HISTORICAL POLITICAL GROUP

Last Monday evening the members of the Historical-Political Group held the first of their monthly meetings. These meetings proved very popular last year as well as very instructive and entertaining. This being the first meeting of the new year, no program was arranged and the time was given up to discussion on plans for the entire year. Last year each meeting was divided into two parts; first, the regular program; second, social. It was thought best after considerable discussion to make a little change this year and alternate between social meetings and seminar work. This plan will begin with October and the meeting will be entirely social. At this meeting each member of the group is expected to present material for either a college song or a college yell. It is hoped that in this manner some latent talent may be developed and a few new songs or yells added to the rather brief list at present. The election of members to the executive committee resulted in Messrs. Abel, '09, Wagner, '10 and Bentz, '11 being elected. This committee with the President of the Group as chairman arranges the programs for the entire year. After the regular business was over, refreshments were served following which everyone repaired to Zwing Hall where songs and college yells concluded the evening's entertainment.

CO-EDS ENTERTAIN

Wednesday evening the young ladies of Olevian Hall entertained a number of the young men of the college, including some of the new students.

The evening was spent in playing parlor games interspersed with music and the singing of college songs. Light refreshments were served after which the jolly crowd dispersed having spent the evening in a very enjoyable manner.

Y. M. C. A.

The subject last Wednesday evening was "The Harms of the Flesh," Romans 8: 5-13. Kerschner, '09 led the meeting and said in part,—Paul was the right man to exhort the Romans to proper living. Before he received his vision he was a man of evil and followed the inclinations of the flesh. Flesh, as it is used, means carnal desire. As we desire, so are we minded. To have carnal desires is to be carnally minded. When we are serving the flesh we are not fulfilling God's righteous purpose. We are not intended to expend our God-given powers in that way. The powers that God has given to us must be given back to him in willing, obedient service, and not all be hoarded to self, for hoarding is losing.

The moral sense is destroyed by following the lusts of the flesh. A man need not be a murderer or burglar to forget his spiritual self, but it is the small infelicities that dull and destroy the moral sense. Diametrically opposed to the harms of the flesh are the fruits of the spirit. After Paul ceased following his carnal desire he received the fruits of the spirit. There is a reward for the children of God. "For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace."

Rev. E. M. Sando, '04, was married this summer to Miss Poorman, Lebanon, Pa. Rev. I. C. Fisher officiated. He was assisted by Rev. John Lentz, pastor of Pleasantville Reformed Church. Mr. Sando and his wife are located in the charge at Hellam, York Co., Pa.

Prof. Raymond G. Gettell, '04, was elected Professor of History and Economics at Trinity College, Conn. He gives up the chair at Bates College, Maine.

THE GLEE CLUB

The candidates for the Glee Club were given a try-out last Wednesday night. Several new men reported to fill the vacancies caused by the members who graduated last year. The club has an able and energetic leader in Kerschner, '09, and the prospects for the coming season are bright. Mr. Kerschner desires that every one who has any musical ability report at the next meeting. The Glee Club affords excellent training to any one and no student who can sing should fail to try for a position on the club.

A STUDY OF PHYSICAL TRAINING IN THE COLLEGES

It is a conspicuous fact that within the last fifty years our foremost colleges and universities, with few exceptions have been providing for the physical training of their students by the erection of gymnasiums and by assigning the direction of the work in them to some officer especially qualified for the work.

The wisdom of this education is apparent. Many a student is physically defective when he enters the courses of study. Evidences of exaggerated nervous excitability and faulty muscular control are frequently observed. The conditions of college life too favor physical carelessness; the current sets strongly in the direction of mental effort and not enough of the physical.

Student athletics form an important part of the physical training but they are not sufficient. They do not attract the larger, or majority of students as only the stronger or those who have specialties are called upon. This also encourages a certain class to overconfinement.

Athletics develop presence of mind, alertness, physical courage, and self control, but they leave untouched some of the most common physical defects. They are largely lacking in careful supervisions system, gradation, and adaptation to the individual needs. In a word though they yield the recreation and hygienic results of physical training, they are lacking in the corrective.

Amherst College in 1860 was the first in America to establish upon a sound basis of development of physical training, placing at the head of it a thoroughly able instructor Dr. Hooker. He was followed later by Dr. Edw. Hitchcock whose service was a long one and who did so much for the advancement of physical education in colleges. Nearly a score of years had passed this period before Harvard 1879 became second on the list, by appointing Dr. D. A. Sargent assistant professor and instructor of Heminway Gymnasium which had been erected at the cost of more than 100,000 dollars.

Of the colleges for women, Smith, Vassar, Wellesley, Bryn Mawr and Mount Holyoke all have instructors who teach also Hygiene or Physiology or both.

The completion of the Heminway Gymnasium in Cambridge, Mass., in 1879 marked the present era of gymnasium building in American colleges and universities. The example of Harvard was followed by Amherst, Cornell, Johns Hopkins, Bowdoin, Williams, Lehigh and many others. Among a large number added since 1890 are Yale, Wesley, Brown, Rutgers, Collgate, The University of Michigan, Wisconsin and Chicago, Leland Stanford, Smith College and Woman's college of Baltimore, Haverford and Swarthmore Colleges, and the University of Pennsylvania as well as numerous smaller ones.

The cost of the better class of those buildings range from 10,000 to 250,000 dollars. The average building not far from 50,000 dollars. Before the student enters the gymnasium he is generally called upon to submit to a physical test. In some schools this is required whether he goes in the gymnasium or not, in others it is optional or confined to those in actual attendance. The extent and thoroughness of this test depends upon the character of the work and the training of the examiner, but there is general uniformity of method throughout the country.

A few schools like Bowdoin and Leland Stanford allow credit for work done in the gymnasium just as for any course in the laboratory or class room.

Regular attendance during four years of under-graduate work is required at Amherst, Bowdoin, Brown, University of Chicago, Bryn Mawr, Smith, Vassar, and Woman's College of Baltimore. The requirements extend only through the junior year at Mt. Holyoke and the woman's department at

EDITORIAL

Ursinus is experiencing a great revival in athletics. The election of the new president has given a new impetus and new enthusiasm to the college and nowhere is this new spirit showing itself more prominently than in athletics. The college authorities have awakened to the fact that a good athletic team is essential to the welfare of the institution. A training table has been established and the college songs are to be printed for the use of the students. Now it is the opportunity of the student-body to show its appreciation of the steps the Athletic Committee has taken and join hand in hand with them in the endeavor to make this a banner year for Ursinus in Athletics. Coach Watson assumed his duties as physical director under very unfavorable circumstances. But he has proved himself equal to the situation. He has won the confidence of the whole college, and all hopes of glory are centered in him. But in order to put forth a winning team he must have the undivided support of the whole student-body. Students, see to it that you do your share. It is a joy to know that your college has been victorious in athletics, but it is a greater joy to know that you have helped win laurels for your alma mater. If you cannot come out in a suit, at least show that your interests are with the team by your presence on the side-lines. Make use of your lung power and when a good play has been made give the player a good lusty cheer. Come out and give the boys a royal "send off" on Saturday and let us have the satisfaction, whether we win or lose, of knowing that we have done our best.

* * *

A plea has been made to the student-body to write some new college songs. This is an imperative need and we hope that the students will respond. Very few colleges have so small a number of songs as Ursinus. The Campus song has become as familiar to the students as any of the national airs and is sung with as much pride. But in order to put the right vim into the singing we must have songs which can be sung to the popular airs. Most of our football songs are sung to tunes which have lost their popularity long since. Students of literary ability, write some new songs, and send them into the secretary of the Athletic Association as soon as possible so that they may be printed for use.

ZWINGLIAN

The Program on Friday evening was a debate. The question, Resolved, that the State has the Right and Duty to Supervise and Control Primary and Secondary Education, was discussed in an interesting manner by both sides. Messrs. Maeder, '10, Lau, '09, Myers, '09, and Rhodes, '08 argued affirmatively, while Messrs. Yost, '10, Wagner, '10, Abel, '09, and Stamy, '08 defended the negative side. Both the Judges and the House decided in favor of the affirmative side. The Debate was followed by the reading of a well written Review by Lindeman, '10, after which the regular election of officers was held the result of which is as follows: President, Snyder, '08; Vice President, Long, '09; Corresponding Secretary, Miss Stoner, '10; Recording Secretary, Miss Fryling, '09; Chaplain, Myers, '10; Musical Director, Toole, '08; Editor No 1, Wagner, '10; Editor No 2, R. S. Thomas, '10; Janitor, H. K. Thomas, '10; Critic, Rhodes, '08; Treasurer, Quay, '11. After the election, Myers, '09, favored the society by rendering several choice selections from J. Whitcomb Riley.

SCHAFF

The program for Friday evening was general literary in character. It was rendered as follows: Piano Solo, Miss Messinger, '10, "Two Fairy Tales." Encore, "Skylark." Reading, "The Old Man's Motto" Miss Fryer, '10. Vocal Solo, "I Love You, Machere," Fogelman, '10; Encore, "Lucia." Talk, "Labor Union," Koons, '09. Oberlin; the Sophomore year at Wesleyan and the University of Wisconsin, and the Freshman year at Cornell, Williams, Wellesly. Attendance is optional at Yale and Harvard.

When the work is required only for a term or two it is in too many instances unworthy to be called scientific or pedagogic. It is usually a combination of prescribed exercises for the individual and memorized class drills with light apparatus together with optional use of fixed apparatus. It has, to be sure, some corrective and hygienic value while it lasts, but it is likely to grow monotonous and it is dropped before it has accomplished much in the way of genuine training. It can not be too strongly insisted upon that through proper grading of classes; careful selection of teaching material; progression in each lesson, and throughout the series of lessons, skillful adaptation of methods to meet local conditions are of fundamental importance as they are in other phases of educational effort.

THE OLD TESTAMENT PROFESSORSHIP AT MEADVILLE SEMINARY

Rev. Henry Preseved Smith, D.D. has recently been appointed by the trustees of the Meadville Theological School to their professorship of Old Testament Language and Literature and History of Religion. Dr. Smith was born at Troy, O., in 1847. At the age of twenty-two he was graduated from Amherst College, and in 1886 was honored by his Alma Mater with the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity. Meanwhile he had studied theological science in Lane Theological Seminary, and in Germany at Berlin and Leipzig. For sixteen years (1877-1893) he served as professor in Lane Theological Seminary. After this period of service, he returned as professor to his Alma Mater, where he remained until last year. Dr. Smith has received the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity from Maryville College and from the College of New Jersey. He is a member of the following learned Societies: German Oriental Society, American Oriental Society, Society of Biblical Archaeology, American Society of Biblical Literature and Exegesis. The following contributions to the literature of Old Testament research are due to his indefatigable energy and devotion to his chosen field: Inspiration and Inerrancy, The Bible and Islam, A Commentary on the Books of Samuel (International Critical Commentary), Old Testament History (Theological Library).

MARLIN

THE Marlin RIFLE, Model 1892, .32 calibre, is the best rifle made for exterminating pests and torments about a place, as rats, weazels, woodchucks, etc., also for a companion on your vacation trip, combining the good points of the old muzzle-loading squirrel rifle with the convenience and rapid fire of the most improved repeater. It is so constructed that the same rifle uses the following cartridges: .32 short and long rim-fire, .32 short and long center-fire, and is the only repeater made using rim-fire cartridges larger than .22 calibre.

The short cartridges are just the thing for small game while the long ones kill animals of fair size easily. On the first 2000 cartridges used you have saved the cost of a Marlin.

New Marlin Catalog—and our Experience Book that tells what Marlins are doing the world over—Free, for 6c. postage.
