

Prize Winners 1998

Introduction

Werner Prize of the New Swiss Chemical Society

1998: Thomas R. Ward

(Contribution in this issue)

The Werner Prize will be awarded to a young Swiss scientist or another young researcher carrying out his functions in Switzerland, for high-quality work in the field of chemistry. Candidates (male or female) can either be from an academic chemistry or industrial background.

Sandmeyer Prize of the New Swiss Chemical Society

1998: – A Team of BACHEM AG:

Jacques Gosteli, Peter Grogg, Monika Mergler, Rolf Nyfeler, Rudolf Tanner

(Contribution in this issue)

– A Team of the Research Center Marly/Fribourg:

Niklaus Bühler, Hans-Peter Haerri, Manfred Hofmann, Christine Irrgang, Andreas Mühlebach, Beat Müller, Friedrich Stockinger

(Contribution in a forthcoming issue)

The Sandmeyer Prize is awarded for outstanding contributions in the field of industrial or applied chemistry, either to a team or individuals. As a rule, the work should have been performed in Switzerland or in a foreign country by a team with participation of Swiss citizens.