By Tina Beis

The University Libraries' on-demand streaming service is crawling with vampires, zombies, suspense and sinister surprises. Throw open the graveyard gates with your UD login and password, cozy up with a pumpkin spice latte and prepare for a scare. Here's just a sampling of low-budget thrills, frightening films and supernatural sagas that lurk in the Kanopy catalog:

This vampire comedy, nominated for Best Horror Film at the Academy of Science Fiction, Fantasy & Horror Films and winner of the People's Choice Award in the Toronto International Film Festival's Midnight Madness Program, features housemates Viago, Deacon, and Vladislav, three vampires trying to get by in modern society, from paying rent and doing housework to trying to get invited into nightclubs. When their 8,000-year-old roommate Petyr turns human hipster Nick into a vampire, the guys must guide him through his newfound eternal life.

Night of the Living Dead\(1968\)

A disparate group of individuals takes refuge in an abandoned house when corpses begin to rise from the graveyard. The pragmatic Ben does his best to control the situation, but when the reanimated bodies surround the house, the other survivors begin to panic.

Lavender\(2016\)

Jane has photographed old and abandoned farmhouses for as long as she can remember. It's a hobby bordering on obsession that has bloomed into a successful career. One day she photographs a particular house ... and everything changes. Jane must weave together scattered strands of memory to solve a mystery hiding 20 years in the past.
