My dear Bishop Chase,

I see by the papers that you have come to New York, and it is a great pleasure to me to think I shall see you again, and hear your kind voice once again in this world.

Where shall I find you?

I know every moment of your time must be preoccupied, but I cannot let you go till you renew the blessing that you gave to me & to my children when we were about to depart for Europe.

My eldest daughter and myself are living with Mrs. Dearth, an intimate friend of our excellent & venerable Mr. Griswold. - We dine at two o'cl. and it would delight my heart if you would put yourself into the Fulton ferry boat and steal over to us some day.

(You see, dear Sir, I am apprised of your active habits, or I could not make such a request) or if you will give me one line by post to tell me when & where I may find you, though it be for the shortest interview. -

With great veneration

I am,

Trisht friend & dear Sir

Your affectionate friend
