Additional descriptive comments on figurative or decorative portion of the exterior:

~~Fragment is the base of an object w/ 3 "legs". They are arranged in a triangle. Shape w/ the 2 smaller + shorter ones closer to each other... probably the 2 front legs + the back is simply a stand for support. In between the 2 shorter legs is an applied piece of clay that appears to be a tail... but that is doubtful~~

The item is: not eroded - slightly - moderately - very - extremely eroded. Since it is on what is

It has does not have other damage. Describe:

Not drawn drawn. Where? Reverse

Comments: Munsell!

This is believed to be the front of a "bump-billed bird" form, probably a flute or ocarina... but it's not "perfectly" made like a chamber of an ocarina. maybe ocarina; description of "legs" is incorrect.
