ORATORICAL UNION MEETS

Muhlenberg College Entertains Delegates at Fall Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Inter-collegiate Oratorical Union was held at Muhlenberg College, Allentown, Saturday, November 15. President A. N. Sayres of Franklin and Marshall presided. Ursinus was represented by J. Ernest Mertz, '14. The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows: President, E. A. Tomlinson, Swarthmore; Vice-President, S. W. Adler, Lafayette; Secretary, H. L. Snyder, Muhlenberg; Treasurer, Samuel M. Shelly, Franklin and Marshall.

An important amendment was made to the by-laws of the union whereby the word-limit of orations was set at 1800 words. Formerly there was a time-limit of fifteen minutes. An addition was made to the same section, requiring each oration to be submitted to the executive committee for examination, the meeting of said committee to come on the same day as the contest and at the same place as the contest. This action was taken to prevent violations of the limit-rule which have sometimes occurred in the past.

There being a surplus in the treasury, each college will receive five dollars, thus making the annual fee ten dollars instead of fifteen this year.

The meeting was spirited and the interest shown by all the delegates proved that the literary spirit has not died out.

The Union is composed of Ursinus, Gettysburg, Franklin and Marshall, Lafayette, Swarthmore and Muhlenberg. Last year Swarthmore and Franklin and Marshall took first and second prizes respectively. The contest this year will be held at Franklin and Marshall College, Lancaster.

HON. VICTOR MURDOCK HEARD AT URSINUS

Leader of Progressive Forces Throws Many Interesting Sidelights on Law-Making at Washington.

The first number of the lecture course was given on Saturday evening when the Hon. Victor Murdock, Congressman from Kansas, spoke on "Marching With the New Crusaders." He was enthusiastically received by his audience and won them over completely by his personality and power of speech. Mr. Murdock spoke with all the eloquence of an orator and the vigor of a "fighting leader of the insurgents." Not only did his lecture present excellent ideas, well-expressed, but it was also enforced by very apt and humorous illustrations.

Mr. Murdock defined his message as being the doctrine of a new national conscience. He said that liberty has always been highly valued. The Anglo-Saxon has held it especially dear. In America it has reached its highest development but is to-day threatened with a great enemy, that of special privilege. This is manifest everywhere. The poor man is forced to live under great difficulties. He is weighted down by industrial evils and insufficient legal protection. The rich who remedy much of their suffering are often quite indifferent to it. In our daily newspapers this is illustrated but too aptly. Side by side with accounts of lavish spending on great social events we see those of dreadful vice and crime. The injustice of it is plainly evident.

Again, many great corporations such as the Sugar Trust and the various railroads are continuing to wax fat through special privilege. The larger part of our wealth and resources has been allowed to fall in the hands of a few men.

Even into the judiciary bench has this evil crept. One law holds for the rich and another for the poor. When the judge is corrupt this may be plainly seen.

But the most notable example of special privilege occurs in the case of the railroads. The government pays them for carrying the mails on the basis of the average daily weight. To find this mail was weighed for six days successively, beginning with Monday. Then these amounts were added up and their average taken. In 1873, when this system began, there were no Sunday mails. Thirty-four years after when they had become an established thing, the mail of the seventh day was also included. But the average was still obtained by dividing by six. This meant a yearly loss to the government of $5,000,000. Since the beginning of the fraud the railroads had been overpaid to the amount of $70,000,000. Yet such was their control of affairs that they were able to defeat, both in Post-Office Department and in Congress, measures to change it. Though Roosevelt finally made it possible for the victory to be won, the affair plainly shows how far party politics have gone.

The correction of some national bad habits lies in our own hands. Among these are shifting from one party to another and indifference to the outcome of political issues. Mr. Murdock cited the instance of several bills to prohibit gambling in cotton futures. Today four hundred and fifty men in New York control the price of cotton in eleven States. Through their gambling it is frequently depressed from ten to twenty per cent. Each time such a bill was brought in it was either pigeon-holed or defeated through some power higher up. Individual familiarity with the processes of government is necessary.

As a remedy for many of our present evils Mr. Murdock advocated a perfected direct primary, the initiative and referendum, the recall and the right of the women to vote. In defence of the last statement it was brought out that women do not compromise on moral issues.

But to give our personal service to the country is better than all these. "Marching With the New Crusaders," we will then be reaching out for brotherhood.

CANTATA "RUTH" WAS SUCCESS

Trinity Church Was Packed as Students Sing Gaul's Work.

The cantata "Ruth" by Alfred R. Gaul, was sung to a large audience in Trinity Reformed Church on Sunday evening. The chorus, in which were a large number of college students, was under the efficient direction of Edgar T. Robinson, of this year's graduating class.

The work of the chorus throughout was good. The shading and interpretation were especially noteworthy. The solo parts by Robinson, '14, Miss Vanderslice, Miss Snyder, '15, and Miss Boorem, '16, showed careful preparation and ability of no mean order.

There were about forty voices in the chorus and it was augmented by a children's chorus of about twelve voices.

Ursinus Y. M. C. A. Was Well Represented.

The ninth annual conference of the Eastern Union of Student Volunteers was in session at Wilson College, Chambersburg, Pa., on November 21-23. This union is a branch of the national union and comprises all the schools and colleges of New Jersey and Pennsylvania. Preparations were made for the entertainment of several hundred delegates. Some of the most widely-known speakers on the volunteer movement in the country were on the program. Our own Y. M. C. A. was represented by Messrs. Deininger, Harry and Singley.

English-Historical Meets.

The English-Historical Group held its regular monthly meeting on Wednesday evening in Olevian Hall. The Panama Canal was the topic for the evening. Essays were read by Messrs. Eby and Bemisderfer and by Miss Sigafos. Misses Rahu and Kramer rendered the musical numbers. After the adjournment of the business meeting the evening was spent in a social time during which refreshments were served.

Miss Estella Dietz, of Bangor, Pa., visited her brother Thomas at the college on Sunday.

EDITORIAL

On another page of the WEEKLY appears the proceedings of the fall meeting of the Inter-collegiate Oratorical Union, of which Ursinus is a member.

The changes-made in the rules which govern the contest will doubtless be gratifying to all the colleges in the union. It will render infractions of the rules very nearly impossible. And besides this it will put the speaker more at his ease, for by having a word limit instead of a time limit, the length of the orations is fixed previous to the contest, and the orator is spared the feeling of nervousness from the fear that he might exceed the limit of time allotted to him. Then, too, the word limit is fairer to the contestants. Some speakers are more deliberate in their delivery than others, and consequently the subject matter of such persons' orations cannot as fully and adequately be treated as in the orations of those who speak with greater rapidity—though it may be a question whether the more thoughtful and deliberate delivery will not compensate for the more voluminous oration. At any rate, it places all the contestants on an equal footing in so far as the amount of the subject matter is concerned, and it gives greater freedom for individual characteristics.

We are also gratified to learn of the healthy financial condition of the union. The fact that five dollars will be returned to each of the colleges this year, does not mean much in a material sense; but a surplus of funds in the treasury of an organization usually bespeaks an active interest in the work of that organization.

It is not too early for those who contemplate entering the preliminaries at our own institution to be thinking about a subject. It may not require much effort to bring together a collection of fifteen hundred or eighteen hundred words; but to write an oration that will win in competition with other orations does require hard work. It requires wide and thoughtful reading. Although the preliminaries do not take place till after the mid-year exams., the season between now and then is filled with activities, and the Thanksgiving and Christmas recesses take us away from the college for a large part of the time.

The person who will represent Ursinus this year will probably not be the person who waits till the week before the contest to think about a subject. He will be the person who is thinking about it now and who is using his spare minutes to gather information about it. Then when the time comes for the tryouts his oration will not be merely a collection of words and high-sounding phrases; it will contain thoughts as well.

The other colleges in the Union have from fifteen to two dozen candidates who try for the preliminaries, and if Ursinus is to hold an honorable position in the Union she must do as well. Under the revised rules governing our own preliminaries the contest is open to virtually all persons in the upper three classes. Let us then resolve to send the best man we have to represent Ursinus this year.

Y. W. C. A.

Miss Klein led the regular Y. W. C. A. meeting on Tuesday evening. Her talk on "Personal Responsibility" contained much food for thought.

"Most of us" she said, "are satisfied to live up to the usual requirements of society, to be as good as our neighbors. We are prone to consider our actions as affecting only ourselves; but in whatever we do, our influence is felt, either for good or for evil. Personal influence has saved or ruined many a soul.

"Is our influence a light or a shadow? If we let ourselves be influenced by Christ, who satisfies most completely the human ideal, we will at least be working toward a realization of our personal responsibility."

After an interesting discussion of the topic, the meeting was turned over to a brief business session.

Derr was leader of the meeting on Wednesday evening, the subject of which was "What Have I to be Thankful For?" He emphasized the following points: We ought to thank God for the gift of His Son, for the strength He has given us to fight life's battles, for our privileges here at Ursinus, and for the freedom from disaster and war. Our daily lives should show our gratitude. Service is the measure of thankfulness.

In the discussion the following thoughts were presented as reasons for thankfulness: The broadened vision because of our college education, our place in life, enabling us to use the talent with which God has endowed us; we ought to thank God for withholding many things from us which we thought we should have received. Our mutual understanding and companionship is a rich blessing.

A new book by Dr. Scott Nearing, entitled "Financing the Wage Earner's Family," has just come from the press. The study deals largely with the problems of the cost and amount of economic goods necessary to maintain a standard of living in the United States.

Columbia has officially made soccer football a part of the regular training in gymnasium work. At least 600 students will be required to play the game twice a week. A champion squad is to be selected from this number.

The affirmative side was upheld by Messrs. Seaman, Grove and Minich, while the negative was supported by Messrs. Glendennig, C. Boyer and Hess.

The decision of the judges and that of the house was pronounced in favor of the affirmative side.

The musical numbers of the program were a piano solo by Mr. Hain and a vocal solo by Mr. Yeager.

Miss Gratia C. Furman, of Norristown, was welcomed into active membership in the society.

The following officers were elected: President, Mr. Davidheiser; Vice-President, Heller; Recording Secretary, Miss Sandt; Corresponding Secretary, Miss Oberholser; Chaplain, Mr. Hain; Editor No. 1, Mr. Adams; Editor No. 2, Mr. Pritchard; Janitor, Mr. Yeager; Musical Director, Miss Rogers.

Brotherhood Hears Good Address.

The Brotherhood of Saint Paul held its first regular meeting in the Philosophy Room, Thursday evening, November 20. The Committee on Membership proposed the names of Mr. Strasbaugh, Mr. Koch, Mr. Kehm, Mr. Dietz, Mr. Schnatz and Mr. Koons. These gentlemen were elected members. The Committee on Public Addresses outlined its general policy and announced that arrangements would be made to secure an outside speaker for the next meeting.

The address of the evening was delivered by Dr. Tower. His subject was "On the Road to Damascus." He drew analogies from the light and discussed the vision chiefly from the viewpoint of Psychology. He explained that the later researches of Psychology show that such exceptional experiences as this are had by those who are highly endowed rather than by those who are mentally deranged. The address was scholarly and highly interesting to all.

Varsity U's Awarded.

At a meeting of the Athletic Association on Thursday evening the following men were awarded U's for participation in football: Kerr, Cross, Condon, Minich, Gingrich, Heller, Seaman, Bedenk, Kennedy, Light, Kichline and Mitterling.

The following were nominated for football managers: Manager, Harry and Ancona; 1st Assistant Manager, Pritchard and Yeatts; 2nd Assistant Manager, Zeigler and Hain. These men will be voted for at the election on Monday, Dec. 1. At the same meeting the provision published a few weeks ago which provides for the amending of the Athletic constitution, will be voted upon. This will be an important election and every student should come out and vote.
