BASE BALL

Two more defeats were added to the list last Saturday, both Rutgers and Seton Hall being victorious after hard fought battles. The morning game with Rutgers required ten innings to decide it, a combination of a base on balls and two errors sending the winning run across the plate. Paiste was in the box for Ursinus, but he was not at his best, while Green held his opponents to four scattered hits.

In the first inning, Paiste reached first on Fisher's error, went to second on Faringer's sacrifice and scored on Snyder's single.

Another run was added in the second. Kerschner hit for three bases and scored on Koerper's out at first.

In the third, Faringer got a base on balls. Snyder was safe on Green's overthrow, Faringer scoring. Snyder scored a minute later on Colyer's long fly to left.

Ursinus made her last run in the fourth inning. Koerper singled, Crunkleton and Mabry sacrificed, and Paist's single scored Koerper. After this Green had Ursinus at his mercy and did not allow another hit.

Rutgers scored three in the second and two in the fifth. The score remained five to five, until Rutgers scored the winning run in the tenth with one man out.

Dr. Bromer of the Theological Seminary addressed the members of the Y. M. C. A., and of The Association of St. Paul in a very inspiring and heartfelt manner on Wednesday evening. He spoke very encouragingly to candidates for the ministry and depicted very vividly the sense of duty which each should feel in the consideration of this vocation. He chose as his text the 18th verse 29th chapter of Proverbs.—“The Inspiring vision.” He based his discourse upon the following three facts: “The inspiring vision in works, the inspiring vision in association and the inspiring vision in religion.”

Dr. Bromer very ably discussed the different points of view that are taken of the ministry, but his view is that the Christian religion is not on the outside of the current of affairs, but it is right in the midst of it. Therefore we need men for the ministry that are not thin blooded, pink faced, and weak, but robust and sturdy.

He concluded his excellent discourse in the following earnest appeal to those having the ministry in view,—“You may say what you please, after all the Christian ministry is the greatest calling among men. It is a great thing to raise the fruits of the earth and feed the nations. It is a great thing to dig out of the mountains the ores, gold, silver and brass to enrich the nations. It is a great thing to legislate and live in the halls of the senate. But after all the office and the life that brings the vision from above and is able to inspire each and every one to brighter religiousness, goodness, and love is the calling to the Christian ministry. It is the greatest calling of the age and I would like to appeal to every young man here to-night in reference to that point.

May God grant that all of us who have that in view may be kept strong, good, and pure in that motive, and may we in the environments of our age in all the various callings of men be steadfast. May we hasten in God's own way, in God's own time his kingdom to come.”

Ross F. Wicks, '96, celebrated the tenth anniversary of his pastorate at the Fourth Reformed church of Dayton, Ohio, on May 13, 1906.

THE FRESHMAN BANQUET

The class of nineteen hundred and nine gave a banquet in honor of the Juniors, Thursday evening, and it proved to be one of the most delightful events of the year. A reception was held in the library from eight to nine, and then all adjourned to the college dining hall where an elaborate menu was served. The table, beautifully decorated with white carnations and ferns, was surrounded by forty-eight persons all intent on enjoying themselves. Every one was in a happy mood and the time passed rapidly. The toasts were witty and exceptionally well given, and the toast-master, Mr. Eli Fry Wismer, introduced each speaker in a pleasing manner. At a late hour the guests departed, after giving the college and the respective class yells. The spirit with which these yells were given showed clearly that the occasion was enjoyed by all. Such events as these promote good fellowship, and undoubtedly the classes of 1907 and 1909 have been united more closely by the Thursday evening banquet.

EDITORIAL

The base ball season of nineteen hundred and six has been a big disappointment to Ursinus. Although we lost some good men by graduation, nevertheless, the prospects seemed fairly bright for a successful team. But without the services of a coach, it has been exceedingly difficult to develop the new material or to correct the faults of the old players. The lack of a coach has been a severe handicap.

The season has been a failure thus far, but it is not finished. We have two more games to play and victories are not impossible. The team had been disorganized by the absence of several men, but it will be in good condition to meet Dickinson on Saturday.

Last fall, the football team closed an unsuccessful season by a glorious victory over Lehigh. Victories over Dickinson and Lehigh in baseball would retrieve the long list of defeats, which we have received this spring. The players may be depended upon to do their best and you should do your part by being present and encouraging them. Do not be discouraged. We can and must defeat Dickinson.

SOCIETY NOTES

ZWINGLIAN

Last Friday evening was the regular evening for debate. The question under consideration was Resolved, That the spelling reform as planned by the Simplified Spelling Board of New York should be adopted. The speakers were:

Affirmative, Messrs. Stoner, '08, Stamets, A, Shunk, '07, and Keasey, '06. Negative, Messrs. Reisner, '07, Lau, '09 and Sponsler '07. The chief arguments follow.

Affirmative.

I. English speaking people want English to become the Universal Language. This cannot be until spelling is reformed.

II. German and French have undergone successful spelling reforms.

III. The reform is favored by the most intellectual of English speaking people.

IV. Some prominent magazines have adopted the spelling reform.

V. Inconsistent spelling of English handicaps children one or two years in school.

VI. All the proposed reforms are thoroughly practical.

VII. Language is in no way injured by reforming the spelling.

The Negative.

I. "Reformed spelling might make the English language universal, but it would cease to be the English language."

II. No general plan could be agreed upon.

III. England would have to adopt the reform as well as America; and England would not do it because she is too conservative and because the movement started in America.

IV. No one likes to be conspicuous by spelling a new way.

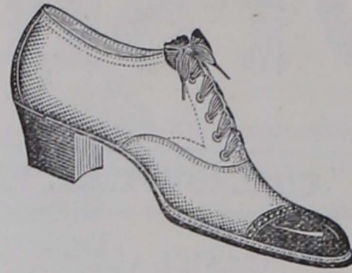

V. The Spelling Reform movement has been on foot for twenty-five years and very little progress has been made.

The judges, Messrs. Moore, '07 and Brown, '07, decided in favor of the Affirmative. The house also carried the vote for the Affirmative. Miss Behney, '06, read an excellent Review.

SCHAFF

The program for Schaff was miscellaneous in character. The program was the result of the efforts of the boys of the society and was well rendered. The first number was a piano solo by Mr. Dotterer, '06, "Doves at Play." An essay, "The Significance of Political Enthusiasm," was read by Mr. Ellis, '07. This essay was full of good thought ably expressed and deserves great credit. Mr. Steward, '07 read a selection on "Sleep" by Charles Lamb which was interesting and well chosen. A male quartette, Messrs. Myers, '07, Wismer, '09, Krusen, '09, Harmon, '06, sang a late production with ability and responded to an encore. Mr. Beck, '09, read an essay, "A Plea for the Boy" which was very original and well composed. It contained many strong arguments in favor of the boys. A declamation, by Mr, Messenger, A, was well enjoyed. Mr. Wolf read, "The Last Speech of William McKinley." Mr. Brown A, favored us with a vocal solo which was excellent and appreciated by all. We find in Mr. Brown a very promising soloist. An essay, "Does the diffusion of knowledge promote immorality" was read by Mr. Heller, '07. The production contained good thought in favor of education. Mr. Fogleman sang and responded to an encore. The male chorus consisting of a number of boys of the Society with Mr. Heller as leader, sang a taking selection and was well applauded. Mr. Smith, '06, read the Schaff Gazette to which all the boys contributed making it an interesting and spicy paper.

The program was an entire success. The essays were excellent and showed preparation and enthusiasm on the part of the boys. The readings were well read and chosen from the best literature. The musical selections were less serious and added variety and enjoyment.

REPORT OF FIELD HOUSE COMMITTEE

Towards the close of the year 1904 a Committee was appointed to solicit contributions and to erect a Field House on the Athletic Field. It now seems proper that those who have contributed toward this project should hear a report from the Committee.

The Committee has endeavored to collect enough money to erect the proposed building but has so far been unsuccessful in raising sufficient funds. The amount of money pledged towards the erection of the Field House was $682.88 of which amount $376.85 has been collected, the expenses of the Committee have amounted to $50.95 leaving a balance of $325.90.

It has seemed advisable to let the matter rest during the present year on account of the demand being made, upon the alumni of the college for other purposes. The Committee however, intends to push matters on the opening of college next fall and with the help of students, alumni and friends hope to erect the building during the coming year.

The money already collected has been deposited in bank and is drawing interest. Should we not see our way clear to erect the Field House next year the money will be returned to the donors.

A meeting was recently held and the following men were elected to fill places on the Committee left

ANNOUNCEMENT

To the Alumni of Ursinus College: The undersigned Committee on Entertainment appointed by the Executive Committee of the Alumni Association, extend a special invitation to all graduates of Ursinus to return to the College and be the guest of the institution during Commencement Week. The institution needs the encouragement of your presence and the benefit of your counsels.

At 5:00 o'clock p. m. on Tuesday, the ALUMNI LUNCHEON will be held. This has been one of the enjoyable features of our commencement in recent years, and we shall endeavor to make it especially attractive this year. A good program of addresses will be arranged.

At 2:00 o'clock p. m. on Wednesday, a general CONFERENCE OF ALUMNI will be held for planning such work as the alumni should perform during the coming year on behalf of the College and the School of Theology. Problems of unusual moment must be taken up at this meeting.

Entertainment, including board and lodging, will be provided for all graduates in the college buildings free of charge. Rooms will be reserved in the order in which applications are received. Send all applications to W. A. Kline, Collegeville, Pa.

Respectfully,
W. A. KLINE,
G. L. OMWAKE,
Committee.
