NEW SYSTEM OF STUDENT GOVERNMENT

Constitution Will be Voted Upon by Student Body on May 11

This system of student government will be presented to the student body for consideration at a meeting to be held in Bomberger Hall on Tuesday, May 11 at 1.30 p. m.

CONSTITUTION ARTICLE I.

The power of regulating all the undergraduate activities of the male students of Ursinus College shall be vested in the Student Council.

ARTICLE II. THE GROUPS.

Section 1. An annual meeting of the members of each Group shall be held at least three weeks and not more than five weeks prior to Commencement Day in each year to effect an organization for the ensuing year.

Sec. 2. Each Group shall elect a President who shall be a Senior, but when there are less than three Seniors in the Group, it may exercise its discretion in the choice of President. The Group shall also elect such other officers as it shall deem necessary.

Sec. 3. The Group shall meet at the call of the Adviser or the President or upon a written request of three members of the Group. The purpose of these meetings shall be to further the intellectual and social life of its members or to transact any business pertaining purely to the Group, but this shall not be construed to mean that any Group shall function as a body regulating the undergraduate activities in the College.

ARTICLE III.

THE STUDENT COUNCIL.

Sec. 1. The Student Council shall be the student governing body and shall be composed of the Presidents of the several Groups, provided these officers are male members of the Groups, and one additional Senior; four members of the Junior class; and two members of the Sophomore class. The Dean of the College by virtue of his office shall be the advisory member of this body.

Sec. 2. The members of the Student Council other than the Group Presidents

URSINUS LOSES TWO HARD FOUGHT GAMES

Varsity Meets Defeat at Hands of Lehigh and Swarthmore

The first game of the week was a battle against Lehigh University on the latter's grounds, in which Ursinus was conquered by the score of 8 to 4.

Fortune cast a propitious smile upon Lehigh during this contest, by directing Twombly's single through a knot hole in the fence in the sixth inning with the bases full, and by permitting McGinnis to make an unusual catch of Mitterling's slashing drive with the bases full in the ninth, which would have tied the score. The Ursinus lads showed superiority over Lehigh in handling the hickory, securing eleven hits off Anderson, while Ziegler held the opponents to eight bingles. Kennedy and Johnson excelled at the bat for Ursinus, while Twombly, with three hits, was responsible for six of Lehigh's runs.

In a very exciting thirteen-inning game on Saturday afternoon on Patterson field, Swarthmore College defeated Ursinus by a score of 4 to 2. The game was featured by the pitching of both Ames and Johnson; the latter having the best of the deal with thirteen strikeouts against Ames' three, and, except for costly errors, should have won the game. Despite some loose playing at certain periods of the game, it was one of intense interest. The defeat of Ursinus was largely due to her errors and to the sensational work of Swarthmore's fielders.

During the coming week the Varsity will take a trip through southern Pennsylvania and Maryland. The following games are scheduled for this trip: Gettysburg, Dickinson, Mercersburg and St. Mary's. Scores:

JUNIOR PLAY A GREAT SUCCESS

"The Junior" Delights Large Audience on Saturday Evening

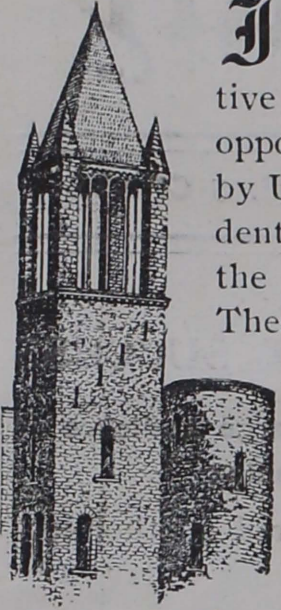

The class of 1916 scored another success on Saturday evening, May 8th, when "The Junior," a three-act play dealing with college life, was presented in Bomberger Hall. Any one who was in the large audience that filled the chapel will not hesitate to pronounce it the "best ever." From the first to the last, there was no lack of display of talent and enthusiasm by all members of the cast. This reflects much credit on Mr. C. F. Deininger, '15, who directed the play.

Miss Marion Kern, as Janet Hale, the fair co-ed, who was ridden on a board, played her part to perfection, and proved to be a fitting heroine. Misses Mabel Hyde and Helen Keyser, as Mabel Gray and Verda Griswold, also acted in a pleasing manner. The clever and energetic acting of Miss Mildred Paul, as Violet, the little Freshman co-ed, took the audience by storm, and there are many who consider her splendid interpretation of this somewhat difficult part as the feature of the evening.

Mr. Herbert Hoover played in the title role as Edward Moore. His acting was of the highest calibre, and his impersonation of a co-ed all that could be desired. Walter Gobrecht and Ralph Stugart, as "Jimmy" Monroe and "Thin" Smith, the other "Juniors;" Mr. Ronald Kichline, as "Silk" Ricketts, Mr. Leslie Rutledge, as "Demosthenes" Merwyn, and Leighton K. Smith as "Willy" Rockwell, the Seniors, all were at their best, and upheld the honor of their class by their excellent acting. Mr. Rutledge showed especial talent as a stump speaker. The part of Thomas J. Highfield was well played by Mr. Russel Johnson, and LeRoy F. Derr, as President Omsleep, displayed considerable talent.

Miss Mary Seiz and Mr. Harold Kerschner played several pleasing duets between the acts. The committee that had the play in charge was composed of Messrs. W. R. Gobrecht, Ronald C. Kichline, and Leslie F. Rutledge, and Misses Marion S. Kern and E. Mae Kohler.

The Tower Window

H O P E all alumni, friends and prospective students will note the opportunities now offered by Ursinus College to students looking forward to the study of medicine. These are set forth in the new catalogue on pages 48 and 49.

On recommendation of the American Medical Association, and in conformity to state laws, the medical schools of the country have established a uniform minimum requirement for admission consisting of one year of college work in addition to a full four-year secondary course. This makes it positively necessary for every young man or young woman intending to enter the medical profession to go to college.

In order to meet the situation a meeting of the Association of College Presidents of Pennsylvania was called at the instance of the State Superintendent of Public Instruction on behalf of the Bureau of Professional Education. The Association endorsed the movement to raise the standard of preparation for the study of medicine. However, the requirement that the college work of the candidate include laboratory courses in chemistry, biology and physics could scarcely be met in any college within a single year since no college curriculum provided for the study of these three sciences contemporaneously.

To meet the imminent need, some of the medical colleges undertook to provide this pre-medical year of college work themselves. However, the action of the American Medical Association clearly intends that this work shall be done in standard colleges of the arts and sciences and not in medical schools.

By introducing a new course in Physics adapted to first-year students, and by arranging the schedule of studies so as to avoid conflict in hours of recitation and laboratory work with reference to the prescribed courses, Ursinus College has opened the way for students to meet the new medical requirements in the pursuit of a one-year curriculum. To meet the demands of more exacting university medical departments, a two-year curriculum is also provided; and as constituting the best possible preparation, the College continues the four-year curriculum provided in its Chemical-Biological group of studies leading to the bachelor's degree.

The nearness of Ursinus College to Philadelphia, its excellent reputation for a high standard of work, and its relatively low rates, should bring here a considerable number of medical preparatory students.

A Summer Trip in Europe.

A. M. BILLMAN, A. B., '12

Russia is a land of big people, big voices, big railway coaches, big rivers and long distances. Travel is cheap and very comfortable and the Russian people are extremely kind, good natured and patient and with ignorant foreigners who do not speak their tongue. It is a land of bells, churches and shrines. Every room, railway station, steamer cabin, post office, shop, store—in short, every place frequented by people has its ikon or picture of the Virgin and Child with a candle perpetually burning in front of it in most cases. Devout travelers burn a candle in front of the shrine in the station before taking a trip. While going up the Volga River from Nizhni Novgorod to Rybinsk I noticed that the steersman never touched the wheel until, with bared head, he had crossed himself and knelt before the ikon in the pilot house. One is profoundly impressed by the deeply religious spirit of the Russian people everywhere. I cannot describe the emotions that came over me as I stood in some of the big cathedrals in Moscow and St. Petersburg and listened to the marvelous deep-toned singing of Slavic chants while throngs of bent, toil-worn peasants from far and near, with tears running down their faces, knelt, kissed the floor and then stood reverently before the ikons and pictures where they had placed burning candles bought with their hard-earned kopeks. In these great cathedrals as well as in the wayside shrines and holy places one sees soldiers, sailors, peasants, officers, shop girls and people of rank pressing eagerly forward to kiss the crucifix in the hands of Father Vasili or Father Nikon. Thousands of people write names of loved ones, for whom they wish prayers to be offered and give them to the priest. Vast sums are spent in building and decorating churches that outrival Solomon's Temple.

War was declared while I was going up the Volga and at once great numbers of men left their homes for recruiting points. At each little stop the same heart-breaking farewells took place between stalwart young men and their loved ones who tried their best to be brave though, by sad experience, they felt little hope that they would ever see their soldier sons and husbands come back across the plains. As the boat started, new outbursts of grief were the answers to the final farewell messages in which the universal word "mamma" was the chief sound. Some wives refused to leave their husbands and many of them marched along the streets of St. Petersburg with babes in their arms or silently waited outside the recruiting station only to say a last farewell when the civilian they had known emerged a soldier in full uniform. There was little sign of enthusiasm, only a sad, determined, plodding spirit in evidence among the many companies that with steady tramp, tramp, left for the front.

I cannot leave Russia without mentioning an incident that almost prevented two of my comrades from leaving the country. They were suspected as German spies by fellow passengers on the train from St. Petersburg to Petergoph, the summer villa of the Czar, and as soon as they entered the grounds they were arrested and taken to a police station, where they were kept under guard for several hours while a crowd of people made signs to show what they thought of spies and what would be done to them. Their passports did not seem to have any effect on the officers, and for a while their case looked pretty serious. They were finally reluctantly released when they showed the police a paper given by the Russian Consul in Beirut to say that they would be allowed to take pictures in Russia. I had made the same trip the week before and though I was unmolested, police and spies followed me with glances that I could feel through my back. We remained in St. Petersburg ten days waiting for an opportunity to get out of the country, but there was no way of getting out as all the trains were being used to transport soldiers and there was no time to bother about a few tourists. The American Government wired that all Americans should stay in the large cities and as near the coast as possible, but they did not give any assurance of a way out of the country. Our American Consul there suggested that we might have to cross Siberia to China and go back to America by way of the Pacific. He also said that we had better begin to buy some warm clothes and prepare to enjoy a Russian winter. Finally a way opened and it was the very way by which we had planned to go. We were allowed to leave the country by way of Finland. The railway journey through this country, a land of thousands of sky-blue lakes, dense forests, granite hills and marvelously neat and thrifty farms and villages was one of the most pleasant features of the whole summer. This little country which boasts of the finest public school system in the world, is prosperous in spite of a harsh climate and thin soil through the thrift and intelligence of its inhabitants.

This concludes my narrative of the events of the first part of the summer. The latter half of the vacation was spent in a trip across the Baltic Sea to Scandinavia, a pleasant stay in Norway, Sweden and Denmark, a dash across Germany while her armies were achieving their successes in Belgium and France and finally, a most interesting and delightful trip among the lakes and highlands of Switzerland, under the Alps to sunny Italy with her rich historic associations, across to equally historic Greece and then a good long voyage on the Mediterranean to Beirut with a few quiet days under the palm trees of Alexandria, Egypt, before settling down to another year of teaching.

On the Campus

The 1916 Rubys have arrived and were distributed on Saturday. Persons, who have not had one reserved, should do so at once. The regular price is $1.75.

Chas. F. Koch, Sp., who has been confined to his room for the past several days, is improving.

We were greatly disappointed to learn that the March sermon could not be preached by Rev. Floyd W. Tomkins on Thursday morning last, as scheduled. However, we are looking forward to that treat at a later date.

The charts of the trees on the campus made their appearance during the past week. As a result, the Biology II students, who must familiarize themselves with the various distinguishing features of the trees, have become quite efficient star gazers.

Miss Rhoads, '18, enjoyed an automobile trip to Harrisburg on Saturday. The beautiful scenery of that district made the trip all the more pleasant.

The college catalogues are ready for distribution. Most of the students have already procured copies, and all others may do so by application at the college office. The catalogue is as attractive as ever and contains some very pretty cuts of Bomberger and the dormitories.

We are pleased to note that Miss Ermold, the Assistant Treasurer of the college, who was slightly incapacitated by a fall several days ago, is again able to assume charge of her work.

Editorial

It seems that a new spirit is at work in the various organizations connected with the college, a spirit which is characterized by progressiveness, and by a tendency to cast aside those things which are no longer useful or applicable to the student activities of the college. There was printed in a recent issue of the WEEKLY a new system regarding the duties and elections of athletic managers and in this issue we note a new system of student government.

Our readers outside of the college will probably be somewhat surprised to learn that the old system of government by the Student Senate has recently been discarded, on the initiative of that body, supported by the male students of the college, particularly the upper classmen. It must be acknowledged, however, that, up to the time of its disbandment, the Senate exercised its prerogatives in a wise manner, especially during the past year, and its decrees were supported both by the students and officials of the college. In the last case which came before the Senate for action, a contention arose between that body and the faculty regarding the authority possessed by the former body in the carrying out of its decrees. In short, the misunderstanding or disagreement of both bodies arose out of the fact that the laws of the Senate were not specifically set forth. We feel, however, that the Senate was sincere in the interpretation of its powers.

Therefore, we are pleased to welcome the new system, which has been drawn up by a committee of the student body and approved by the Dean of the college, which seems to be a workable system from all standpoints and which deserves to be given a fair trial. Under the new system we can safely predict that misunderstandings of the above nature are not likely to occur, but that there will be a co-operation between the Council and the Faculty for the advancement and welfare of student life at the college.

The proposed system differs very materially from the old system and should be carefully read by the students before attending the meeting on Tuesday.

L. F. D., '16.

CHRISTIAN ORGANIZATIONS

A service in honor of "Mother" was held this week when the two Christian Associations met jointly. Appropriate solos were sung by Miss Snyder, Miss Seiz and Mr. Pritchard. The meeting was led by Mr. Singley. For the Scripture lesson he read the well-known Magnificat illustrating a mother's joy. In his talk which followed he cited the sayings of several eminent men on the subject. "A partnership with God is motherhood." "Mothers are guardians of the human race." Mother holds the key of the soul. No other office wields as much influence as hers. None can be compared with that of motherhood.

The whole life of the child is bound up with the mother's. They live very close to one another. The child always puts mother first. If he knows where mother is he is at once satisfied. But at college the tie somehow becomes weaker. The mind is occupied by many new and varied interests and consequently we do not think of mother as often, perhaps, as we did before leaving home. Whilst the separation gives us larger fields in which to work it is not an unmixed benefit. We tend to drift and to follow our own paths. Mother's controlling influence is lost and we are often prone to follow the line of least resistance. Our mothers want us to follow Christ. They have given us the weapons with which to fight for the right. Now it is for us to make use of them. Oftentimes at school we feel our souls longing for something satisfying. We go to religious meetings. But we may be indifferent and gradually become hardened to those influences which might be so uplifting.

But realizing the wonderful depth of our mother's love it is only just that we make everything we can of our chances here. Let us stop, therefore, to think of our mother and to do her honor. This we may best do by the tone of our entire lives—by endeavoring to attain, as men and women, that standard which she has set for us.

Farrar said that faith in womankind and belief in the highest things was easy for one with a good mother. With our wonderful heritage in mind let us remember to appreciate and give thanks for it.

To Prospective Students.

From now until the end of the year, copies of the WEEKLY will appear at frequent intervals in the mail of many young persons whom we know to be looking forward to a college course.

These papers are sent with the compliments of Ursinus College in the hope that they will serve to give prospective students a more intimate impression of current life at this college than can be conveyed by the catalogue and other more formal publications.

May the visits of the WEEKLY bring to you an exhilarating breath from the rich and wholesome atmosphere of our student life and thus serve to lead you in time into the full enjoyment of this life in Ursinus College.

GEORGE LESLIE OMWAKE, President.

Luther College, Decorah, Iowa, has a famous band, which will furnish music every day at the Norwegian building at the Panama Pacific Exposition. The band will receive $8,000 for its work.

Princeton University receives $250,000 for the erection of a new dining hall on the campus from Mrs. Russell Sage, provided a like amount is raised by July 1. Already over $75,000 has been collected for the needed fund.

Five men on the Ohio University Gospel team recently held a week's revival services at a neighboring town and secured twenty converts.

Literary Societies

Schaff Society

The program of Schaff on Friday night was of a miscellaneous nature and proved very interesting. The first number, a piano solo by Miss Slinghoff, was played with expression. The Boy's Tipperary Minstrel Show, leaders Messrs. Hoover and Light, deserves great credit. The end men were Mr. Hoover and Mr. Kichline. They kept the audience in a continual uproar with their jokes and tricks. The vocal solos by Messrs. Deitz, Kichline, Gingrich and Hoover received such applause that they responded with parodies on their respective songs. After the minstrel Miss Seiz gave a pleasing declamation, "My Rival," by Kipling. Mr. Johnson then read "The One-legged Goose," by F. Hopkinson Smith, in an amusing and entertaining manner. The violin solo by Mr. Messinger was rendered in a creditable manner. Mr. Hartranft's essay on the "New Theory as to the Punishment of Crime," was very interesting and instructive. Current Events by Mr. Singley was a very good number. He gave a splendid outline of the recent happenings in Europe and the United States. The Gazette by Miss Rosen was full of wit and clever jokes.

The Society was pleased to have a number of visitors present, who seemed to greatly enjoy the program.

Zwinglian Society

The program on Friday evening continued the high standard of Zwinglian. It consisted of a well-balanced combination of musical and literary numbers, sufficiently humorous in character to hold the attention of the society throughout. Mr. Kerschner opened the evening's program with a piano solo. His selection was followed by an essay on "The Educational Value of the Motion Picture." It showed careful preparation and the writer, Miss Kohler, read it in a creditable manner. Mr. Yingst then gave a recitation from "Sir Launfal." A vocal solo by Mr. Derr then followed. Two impromptu speeches by Messrs. Mitterling and Hiwale furnished enjoyment for the members and the many visitors who were present. Mr. Mitterling spoke on "The Difficulties of Coaching a Baseball team," and Mr. Hiwale discoursed at some length on "The Difference Between Indian and American Music." The latter subject was very instructive and Mr. Hiwale handled it well. Mr. Wintyen then read a paper entitled "Current Events." A Male Quartet, with Mr. Harrity as leader, made the hit of the evening. Miss Wiest's oration: "Seventy-Five Years of Progress," portrayed the advance of women in the educational field. A witty Review followed and the critic then passed judgment upon the program.

Miss Virginia Care, a sister of Miss Care, '16, then favored the society with several beautiful vocal solos. These were without doubt the best heard in Zwing this year and were enjoyed by all present.

Alumni Notes

Melvin C. Jacobs, '12, was graduated from Princeton Theological Seminary on May 4. He was at the same time awarded the Gelston-Winthrop fellowship in Church History. This fellowship is awarded by competitive examination and on the merits of the applicant's thesis. It is valued at $600 and carries with it the privileges of one year's study in this country or abroad. Mr. Jacobs expects to use it in the further study of Church History at Harvard University, next year. Because of the excellence of his thesis, he was also awarded the honorary degree of Bachelor of Divinity. Last year, he received the Master of Arts degree from Princeton University. Mr. Jacobs will crown his series of successes by his entrance upon the matrimonial sea on the twentieth of this month. His bride-to-be is Miss Mabelle B. Heebner, '12, of Lansdale, Pa.

On Sunday, April 25, Rev. H. A. I. Benner, '89, celebrated the fifteenth anniversary of his pastorate of the Trumbauersville, Pa., Reformed church.

Miss Josephine Gagg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Gagg, and Samuel Dewees Davis, '12, were married at the home of the bride's parents, at 315 Allen Avenue, Allenhurst, Pa., last week. After an extended honey-moon, the newly-weds will take up their residence at Philadelphia, where the groom is lucratively employed as a government chemist.

Ursinus, as well as many other well known colleges of to-day, was represented in the monster suffragette parade held in Philadelphia last week. Among those who participated were Misses Mary H. Stoner, '05, Rhea E. Duryea, '08, and Dessa C. Ebbert, '05.

Rev. Walter E. Garrett, '99, preached the baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class of the Abbottstown, Pa., High School. His theme was "Marks of an Efficient Life."

The college community learned with regret of the death of Mr. Charles Wolfinger, father of Rev. A. D. Wolfinger, D. D., '88. Dr. Wolfinger is Secretary of Ursinus College and the Central Theological Seminary, and through this office comes in contact with the students of the college and with the constituency of the college throughout the church.

THE CURRICULUM

embraces four years of work in the arts and sciences leading to the degrees of Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science, and includes

SEVEN GROUPS OF COURSES

I. THE CLASSICAL GROUP

This is a course in the liberal arts with special emphasis upon the Latin and Greek languages. It is specially adapted to fit students for the theological schools and for general work in the teaching profession.

II. THE LATIN-MATHEMATICAL GROUP

This group has exceptional disciplinary value and provides a broad general culture. It constitutes an excellent group for students expecting to make teaching their life work.

III. THE MATHEMATICAL-PHYSICAL GROUP

This group includes advanced courses in mathematics and the sciences. It is designed for students who wish to teach these subjects, or who wish to pursue courses in high grade technical schools.

IV. THE CHEMICAL-BIOLOGICAL GROUP

This group is designed primarily for students who expect to enter the medical profession and for persons who wish to become specialists in chemistry and in the biological sciences.

V. THE HISTORICAL-POLITICAL GROUP

This group furnishes thorough preparation for the study of the law, and enables students who expect to teach to become specialists in history, economics, political science and public finance.

VI. THE ENGLISH-HISTORICAL GROUP

This group fits the student for a life of letters in general and offers exceptional advantages for persons expecting to enter the educational profession.

VII. THE MODERN LANGUAGE GROUP

This group affords special advantages to students who expect to enter the field of literature, or who desire to become specialists in teaching the modern languages.

New System of Student Government

shall be elected by the members of their respective classes at meetings called for that purpose three weeks prior to Commencement Day. Within one week after these elections the members of the Council shall meet at the call of the outgoing chairman to effect an organization and elect a chairman and secretary for the ensuing year.

Sec. 3. Four less than the total membership of the Council shall constitute a quorum.

Sec. 4. The Council shall pass upon the eligibility of its members and at any time throughout the year may require the resignation of any member or members who shall have been found guilty of an offence of such a nature as to impair his efficiency as a member of the Council.

Sec. 5. The Student Council may either adopt those rules enacted by the Student Senate for the maintenance of order, the regulation of class activities, and the preservation of the customs and traditions of the College, or adopt similar rules of their own.

Sec. 6. The Council shall meet at the call of the chairman or in his absence of the secretary, or upon the written request of any two of its members.

Sec. 7. In case of the failure of the Council to act on any matter requiring action within a reasonable length of time, it forfeits the right of jurisdiction upon notification from the Dean of the College that the Officer or Officers of Administration or the Faculty have assumed the responsibility of settling the affair in question.

Sec. 8. The Officer or Officers of Administration or the Faculty shall not over-rule any action or actions of this body before the Council has been permitted to explain the reasons for its action through the medium of a committee which its chairman shall appoint. However, this section shall not be construed to apply to such special cases arising out of the enforcement of such regulations which have not been over-ruled except those provided for in Art. IV. Sec. 2.

ARTICLE IV.

ENFORCEMENT OF REGULATIONS.

Sec. 1. In minor cases of discipline the Student Council shall have the power to subject the offender to some punishment which shall be humiliating in its nature, but this punishment must be meted out by the Council and not through any other instrumentality.

Sec. 2. If the offence is of a serious nature, the Council shall have power to place the offender either under the first course of discipline which means that "any student having received fifteen unexcused marks during a scholastic year will be considered in the first course of discipline, information of which will immediately be given to his parent or guardian" by the Adviser of the Council, or under the second course of discipline which means that "any student having received fifteen additional unexcused marks during the same year will be considered in the second course of discipline, information of which will also be given to his parent or guardian" by the Adviser of the Council subject to Art. III. Sec. 8. If however the Council should determine the offence of so serious a nature as to warrant suspension or expulsion, and impose such a penalty it shall not become effective until ratified by the Faculty.

Sec. 3. Any discipline necessary for offences committed off the campus or college grounds shall be administered by the officers of the College.

ARTICLE V.

AMENDMENTS.

All amendments from whatever source before being ratified by the Council and student body must be passed upon by a committee of three consisting of two members of the Council appointed by the chairman, and the advisory member. To become valid all amendments must be ratified by a two-thirds vote of the Council and the majority vote of the male student body present at a mass meeting called by the chairman of the Council for that occasion.
