Cleanings From the Club.

If you want to get into a really jolly crowd, come down to the club. We have a Cloud that is seen at sunrise, two Laws that can quote it, a Beeby that is not a buckshot, a Sturm, that is not a stern, for he is never behind, a Biek-astern, for he is never behind, a Biek-er that is not a beaker, an Earl with only a title, a Leighton but not a long ton, a Lahman that has proven his calling, a Tilford that can ferry you over (unless you flunk), a Young and others that would like to be, a Mill(s) that grinds a stock, a Gate-wood unhung, a Hull without a kernel, a Hoxie that is not a county seat, Kerns but no acorns, a terrible Terrill, a gruff Groff, two Johnsons but no daughters, a Shivley that is usually late, a Healy that never kicks, a Weigle that does not wiggle, a mammoth Cave and four smaller ones, a Covalt, an Ottken and a King uncrowned.

Eva Gatewood does not have time to Potter around as she did during last summer's term.

Every once in a while a new face shows up at the club.

Bertha Beamer took her old place for dinner and supper, Saturday.

Inez Frogge visited us last Friday.

Ask Miss Cloud and Miss Covalt how it feels to have the water run in over the back of a boat.

Have you noticed the happy look on the face of the uncrowned King? He probably has his crown in view.

Miss Bertha Beamer a former student, was down Saturday, consulting Mr. Main in regard to the work in Agriculture of which she has charge in the Ellis high school. While here she handed us her subscription for the Leader.

Miss Ella Hoxie is doing substitute work in the fourth and fifth grades of the Hays public school in the absence of Mrs. Kirkman, who is unable to go on with her work on account of the serious illness of her mother.

The old foot bridge so well known to all students who have ever attended the Western Kansas State Normal, is a thing of the past. It has been torn down and a fine new one constructed just above the dam.

The enrollment fee of one dollar which has heretofore been charged at the beginning of each term is now dispensed with and enrollment is absolutely free.

The music class meets immediately after chapel now, in the auditorium. A large per cent. of the students are enrolled in this class, and judging from the volume of melody that issues therefrom they are making excellent progress.

Have you ever tried visiting in the corridors when classes were in session? If you have you know the consequence. If you haven't, inquire of some one who has. Don't try the experiment yourself.

Senior Doings.

Class of 1912 met and elected Mary McCarthy, President; Carry Bullock, Vice-president; Lo Ree Cave, Secretary and Treasurer. As members of Student Council, Adam Haas, Prue Morgan, Lily Moore, Orren Lahwan.

General hour on Wednesday has been reserved for class and society meetings. On all other days, class, society, or other special meetings must be held after school hours.
