SENIORS DINE IN EXCELLENT STYLE

Hotel Walton, Philadelphia, Scene of Festivities

On Friday evening at 7 o'clock the Seniors gathered at the Hotel Walton, Philadelphia, to hold their class banquet. This is the first time a class has held a banquet in evening dress and the first time a senior class has journeyed to the city for an affair.

Twenty-six members of the class and Mr. and Mrs. J. Edward Lane, as guests of honor, were present. Festivities began with a sumptuous repast. After the coffee had been served the forensic ability of several of the members was displayed. Mr. John Beltz, as toastmaster, introduced the various speakers and kept the interest of all present by his witty presentations of speakers and his apt comments upon their remarks.

The speakers all responded to their toasts in a pleasing manner. Mr. Fink gave a unique summary in poetry of our past experience here in college. Mr. Ancona and Miss Wiest responded to toasts on the girls and boys respectively. Mr. Minich spoke on the difficulties met by the class in its athletic activity. An excellently prepared speech on our Alma Mater was given by Mr. Yost, whilst to Miss Hanson was given the duty of outlining the probable future destiny of each member.

The menu and toasts follow:

MENU:

Cotuit Oyster Cocktail	Celery
Olives
Puree Mongole Walton
Planked Blue Fish	Potatoes Italienne
Sweetbread Cutlets	Imperial Green Peas
Roast Stuffed Squab Chicken
Julienne Potatoes
Boston Lettuce Salad	Ices in Fancy Forms
Assorted Cakes	Coffee

The toasts were arranged in the following manner:

Toastmaster, John H. Beltz.

Retrospection	William Fink
The Girls	Henry K. Ancona
The Boys	Emily E. Wiest
Athletics	Roy L. Minich
Our Alma Mater	Merrill W. Yost
The Future Nineteen Fifteen	Adela D. Hanson
Guests of Honor	Mr. and Mrs. J. Ed. Lane

WOMEN GRADUATES HAVE ORGANIZED

An Association of Alumnae Formed and Working for Members

In response to a call issued by the president of the college, a meeting of women graduates of Ursinus College was held on alumni day last commencement at which an association was organized designed to include as active members all women who have been graduated from the college, and as associate members, women who are interested in its work. The officers for the first year who were chosen at that time are: President, Miss Rhea E. Duryea, '08, 3400 North 17th Street, Philadelphia; vice-president, Mrs. Trinna Freyer Moser, '10, Royersford, Pa.; secretary, Miss Amy E. Fermier, '10, Mahanoy City, Pa.; treasurer, Mrs. Evelyn Neff Faringer, '07, 2102 Spring Garden Street, Philadelphia. These ladies with Mrs. Flora Rahn Lentz, '89, of Bangor, Pa., constitute the executive committee to which was charged the duty of preparing a constitution and securing members. A constitution has now been adopted and printed. Copies are now being distributed and the women of Ursinus are enrolling as members of the organization. The name of this new body is "The Women Graduates' Association of Ursinus College."

There are nearly one hundred women among the living graduates of Ursinus and many women among the non-graduate former students, so that there is the possibility of forming immediately a strong organization for the promotion of women's interests within and without the college. The annual meeting of the Association is to be held at commencement time.

The WEEKLY extends greetings to this new body which is taking its place among the working forces of Ursinus and will be pleased to report items regarding the progress of its work from time to time.

Courtesy is a coin of which we cannot have too much; with which we cannot afford to be stingy.

SOPHOMORES DEFEAT FRESHMAN TEAM

Game Reported by Versatile Writer Dwight Othniel Kerr

The curtain was rung down on the Ursinus football season of 1914 by the annual class game between the Sophomores and Freshmen last Thursday. For the Freshmen Will and Bowman starred with 50 yard runs; while on the other hand, the Sophomore backfield, circling the ends and plunging through the line with a wonderful chain of interference, was the stellar light. "Keen" Wiest played the best game of his career. This muscular lad not only recovered three fumbles near the enemy's goal, that resulted in touchdowns, but also nailed Wills from behind after he had run 50 yards, and had a clear field.

Game by Quarters

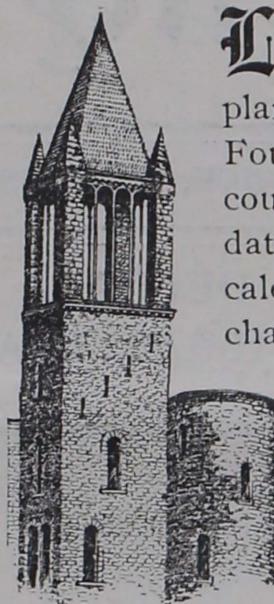

First Quarter. Schaub kicked off to Havard on the 35-yard line. Havard ran the ball back 10 yards. Evans failed on two line plunges. Reiff recovered a fumble. Schaub and Clark made 25 and 3 yards around ends. Brown failed center. Reiff ran 15 yards around left end for a touchdown; He punted out to Brown. Schaub kicked the goal. Score; sophomores 7; Freshmen 0.

Schaub kicked off to Evans, who ran back 15 yards before he was stopped by Wiest. Wiest nailed Evans on an end run. Will slid off tackle for 5 yards. Evans punted 30 yards out of bounds. Brown and Schaub added 5 and 2 yards. Clark failed. Reiff punted 35 yards. Wiest recovered the ball on the 13 yard line. Schaub and Clarke gained 7 and 2 yards. Clarke plunged over for a touchdown. Schaub kicked the goal. Score: Sophomores, 14; Freshmen 0.

Evans kicked off to Clarke who ran back 20 yds. Schaub gained 5 yards, but fumbled. Reiff recovered. Brown added 2 yards more but Reiff failed. Schaub punted 45 yards out of bounds.

Second Quarter. Enke made 5 yards. Greiman lost 4 yards. Evans failed, and punted 35 yards to Clarke, who was downed by Lape. Sophomores lost 15 yards on a penalty. Schaub punted 25 yards out of bounds. Bowman failed and Will's forward pass was intercepted

The Tower Window

LAST week I announced to the students the plans for the celebration of Founders' Day. On account of a change in the date from that given in the calendar and the unusual character of the program

I take early opportunity of apprising our friends outside of the college of this interesting event. The date is February 11 instead of February 18 as announced in the catalogue of the college. We shall combine with the Founders' Day celebration the excellent features of the platform meetings held heretofore on the day between semesters for the consideration of current topics in the world's affairs.

The program of the day provides for the winter meeting of the directors at 1.30 p. m., academic exercises at 3.00 o'clock, the "family dinner" at 5.00 o'clock and a public meeting in the evening. The theme for the day will be "America among the Nations." The topics and the speakers who will discuss them respectively will be "Foreign Trade," Alba B. Johnson, LL. D., president of the Baldwin Locomotive Works and president of the American Manufacturers' Export Association; "The Way to Disarm," Hamilton Holt, editor of The Independent, New York; and "World Christianization," J. Campbell White, secretary of the International Laymen's Missionary Movement, New York. Addresses more particularly pertinent to Founders' Day will be delivered at the dinner.

We regard it as a duty we owe our students to provide a program of this character as part of the work of each academic year. Men and women of college training find after graduation that, in these days, human affairs are conducted from the viewpoint of the wide world. Industrial, social, political and religious relations, involving everyday interests, are co-extensive with all mankind. America is fast coming into a position of greatly increased influence and responsibility as a world power. Discussions of this kind also give the student a widened horizon and a clearer perspective from which to pursue his college studies. What is true of students is no less true of graduates and others.

We shall unite, therefore, in welcoming the distinguished men who have so graciously accepted our invitation to come here to speak on February 11. Their visit and the meeting in which they will participate will have a significance that will run far beyond the day and the place.

Contributed ArticleThe Habit of Reading Good Books

REVEREND CALVIN D. YOST.

"Oh, for a booke and a shadie nooke,
Eyther in doore or out;
With the grene leaves whispering overhead
Or the streeete cryes all about,
Where I maie reade all at my ease,
Both of the newe and the old;
For a jollie goode booke whereon to looke,
Is better to me than golde."

Among the many advantages which the twentieth century holds out beyond any of the preceding centuries, are the multiplication of books and the comparatively small cost at which they may be procured. If the writer of Ecclesiastes who three thousand years ago wrote, "of making many books there is no end," were living to-day, he would, no doubt, be overwhelmed by the great profusion of books. Much that is produced could be dispensed with without serious loss, but there is also much produced which is interesting, instructive and enlightening.

The selection of one's books is of paramount importance. It is a matter to which so little attention is given, although it should be done with great care. Librarians in city libraries are making an effort to direct the reading of the younger patrons by suggesting the right kind of books. This is good as far as it goes, but by far the larger proportion of readers select their reading matter with little or no intelligent direction. For those who are actively engaged in some pursuit of life and who have comparatively little time for reading, it is of supreme importance that the few books which they do read be carefully selected. Let us assume that a man has time to read ten books in a year. He may read ten ephemeral books which will furnish him some entertainment, but will yield no substantial and permanent results. On the other hand he may select ten volumes—fiction, history, biography, poetry, - essays, travels—which are of permanent value and will give him valuable acquisitions.

The cultivation of a taste for good and substantial books is a matter of great moment, especially for those who have acquired a liberal education. To know good books and to read them habitually, if not in itself a liberal education, is the very best substitute for such an education. Isaac Barrow says, "He that loveth a book will never want a faithful friend, a wholesome counsellor, a cheerful companion, an effectual comforter. By study, by reading, by thinking, one may innocently divert and pleasantly entertain himself, as in all weathers, so in all fortunes." But the taste for the best in literature does not come spontaneously ; it must be cultivated. Those whose surroundings are favorable may cultivate this taste without great effort on their part, but many have to put forth a determined effort to gain this end.

There is danger in this age when people are unduly drawn toward entertainments which are freely and temptingly offered, and towards outdoor sports of all kinds, that the reading of good literature will be neglected. People will read. The newspapers, cheap magazines, and even the better magazines, will claim the attention of the people. These, however, deal with current topics and events and cannot supply what the books, which contain the accumulated wisdom of the ages, give. To get at this better literature, to peruse it, to profit by it and to enjoy it, is what men and women need to cultivate. To illustrate : A gentleman of good education and considerable culture, who had passed middle life, who held a prominent place in the business and social world, and who because of his success in business had considerable leisure, admitted that he had not cultivated the habit of reading and lamented the fact. He read newspapers and magazines day after day, but that did not give him what he felt he needed. He was lacking what should have been his by the habit of a lifetime.

A library (and I speak not of the large collections of books in our college, university and public libraries, but of the small collections which are found in the possession of many individuals and may easily be acquired by all) contains "infinite riches in a little room." One may sit at home and yet be in all parts of the earth ; one may have the best thoughts of the greatest thinkers of all times, so that space and time are practically annihilated for him who reads the literature of the ages.

"A library is a true fairyland, a very palace of delight, a haven of repose from the storms and troubles of the world. Rich and poor can enjoy it equally, for here, at least, wealth gives no advantage. We may make a library, if we do but rightly use it, a paradise on earth. * * * Here we may read the most important histories, the most exciting volumes of travels and adventure, the most interesting stories, the most beautiful poems ; we may meet the most eminent statesmen, poets and philosophers, benefit by the ideas of the greatest thinkers, and enjoy the grandest creations of human genius."

Editorial

The response of the American people to the plea for food and clothing for the starving Belgians is commendable. Ships freighted with tokens of pity and love have left these shores for the scenes of hunger and privation. And a significant fact to note is that these supplies have been furnished largely through the efforts of a multitude of donors who have contributed in small sums.

The critics in China have pointed with scorn at our boasted Christianity since the outbreak of the war. Without violating our pledge of neutrality we have been expressing the true spirit of Christianity.

As students it is well to note the changes of the past decade. It was not so long ago that we were pointing the finger of ridicule at ignorant and superstitious China, now their higher critics are picking the flaws in our system of ethics.

As this season of joy, which commemorates the birth of the Prince of Peace, draws near let every student think seriously of the influence of Christianity upon the world and endeavor to see in the response of this nation to the cry of the poor and needy the fulfillment of the Great Teacher's command, "Love thy neighbor as thyself." C. F. D., '15.

CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATIONS

The two Christian organizations met together on Wednesday evening and were addressed by Professor Crow. His theme was: "The Making of a Life," and he based his remarks on 1 Kings 16:6—"So Baasha slept with his fathers and was buried." He said: "This king had done little that was beneficial. In the record of his life the account of his death is most prominent. The same thing is true of many individuals. About all that can be said for some is that they died and were buried."

"Now several things are necessary for making and maturing a life. Food is of prime importance. But under certain unfavorable conditions it may be harmful. As it is impossible to maintain the body on ice cream or the like, just so we cannot nourish our souls on frivolous things. When the desire for it is present spiritual food is of most benefit. A man on the outside of the religious organization is apt not to concern himself about his spiritual development. Often he will not be receiving anything to make him grow. Therefore, we should not only invite but urge others to put themselves under the influence of the Kingdom."

Several apt illustrations followed which brought out clearly the truth the speaker wished to emphasize.

"Such deeds of kindness are like flowers. By snipping off the stems we may freshen flowers for some time. In the same way we may freshen the lives of others by pruning ourselves. By so doing we may retain our kindness and sympathy and, hence, our ability to help."

"Recently an English soldier had tattooed on his breast 'For my king.' This teaches us a very striking lesson of deep significance. It shows the motive power in making one's life. In this effort each must have his own criterion, goal and method."

"There is one way most excellent of helping others in their lives. As the Scotch minister said, though the child could not understand the map, it knew the roads. We, therefore, must not only know the path, but must also walk in the way. Thus, we may point it out to others."

On Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock the Hon. S. D. Fess, Representative from Ohio, will lecture in Bomberger Hall. Dr. Fess is well known as a lecturer, having delivered a large number of lectures on the life of Lincoln. He has a national reputation and will be sure to please the audience. The price of admission is 50 cents. The course ticket will admit to the lecture.

AN OPEN LETTER

To Alumni and Former Students who do not Subscribe for the Ursinus Weekly: I want every graduate of Ursinus to help in some way in the work of building up our Alma Mater. I do not believe there is one man or one woman who has gone out from this institution who is disloyal to it. Every one wishes the college well. Perhaps every one would really like to do something helpful. But with many it stops with that. Every graduate who is in touch with the college to-day is succeeding in doing something for it. He is winning friends, sending students, helping the athletic teams, the glee club, alumni associations, attending commencements, making gifts, or otherwise helping in our common task.

Now the fact that you do not take the WEEKLY is proof in itself, I think, that you are not in touch with things here. The college is not the same as it was when you were a student. The sure means of surrounding yourself with an atmosphere charged with the Ursinus spirit is to take the WEEKLY. As you lay down this paper, please send your order to the Business Manager.

Yours for Ursinus,

GEORGE LESLIE OMKAKE,

President.

For the manufacture of pottery of the better grades considerable clay, mainly kaolin, is imported into this country from Europe and China, the value of these imports last year exceeding $2,250,000. It seems probable that under the necessity due to the war of now finding a domestic supply these finer clays can be in large part replaced. Already a process of decoloring kaolin is reported as successful, and this may make large deposits of kaolin and ball clay available for the manufacture of white ware and pottery. (Bulletin 599, U. S. Geological Survey.)

C. F. Deininger, '15, preached in one of Norristown's prominent churches yesterday. He is expected to return today from Newark, N. J.

Literary SocietiesSchaff Society

A general literary program was rendered on Friday evening in a very creditable and pleasing manner. The numbers were as follows : Piano Duet, Misses Hunsicker and Slinghoff; Declamation, "William Shakespeare," Miss Hansom; Essay, "Alfred Tennyson," Mr. Kehm; Reading, "Alfred Tennyson," Mr. Bemisderfer; Vocal Solo, Miss Seiz; Essay, "Robert Browning," Mr. Koons; Declamation, "Alfred Tennyson," Mr. Gobrecht; Reading, "Robert Browning," Mr. Hoover; Declamation, "Robert Browning," Mr. Spannuth; Reading, "William Shakespeare," Mr. Brown; Gazette, Mr. Smith; Critic's Report, Mr. Yeatts.

The society is preparing for the annual anniversary program, to be given on the evening of December 18. A comedy entitled, "The Lady of Lyons," will be rendered, and it promises to be a great success.

Zwinglian Society

The program on Friday evening was of a miscellaneous nature. The following numbers were rendered : Instrumental Solo, Miss Shoemaker; Current Events, Mr. Zeigler; Parody, Mr. Lehman; Violin Solo, Miss Kern; Declamation, Miss Sandt; Impromptu Speeches, Messrs. Kerr and Wiest; Girls' Chorus, Miss Butler, leader; Oration, Mr. Godshall; Zwinglian Review, Mr. Hain; Critic's Report, Mr. Kerschner.

College Self-Denial Week For the Red Cross.

A "self-denial movement" among students in schools and colleges, which it is hoped to make nation wide, has been started to assist the American Red Cross in its European war relief. The movement which is independent of the Red Cross organization, proposes that one day in each month be set aside for collecting the savings resulting from self-denial and forwarding them to the Red Cross at Washington. It hopes also to seize the present conflict as an opportunity to arouse, especially among youth, regard for universal peace.

At a meeting of the Athletic Committee, held on Wednesday evening, the "U" was awarded to the following football men : Captain Mitterling, Minich, Gingrich, Kennedy, Light, Kichline, Kerr, Schaub, Brown, Clark, Enke, Ott, Bowman, Hartranft, Managers Harrity and Pritchard.

Alumni Notes

On November 1, Rev. A. D. Wolfinger, '88, Field Secretary of the College, occupied the pulpit of Rev. C. P. Wehr, '97, of Elizabethville, Pa., and presented the cause of Ursinus.

Last Sunday Rev. A. P. Frantz, '96, celebrated the tenth anniversary of his pastorate in Salem's church, Catasauqua, Pa. His long period of service in their midst has been blessed by marked successes in all departments of the church.

Miss Rhea E. Duryea, '08, of Philadelphia, Secretary of the Woman's Graduate Association of Pennsylvania, visited the college last Tuesday, and secured statistics and information pertaining to her work.

Rev. Prof. James I. Good, D. D., '87, who spent the past summer abroad, and who was delayed in his return because of conditions in Europe incident to the war, has arrived in America. He has taken up his residence at Dayton, O., where as a professor in the Central Theological Seminary he began his course on "The History of Reformed Dogmatics." He has been invited to deliver a lecture at Lane Theological Seminary, Cincinnati, O., on "The Beginnings of the Protestant Worship"; and McCormick Theological Seminary, Chicago, Ill., has urgently requested him to deliver his lecture on "John Huss." These indications of deference toward this eminent church divine are worthy of note.

Rev. S. Glover Dunseath, '10, of New York City, is in the French Hospital, New York, where he was operated upon for appendicitis. It is pleasing to his many friends to note that the operation was successful and that he is convalescing as rapidly as can be expected.

Rev. J. G. Kerschner, '98, of Mahanoy City, Pa., and David E. Bunting, ex-'11, renewed acquaintances in and about the college during the past week.

Dr. John Gordon, Dean Emeritus of the theological department of Temple University, Philadelphia, will address the students in the chapel on Thursday morning. The townspeople are invited to attend these services. The hour will be announced in a few days.

Among the Colleges

Franklin and Marshall proved a worthy host to a large number of students who gathered there to hold a volunteer Student Conference. All day on Friday delegates from the various educational institutions kept pouring into Lancaster by every train. Three hundred and twenty-four volunteers were present at the conference, representing fifty-two institutions. Many public-spirited citizens responded nobly to the call to entertain the delegates, as did also the college fraternities.

The University of Pittsburg supports seven branches of inter-collegiate athletics. They are: Football, basketball, baseball, track, tennis, wrestling and swimming. Why cannot we develop a team in more of these sports.

Dr. Charles Sedgwick Minot, a noted anatomist, died Thursday night at the age of sixty-one years. He was Professor of Histology and Embriology at Harvard Medical School.

West Virginia is determined to have a college song. They are now offering a prize of $130 to anyone who will write an acceptable poem.

Among the obituary records of the present war are the names of four prominent university professors. These men are: Henrich Hermelink, Professor of Church History at Kiel; Ernst Heidrich, Professor of Art and History at Strassburg; Ernst Stradler, Professor of German Philosophy at Strassburg; and Professor Fricker, the head of the Hanover-Muenden Forestry Academy.

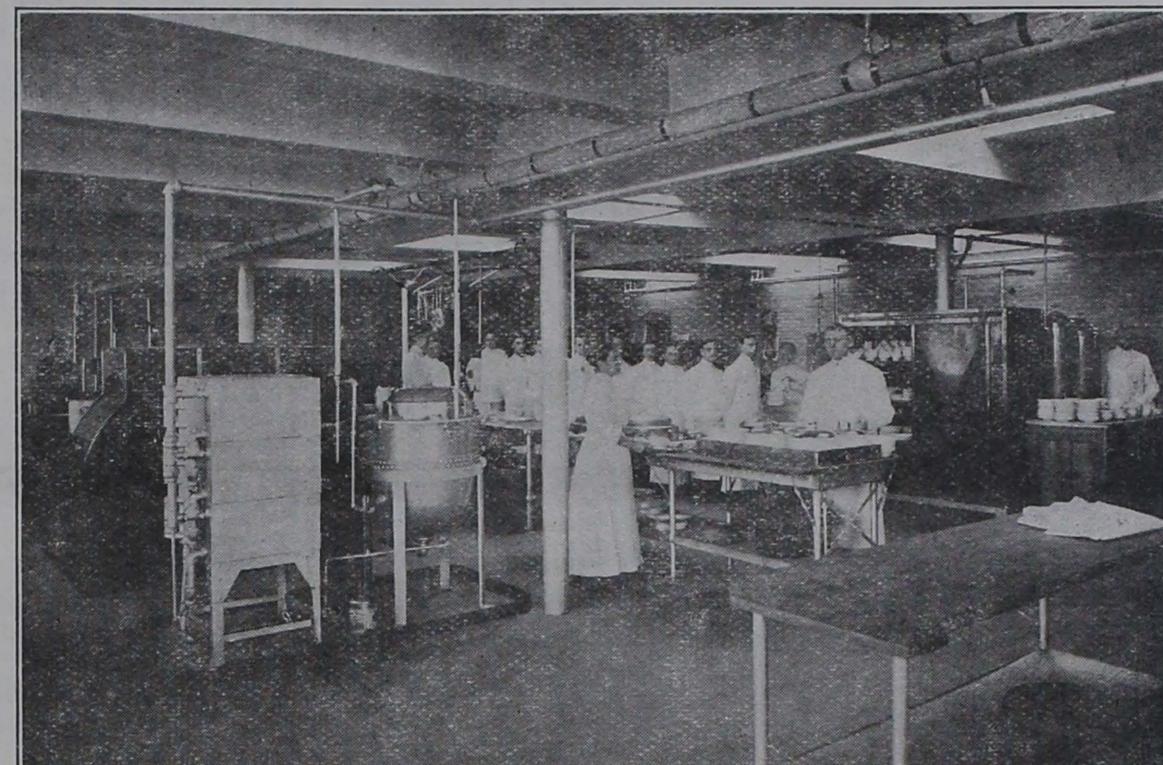

The students of Mercersburg Academy were recently favored with an excellent musical program by the Oxford quintet.

The students of Franklin and Marshall after much deliberation adopted the honor system by an overwhelming vote.

The open game, which was supposed to do so much toward eliminating accidents in football, has not fulfilled its promises this season. Thus far there have been 10 deaths and 63 injuries, of more or less serious character.

It is significant that of the 10 deaths 4 occurred in high school games, 4 in independent team contests, one in a college inter-class match and one in college practice. Only one of the players killed belonged to a carefully trained team. This shows that the danger in college teams is far less than that in the inexperienced teams.

The Cornell Architect is the title of another publication of the students of Cornell University. This makes the fifth of its kind.

SEVEN GROUPS OF COURSES

I. THE CLASSICAL GROUP

This is a course in the liberal arts with special emphasis upon the Latin and Greek languages. It is specially adapted to fit students for the theological schools and for general work in the teaching profession.

II. THE LATIN-MATHEMATICAL GROUP

This group has exceptional disciplinary value and provides a broad general culture. It constitutes an excellent group for students expecting to make teaching their life work.

III. THE MATHEMATICAL-PHYSICAL GROUP

This group includes advanced courses in mathematics and the sciences. It is designed for students who wish to teach these subjects, or who wish to pursue courses in high grade technical schools.

IV. THE CHEMICAL-BIOLOGICAL GROUP

This group is designed primarily for students who expect to enter the medical profession and for persons who wish to become specialists in chemistry and in the biological sciences.

V. THE HISTORICAL-POLITICAL GROUP

This group furnishes thorough preparation for the study of the law, and enables students who expect to teach to become specialists in history, economics, political economy and public finance.

VI. THE ENGLISH-HISTORICAL GROUP

This group fits the student for a life of letters in general and offers exceptional advantages for persons expecting to enter the educational profession.

VII. THE MODERN LANGUAGE GROUP

This group affords special advantages to students who expect to enter the field of literature, or who desire to become specialists in teaching the modern languages.

American Radium Market Closed

The European war has for the present at least totally closed the European market to American radium ores. As is well known, the uranium ores of Colorado and Utah are sold exclusively for their radium content, so little use being known for the uranium that the ores can not be sold for their content of that element. The condition of the European market leaves the miners without a buyer; so that while the war lasts, and probably for some time afterward, the market will be restricted and without the benefit of competition.

As has been pointed out by Secretary of the Interior Lane, had the bills introduced in Congress been passed, the United States Government would probably have been in the market as a buyer, and the miner might now have a chance to sell his ore.
