THE FOOTBALL SITUATION

URSINUS MEETS LEHIGH TOMORROW

Tomorrow the football season at Ursinus really begins. At that time the first of the three games of most moment on our schedule occurs at South Bethlehem. Interest in the first two games was naturally not very keen. Williamson was easy, and against Pennsylvania we had little chance. The Lehigh game, however, never fails to arouse great enthusiasm, and the contest this year will be particularly interesting by reason of the fact that our opponents, chagrined by last year's defeats in both football and baseball at the hands of the Red, Old-gold and Black, are determined to retrieve those two disappointments if it is at all possible. On the other hand, Ursinus will meet Lehigh with a confidence born of last season's decisive victory and with a determination to repeat that feat.

A goodly number of Ursinus rooters will accompany the team tomorrow, and doubtless the Ursinus contingency will be the utmost capacity of their throats and lungs lend their aid toward bringing victory Ursinusward. Those who make the trip will surely be well repaid, for the game gives promise of being one of the best that will be played on any gridiron to-morrow. Students will be as scarce around college to-morrow as cuss words in Yost's vocabulary, and so it's on to South Bethlehem for all who can possibly produce the necessary shekels.

FIELD HOUSE

During the past week developments on the field house have reached such a point that it is confidently expected that by next week the students will be able to use the building. At a recent meeting of the Athletic Committee, it was decided to have the formal opening of the Field House on Oct. 13, the day Ursinus plays Medico-Chi. The Committee, consisting of athletic Director Price, chairman, Mr. J. T. Ebert and R. E. Miller, '05, who had charge of the erecting of the building, have been appointed as the committee to arrange for the event. The program will appear in the next issue of the "Weekly." Subscriptions of late have been coming to the treasurer in smaller numbers, but larger amounts, and it is the earnest hope of the committee that those who have not responded to appeals will do so as soon as possible, and that those who have not subscribed will send subscriptions as soon and as large as possible. Particular attention must be called this week to the contribution of a friend. While it is that individual wish that the name be withheld, nevertheless the committee feels that their appreciation of this contribution and interest shown should be publicly expressed. Another matter to be brought to the attention of the students is the desire of the committee to have all the new students, and those old students who have not subscribed, to give their contribution. Every one should by all means help this fund's progress and no Ursinus student should have it said of him that he did not subscribe for, and help build this, the Ursinus Students' Field House.

THE WORK OF THE TEAMS DURING THE WEEK

After the game with Pennsylvania on Wednesday of last week the squad was practically given a rest until Monday. The men were sent through daily practices but there way little hard work. On Monday, however, hard work began, and Coach Price has kept the men on the jump ever since. The Varsity men have shown great improvement over their form of last week, and the scrubs are also getting together in a way which indicates that the second team will this season be much better than for a number of years. Behney, Captain Davis, Kershner, McNeil and Kichline are the mainstays of the scrubs and several of these men are good for substitute positions on the Varsity and may possibly give some of the first team men hard fights for their jobs before the season is over.

The scrubs play Bethlehem Prep.

at Bethlehem to-morrow morning, and the work of this plucky bunch of players, who are working faithfully to whip the Varsity into shape will be watched with much interest.

Several important changes were made in the Varsity line-up this week. Gerges, who has played guard for two seasons, and who has been a mainstay of Ursinus at that position, has been tried at left end. This position is entirely new to Gerges, but as he has strength, speed, and plenty of nerve, he should certainly develop into a first-class end. In Gerges' place at guard Coach Price has been playing Captain Quay. Quay is at home on the line and should cover the position of guard with distinction. Slonaker, who was kept out of scrimmage practice for over a week and who was not able to play in either of the games, is again in shape to do work and he has been covering an end position in great shape. Slonaker is expected to make good to-morrow.

Another man who has been attracting much attention the past few days is Yohe. This strapping Freshman came to Ursinus from Mercersburg entirely unheralded. He has been putting up a good game with the scrubs, and was this week tired out with the Varsity in Captain Quay's place, the latter having been somewhat incapacitated by slight injury. Yohe will doubtless be used as a utility line-man and should prove very useful.

The men comprising the squad are: Captain Quay, Gerges, Keyser, Knauer, Douthett, Kerr Thompson, R. Thompson, Slonaker, Bunting, West, Isenberg, Gay, Davis, Behney, Jacobs, Kershner, Cassel Kichline, Lindamen, Yohe, Laucks Bransome, Holt, Robins, McNeil, Spears, Shellhamer, Small, Long, Thomasson, and Weed.

Just now there is a paucity of outfits, but when this deficiency is overcome three or four more promising men will join the squad. The football situation, viewed from all aspects is therefore more rosy than it has been for many a long day, and a successful season is confidently anticipated.

EDITORIAL

The other day a Senior accosted a Freshman who was leaving the college grounds at about the time football practice was in progress, and reminded him that it was his duty to come out to the field and watch the work of the football men. Whereupon the Freshman replied, "What football practice? I didn't know there was any football practice."

Fortunately, quite fortunately, such Freshmen are not met every day. The poor fellow is to be pitied, of course, for he has reached senility at that period of his existence when he should be wearing turbulent haberdashery, turning up his trousers and nose, and appearing appropriately "fresh."

No, the're not all as bad as that, but the episode served to show to what extent an Ursinus student can become steeped in a lethargic indifference to the activities in which all should share.

Most of the new men are entering into the life of the college with good spirit, but there can be found many who require a little prodding, who need to have that proclivity to crawl into their shells rudely jarred. The men and women who are spending their second or third year at Ursinus shirk a responsibility if they fail to stimulate a healthful interest in the activities of the college. It is up to us to set the standard for the new students.

At this time of the year football is paramount to every other sphere of college life, and all others—the Handel Chorus, the glee clubs, tennis—must be made subservient. The other interests will in their turn command the attention of everyone, but just now the pigskin is of chief importance.

In the last few years there has been considerable dissatisfaction felt, and often expressed, by students, concerning the equipment of the dormitories and of the premises in general. Many requests to have anything improved have been met with the reply that any improvements will be unavailing, as the students are utterly regardless of their rights in the way they abuse college property. It must be evident that in charging this the authorities have many facts to support them. Proofs of this statement are scattered all over the place. Witness the care of the dormitories and of Bomberger Hall, as shown by knife scratches and penciled hieroglyphics on almost every available spot, and by tricks such as the one inflicted upon the chapel piano just lately. Witness the care that is taken of furniture in all the buildings, and the preservation of our campus by those who cannot reconcile themselves to using the gravel walks. Students should remember that even though all property damaged by them is replaced at their expense, yet the college authorities cannot constantly be repairing damages caused by thoughtlessness alone. On the other hand, students who desire improvements, and who could respect them, cannot be expected to do police duty in order that they may not suffer inconveniences. As matters stand, we cannot hope for improvements if half the students sacrifice the right to them for the whole student body, and we can scarcely expect the virtuous half to guard their rights by force from the barbaric half. The state of morals at Ursinus should certainly make it possible for the care of property to be considered by every student as a personal obligation, and only when such an obligation is felt by the students, can they hope to have granted their requests for improvements.

Keener, '11, led the regular meeting Wednesday evening and took for his subject, "Looking to The Foundations," which he discussed in part as follows:

"The greatest thing in life and about life is life itself. All generations have been seeking for its true source. The philosophers of old and the Christian have agreed that there must be one common source, and that is God.

If we would build our lives upon a solid-rock foundation, we must find it in Christ. Every day and every action is contributing to our characters and shaping our destinies. So let us be guided by the only true way."

This meeting was by far the best attended thus far.

SEMINARY NOTES

The Seminary at Dayton, O., has opened with an unprecedented number of new students enrolled. The Junior Class numbers fifteen, eight of whom are from the East. The Seminary building proper was found inadequate as a dormitory, and a house at 25 Livingston Ave., formerly the residence of Dr. Van Horne, has been occupied by some of the students. With the augmented student-body come prospects for corresponding better work along all lines.

Drs. Van Horne, Vollmer and Christman are attending the sessions of the Ohio Synod which is convened at Akron, O., this week.

Several weeks ago the Ladies' Missionary Society of First Reformed Church entertained the student-body at a supper given on the Campus. It was quite a social event as it served to make the new students acquainted with many of the good people of Dayton.

The following men preached on Sunday: Hartman, '10, Arcadium, O.; Kriete, '10, Crestline, O.; Yocum, '10, Hillgrove, O.; Wagner '10, Springfield, O.; Reimers, '10, Springboro, O.

With a view toward bringing our Seminary into closer touch and affiliation with the Bonebrake Seminary of the U. B. Church, also located in Dayton, representative teams of the two schools met in a game of baseball last Saturday morning. Although the Central team won in an easy fashion by the score of 13 to 4, the good fellowship and friendly intercourse furnished more lasting satisfaction than did the victory on the ballfield.

Y. W. C. A.

A very interesting meeting was held in Y. W. C. A. on Tuesday evening. The topic for the evening was "The Battle with the Slums." The meeting was led by Miss Heebner who took as her text the story of Christ sending out his disciples to gather in the people to the wedding feast. The substance of her talk was as follows:

Our cities are becoming more of a menace to our civilization each year. Here the forces of sin have massed themselves and have made use of the prevailing ignorance, immorality and vice for selfish ends. It is only with the aid of the forces of righteousness, truth and temperance, with the faithful use of the sword of the spirit, that the battle will be won.

The battle of the slums is a battle against selfishness and greed, with its lack of feeling for others, as well as a battle against the traffic in vice and sin. There is a vast amount of misery, vice and poverty in our cities that can be remedied. For its eradication we must have the spirit of Christ in our civilization. The Gospel of a crucified Savior is alone sufficient for the work. We must carry this Gospel to the slum districts and compel them to come in, that the house of our Lord may be filled.
