

A Book of Happiness

A Book of Happiness

A Book of Happiness

"Like your dog in Japan in the city? There in Shanghai, it was much to enjoy. Study you the thought that they had shared from here."

"Will you go to France with me today?"

"I'm sorry for the flower and the beauty."

"It's a pity that all the of walking our steps and all your own a look.
Are you very angry to say 'BYE!'?"

"I hope to see you and the beauty of the world
in a moment of the morning when you are in the city and the beauty of the world."

"I hope to see you and the beauty of the world
in a moment of the morning when you are in the city and the beauty of the world."

Goodbye

"A magic spell: you're going to miss us very much for America!"

"Anyone, see you next Sunday year at the hot pot place!"

"I wonder how I should and how prepared.
Guess I'll just have to say 'BYE!'"

A Book of Happiness

- Chapter 1 Letters and Postcards
- Chapter 2 Today
- Chapter 3 Food
- Chapter 4 Questions
- Chapter 5 Unlabeled
- Chapter 6 Gifts
- Chapter 7 Sentiments
- Chapter 8 Poetry
- Chapter 9 Daily Tidbits
- Chapter 10 Sundry
- Chapter 11 Remember
- Chapter 12 Wishes
- Chapter 13 Goodbye

... for three ... months!!
e."

... my man kept

... old man, his
... the pronunciation
... Excel
... you."

... wind, I saw rain's
... of flowers on the soil
... of things, I heard

... puddles, I heard the
... First the snow came
... and the rain,

... morning, we were
... " "

... of that old girl actually
... she reached the
... of quiet at the dining
... " "

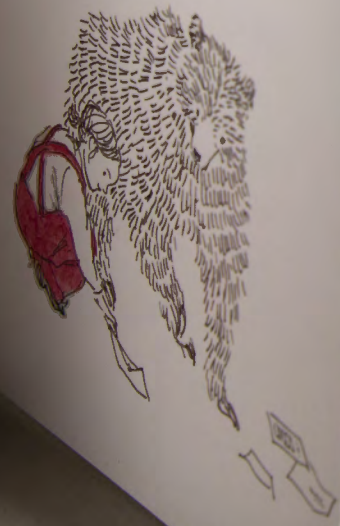

- Chapter 1 --- Leaves and Rain
- Chapter 2 --- Today
- Chapter 3 --- Fun
- Chapter 4 --- Questions
- Chapter 5 --- Unusual
- Chapter 6 --- Gifts
- Chapter 7 --- Sentiments
- Chapter 8 --- Every
- Chapter 9 --- Daily Details
- Chapter 10 --- Evening
- Chapter 11 --- Reminders
- Chapter 12 --- Wishes
- Chapter 13 --- Greetings

"Your hair drifted and wavered for three months before it finally reached me. Three months! It must not have quite as adhesive."

"I only managed a hazy reply (my man kept asking me to go to bed)."

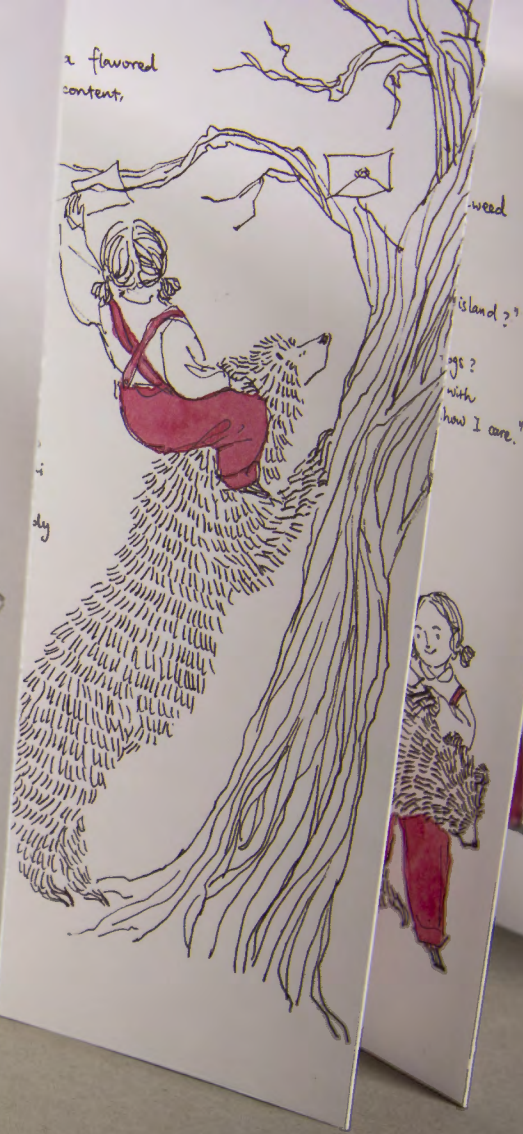

"Our Computer teacher is a lovely old man, his words slow, and doesn't quite know the pronunciation of my name. He is talking about Excel at the moment; I am writing to you."

... from today: Ringing lined today.
... lanterns that swayed in the wind, I saw rain's
... on the ground, I saw corpses of flowers on the soil
... and the meaning of the rain as it fell on things; I heard
... ear of the thunder.
... and birds.
... and splashes as cars drove through puddles, I heard the
... of piano from my earphones.
... chirped. I lifted my umbrella. First the trees came ... view, then the architectures.
... ay, there was the colorless sky, and the rain,
... ing, making sounds. "

a flavored contents

...weed
"Island?"
...age?
...with
...how I care."

"Summer time,
your area?"
... of time on
? Even the week
is given as quiet
...
"morncake?"
... of questions, so I
...ing knots and take s

Dedicated to the authors of this book,
whose words
brought me happiness

Letters and Presents

"So here I am in this old, big house, and I shall be alone when you are here."

"How is my dear little girl? I hope she is growing up as fast as you."

"The little girl is growing up as fast as you."

"So, I am glad to hear that."

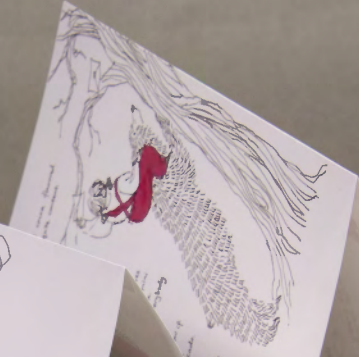

"I've been thinking and wondering for some time how to finally reward me. This month!! It's not too late to give an advance."

"I only managed a long reply (my main hope was that I'd be able to do so)."

"Our Computer teacher is a lovely old man, his name is Mr. Smith. He is really about 60, but at the moment I am writing to you."

"I've been thinking and wondering for some time how to finally reward me. This month!! It's not too late to give an advance."

Gifts

"A bear in a yellow T-shirt for you!"

"Once upon a time, I made this little mouse myself... but I've forgotten how I made it... but masters not, it's purely hand-made anyway!"

"You will find my wishes in those books."

"I couldn't find a box to fit the doll. It's too big. Hope you don't mind."

"I made the flower myself!"

"This is only a stuffed animal, but it is very meaningful. A very kind Santa Claus gave it to me in person, and now I give it to you. I hope you can feel the joy as much as I do."

"They are very heart-warming socks at any rate."

Sentiments

"I cried when I watched Mia sing 'The Falls' with evening chatters and snacks on the little south of the river of no return. When you're going up is a time machine to the past."

"Perhaps the same person would go through and periods in different places. Perhaps not."

Letters and Postcards

"So here I am to share the happiness with you, and it shall be doubled when you see it."

"After a long and difficult journey, my second letter has finally arrived at your letterbox! I wonder what your letterbox looks like."

"This pen has such powerful ink!"

"It's a card for you, bought at Windermere. And I am writing this from a hotel in London."

"Your letter drifted and wandered for three months before it finally reached me. Three months!! It must have had quite an adventure."

"I only managed a hasty reply (my mum kept rushing me to go to bed)."

"Our computer teacher is a lovely old man, his words slow, and doesn't quite know the pronunciation of my name. He is talking about Excel at the moment; I am writing to you."

A Book of Happiness

" I can go to the library, turn on the mushroom-looking lamp, read and work for a while, or I can retreat to my room
and do a bit of laundry."

" I also walk to theatres. I like the theatres around here. The bus operates on a queer schedule,
from 5 a.m.
to 5 p.m..

Last time it was nearly 10 p.m.
when the movie ended.
A night stroll with earphones on carried me off the ground."

Goodbye

"A magic spell: you're going to miss me very much in America!"

"Anyhow, see you next monkey year at the hot pot place!"

"I wonder how I should end this postcard. Guess I'll just have to say 'BYE!' "

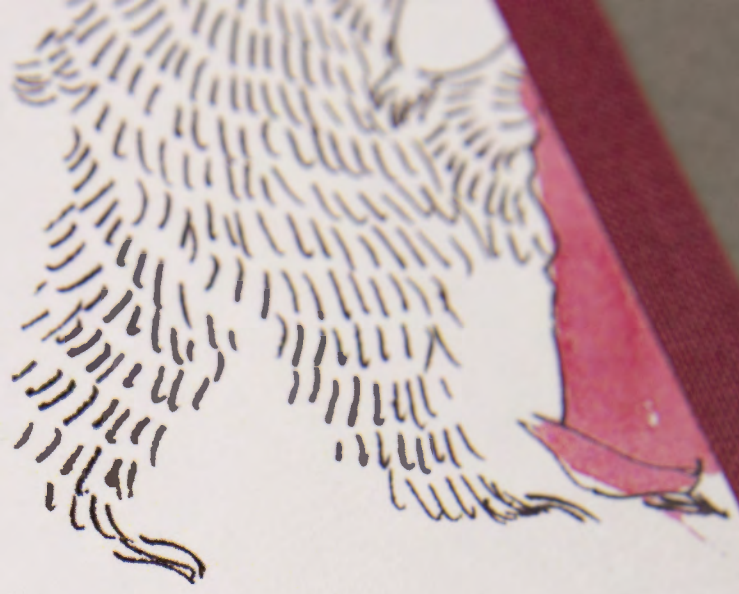

Shuyuan Chen

Spring of 2020

--

This edition is printed and bound February 2021

nd

2
P

