FOOTBALL

URSINUS 53. MEDICO-CHI 0.

The team from Medico-Chi made its first appearance on Ursinus Field last Saturday. The team presented two former Ursinus Captains in its line-up, Faringer and Hain, leaders of the 1905 and 1907 eleven respectively. Faringer is the present coach of the Medico-Chi team, many players of which were quondam stars on other teams. Both men were very much in evidence during the game.

Space will not permit a detailed account of the game. Our team was outwitted by the Medicals, but the latter lacked endurance and team work. An occasional spurt was made by them, but reckless use of the forward pass lost much of the ground gained by straight football. Shaffer repeatedly found openings in our line for consistent gains. The work of Stocker at full-back was also noteworthy.

The back-field was not materially weakened by the presence of several substitutes, Keyser playing a great game both on offense and defense. He and Quay each scored a touchdown. The work of Captain Abel and Miller in handling the forward passes was a distinct feature, the former crossing his own goal line four times in 25 minutes of play. Much credit must be given to West for his extreme accuracy and judgment in delivering and shooting the ball to the ends and backs. Gay scored 23 of the total number of points.

Forty-one of Ursinus' 53 points were scored in the first half. In the second half Ursinus played a punting game, but with only five

URSINUS UNION

The Classical Group furnished the program at the monthly meeting of the Ursinus Union last Monday evening. Kerschner, '09, the Group representative, read a paper on "The Delphic Oracle." An extract follows:

Of all the oracles in Greece, the one at Delphi was the most famous and the one to which most frequent allusion is made in literature. Apollo was the divinity associated with the oracle. In him everyone had extreme confidence. If the prophecies failed, it was not the fault of the divinity, but the incorrect interpretation of his will. His will was made known to a maiden called Pythia sitting upon a tripod situated over a cleft in the earth from which emanated a gas, said to have prophetic virtues. Rendered delirious by this vapor the Pythia uttered shrieks and cries, which, being interpreted, were the will of Apollo.

Embassies from every state came to know the will of Apollo. Delphi was a knot where every civilized strand in ancient life was united. The writings of Herodotus are rich in anecdotes of this famous shrine and temple. The prophecy was always cloaked in ambiguity, so that the prophet might have recourse to an excuse in case of failure. Bribes were also accepted in return for a prophecy in favor of a donor.

As education became more general, the qualification of superior knowledge necessary to the proper wording of the oracles was more difficult to keep up, yet the custom of appealing to them continued till a late period in Greek history. The Delphi Oracle of today is but a name, left to us as a monument of pagan ideas and superstitions. No material vestige is left, but there is no single locality in the world which has had a greater influence on the history, literature and general culture of the ancients than did the Oracle at Delphi.

Prof. Kline followed with a talk upon the progress of the Classics in the modern colleges; he also spoke of the work being done by archaeologists, as throwing additional light upon the classical writings. The discussion following each number of the program made the meeting intensely interesting.

MISS PLACE ENTERTAINS

About twenty of the young men and ladies of the college journeyed to Eagleville last Saturday evening in response to an invitation received from Miss Florence Place, '10. Those of the company who had attended similar functions at the Place residence had every reason to anticipate a good time, and in this they were not disappointed.

Once there, the scene was continually changed by the hostess with a number and variety of interesting games, and the potato race, needle-threading matches and the Ring Contest proved popular with all. Fitting prizes were awarded to the few successful ones.

The Places are known not only as entertainers, but also as satisfiers of the inner man after an evening of genuine pleasure. After the social time, which seemed all too short, refreshments such as dreams are made of were passed, and partaken of as only students can. The many good things, especially the home-made confections, together with the splendid time prepared by the hostess, will long be remembered. After several rousing cheers for Miss Place, the guests departed in high spirits for their homes.

A GROUP MEETING

Professor Clawson, adviser of the Mathematical and Physical Departments of the College, entertained the Latin-Mathematical and Mathematical-Physical groups on Monday evening in the Mathematics room. This was the initial meeting of the joint groups, and much interest and enthusiasm were manifested. Custer, '09, President of the groups, was elected representative to the Ursinus Union. Prof. Clawson lectured upon the peculiar phenomena of bodies revolving in space, including the gyroscopic character of axial motion. Many interesting experiments were performed which showed these peculiar properties. Miss Fegley, '12, read an historical paper, in which the development and evolution of geometry were treated. Custer, '09, read a paper that traced the development of achievements along the line of aerial navigation. After the program, refreshments were served and a very enjoyable social hour was spent in discussing current topics.

MEETING OF DIRECTORS

The fall meeting of the Board of Directors of the College was held in the offices of the Fairmont Savings Trust Company Philadelphia, on Tuesday Nov. 10. The following directors were present: A. W. Kratz, H. T. Spangler, J. W. Meminger, J. M. Anders, E. A. Krusen, J. M. Vanderslice, A. R. Broadbeck, S. L. Messinger, I. C. Fisher, A. E. Keigwin, A. D. Fetterolf, J. M. S. Isenberg, G. L. Omwake, H. E. Paisley and J. T. Ebert. F. F. Blessing, Secretary of the College was also present.

The reports of officers and committees were all very encouraging. Numerous matters of routine business were attended to and several important actions taken for the further improvement of the institution.

Y. W. C. A.

The world's week of prayer for the Y. W. C. A., is being observed in the association. It began last Sunday afternoon, when the meeting was in charge of the cabinet, Miss Spangler, '09, being leader. The purpose for such a week was portrayed as being that of earnest prayer for similar associations in various countries.

On Monday evening, the Bible Study Committee in charge of Miss Fermier, '10, had its meeting. They discussed the work which is being done along this line in South America and an earnest need for mission workers there. Miss Freyer '10, chairman of the Social Committee, lead the meeting on Tuesday evening, the subject having been, Association Work in America.

The Religions Meeting committee Miss Long, '09, chairman, led on Wednesday afternoon, having Missions in Africa as their subject. Miss Neff, '09, chairman of the Intercollegiate Committee had charge Thursday afternoon, discussing work in Holland, Great Britain and Germany.

The meeting for Friday was in charge of Miss Butler, '09, Missionary committee, with a discussion of similar association in India, China and Japan. The week will close with a meeting on Sunday afternoon when Miss Spousler, '10, of the Membership committee will speak on "Deeper Prayer Life Among our Members."

EDITORIAL

To-morrow Ursinus is to meet a college whose athletic teams have, as a rule, been more classy than its own. Judging from comparative scores, the two elevens this year are virtually evenly matched. The game to-morrow will be someone's Waterloo. It will be a contest of a team on one side whose goal line has, with the exception of the score against Penn. been left uncrossed, with a team on the other side which has not yet known defeat during the present season. Is it not safe to predict a great game?

Lehigh is a formidable opponent and the activity displayed in the South Bethlehem camp presages that they will play to win. On the other hand our boys are fit as fiddles for the fray, and will try to duplicate their performance of 1905, when Lehigh was defeated by a score of 12-0.

The boys want support, and an appeal is made to the students to accompany the team. The Scrubs, who play Bethlehem P. S. in the morning, will be on the side-lines and lend a cheer. A number of fellows are going along, but there is room for many more. Perambulate to the station tomorrow, board the 7.45 Express, and be with the people.

SOCIETIES

SCHAFF

The program for Friday evening was a debate and was rendered as follows:

Violin Solo, Thomasson, '10, "Shepherd's Song." Debate: Resolved, That the two great political parties in the United States should be the Radicals and Conservatives.

The affirmative speakers were Unstead, '09, chief, Miller, '09 and Spears, '10, while the negative side was upheld by Wismer, '09, chief, Thompson, '10 and Heinly, '11.

The judge, Gilland, '09, decided in favor of the negative, and after general debate the decision of the house also was negative.

Vocal Solo, Miss Spangler, '09, "Goodnight." Vocal Duet, Misses Saylor, '12, and Dunn, '11, "Brightest Time of Life."

Messrs. Saylor, '10, Pottstown, Pa., and Kichlein, Bangor, Pa., were elected as active members of the society.

ZWINGLIAN

The program on Friday evening was a debate, in which the question, Resolved, "That there should be an educational qualification for voters," was discussed in an interesting manner. The affirmative was upheld by Messrs. H. K. Thomas, '10, Palsgrove, '12, Behney, '12, and Myers, '09, who offered the following points.

1. Educational qualification will put government in hand of those who are most fitted.
2. This qualification will exclude classes who are dangerous to government.
3. It will eradicate most of the corrupt policies.
4. It has worked well in practice. The negative side was represented by Messrs. Gerges, '11, Herson, '12, Long, '09 and Keener, '11, who brought out the following arguments.

1. See that the laws we now have are enforced and we will not need an educational qualification.
 2. If you take away the illiterate man's power to vote you go contrary to the constitution.
 3. Educational qualifications will not stop bossism.
 4. Educational qualifications will not remove corruptions.
- The judges Abel, '09, and Moser, '10, decided in favor of the Affirmative as did also the house after a spirited discussion.

After a humorous and well edited Review by Mertz, '10, Messrs. Kerschner, '09, and R. S. Thomas, '10, favored the society with a piano duet, "Piff Paff."

THE BROTHERHOOD OF ST PAUL

A goodly number of young men were in attendance upon the first meeting of the Brotherhood of St. Paul in Schaff Hall last Tuesday night. Rev. G. H. Wailes, professor of English Bible and Greek Testament in the College, addressed the meeting. His talk upon "The Bible" was inspiring and instructive and was made more practical by the citing of personal experience. The speaker exhorted the men to continue their Greek and Hebrew throughout their lives as aids in developing a thorough knowledge of The Word, which is God-breathed in its entirety.

The Brotherhood feels greatly indebted to Rev. Wailes for his kindness in responding so readily and speaking at the club's first meeting. After the regular business routine, the Brotherhood adjourned.

The beautiful $4000 religious edifice of St. Paul's congregation at Mahanoy City will be dedicated on this Sunday, November 15. The building, which has been in course of construction for almost two years is a model of elegance and beauty, and its equipment makes it in every way a type of the most modern church. Rev. I. C. Fisher, D. D., of Lebanon, will preach the dedicatory sermons both morning and evening. The dedication proper is to be followed with a week of services to complete its consecration to sacred use. The congregation is in a flourishing condition. Rev. J. G. Kerschner is the pastor.

URSINUS 35. RUTGERS 0.

Before a good sized crowd gathered to celebrate "Charter Day," marking the 142nd anniversary of Rutgers College, Ursinus defeated Rutgers last Tuesday at New Brunswick. The day was rather ideal from a football view point, the cool bracing atmosphere and the absence of a hot sun, combined to put life and ginger into all the parts of the game.

The two teams were about evenly matched in weight, and during the first half Rutgers more than held her own with Ursinus, the latter scoring on two flukes. The first touchdown came after four minutes of play, Rutgers, having secured the ball, worked it to Ursinus' 35 yd. line, where an unfortunate fumble occurred, Keyser picking up the ball and running the entire distance of seventy-five yds made a touchdown. The second touchdown occurred from the recovery of a kick by West who ran forty yards for the second score. During the second half Ursinus played the more consistent football gaining ground on all sorts of plays making four touchdowns. During this half Rutgers, weakened by the loss of several of her best men could not hold Ursinus.

Ursinus was treated to a rare exhibition of true sportsmanship which has always characterized the actions of Rutgers. Owing to some unlooked for mishap the regularly appointed officials failed to materialize, and Rutgers generously suggested that the Ursinus coach should officiate. Many other evidences of the fine spirit of Rutgers were manifested before, during and after the game, and the ovation given by the Rutgers team and student-body to Ursinus as they filed into the dining room after the game was one that will ever be remembered by the wearers of the Red and Black.

The game was quickly and cleanly played and absolutely free from any taint of unnecessary roughness. The playing of Borth, Rutgers' left end and the line work Steineke was especially commendable. For Ursinus, the team work in the second half shone prominently. The line up:
