PROBLEMS AND CHALLENGES

DA specialists operate in a high-risk, tightly-regulated, zero-defect environment with acute public scrutiny. Decades of research in organizational science caution that such environments, which offer little room for experimentation and put a high price on failure, instill a performance orientation and stifle learning.

This presents a paradox: How do organizations promote effective, deep, and lifelong learning in professional fields where the conditions most supportive of learning are perceived as a risk to ultimate mission?

WHY GAMES ARE IDEAL FOR DEFENSE ACQUISITION EDUCATION AND TRAINING

Features of Gamified Learning Environment	Interaction	Features of DA Operating Environment
Fantasy	Reduces	Objective realities with real consequences in litigious environments.
Challenges/Goals	Reinforces	Complex problems, levels of professional achievement, varied levels of problem difficulties
Representation	Reinforces	Evolving problems in highly variable environments.
Curiosity/Mystery	Reinforces	Heterogeneous requirements that require customer discovery and market research and intelligence gathering.
Feedback	Reinforces	Communications across networks. Interactions with public and private entities. Adverse consequences for poor performance or conflicts of interest.
Rules	Reinforces	Strong regulatory environment tha, in many cases, is based on procedural rules.
Voluntary Participation and Mulligans	Reduces	All decisions have consequences for one or more DA parties (costs, schedule, performance, reputation etc.). DA member roles are constrained by regulatory authorities and agency rules (only the contracting officer may obligate fiscal funds, etc.)

PLAYER EXPERIENCES

Students in game condition seemed to fall more into either 'detractor' or 'promoter' whereas controls had more 'passive' experiences.

Students who played the game stated they would be more likely study outside of class with games.<sup>1</sup>
