divine. To attempt to prophesy what we have been assured is inconceivable would be taking the transcendent out of the hands of the Omniscient and placing at the disposal of the casual observer—powers never yet exercised by any man.

Thus it may readily be seen that the task is somewhat different from that which one encounters in attempting to forecast the prospects of some athletic team or the outcome of some social event or musical production. In the last named instances we can feel reasonably certain of the validity of our prediction; in dealing with the Infinite, on the other hand, our statements must be pure conjecture. Still there is an element common to both these classes; namely that, in our endeavor to foreshadow the success or failure of any project, we familiarize ourselves with the individuals who are allied with the enterprise. In basing our contentions, then, as to the future of the Y. M. C. A. about Ursinus we must take a retrospective view of the matter and observe the personnel of the present student body and their attitude toward religious work. Only by reference to the past are we able to form any estimate of the future.

At the present time more than eighty per cent. of the male students of the college are actively connected with the Y. M. C. A. This is a substantial increase over the enrollment of previous years, and the favorable sentiment which has been created augurs well for the future of the work. About forty meetings were held throughout the year with an average attendance of forty-five.

The class in mission study maintained an average attendance of thirty-three for six meetings. The book used, Mormonism, the Islam of America, was exceedingly practical and appealed to the fellows. The Deputation Team has been more or less busily engaged, about fifteen members being engaged in the work.

URSIINUS STUDENTS HEAR GOOD CONCERT

Metropolitan Male Quartet Pleases Large Audience

The Lecture Course for the present school year ended very auspiciously last Monday night, when the Metropolitan Male Quartet rendered the final number. The most exacting critic could scarcely have found a flaw in the artistic interpretation of every number, while the variety and choice of the selections appealed to the entire audience. In every sense of the word, the performers were artists, all having enviable records in the world of song. Mr. Neff was the lyric tenor, while Mr. Chase was robust tenor. Mr. Edwards sang the baritone parts, and Mr. Lane was the basso profundo. Mrs. Lane faultlessly accompanied the singers.

Bomberger Hall was packed with music lovers, and the excellence of the concert was attested by the expressions of regret when the program was completed. The favorable impression made by the Quartet last year was in no wise diminished by this latest performance, as was shown by the repeated encores.

Among the quartet numbers that seemed to be enjoyed particularly were "Aurora Lee," "Swing Along," and the final number, "Sextette from Lucia." "Honey Town" and "Holiday Today" were very catchy encores. A duet by Messrs. Chase and Edwards was very well received. They sang "Across the Still Lagoon." Each member of the Quartet entertained with a solo, and all were highly appreciated. Mr. Lane especially pleased the audience with the "Toreador Song."

"Dawkin's Night" was the title of a reading by Mr. Lane, which was so good that he had to respond to an encore with the laughable "It's Just Her Way," and a clever imitation of a train caller. Another feature was the rendition of the First Act of Gounod's "Faust," by Messrs. Neff and Lane. The former sang the title role, while the latter interpreted the part of "Mephisto." The extreme difficulty of this number made its faultless performance only the more appreciated.

The evening as a whole was most delightful, and the Quartet will always be welcome at Ursinus.

The Tower Window

THE large circle of friends who are looking forward to attending the Ursinus commencement will be happy to know that they are again to hear a good commencement address. We long ago set a high standard which, from year to year, has been remarkably well maintained. Visitors have come from far and near to hear these representative men chosen from the various fields of activity in public life. The address of Rudolph Blankenburg last year seemed to carry the level of excellence to 'high water mark.' His wisdom, his eloquence, and his fervent appeal will not soon be forgotten.

Some will think that I still had impressions of Rudolph Blankenburg in mind, when this year, I invited Doctor Nathan C. Schaeffer to be the speaker. The similarity was suggested by Doctor Schaeffer himself in our conference together with reference to the matter. Referring to the former Mayor, he humorously remarked that when he spoke on a public occasion some time since in Philadelphia, it was said of him that "he had the voice of Mayor Blankenburg and the whiskers of Governor Pennypacker." The latter is such a unique personality that he does not represent a type, and perhaps only in the manner referred to could any one be very much like him. There are many points, however, in which the former Mayor of Philadelphia and the Superintendent of Public Instruction of Pennsylvania show themselves to be of the same type.

Nevertheless, it was not because Doctor Schaeffer is like anybody else, but because of what he is in himself that we sought him out. It is to the credit of our great state, that in seeking a representative man from among the forces of public education in the United States, the choice of one of the half-dozen biggest men should easily fall within our boundaries. Doctor Schaeffer has now served the people of Pennsylvania well nigh a quarter of a century as their State Superintendent, and to-day his utterances not only on questions of education, but in the wider field of public welfare and national policy are followed by the masses of the people in other states as well as in this, with interest and confidence. Let the hosts of Ursinus come together to welcome Nathan C. Schaeffer on commencement day.

Soldiers by Consent

D. STERLING LIGHT, '16

(Oration delivered at the Pennsylvania Intercollegiate Oratorical Contest held at Ursinus College, April 13, 1916. Mr. Light was awarded the third prize.—Editor.)

All men are equal politically, but not all men are stamped with the same die. Not all men were created to be fighters even though their physical carriage is perfect. Human society is to-day recognized as an organism in which men are fitted to perform their peculiar functions. Our philosophers, men of letters, biologists and dramatists serve our interests to a much greater extent in their chosen fields than they could in the barracks. A man's greatest duty to his country is not always served by wearing her blue uniform or bearing her Springfield rifle. The great surgeon engaged in research in the laboratory, the preacher laboring for the uplift of humanity through the peaceful Man of Galilee, the architect trying to beautify the things about us, were these men made to burn and pillage the homes of their neighbors? Were these men made to stand in trenches half-filled with water?

The greatest price that Europe must pay for her terrible war cannot be measured in plundered towns, devastated fields and shortened lives. These are not the great price. A generation or two can produce enough nimble fingers and swartly backs to rebuild the towns and restore the fields. The price must be measured, not in dollars and men, but in minds and ideas. On the shores of Gallipoli lies the corpse of a young scientist from whose wounds has flowed the embryonic idea of preventing future earthquakes. The red stained snows of the Russian frontier cover the young musician in whose mind were developing the beautiful melodies which would have charmed the millions for ages. The poem which might have soothed and comforted countless widows and bereaved mothers lies eternally unuttered before the thundering guns of Verdun. Genius is a rare gift of God, a product of the intellects of centuries. The beautiful temple which the genius of the past has erected, the genius of the present is compelled to destroy and, like Samson, must perish in the ruins. Universal compulsory service draws no distinctions.

The United States has never hampered individual freedom so long as it has not interfered with the rights of others. She has always found the means of defending herself in the pure patriotism of her citizens. Each year the thin blue line grows thinner, but it remains as forcible a reminder as ever of what soldiers by consent can and will do for their country. Shall we now depart from our established policy and duplicate the folly of Europe? Shall we lay aside those principles which have made our land a haven for the oppressed of the world? Let this not be so, let us retain our composure and not depart so radically from our tried and tested policy. If our country is not prepared to defend herself, if she is not ready to repel the invader, let her prepare to do so as quickly and thoroughly as possible. But defense is not provided and preparedness is not accomplished through the destruction of individual freedom. Can we protect ourselves against militarism by establishing militarism? Can we defend ourselves against tyranny by becoming slaves? Abraham Lincoln in the trying times of our own rebellion said, "What constitutes the bulwark of our liberty and independence? It is not our frowning battlements, our blustering seacoasts, our army and navy; these are not our reliance against tyranny. Our reliance is the love of liberty which God has planted in us."

May that spirit of liberty which prompted our pilgrim fathers to leave the homes of their fathers, to cross an uncharted ocean and to settle in an unknown land; may that spirit of liberty which prompted our fathers to rebel against the impositions of the mother country and to set up a government where all men are free and equal; may that spirit of liberty which prompted our fathers to fight against friend and brother in order to preserve this freedom and liberty, may that spirit keep us from destroying those principles for which they suffered, struggled and died.

To such an extent has the European War drawn upon the athletes of McGill University, Canada, that it has been necessary for the school to abolish inter-college athletics.

On account of the fact that the Harvard swimming team has failed to win any of their meets during the past season, the athletic authorities have refused, to award it the letters, customarily given.

President Wilson has been sent a bound volume of the "Princetonian" for the years 1878-1879 during which time he was managing editor of the publication.

Prohibition workers from the student body of Pennsylvania State College are engaged in a campaign to make their county "dry." Groups of from four to six students are touring the county in automobiles and holding meetings in school-houses, churches and grange-halls along their route.

Columbia University with an enrollment of 9,086 students is the largest college in the world. It has 3,386 students more than Valparaiso which stands next in the list.

The newly completed Maternity Building of the University of Pennsylvania erected at a cost of $200,000 will be dedicated this spring.

Leland Stanford will again participate in the annual regatta at Poughkeepsie. Last year, they took second place and with only one man lost from their boat by graduation, they have an excellent chance to win, this year.

The referee of a basketball game between the University of Chicago and Northwestern University measured with a pedometer the distance he traveled while conducting the game and found it to be five miles.

Among fifty-one students, whom Brown University recently dismissed because of low standing in scholarship, there were none who belonged to any of the athletic teams of the school.

Harvard is taking steps to establish professorship exchanges with the Latin-American nations. It is hoped that this will lead to the much desired educational cooperation between the two Americas.

Editorial

The fact that Ursinus was represented at the Penn relays a few weeks ago is gratifying to all who are interested in our athletics. Knowing that the more cosmopolitan a college is in its activities the more magnetic it becomes in attracting prospective students, it is to be regretted that we have been negligent to this branch of athletics in the past and to be hoped that in the future we as a college we shall never fail to respond to our name at the roll-call of this important annual intercollegiate event.

Track work is important to any college; both, because of the excellent physical training which it offers to participants, and because of the almost limitless number of students which it can accommodate. It also does its share in bringing the college into more intimate relations with other institutions and raises its comparative standard in a marked degree.

Again, it seems only natural that a college should provide opportunity for specific athletic training to all of its students. Realizing this fact some of the largest institutions in the country are taking definite steps towards making the participation in athletics by all able-bodied men compulsory. Of course the accomplishment of this requires the services of several coaches. Here at Ursinus, as well as in all other institutions, the regular coach of any athletic team is duty bound to give his whole attention to the production of a winning team if possible, and, therefore, must necessarily neglect those students who do not show exceptional skill and ability. We realize that the same difficulty must be encountered in track work, but we believe that it is noticeable in a less degree because of the large number of events which belong to the track curriculum.

Although the relay team which represented us did not win a prize, the record which it made against trained competition was almost phenomenal considering that at present we have practically no equipment for this work, and that our boys did not have the advantage of coaching. These men who assumed the responsibility of representing Ursinus in these races against such adverse conditions should at least be encouraged in their efforts by the hearty cooperation of everyone connected with the institution and, if possible, be equipped with the paraphernalia necessary to the carrying on of such work. J. S. G., '17.

THE LIBRARY

Among the books which have been added to the Library during the past few months are twenty-eight volumes of fiction. These books were purchased with a fund contributed by the Zwillingian Literary Society. The Library Committee desires to give this public expression of its appreciation of this gift. Alumni, friends, groups and other organizations could do much to relieve the urgent need for new books felt in the Library. Until such time as the Library shall have an adequate endowment which will provide an income for the purchase of books, it must depend upon the voluntary gifts of individuals and organizations.

The titles of the books purchased by the Zwillingian contribution follow: Quo Vadis, Romola, Adam Bede, Ivanhoe, Cranford, Senator North, The Cavalier, Bella Donna, Unleavened Bread, Trilby, Humphry Clinker, Richard Yea and Nay, Little Novels of Italy, The Queen's Quair, Ben Hur, The Call of the Wild, The Morals of Marcus Ordeyne, Simon the Jester, Crucial Instances, The Luck of Roaring Camp, Marriage, The Common Lot, Uncle Remus' Songs and Sayings, The Melting Pot, The Woman in White, Barchester Towers, The Warden, Doctor Thorne. C. D. Y.

The Harvard Corporation has authorized a course of Military Medicine in the Harvard Graduate School of Medicine.

JOINT MEETING

The Y. M. C. A. had charge of the joint meeting of the two Christian organizations held last Wednesday evening in the College chapel. A unique program for this meeting had been arranged. Following the singing of a few songs, prayer by Mr. Gobrecht and a few preliminary remarks by Mr. Hain, president of the organization, the meeting was turned over to Mr. Kerschner and Prof. Crow.

Lantern slides had been secured from the organization headquarters, showing views of the association conference at Eagles Mere, Pa. Prof. Crow operated the lantern while Mr. Kerschner explained the pictures in an admirable way by the aid of his own experiences at the conference last year.

The pictures opened with a view of the train about to leave Sonestown for its climb up the mountain. This train is peculiar in its appearance due to the fact that it is narrow gauge to facilitate the steep climb which it must make. Upon arriving at Eagles Mere we were given a view of the Forest Inn where the delegates are entertained. Other pictures showed us the pavilion where the classes are held and the auditorium used for general assemblies. During the entire morning the delegates are occupied by attendance at these various classes in Bible study, mission study and fundamentals. In the evening there are lectures in the auditorium by men of broad, Christian experience.

The afternoons are devoted largely to recreation. All kinds of athletics are planned for the conferences. The pictures gave us scenes from some of these, including baseball, various forms of track work, bag racing, yacht racing and swimming. The facilities afforded for these two latter sports are splendid. The lake at Eagles Mere is one of its many interesting points. It is said to be of volcanic origin and is so deep in the center that its bottom there has never been sounded. Bathing is a good attraction. Numerous paths wind through the woods, disclosing to the passer-by the most beautiful of scenery.

In fact, not only the scenery but the whole atmosphere of the place conveys to the participant the comprehension of God's great presence very near to His people. The inspiration which this gathering of young people has upon one is so vast that its influence upon the after-life cannot be fathomed. We sincerely hope that a large number of Ursinus students will take advantage of the young men's and young women's conferences during the months of June and July and return prepared to impart the inspiration to those who were unable to be there.

Alumni Notes

There will be a banquet of the class of 1911 on Tuesday of commencement week. It is hoped that every member of the class will be present.

The annual commencement of the Central Theological Seminary of the Reformed Church in the United States was held from April 30 to May 4. The program included the names of some Ursinus Alumni in its list of the graduating class. These are: George Alfred Bear, Edgar Bruce Jacobs, David Lockart, John Keamer Wetzel, Walter Josiah Yingst, and Paul Wicke Yoh, all members of the 1913 graduating class of Ursinus. The WEEKLY offers sincere congratulations and best wishes for a very successful life-work.

Paul E. Elicker, '14, who has taught during the past two years in the Malverne High School, Lynbrook, Long Island, has been elected head of the department of mathematics in the high school at Nasbrouck Heights, N. J. This is a school of three hundred pupils in a town suburban to New York. Mr. Elicker was chosen out of many applicants.

Rev. G. A. Stauffer, '94, has resigned the pastorate of the Rebersburg charge. He was unanimously elected pastor of the Red Bank Charge, Hawthorn, Pa.

1913 Take Notice

FELLOW MEMBERS:

This year being the one decided upon for the first reunion of our class, it will be necessary to have something definite upon which to work. Therefore, will you, who can possibly arrange to be present, please communicate with the chairman, E. S. Paisley, 4453 N. 17th St., Philadelphia, as soon as possible. One of the following dates, June 3, 6 or 7, will be decided upon, depending on which is most convenient. It is late, therefore do not postpone answering, but do it now. Our class was small, so let us have as large a representation as possible. Talk it over when together, and when answering make suggestions, as they will be very welcome to the committee.

Please notify us of any recent changes of address of any of our members.

On the Campus

D. Sterling Light, '16, made a business trip to Philadelphia last Thursday.

By special permission of Student Council the freshmen have been permitted to discard their red caps after the Easter recess.

The new Y. M. C. A. cabinet held its meeting for the month of May last Wednesday night. The most important matter considered was the Annual Eagles Mere Conference to be held this year June 16th to 25th and was most enthusiastically discussed.

Miss Julia Bostock, of Phoenixville, Pa., spent Friday of last week at the College as the guest of Miss Seiz, '16.

Miss Paul, '16, entertained Miss Violet Thompson, of Paulsboro, N. J., over last week-end.

Miss Wickersham, '19, spent the week-end in Philadelphia.

Miss Lewis, preceptress of Shriener Hall, was called to Baltimore, Md., last week on account of the death of her sister. Mrs. Ermold is in charge of Shriener Hall during her absence.

Miss Catherine Hinley, of Philadelphia, visited Miss Chandler, '19, at the College during the past week.

Among the recent improvements around the College is the renovation of the history room. The painting of the walls, the varnishing of the woodwork, and the gilding of the radiators have given a neat appearance to the room which is now the pride of the students belonging to the Historical-Political group.

Prominent Marriage

At the Collegeville home of Mrs. Ella Hobson, mother of the bride, Miss Katharine Hendricks Hobson was united in marriage to Mr. Wellington Rosenberry Wolfinger at seven o'clock Thursday evening, April 27, in the presence of a large number of guests. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Charles E. Wehler, '87, vice-president of Hood College, Frederick, Md., assisted by Dr. George Leslie Onwake, president of Ursinus College.

The bride was a former student of Ursinus and a graduate of Wilson College, Chambersburg, Pa. Her father, Freeland G., deceased, sister, A. Mabel and brother, Frank H., are all graduates of Ursinus College. The groom is a civil engineer in the State Highway Department. The newly married couple will be at home in Allentown after their honeymoon.

THE CURRICULUM

embraces four years of work in the arts and sciences leading to the degrees of Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science, and includes

SEVEN GROUPS OF COURSES

I. THE CLASSICAL GROUP

This is a course in the liberal arts with special emphasis upon the Latin and Greek languages. It is specially adapted to fit students for the theological schools and for general work in the teaching profession.

II. THE LATIN-MATHEMATICAL GROUP

This group has exceptional disciplinary value and provides a broad general culture. It constitutes an excellent group for students expecting to make teaching their life work.

III. THE MATHEMATICAL-PHYSICAL GROUP

This group includes advanced courses in mathematics and the sciences. It is designed for students who wish to teach these subjects, or who wish to pursue courses in high grade technical schools.

IV. THE CHEMICAL-BIOLOGICAL GROUP

RUTLEDGE'S HOMER

BEATS LAFAYETTE

Before the largest crowd of the season and under the most favorable baseball conditions of the year, Lafayette went down to defeat at the hands of Ursinus on Saturday afternoon, 4-3.

The all-around playing of Rutledge featured for Ursinus. In the seventh inning, he won the game with a long home-run hit to left field. He also cracked out a single and made two pretty catches.

The game was very contested owing to the fact that both pitchers, Johnson and Forrest are products of Spring City High school. "Jing" pitched better ball than his opponent and allowed but six hits. Score:

Y. M. C. A. Prospects For Next Year.

In addition to the regular meetings, the series of four services by Rev. Snyder, of Schwenksville, and the one of three services by Dr. Good tended to elevate the spiritual tone of the students.

These are but a few mute evidences of the fact that the Y. M. C. A. has established itself within the minds and hearts of those about Ursinus, and we feel sure that, with the hand of the Almighty directing the efforts of a God-fearing cabinet, more will be accomplished in His name in the future than in the past.

Dryland Church, near Bethlehem, Pa., Rev. C. A. Butz, '99, has given the contract for a new Sunday school annex and improvements to the church to cost in the neighborhood of $24,770.
