

Czech
Polar
Reports

December 6th, 2016

Editorial Board of Czech Polar Reports, an international SCOPUS-indexed journal, announces a special issue focused on recent state-of-art in Arctic research that will be published in autumn 2017. The special issue will be composed of full papers submitted by the participants of the Arctic Science Summit Week (ASSW 2017, Prague, April 2017).

The manuscripts should be sent to the ASSW Guest Editor Board or CPR Editorial Office not later than May 30th 2017. The manuscripts will be reviewed by the professionals selected by ASSW Guest Editorial Board and recommended for publication by the end of June 2017. Those manuscripts recommended for publication in CPR will be processed by CPR Editorial Office and published in October 2017.

Czech Polar Reports Editorial Office
Miloš Barták, CPR Editor-in-Chief
Josef Hájek, CPR Executive Editor
Jana Hazdrová, CPR Technical Editor

ASSW Guest Editorial Board
Josef Svoboda, Principal Guest Editor
Josef Elster, Executive Guest Editor

Guidelines for the authors

The manuscripts (full papers) must fit general guidelines of Czech Polar Reports (see <http://www.sci.muni.cz/CPR/>). For the CPR-ASSW special issue, several specific recommendation should be followed:

- (1) The manuscript must have a common structure (Introduction, Material and Methods, Results, Discussion, References).
- (2) Except of References, the length of the manuscript should not exceed 22 thousand characters (including spaces).
- (3) Maximum number of Figures is 4.
- (4) Maximum number of Tables is 2.
- (5) Number of references should be higher than 15 but lower than 40.