ALUMNI NOTES

Coach Price Calls for Help in Developing New Men

FELLOW FOOTBALL ALUMNI:

In view of the facts that our team this year plays the hardest schedule in its history and that the injuries sustained by our men in the games already played make it necessary that I give my undivided attention to the Varsity in general and the candidates for the vacant positions in particular, the Varsity line and the Scrub have been necessarily neglected. The Scrub therefore is in no fit condition to give the Varsity good practice. Help in coaching from any alumnus who has played football would be most welcome to me and a benefit to the team. Come any time. We can't have too many.

Yours most sincerely,

JOHN B. PRICE, '05, Coach.

Herbert H. Farnsler, '01, A. B., M. D., of Harrisburg, was a visitor at college on Monday.

Ira J. Hain, A. B., '08, now in his last year at Medico-Chi, was a visitor at college Tuesday and helped Coach Price with his work with the team.

Miss Helen Miller, '11, has accepted a position in the Conshohocken public schools.

Rev. J. Hunter Watts, '94, pastor of St. Andrew's Reformed church, Lancaster, Pa., recently preached the convention sermon of the twenty-second annual convention of the Lancaster county Christian Endeavor Union held in Zion's Lutheran church, East Petersburg, Pa.

A reunion of Ursinus students in Northern New Jersey was held yesterday at Springfield, N. J.

Rev. Geo. Stibitz, '81 Ph. D., D. D., professor in Central Seminary, Dayton, Ohio, was elected president of Ohio Synod at its recent annual sessions held in Xenia, Ohio.

John H. Poorman, A. B., '03, is secretary of the Mission Study Department of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Reformed church. His office is in the Reformed church building, 15th and Race streets, Philadelphia.

Rev. Frank S. Fiy, A. B., '07, lately pastor of the Reformed church at Fulton, Mich., has become pastor of the Reformed church at Mulberry, Ind.

PENN OUTPLAYED

U. of P. Wins by a Lucky and Questionable Score 9 to 0. Penn Criticized

By R. L. Matz, '12.

In a brilliant and spectacular exposition of the great college sport, Ursinus lost to the University of Pennsylvania eleven on Saturday afternoon, on Franklin Field, by the small score of 9-0. Both teams played with the desperation and determination of true warriors.

With the sting of last year's defeat still ranking in the hearts of Penn and the tradition of never being defeated by a minor college twice in succession staring them in the face, the Red and Blue warriors were out for blood. Our team was in superb condition and gave Penn the biggest scare they ever had. Ursinus outplayed Penn in every stage of the game. The line held like a stone wall, and although outweighed by Penn's line, repeatedly broke through and tackled runners behind the line. Douthett, Capt. K. Thompson, R. Thompson, and Erickson, a new man with but few days of experience with the team, all distinguished themselves. Seaman, the plucky 148-pound lad, although outweighed by fifty pounds, put up a remarkable game at centre. The backfield, consisting of Gay, West, Potteiger and Kichline, all covered themselves with glory. On the offensive especially Ursinus out-shone Penn. Gay and K. Thompson repeatedly got around the ends for substantial runs, while no less than sixteen forward passes were successfully handled by West, Capt. K. Thompson, Potteiger and Behney. The Public Ledger estimates that Ursinus gained six yards to Penn's one, and says further: "The individual star of the game was Captain Kerr Thompson of the Ursinus eleven. Fast as a sprinter, strong as a Hercules, this natural leader and football player gave one of the most wonderful exhibitions of sensational play ever seen on Franklin Field. Thompson's athletic figure was in every play. He was a giant on the offense and a demon on the defense. Fierce and bold in his tackling, he brought many Penn men low with his scythe-like dives. Potteiger and West were bright lights in the back field, as was little Behney, who only weighs 135

The following quotations give the view of the unbiased critics:

"It cannot be said that the Red and Blue played the better football. As a matter of fact had not fortune favored the Quakers they would not have scored against the Collegeville eleven. At no stage of the contest did Penn outplay Ursinus, while the latter had the big Red and Blue team on the run many times. As a matter of fact Ursinus gained much more ground than did Pennsylvania, while most of the fight was carried to the Quakers in their territory."

"A unanimity of opinion seems to prevail respecting several features and incidents connected with Saturday's Pennsylvania - Ursinus football game. Viewing the game from every angle, Ursinus outplayed Pennsylvania, and that the Quakers had all the luck; that Ursinus gave the most superb exhibition of forward passing ever seen in this city; and finally that the touchdown credited to the Red and Blue, following Harrington's run of 40 yards, was illegal."

"Viewing from the perspective of team development, Ursinus knew more football and played it better physically than Pennsylvania.  The writer is of firm conviction that this wonderful player (Kerr Thompson) is without a superior in his position in America to-day. Powerful and speedy, playing the game with a born instinct there is no department of the sport in which he is not a peer."

"No doubt exists in the mind of the writer concerning the illegality of the touchdown allowed Pennsylvania by Referee Langford on Harrington's splendid run.  under no possible construction of rules could Pennsylvania legally have been credited with a touchdown."

"Rule interpretation and enforcements have been very lax on Franklin Field this year."—D. L. REEVES IN PHILADELPHIA PUBLIC LEDGER.

"Ursinus showed conclusively their showing of last year was not a flash in the pan.  As a final tribute to the Ursinus team, the writer would say that they gave

Football Developments

Many Changes in Line-up of Team Because of Injuries

Potteiger sustained a badly sprained ankle in the Penn game and was confined to his bed for several days. He is out at classes to-day and expects to be in shape to don a football suit by Tuesday or Wednesday, making his participation in the Lehigh game probable. Captain Thompson was shifted from tackle to Potteiger's position in the back field while the captain's position will likely be filled by Minich or Shellenberger, who has at last been persuaded to come out. Shellenberger is a graduate of Brown Prep. and played football and baseball on the teams of that school. He weighs one hundred and seventy pounds and is fast and strong. He has baseball ambitions and had to be convinced that football would not interfere with them. He should be a valuable asset to the team. Eisenberg, after his two days' practice and participation in the Penn game, has not appeared on the field in hurt, although he was not hurt in the contest Saturday. His experience and "pep" are of value to the team even though he don't play. Mitterling's ankle is still very weak and painful, making it impossible for him to get into the practice. Seaman, who played a good game at center on Saturday, has been shifted to left end and Erickson, who played left guard at Penn, is being tried out at the center position. Yoh's knee is so much better that he is being practiced regularly at his old guard position. Wiedorn is making a strong bid for the end position but Seaman's speed and experience give him a handicap. Behney and Bransome are working for the right end position, but Behney's brilliant work at Penn gives him a strong hold on that job. The other positions remain the same as Saturday with everyone working hard to master the new formations and plays so as to be ready for Franklin and Marshall. Bush, a one hundred and eighty pound Freshman from Slippery Rock Normal has been persuaded to come out for practice. He has had no football experience but has a fine physique and lots of nerve. He was given a place on the scrub.

The scrub is doing as well as could be expected considering they

EDITORIAL

The rousing, invigorating college spirit now prevalent in Collegeville is indeed worthy of comment. We say Collegeville, advisedly, for to say the college with the exclusion of the town would not only be untrue but decidedly unjust. The loyal support of the townspeople is something of which Ursinus can justly be proud, for the credit of this amicable feeling cannot all go to the townspeople themselves, much as they are in a large measure responsible. Were it not for a sensible, considerate attitude on the part of the student body, the townspeople, no difference how forgiving, could not be on the pleasant terms with the students that they now are.

The smokers, given by the business men of the town, the drilling of the students by Mr. Gristock, the offers to banquet the team and the extraordinarily large town delegation that witnessed the Penn game are good examples of the intense interest taken in our endeavors.

While the student body cannot show its spirit by gifts and entertainments yet it does lend its support in caring for the physical welfare of the athletes, the work on the athletic field, the much improved cheering and singing in the grandstand and by hearty words of appreciation for deeds well done.

This unique situation of college and town is not the only distinguishing trait that shows the spirit of the place. Ursinus students have never attempted anything without doing it well. They go into plays, musicals, literary societies, debating contests, socials and studies with the same spirit they display in athletics. As the college numbers only one hundred and fifty six students, it is necessary that she do one thing at a time and everyone help. Thus, when she plays football, every able bodied man plays and the remainder encourage. The same rule applies to all her activities and this, we think, is in a measure the secret of her wonderful success.

In following this specializing idea, it behooves the students to make it their business to see that our old rival, Franklin and Marshall, is defeated tomorrow afternoon. The team must play its best and the rooters must cheer and sing as never before. Those who were at Lancaster with the team last year saw a never-say-die spirit displayed by our rivals, which our students can do well to emulate. We also received courtesy and hospitality there that we must equal and if possible surpass. Let every man make it his individual duty to see that the Lancaster delegation is well treated and made to feel perfectly at home.

We must beat F. & M. and beat her honorably, but she must go home feeling that she has been accorded only the best and fairest treatment.

Historical-Political Group Ratifies Student Constitution

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year by the Historical-Political Group at its meeting on Monday evening: President, Maurer; Vice-President, Douthett; Secretary, Lamont; Treasurer, Paisley; Members of the Executive Committee, Reinhold, '13, Seaman, '14 and Mitterling, '15. The members also considered and ratified the proposed constitution of student government. Prof. Atkinson, the new group adviser, was present and in a few remarks voiced himself as highly pleased with the present system of organization. Refreshments were enjoyed.

Classicals Ratify Constitution

The Classical Group met Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock and ratified the Student Government Constitution. No changes were made in the document. The Group will elect its quota of senators Monday at 1.30 p. m.

ELECTRICITY FOR LIGHT INEXPENSIVE

Good light lends cheer and comfort to every home and once enjoyed you will hesitate to return to the use of kerosene lamps.
As an example of what it costs we give you the average costs of lighting during the shortest days of the year. You require artificial light in the kitchen, on such days on an average of four hours, and with the 25 watt Mazda lamp, you would consume 100 watts; in the dining-room the average is three hours, and with the 40 watt Mazda lamp you would consume 120 watts; in the library or sitting-room the average is 300 watts; in the bath-room you would consume 25 watts; with three sleeping rooms, and using the 25 watt Mazda lamp, and an average lighting of three hours, you would consume 75 watts, a total of 625 watts.
Our rate is 4 cents per 1000 watts, with a minimum rate of $1.00 per month, for which we allow 1150 watts. You may not require lights as many hours as we have figured, and you may not use it in as many rooms as above described, but if you use it as illustrated, it will cost but a fraction over 6 cents per night, and on the days when the sun rises late and sets early.
Let us help you to turn winter nights into summer evenings.

Post Mortem Held over Penn Game "Victory over Franklin and Marshall"

On Tuesday evening the business men of the town gave a second smoker to the students. It was a sort of post mortem affair in which our defeat at the hands of Penn was gone over and the members of the team were praised for their wonderful work even though the score was against them.

The "fellows" were out to a man and showed wonderful improvement in their cheering under the leadership of "Fats" Bear. Small and Holt have done good work in improving the singing.

The "fellows" were out to a man and showed wonderful improvement in their cheering under the leadership of "Fats" Bear. Small and Holt have done good work in improving the singing. Dr. Omwake started the speech-making by praising the players and coach for their showing on Saturday. Mr. Elert consoled the gathering by giving reasons why he thought it best that Ursinus did lose. He gave the team another chance to win a theatre party and banquet by promising the same on the condition that the remainder of the games be won. Mr. Gristosk was "there" with the offer of a post season sauer kraut lunch. Prof. Rapp, Ira Hain, '08, and Ralph Miller, '05, gave warm speeches and Coach Price indulged in comedy rather than dramas. He expressed appreciation for the work of the team and the fair treatment of the Philadelphia papers and admonished everyone to prepare for Franklin and Marshall.

Saturday, October 21, Ursinus plays Lehigh at South Bethlehem.

At the annual Rally Day services of Trinity Sunday School on Sunday morning next, Mr. Chas. K. Leimbach, a prominent business man of Reading, will make the address.

SOCIETY NOTES

Zwinglian

The affirmative speakers, Peters, Wetzel and West, received the decision of the judges in debate last Friday evening against the negative, Barrio, Yingst and Long, on the subject: Resolved, That the State of Pennsylvania should adopt a law giving into the hands of a commission the control of all public utilities." Although the speeches lacked thorough preparation, a few good points were advanced and the rebuttals were quite spirited. Miss Rapp read the Review as a final literary feature.

An election of officers resulted as follows: President, Behney; Vice President, Lamont; Recording Secretary, Miss Barnett; Corresponding Secretary, Miss Rahn; Chaplain, Bear; Musical Director, Robinson; Editor No. 1, Miss Wagner; Editor No. 2, Mertz; Critic, West; Janitor, Hess.

Two new students, Miss Wiest of York and Mr. Yost of Collegeville, joined the Society and were duly initiated into membership.

Schaff

Schaff entertained a large audience, last Friday evening, with a miscellaneous program, the leading feature of which was a sketch—"Dr. Cure-all"—in which Detwiler played the part of the doctor.

Christian Associations

The Y. W. C. A. was addressed by Prof. Wailes on Tuesday evening. Misses Wiest, Snyder, Hanson, West, Booren, Rahn and Schlichter were elected into membership.

The Y. M. C. A. was addressed by the president, Mr. Herson, on Wednesday evening. It was announced that the regular organized Bible Study will begin Monday evening at 6.40 in the Y. M. C. A. room. Rev. Irwin Wagner, of Eagleville, will conduct a course on "The Social Significance of the Teachings of Jesus." All the believers are urged to take advantage of this course.

one of the finest exhibitions of the open game that it has ever been his fortune to see." — ALUMNIUS IN PHILA. BULLETIN.

"Ursinus undoubtedly gained more ground than Penn, and on a dry field, where the superior weight of the Quakers would not have been such an advantage, the outcome of the contest would have been a question."

"The forward passes of the visitors worked lightning fast, were thrown with perfect direction and handled with flawless certainty."

The eleven from Collegeville was in no sense humiliated. * * * It might fairly be said that Price's men outplayed Penn. * * * Penn did not dare to try out substitutes."

"The issue (Referee Longford's decision on Penn's touchdown) is entirely a question of whether the referee saw correctly or no. From the press stand it looked as if he were wrong." — GRAHAM IN PHILADELPHIA NORTH AMERICAN.

"Coach Price of Ursinus has proved himself a wonder by turning out great teams with practically no material to start with, and he owes his success to the fact that he makes all of his plays so simple that they are really confusing, if such a paradox be permissible. Against Penn Ursinus used a simple forward pass time and again with success, and the spectators could not understand why the play was successful against a big college eleven." — RICHTER IN PHILA. pounds. Time and again the little fellow received punts with the big Quaker forwards bearing down on him, often taking them dribbling along the field, yet he never fumbled." For Penn Captain Mercer was the one brilliant performer. Jourdet at end and Wolfert and Dillon gave an excellent account of themselves.

The first quarter was a see-saw affair with the advantage in favor of Ursinus. In the second quarter as the result of a poor punt Penn got possession of the ball on our 25-yard line. Marshall dropped back for a field goal, but failed. Penn's only touchdown came in the third quarter. K. Thompson punted to Mercer on our 40-yard line. On the next play Harrington took a delayed pass around our left end, but was tackled within five yards of the goal line by West and Behney. Harrington fell across the line, but fumbled the ball, which dropped a few feet from the goal, where West fell upon it, and consequently was Ursinus' ball. Langford, the referee, however, ruled a touchdown. Minds kicked the goal. In the fourth period Behney misjudged a punt and Penn secured the ball on our 18-yard line and promptly fell back and Marshall booted the ball across for a goal. Time was called with the score 9-0 in favor of Penn. The line-up:

Ursinus.	Penn.
R. Thompson	Left tackle	Dillon
Erickson	Left guard	Crawford
Seaman	Centre	Morris
Douthett	Right guard	Findeisen
K. Thompson	Right tackle	Wolfert
