Curriss' Future Expected To Be Discussed Again

The question of Murray State University president Dr. Constantine Curriss' future at the university is expected to be taken up again at a reconvened session of the MSU Board of Regents, Saturday, Feb. 21.

The 10-member board held an executive session at its Feb. 7 meeting during which the board assessed Curriss' performance, according to a statement from board chairman Ron Christopher, released last Friday.

Christopher said in the statement that the board considered "itself deadlocked" on whether or not immediate action should be taken concerning Curriss' job.

Informed sources reported that the board was split 5-5 on whether or not to remove Curriss as president of the university.

Christopher said that "some of the board members expressed a desire to take immediate action" during the 2½ hour closed door session Feb. 7.

Curriss, in a press conference Tuesday morning and again last night at a student rally at Oakhurst, was adamant in defending his administration of the university.

"I have done nothing wrong or illegal ... or neglected my job," Curriss told the gathering of approximately 200 students Tuesday.

"I want someone to tell me what it is that I've done," he said.

Curriss had told the news media earlier in the day that he has no plans of resigning as MSU's president. He referred to the move on the part of some of the members of the board to oust him from the job as a "power play."

Curriss pointed out during the press conference that Kentucky law requires evidence of incompetency, neglect or refusal to perform the duties of the job in order to remove a university president. The law also requires the individual named to be provided notice in writing stipulating the nature of the charges.

"The principles of academic freedom and due process have been carefully nurtured for many years, and I hope they will prevail here," Curriss said Tuesday. "If these principles of fair play and due process are denied a president, they can just as easily, perhaps more easily, be denied to faculty and students."

Also slated to be discussed at Saturday's meeting, which will begin at 1 p.m. in the board room in Wells Hall, is a recommendation on where the university will cut $870,000 from its budget as mandated by the state.

Other items listed include:

- A report on the operation of the university's student health services.
- A report on bylaws and organizational changes.
- A discussion of policies on the responsibilities of the university attorney and on access to university records.
- Academic program elimination.
- A report from the president and standing committee reports.

Meetings of the board of regents are open to the general public.

STUDENTS SUPPORT CURRIS — Approximately 200 Murray State University students turned out for a "We Love Deno" rally in support of MSU President Dr. Constantine Curriss Tuesday night. A spokesman for the group, dubbed "Students in Support of Dr. Curriss," said the rally was organized in reaction to recent discussions by the board of regents concerning Curriss' future at Murray State. A petition supporting the president bearing over 1,000 students' signatures, with a pledge that additional petitions were still being circulated, was presented to Curriss during the rally.

1980 Census Shows Population Of County Is 29,995, City Is 14,223

Calloway County's population jumped 8.3 percent in the past 10 years to stand at 29,995 and the population of Murray increased 5 percent for a total of 14,223 in the 1980 preliminary count by the Bureau of the Census of the U.S. Department of Commerce.

According to the preliminary reports of the 1980 Census of Population and Housing for Kentucky, Calloway County gained 2,303 persons since the 1970 census count of 27,692.

The 1980 preliminary number of housing units in Calloway County, which includes both occupied and vacant housing units, was 12,005, an increase of 2,142, or 21.7 percent, over the 9,863 total in 1970.

The city of Murray showed an increase of 686 over the 1970 total of 13,537. The number of housing units for the city increased by 853, or 19.5 percent, from 4,363 in 1970 to 5,216 in 1980.

The city of Hazel increased 8.9 percent in population from 424 in 1970 to 462 in 1980. The number of housing units for Hazel went up 9.5 percent from 188 in 1970 to 206 in 1980.

Other figures in the report showed that the Murray division had a population of 17,383 in 1980 with 6,450 housing units.

The Southwest division of Calloway County had a population of 2,908 in 1980 with 1,166 housing units, while the Kirksey division showed a population of 3,322 with 1,332 housing units in 1980.

The New Concord division showed a 2,957 population with 1,564 housing units, while the Shiloh division had a 1980 population of 3,425 with 1,498 housing units.

The First Congressional District in Kentucky, of which Calloway is a part, shows a 1980 preliminary count of 516,019, an increase of 55,265, or 11.9 percent, over the 1970 count of 460,754.

Housing units in the district numbered 197,211, an increase of 35,071, or 21.6 percent, over the 1970 total of 162,140.

As of April 1, 1980, the population of Kentucky was 3,642,795, according to the preliminary count. This figure represents an increase of 422,084, or 13.1 percent, from the 3,220,711 inhabitants enumerated in the 1970 census.

The preliminary count of housing units in the state as of April 1, 1980, was 1,367,301. This figure represents an increase of 302,475, or 28.4 percent, from the 1,064,826 units counted in the 1970 census.

Charges Against Ex-Salon Owner Have Been Settled

Calloway County attorney Max Parker this morning said that charges against Deward C. "Tripp" Miles, former owner of the Figure World Health Spa, 214 N. 15th St., have been settled.

Miles, 29, was charged in December with several counts of theft stemming from his apparent closing of the exercise salon after taking advance monthly dues from several customers, Parker said.

Since that time, Miles sold the salon under an agreement with the new owners to honor the use of the facility to those people who prepaid their dues, Parker said.

"Everyone who has prepaid for use of the Figure World facility can now get what they paid for by going to the new facility at the same location," Parker said.

"I told Mr. Miles that if he would arrange to in some way honor the commitments that he had made, I would see that these charges were dismissed since the people are now getting what they paid for."

Miles later was charged with four counts of failing to pay his employees' wages, a misdemeanor which carries a

Last Sale Of Dark Air-Cured Tobacco Slated

The last sale for price supports of dark air-cured tobacco will be held in Murray Monday, Feb. 23, according to Holmes Ellis, general manager of the Western Dark Fired Tobacco Growers Association.

Ellis said the sales will be held in the Growers and Farris Loose Leaf Floors. Fire-cured tobacco will be sold following the dark air-cured sales, Ellis said.

Sales also will be held Tuesday, Feb. 24, in Mayfield, Ellis said.

Bogard Files For Re-Election

Tommy Bogard, magistrate in District 1, has filed for re-election, according to county clerk Marvin Harris.

Bogard filed his papers Tuesday. He is being opposed by five candidates — L. W. "Dub" Lyons, Roger D. Hudson, Clyde B. Hale, James R. Hornbuckle and Willis Odell Colson.

Harvey Ellis, candidate for fifth district state representative, has filed his papers in Frankfort. He is opposed by the incumbent, Freed Curd.

Autograph Parties Set For Local Author

Autograph parties for author and Murray State University professor Jean Lorrach will be held Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 25, in the University Center Bookstore and Thursday, March 12, in both Readmore Stores in Paducah.

A science fiction author, Lorrach has had two books published — First Channel, co-authored by Jacqueline Lichtenberg as part of the Sime-Gen series; and Savage Empire.

Both books currently are on sale at the Murray State bookstore. They will be released across the nation "any day now," Lorrach said.

First Channel is the third book of the series concerning Gens and Simes. The first two books, House of Zeor and Unto Zeor Forever, were authored by Lichtenberg.

The book, written in 1978-79, was published in hardback in 1980 by Doubleday Publishing Co.

It is about the earth's future as humanity mutates into two races — Simes and Gens. The Gens generate a life-saving force. The vampiric Simes need that force to survive and the taking of it always ends in death.

Sharon Jarvis, science fiction editor with Playboy Paperbacks, formerly held that position at Doubleday and bought the idea of printing the book in soft cover to the Playboy company, Lorrach said.

Lorrach, who teaches creative writing: science and fiction and fantasy, myths and legends at MSU, added that she has the sequel, Channel's Dynasty, under contract with Doubleday.

Savage Empire, a paperback original, also under contract with Playboy, was written in 1979. Lorrach said she plans two sequels — Dragon Lord of the Savage Empire and Captives of the Savage Empire.

The book concerns about earth after mankind possesses different telepathic powers.

Playboy will print 50,000 copies of each in the first run. Lorrach said she would be satisfied if each sold about 40,000.

She added that good public response to books can ensure getting future books under contract with a publisher.

Holder of a Ph.D. in medieval British literature, Lorrach said that she got the idea to write science fiction because it was her favorite reading material.

She also has authored several science fiction short stories.

In writing novels, Lorrach said she writes a complete draft of a book, sets it aside for a few months, then revises her work.

In working on more than one book at a time, Lorrach said she wrote the rough draft of Savage Empire while revising First Channel. She added that she never starts a new novel before another book's draft is finished.

Also, through several conventions on science fiction writing, Lorrach said she has met several people that she sends copies of manuscripts for comments and suggestions.

In collaborating with Lichtenberg, Lorrach said one of them will write the first draft, the other the second draft and both of them work on the final copy.

Lorrach said, in working with another author, writing "the second draft is easier but the first draft is more satisfying."

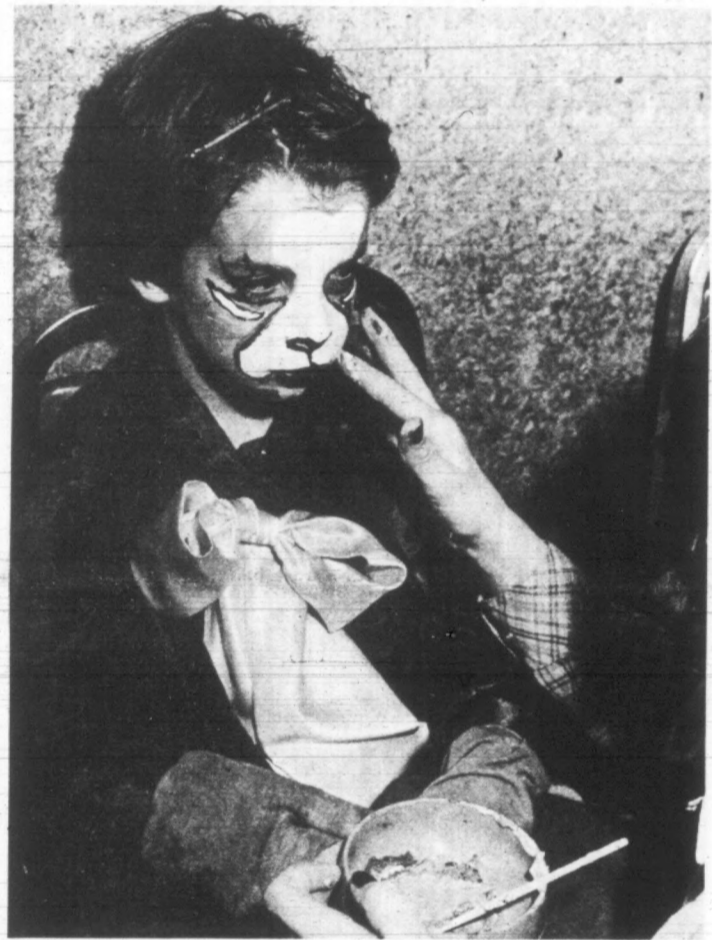

The time to write a book varies due to her teaching schedule. Lorrach devotes part of each day to writing. During school, she writes a few hours a day. Summers allow her to travel and write about six to eight hours each day.

She and Lichtenberg, a New York housewife, get together about four times a year and for several weeks during the summer.

They begin a book by kicking around ideas before each writes a draft.

Lorrach has found another use for her books. They are assigned readings in her creative writing science fiction classes.

"The reaction from students has been good. I think they like to have the author around," Lorrach said.

THE MARCH HARE — Gene Cook gets final touches on his make-up as the March Hare for "The Tea Party Scene," from "Alice In Wonderland." The Community Theatre will give six performances of Lewis Carroll's fantasy Thursday through Sunday. The play will be held in the Calloway County Public Library auditorium. Make-up is done by the Community Theatre's Children's Company. Admission is $3 for adults, $2 for students and $1.50 for senior citizens and children under 12.

Higgins House Will Be Site Of Afterschool Art Workshops

The newly restored Higgins House, also known as the Library Art Annex at 712 Main Street, will be the site of afterschool art workshops for middle school age students.

Four classes sponsored jointly by the Calloway County Library and Murray State University will be held from 3:30 p.m. to 5 each Monday, Wednesday and Friday beginning Feb. 23.

Instruction in sculpture, general arts and crafts, drawing and fiber design will be offered. Any student in grades 5 through 8 may register regardless of previous studio experience.

A materials fee of $10 per student will cover the cost of all materials used in the program.

The classes will be staffed by Murray State University junior and senior art majors under the direction of assistant professor James W. Stickler.

The classes, originally scheduled for Saturdays in the university studios have been rescheduled to encourage wider participation. It is hoped that the after school schedule will permit youngsters with previously committed weekends to attend and that the Main Street location will be convenient for many middle school age students.

Each subject will be offered for 15 sessions through April 3 with a recess the week of March 9-13 when MSU students will be on vacation.

Students should enroll and pursue a single workshop subject in the program. To pre-register or for more information, call Stickler at 762-3784. A limited number of students can be accommodated, and interested students are encouraged to preregister early.

Two shows will be featured. Tickets for the luncheon and style show at 12 noon will be $5, and for the 7:30 p.m. style show and dessert will be $3.

Mrs. Roy Weatherly, event chairman, reported plans were well underway. Tickets will be available March 1 at Peoples Bank, at the downtown offices of the Bank of Murray, or from members of the department. Seating is limited and the tickets will go very quickly, Mrs. Weatherly said.

The Chorus Director, Mrs. Eugene Berrill, said rehearsals are now underway by the group made up exclusively of department members.

Mrs. C. C. Lowry and Mrs. James Rudy Allbritten, food committee chairmen, are planning the menus and soliciting contributions. The department prepares the luncheon and serves it with outside help.

The store coordinator, Rebecca Dublin, is preparing the list of participating stores.

The department uses all monies raised from this event to fund its Sophomore Music Scholarship at Murray State University, the three annual Children's concerts at Murray State University for all grammar school students at both Murray City and Calloway County schools, the high school music contest, support of Civic Music Association, and local groups who request help.

Murray High FHA Chapter Has Meet At The School

The Murray High School Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America met on Monday, Jan. 26, with Carol Beaman, president, presiding. Miss Beaman reminded members to visit their "adopted grandparents" at Westview Nursing Home which is a part of the FHA IMPACT Project.

Lynne Loberger reported on her trip to Louisville where she learned about the Foodarama Program.

A Valentine Day party was planned for Big and Little Sisters. Pictures were taken for the school annual and thank you notes were read.

In addition to the members, the advisors, Mrs. G. T. Lilly and Mrs. A. B. Crass, were present.

BIRTHS

MILLER GIRL

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Miller, North Cross, Ga., are the parents of a baby girl, Sonja Michell, weighing six pounds 14 ounces, measuring 18 1/2 inches, born on Monday, Feb. 16, at the Bekab General Hospital, Decatur, Ga.

The father is employed with Venture Construction Company, and the mother is employed with Southern Bell Telephone Company.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles K. Miller of Murray and Leon Wilkerson of Lynnville. Great grandmothers are Mrs. Frossie Miller and Mrs. Mary Ridings of Murray.

Soaring Eagle

Bill Zimmerman

Bill Zimmerman, a well known Wildlife Artist, will be in Murray during "Eagles Weekend" at the Land Between The Lakes. Since Bill has painted several Eagles, this is an appropriate time for him to visit Murray.

The artist will be the guest of honor at a reception to be given in our gallery in the Dixieland Shopping Center on Saturday, February 21st, from 4 p.m. until 8:30 p.m.

Inspired by Audubon and other American nature artists, William Zimmerman began sketching and painting birds and animals at an early age. After completing study at the Cincinnati Art Academy, he worked as a commercial artist. Later he collaborated with a friend and fellow nature artist, writing and illustrating a field guide to waterfowl of North America which was published in 1966 by Moeluis Publishing Co.

In 1974 came the realization of a seven-year dream. Frame House Gallery published his major book, WATERFOWL OF NORTH AMERICA, a classic collection of forty-two waterfowl depicted an elephant fallo-sized color plates barend in a single volume and accompanied by a learned essay on the origin and habits of each.

Zimmerman's work has been shown in museums and galleries throughout the country. He has been the subject of several magazine articles and his work has been shown in Ducks Unlimited, The Living Bird, a Cornell University Laboratory of Ornithology publication, Birding Magazine, National Wildlife and Audubon.

He is listed in Who's Who in American Art and the Dictionary of International Biography, Vol. XI, Cambridge, England. He has received numerous awards including the P.I.A. Special Judges Award for his Waterfowl book published by Frame House Gallery and the Ducks Unlimited Award of Merit.

Bill's "Soaring Eagle" print will be on sale for $25.00 each. There will be more of his prints available, and Gamma Gamma Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi will be selling a limited number of the artist's print, "The Eagles" for $21.00. Each person who purchases this print will receive a complimentary sketch of a raccoon.

Bill will also present the second print in his series of hand-colored birds, and some of his original paintings will be on display.

At this time Mr. Zimmerman is negotiating with a publishing company to illustrate a book of birds. If he does the book it will take three years to do the paintings. However Bill plans to reserve time during those three years to release at least one of the hand-colored prints per year.

If you met Bill when he was here last October, come by and say "Hello" again. If you did not meet him then, come in and do so on Saturday.

Rainey's Day

By RAINY APPERSON

The Murray Woman's Club is very anxious to carry out its goal for this spring of 1981 "A Dogwood Tree in Every Yard" for the beautification of our city and its surrounding area.

Selling these trees is for the sole purpose of beautification and ecology. It is absolutely non-profit to anyone or any organization. The low cost of $3 per tree has been set because the club is ordering in a lot of 1,000 which gives them a price break. The $3 covers total cost including tax, planting instruction, and delivery to the Murray Woman's Club grounds in March. The pink tree is $7, because it is a harder tree to grow and has to be grafted to bloom pink.

Orders may be phoned or forwarded to any member of the Murray Woman's Club on a pay-before-delivery basis. Using the tree as a memorial to someone is a lovely idea. The general order clerk is Barbara Jewell, 753-6100, or Edith Noffsinger, 753-3197.

Time is of essence in planting the dogwood. It should be planted in March to allow it the best chance to live. Dogwood trees need to be planted shallow, preferably on a slight rise, watered well the first year; but they cannot survive in a low swampy spot or stand in water.

The quality of music in the churches in Murray is probably of the first order for a town this size, and one of the reasons is the music department of Murray State University.

Dr. Ryan

At Annual ACHR Meet

Dr. LaVerne C. Ryan, associate professor in the College of Business, Murray State University, attended the national meeting of the Association of Collegiate Honor Societies, held in Charleston, S.C. Feb. 12 to 15. Dr. Ryan served on the Resolutions Committee.

The annual meeting was represented with delegates from honor societies from all disciplines, including the sciences, humanities, and specialized areas.

Dr. Ryan represented the national business teacher honor society, Pi Omega Pi. She has served on the national council of Pi Omega since 1972, as National Editor, Secretary-Historian, and National Organizer.

At the recent convention in Denver in January, she was re-elected to serve as National Organizer for the next biennium.

Margie (Mrs. Vernon) Shown, MSU product, sang a solo Sunday morning that was truly beautiful. Her voice has such a special and remembered quality.

An admirer of Seiburn White once said, "Seiburn White is to Murray, Kentucky, what William Faulkner is to Oxford, Mississippi. I had a chance to have a "mini" chat with Seiburn, in of all places, the grocery store, and it was a delight.

Seiburn is an authority on fine antique furniture and fine old Oriental rugs. I wish he still had his antique shop here.

Aerobic Dancing is sweeping the country, and wouldn't you know, Murray is also participating. Linda (Mrs. Gary) Haverstock and Cathy (Mrs. Martin) Mattis are teaching a Dancaerobics Class that combines the health benefits of jogging, the toning benefits of exercise and the exhilaration of moving with music. The entire group is enjoying the class.

Vernon Town Has Work Selected, National Group

Vernon Town, assistant professor of art at Murray State University, has had a work selected for entry in a national photography competition.

Jurors of the Pensacola National Photography Exhibition have notified Town of their acceptance of his photograph. The exhibition opens March 9 at the Pensacola Junior College and will remain through March 26, 1981.

Washington Today

An AP News Analysis
By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) — Take your pick: The Committee for America's Future or the Fund for a Democratic Majority. Mondale or Kennedy.

Should either man get where he wants to go, his political action committee will wind up with a letterhead as lustrous as that of Citizens for the Republic.

That's Ronald Reagan's old outfit, and it proudly lists the president of the United States as founder and chairman emeritus.

With presidential campaign spending strictly limited by federal law, potential candidates these days take the first, tentative step toward running by hanging out a shingle with the name of a committee on it.

So former Vice President Walter F. Mondale has set up the Committee for America's Future, and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy is going to establish the Fund for a Democratic Majority.

There will be more committees coming along, identified with other potential entries in the contest for the 1984 Democratic presidential nomination.

Political action committees are organizations created to raise money and spend it in behalf of the candidates of a party or, more often, a cause.

All told, there are more than 2,000 political action committees identified with businesses, labor organizations and other interest groups. Federal campaign finance laws give the multiple candidate committees more leeway than campaign committees created for a single candidate.

They can take contributions of up to $5,000 and donate as much as $5,000 to a candidate for the House or the Senate.

Letters To The Editor

Dim Future For MSU

To the Editor:
The recent action taken by the MSU Board of Regents regarding President Curris represents an alarming display of naivete and ignorance on the part of Board members. Perhaps even more unfortunate was the attempt by board chairman Ron Christopher to explain the board's action; his press release implies that Board members were only "toying" with the idea of firing President Curris.

Putting games aside, anyone who has gone through a high school civics or American history course knows that here in Kentucky, as well as elsewhere, there is something called "due process of the law." In no way was due process followed in the Regents' meeting or action; that alone should cause people to suspect the motives behind the action.

As a taxpayer, and as a faculty member at MSU, I am concerned with the future of the University. At a time when support for higher education in Kentucky is decreasing, every decision made by the regents becomes a crucial one. This is not a time for board members to be looking after their own interests.

Not long ago, President Curris asked the Board to evaluate his performance in office; based on the results of that evaluation, the board extended his contract and gave him a substantial raise. Nothing said or done by the board since that time has suggested that the board had any serious reservations about Dr. Curris' leadership at the University.

By what appears to be a most irresponsible action, the board members have raised serious questions about their own qualifications to lead the university and represent its best interests fully and fairly.

If the recent action is any measure of what we can expect from this board of Regents in the future, then the future of Murray State University is a dim one indeed.

Wriggle-Tail Plot

To The Editor
Classes are being conducted as usual at Murray State this week, with most people blaming the media for causing the flurry at the last board meeting. Successful plots, rebellions and revolutions look so easy and exciting on TV that everybody wants to try one.

But now that this one is over, or at least has gone back under ground, professors can pause in the coffee lounges and invent and pass along rumors about the affair. They might also try to give a title to the political upheaval that began when some board members plotted to fire President Curris after giving him a whopping raise last spring.

The historians are best at this naming activity, and may argue that the event should be called the "Bent-Nose Rebellion," since most of the conspirators evidently had had, at one time or another, their noses put out of joint at a Curris decision, or knew somebody who had, or maybe had heard of somebody who had.

One conspirator, according to rumor, was miffed because Murray State was spending too much money on athletics. Another was outraged because Murray State wasn't spending enough on athletics. There are also rumors about campus politics and local politics playing a big part in the scenario, and that both grunted and disgruntled alumni put pressure on certain board members to do what they did.

The element of politics has become so pervasive in the rumors that some faculty members may argue that the ill-advised, ill-planned, and ill-managed coup should be called the "Wriggle-Tail Plot." That has a better sound to it, I think: The originator here will probably come from the English department, given the literary allusion.

Ambrose Bierce, in his "The Devil's Dictionary," defined a politician as "An eel in the fundamental mud upon which the superstructure of organized society is reared. When he wriggles he mistakes the agitation of his tail for the trembling of the edifice."

It is rumored that the plotters became so excited in their tail wriggling during a conference at Granny's Porch before the board meeting that they forgot all about the serious matter of budget cuts which was to be the board's first order of business. Now, with higher education itself in such thin mud and on such shaky ground because of recent cutbacks in funds, these tail agitators could do some real damage. But however appropriate "The Wriggle-Tail Plot" may be as a title for this conspiracy, it seems to me to lack dignity.

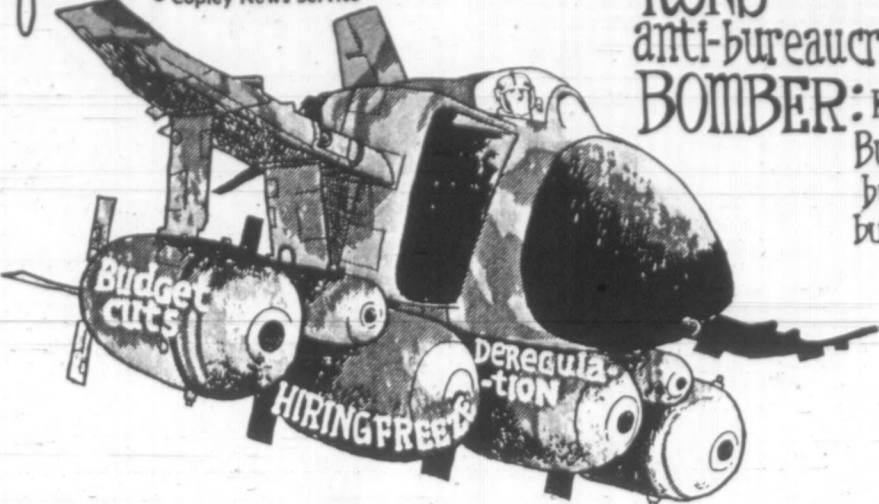

I have tried to think of a better title that might come from my own studies in the literature of the West, since it seems to me there's a strong flavor of the West in this whole thing. Men like Bill Hickock, for example, knew enough to sit against a wall so that Westerners couldn't slip up from behind and shoot them in the back.

Mountain men, stagecoach drivers, and cavalry troops kept a sharp eye out, because a Western ambush was always a possibility. President Curris, as a matter of fact, might learn a bit by studying the West. I thought about the "Hickock Coup," but that sounds like somebody with a bad cold. Maybe just "the Western Conspiracy" will do, even though that title lacks class. BUT SO DID THE CONSPIRACY.

No matter what title is finally settled on, we can rest assured that Murray State University will continue in its business of educating students.

Today In History

By The Associated Press
Today is Wednesday, Feb. 18, the 49th day of 1981. There are 316 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:
On Feb. 18, 1861, Jefferson Davis was sworn in as the president of the Confederacy at Montgomery, Ala.

On this date:
In 1915, during World War I, Germany began a submarine blockade of Britain.
In 1945, the Pacific war battle of Iwo Jima was beginning.

Ten years ago: President Nixon rejected proposals for nationalized health care.

Five years ago: President Ford signed an executive order sharply restricting the power of intelligence agencies to intrude into the private lives of Americans.

One year ago: Canada's Liberal Party scored a major election victory, and Pierre Elliot Trudeau was returned to the prime minister's post.

Today's birthdays: Republican Sen. John Warner of Virginia is 84. Guitarist Andres Segovia is 87.

Thought for today: A man is not old until regrets take the place of dreams — John Barrymore, American actor (1882-1942).

Bible Thought

The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom. — Psalm 111:10.

A wise man would not trifle with atomic power. God's power is infinitely greater, yet millions completely ignore His laws and violate them every day.

The return of our former hostages has made us realize anew the many who have sacrificed much for our freedom. Among these are the Veterans of our community. National Patriotism Week, February 16-22 is a good time for our community to again show appreciation for your service to our country.

You answered your country's call. You served well. Your service to our country is appreciated. You are invited to a dinner in your honor February 27 at 6:00 p.m. Your meal will be purchased by an appreciative, patriotic citizen of our community. Family members are welcomed also with their only cost being the meal.

After the meal the program will include recognition of veterans present and a memorial roll call in honor of persons from Calloway County who gave their life in service to our country. Special recognition will be given Vietnam Veterans.

The place of the dinner and recognition program will be announced.

Veterans, we hope you can attend this special dinner and give our community another opportunity to say "Thank You".

Hunt Pleads Innocent To All Counts Of Indictment

By SY RAMSEY
Associated Press Writer
LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — A plea of innocent has been entered by former state Democratic chairman Howard "Sonny" Hunt Jr. to all 22 counts of a federal indictment alleging that he masterminded an insurance kickback scheme.

Shortly after his plea Tuesday, Hunt posted $1,000 bond and told reporters he would turn in his passport to the U.S. marshal's office as ordered by U.S. District Judge Bernard Moynahan Jr.

James Neal of Nashville, a lawyer for Hunt, indicated that the defense would file a series of motions, including one for dismissal of the case and another asking that the prosecution more precisely explain many of the charges.

Hunt, a Danville native and former state representative, was indicted earlier this month by a special federal grand jury which has spent more than 1½ years investigating allegations of corruption in state government.

According to the indictment, he used his influence as Democratic chairman to direct state business to certain insurance agencies during the administration of former Gov.

Julian Carroll.

The indictment said that in return, the agencies agreed to share their commissions with businesses controlled by Hunt and others, including prominent Democrats and one of Hunt's sons, Alan.

Hunt and his attorneys arrived 45 minutes before the scheduled arraignment. Moynahan recessed another trial early to make time for the arraignment.

That was the trial of state Sen. Woodrow Stamper, D-West Liberty, and Lexington real estate broker Robert Link, who face several counts relating to the state's 1977 purchase of a Powell County resort.

Hunt is also mentioned in the Stamper-Link indictment, with the government contending that he received $16,700 for his influence in the alleged scheme.

Hunt did not comment on his case Tuesday, but Neal said, "I believe the people of Kentucky will do everything in their power to be fair to us."

The prosecution requested the $1,000 bond — which Moynahan commented was certainly "not very heavy" — and then said there was reason to believe Hunt had access to financial resources outside the United States.

In that connection, it asked that Hunt be restricted to travel inside the United States and that he be forced to surrender his passport.

When Neal protested that "that seems to be an unnecessary sort of pretrial function," Moynahan asked, "Are you going anywhere, Mr. Hunt?"

When Hunt replied, "No," the judge said he should turn his passport over to the marshal's office. Hunt said the passport expires next month, anyway.

Neal and James Sanders of Nashville, another lawyer representing Hunt, said they will immediately seek a bill of particulars — a request for precise explanations of charges in the 47-page indictment against Hunt.

Neal said an example of one requiring clarification was a count charging attempted extortion, then completed extortion, and charging that the extortion was carried out under fear of economic loss, and at the same time under color of official right.

Hunt's attorneys also filed a motion asking Hunt be allowed "to waive his right under the Speedy Trial Act to a trial within ... 70 days of his arraignment ..."

The motion, which was accompanied by Hunt's written waiver, said more than 70 days was needed to prepare his defense because of Neal's "busy schedule, publicity about the case and the 'unusual and complex' nature of the prosecution, 'spanning a period of activities in excess of five years."

Moynahan gave the prosecutors until 4 p.m. Friday to file a response to that motion.

He gave Hunt's lawyers until April 10 to file all their pretrial motions — and even more time if they can show cause why.

The trial of Stamper and Link — the first two persons indicted by the special federal grand jury — is expected to last into April.

Neal said he had no idea when the Hunt indictments might come to trial.

Residents By Sewer Explosion In Louisville Begin To File Suits

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Even as the threat of unseen damage from the sewer explosions that ripped through Old Louisville last week remained, residents of the devastated area started filing suit.

Damages totaling $50 million were sought in suits filed Tuesday by eight residents. The defendants are the Ralston Purina Co. and the Metropolitan Sewer District.

The suits were filed in Jefferson Circuit Court and charged that the company and sewer district failed to protect the public from the blasts.

MSD inspectors reported Tuesday they have discovered more streets sagging after underground water from broken mains eroded the sand base under the sewers.

One new crater also has been discovered in the area where the explosions, allegedly fueled by the solvent hexane, caused an estimated $12 million damage to streets, sewers and homes.

"When the sand filters out, there's nothing to hold the street up," said MSD inspector Clark Jackson.

Later, 13 miles of streets were designated potential problem areas. They will be watched for suspicious sags, cracks or bulges.

In Washington, Sen. Walter Dee Huddleston, D-Ky., urged President Reagan to "move quickly on a request for a disaster declaration expected to be made by Gov. John Y. Brown Jr.

Brown's press secretary, Frank Ashley, said the request probably would be forwarded to the president today.

Huddleston, in his telegram, said speed was essential because of the "imminent health threat caused by the destroyed portion of the sewer system."

"The Red Cross closed its temporary shelter for evacuees, explaining that 30 families had been quartered in public housing units and 70 others had moved in with relatives and friends.

Rodney Raby, a field supervisor for the state fire marshal's office, said a faulty catalytic converter on an automobile apparently triggered the blasts in the sewers.

Raby said the faulty exhaust system on a 1977 Chevrolet "is the only thing we could figure that could have set that off. The ignition, we think, had to occur above street level."

The car was being driven by Elsie Fisher shortly after 5 a.m. Friday. Fumes from a spill of the highly volatile chemical hexane had built up inside a concrete-side railroad tunnel on Hill Street, Raby said, and a spark from the car's catalytic converter apparently triggered an explosion.

By IRA G. CORN JR.
UNITED Feature Syndicate

"Bravery is being the only one who knows you're afraid." -- Franklin P. Jones.

Bravery has little to do with choosing the right lead in defense of today's doubled contract. If West leads the "normal" king of hearts, declarer scampers home. If West leads a trump, the defenders get the plus score. West's takedown double is converted to a penalty double by East because of East's fine trump holding. A good decision, but only if West chooses the right opening lead.

For example, if West leads the heart king, dummy wins and declarer ruffs a low heart. Next comes the ace and another spade and the defenders lead a belated trump. Declarer wins, ruffs a spade in dummy and ruffs another heart low.

In all, declarer takes the spade ace and a ruff, the heart ace and two ruffs and his two high trumps -- making one diamond doubled.

When East passes one diamond doubled for penalties, he announces a strong trump holding and, in essence, East is trying to make one diamond (seven tricks). What would East do as declarer? He would try to draw trumps first. Ergo, a trump lead by West.

South wins the trump and leads to dummy's heart ace and ruffs a heart. The ace and another spade come next and East wins and leads another trump. That eliminates a spade ruff in dummy and declarer is locked in his hand.

Opening lead: Diamond seven

East wins the lead as soon as he can and cashes two high trumps to prevent any more heart ruffs. Declarer is held to the heart ace and one ruff, the spade ace and the two high trumps.

Down two instead of making one, all because of a thoughtful opening lead.

Your Individual Horoscope

Frances Drake

FOR THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 19, 1981

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth sign.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19)

Be content with modest gains on the job. Distant contacts are helpful. You may feel inward resentment towards a co-worker.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20)

Creative work should go well. In your social circle, you may have a run-in with an argumentative type. Try to avoid discord.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20)

Your family may want you to spend more time with them. Frankly, you're better off enjoying leisure activities than pursuing career aims.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22)

Get in touch with distant relatives, but avoid disputes with in-laws. Don't over-react to the idiosyncrasies of others. Remain calm.

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 22)

Though you'll have some favorable financial news, you still could argue with a close tie about money. Try to be cooperative.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22)

It's a good time to buy yourself a gift. A close tie may be feeling independent. Don't complain. Let others enjoy being free.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)

You're better off keeping plans to yourself now. Others may not be receptive to your ideas. Avoid arguments with co-workers.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)

One-to-one meetings are favored over group activities.

A loved one may want to attend a party, but you may not be in the mood.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)

Friends are helpful to you, careerwise. A domestic problem may cause you to change your plans. Don't argue with family members.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19)

Business trips are favored. Distant contacts will prove helpful now, but don't make hasty travel plans. Watch ideological disputes.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18)

Students should seek financial aid now. If good fortune comes your way, don't argue with others over what to do with the money.

PISCES (Feb. 19 to Mar. 20)

Though close ties are cooperative when it comes to financial matters, you still could get in a row over other unsolved issues.

YOU BORN TODAY are more independent than the typical member of your sign.

You're versatile and do well in positions of authority. You have a good business head and will succeed in large enterprises. Politics, the arts and professions are other areas in which you'll find happiness.

Music, acting and writing may especially appeal to you. Don't magnify small worries into big problems, or you'll sap your creative energy. You need an intellectual outlet in your profession. Birthdate of:

Carson McCullers, writer; Lee Marvin, actor; and Stan Kenton, band leader.

Lakers Win Fifth Consecutive Game, Raise Record To 9-12

Calloway Bench Helps Tame Wingo, 70-65

By STEVE BECKER
Sports Writer
All season, Calloway County head coach Chic Nute has believed in playing his full roster.

losing by 25 points, as they did a few times earlier this year, or whether they were winning by a basket, Nute has never been afraid to go with his substitutes. That strategy has begun to pay off as the Laker coach made extensive use of his bench last night to tame Wingo, 70-65.

The win was the fifth in succession for the Lakers as they lifted their season mark to 9-12. "(Don) Hargrove, (Ricky) Houston and (Craig) Darnell came in and did a fine job when we got in foul trouble," Nute said. "They helped us out in a spot where we needed it. We had to go with some people from our bench and they came through for us."

The bench became needed when Keith Lovett and Jeff Garrison exited the heated contest in the first quarter with three fouls apiece, allowing Wingo to build an 18-13 lead by the end of the quarter.

"The last foul against Lovett (his third) was a joke," Nute said as he shook his head. "He came down with the ball and the other kid grabbed a hold, but they called the foul on him (Lovett)."

"Brad Miller got clobbered a few times and there were no calls at all." With Nute forced to start a lineup consisting mostly of substitutes, and the style of the game favoring Wingo as it turned into a shoving match, it appeared that the Lakers were in danger of being blown out.

That was when Darnell, along with Houston and Hargrove, entered the fray with the hope of preventing a total Indian rout.

When they left the floor at the intermission, they had staked Calloway to a 36-33 advantage.

Darnell threw in 12 of his 14 points during the second quarter to lead the Lakers.

Marty McCuiston added seven points as the makeshift Calloway lineup completely surprised Wingo.

"Our depth definitely made the difference," Nute said. "It was very hot and humid on the floor, and we got into foul trouble, but our bench bailed us out."

Foul problems continued to haunt the Lakers throughout the game. Nute was forced to use his four-corner stall when, with three starters on the bench, Wingo pulled to within 44-43 at the 4:04 mark of the third period.

Running the stall to perfection, the Lakers played catch while the third quarter ticked away. When Calloway finally turned the ball over, there were two seconds left in the period.

Western Undergoing Rejuvenation For OVC

It's time to take notice of a rejuvenation in the Ohio Valley Conference.

When Western Kentucky can pound a team as well-coached and prepared as Murray State was for this past Saturday's clash, with the regular season conference title on the line for Western, the Hilltoppers are not just another dominant OVC team.

Perhaps Western is still a year away, but the team that coach Clem Haskins is assembling is taking aim on staying with the powers of the other major conferences in the country.

A February 28 rendezvous with Louisville in Freedom Hall opens just enough of a crack for Western and the OVC to slip into and pull a major coup in Haskins' first season.

There is no question that Western is deserving of more consideration for the Top Twenty with its 17-5 overall record, but the main reason for the voters still scoffing is the Hilltoppers' 6-4 record outside the conference.

The team that went 6-4 was still in the infant stage of replacing four lost starters while dealing with injuries and suspensions. Nevertheless, Western was slowly, but surely, working to incorporate more and more depth through its lineup.

The depth charge began with reserve forward Percy White rallying behind Tony Wilson early in the season as he showed more flexibility with his lighter frame, and it reached a new height when Western defeated Murray with no player scoring over 12 points.

So, after all these years of the OVC's struggling to regain its tarnished reputation, those glory days of Jim McDaniel, and even of Haskins, do not seem so far away now that Craig McCormick is becoming the overpowering center that Western was expecting before the season started.

Meanwhile, the Racers are not likely to be rolling over and watching it all happen. The 66-44 beating they took Saturday was another part of the process of bringing along their young players.

Among the lessons they had to have learned was that neither Western nor any other balanced team in the league, such as Middle Tennessee or Austin Peay or Eastern Kentucky, can be allowed to take an early lead and control a game thereafter.

The Hilltoppers did just that, despite Murray's floor-crashing, diving efforts to keep the game respectable. Several moments of hustle by the Racers brought the MSU bench and coach Ron Greene to their feet, even though Western was naming the score.

That was one time this year when Greene could not worry what the score was or would be — all he could do was make sure his team left Diddle Arena realizing there would be another opportunity.

That time could come in the OVC tournament, but one thing is certain — Racer guard Lamont Slets is going to need some more help along the way.

After being given the green light to shoot whenever he is open from 15-to-20 feet, and even farther out on occasions, Slets is finding more and more defenses collapsing on him.

The tactic has worked as it has not allowed Slets enough time to get his sights set on his target. Although he never did need much time before the Western game, the Hilltoppers trimmed another shade off his jumpers.

A promising part of the WKU game was MSU center Michael Bates' taking the ball for the turnaround shots in the lane and on the baseline for 10 points, his highest total of the season.

Greene has said repeatedly that if he can get all five of his players, who have each had shining games this season, to play well on the same night, his team can play with anybody, even a team as improved as Western.

Sloan Still Has Nauseous Feeling About UK Game

By FRED GOODALL
AP Sports Writer

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Florida Coach Norm Sloan says he still gets a "nauseous feeling" when he thinks about the Gators' trip to Lexington, Ky., a month ago, where they found Kentucky's Wildcats literally breathing fire.

Coach Joe B. Hall's crew was coming off consecutive losses to Alabama and Louisiana State and were ready to pounce on the first thing that came to town.

Much to Sloan's chagrin, it was his Gators. And the result was an embarrassing 102-48 loss, the worst in school history.

The Gators have a return engagement with the 10th-ranked Wildcats tonight in the O'Connell Center.

"We didn't play that poorly. Anybody that had gone in there at that time was in trouble. Because they had a cause," Sloan said recalling the 54-point pounding the Gators absorbed. "They were probably after themselves after being embarrassed down at LSU — and that's how they looked at it. They just came out there smoking."

"Their adrenalin was pumping and they do have a very talented team. I don't want to put anybody on the spot, Joe Hall or anyone else, but I don't know of another team in the country that has more basketball talent than they have," Sloan added. "And when they get it going, it's just like standing out there in the middle of a railroad track and trying to stop a runaway train. There's no way. It's just going to run over you."

Sloan's troops — six freshmen, one walk-on in his first year, one senior and one junior — were surely devastated. But the coach gives them a lot of credit for being able to regroup quickly and upset Alabama three days later.

What was his approach in the days following the humiliating defeat? And how do you rebuild the confidence of such a young club?

"After a game like that ... I didn't know what to do. That had never happened to me before as a player or as a coach," said Sloan. "I've been involved in some games where we were soundly defeated, but never just blown away like that."

"It was a shock for all of us. I still get a little nauseous feeling when I think about the game right now," Sloan said.

"What we did we just came back, tried to relax and not get too disheartened."

Since then, the Gators have won only two of eight games and stand 10-12 overall, 4-10 in the Southeastern Conference. Kentucky, meanwhile, comes in 18-4, 11-3 in the SEC.

Schmidt Suspends Two Vandy Players

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Vanderbilt Coach Richard Schmidt, who suspended two basketball players for criticizing his decision to bench them, says his team will have discipline, even if it means losing every game.

Schmidt said Tuesday that the team's leading scorer, senior Charles Davis, and sophomore Jimmy Gray would miss tonight's home game against Mississippi and Saturday's game at Kentucky.

He considered dropping Davis from the team, Schmidt said, but decided to suspend him instead.

"He's had a good career here," Schmidt said. "He has only five or six games left and I wouldn't want him to end his time here on a bad note."

"We're going to have discipline even if it means we lose every basketball game...until we finally get all our people going in the same direction.

"We're putting team first and self second," Schmidt told a reporter.

The coach benched Davis and Gray for last Saturday's game at Tennessee after the Commodores had lost four straight games and seven of their last eight — including a 69-55 defeat at the hands of Auburn, which is tied with Mississippi State at the bottom of the Southeastern Conference.

Davis, who had not been benched for an entire game during his career before Vanderbilt's 79-72 loss to Tennessee at Knoxville, said he will return on Monday.

"Monday I'll be back, and there will be no gripes between me and the coaches," he said. "I have nothing against the team or the coaches. I don't think I'll be a starter when I come back. I'll probably have to work my way up from the 13th or 14th player."

"I expected what I got. He's the coach, and he runs the team."

Gray said he expected worse treatment. "I thought he'd kick me off the team because I've been in the doghouse so much," he said. "I had expected more than what I got. I'm going to come back and do what I'm supposed to do. I don't want to go out a quitter."

Davis, averaging 14.9 points a game, has 1,638 points, or 53 shy of tying Clyde Lee's career scoring record at Vanderbilt. Gray is averaging 8.9 points a game.

Vanderbilt, 11-11 overall, is 5-9 in the SEC.

Bryant Stakes San Diego To Early Lead With 10 First Quarter Points

Clippers Don't Miss Walton For A Change In 128-95 Rout Of Bulls

By The Associated Press
For a change, the San Diego Clippers didn't miss Bill Walton.

With Joe Bryant scoring 10 of his 22 points in the first quarter, the Clippers grabbed a big early lead and went on to rout the Chicago Bulls 128-95 Tuesday night. The Clippers not only snapped a four-game losing streak, but the 128 points was their largest output of the season and the 33-point victory margin was the biggest since the team moved west from Buffalo prior to the 1978-79 campaign.

"We don't get too many like this. They're kind of nice to have," said Coach Paul Silas.

In other National Basketball Association action, the Boston Celtics snapped the San Antonio Spurs' record 17-game home winning streak 128-116, the Los Angeles Lakers ended the New York Knicks' eight-game winning streak 96-87, the Phoenix Suns downed the Golden State Warriors 118-109, the Milwaukee Bucks handed the Dallas Mavericks their 14th consecutive setback 114-106, the Seattle SuperSonics edged the Utah Jazz 101-98, the Portland Trail Blazers rallied to beat the Washington Bullets 124-104 and the Cleveland Cavaliers nipped the Detroit Pistons 109-108.

San Diego led Chicago all the way, scoring the first eight points and taking a 30-10 advantage after just 10½ minutes. Phil Smith also scored 22 points for the Clippers.

Artis Gilmore led the Bulls with 16, but the 7-foot-2 center had only three rebounds.

Celtics 128, Spurs 116

Robert Parish scored a season-high 40 points and Boston staved off a fourth-quarter San Antonio rally.

Larry Bird added 25 points for the Celtics, including a three-pointer with 36 seconds remaining after the Spurs had erased most of a 16-point deficit. Boston's fastbreaking offensive show offset a season-high 49-point spree by San Antonio's George Gervin.

Lakers 96, Knicks 87

Kareem Abdul-Jabbar scored 28 points and Jamaal Wilkes added 25 as Los Angeles won for the 15th time in its last 18 games. The Lakers, who led by four at halftime, outscored New York 13-4 to start the second half and open a comfortable lead. Michael Ray Richardson paced the Knicks with 27 points.

Suns 118, Warriors 109

Dennis Johnson scored 10 points in the final 4½ minutes and Alvan Adams added four in the final minute to help Phoenix hold off Golden State. Johnson came alive in the second half to finish with 23 points and Adams had 21. The Suns held a 62-46 lead at the half, on the strength of 19 points by Truck Robinson, who led Phoenix with 29 points, the same number as Golden State's Bernard King.

Bucks 114, Mavericks 106

Marques Johnson scored 20 points to lead seven Milwaukee players in double figures. The Bucks extended their Central Division lead to 10 games over idle Indiana. Johnson, Quinn Buckner and Sidney Moncrief combined for 12 consecutive points midway through the third quarter to salt the game away.

SuperSonics 101, Jazz 98

James Bailey scored 27 points for Seattle and Jack Sikma added 21, including the last seven of the game. Fred Brown came off the bench to score 14 points in the final quarter as the Sonics broke open what had been a tight game. Adrian Dantley led the losers with 33 and Darrell Griffith added 24.

Trail Blazers 124, Bullets 104

Guards Kelvin Ransey and Jim Paxson combined for 30 second-half points as Portland overcame a 14-point deficit. The Trail Blazers went ahead 82-79 as Paxson and Ransey scored 18 of their 31 points in the third quarter. Ransey finished with 24 points, Paxson 20 and Mychal Thompson 21 for Portland. Kevin Porter scored 27 points for Washington.

BEATING THE DEFENSE TO THE BASELINE — Calloway County guard Dan Key (23) led the Lakers to its 70-65 win over Wingo, hitting all 11 of his free throws.

Laker Bench Helps Tame Wingo, 70-65

"We wanted to slow things down to stop their fast break and because we had players in foul trouble," Nute explained. "We also tried to draw them out of their zone."

"When they wouldn't come out, it made it easier for us. Even though we didn't get a shot off, it hurt them because they didn't touch the ball for a long time."

Leaving their turtle's pace of the third period, the Lakers hit the first 12 points of the final quarter to enjoy a 56-43 lead.

"We came out of our stall in the fourth," Nute said, "and they were still waiting for it. We took a gamble there and it paid off."

Turning ice cold due after vacation from the ball, Wingo missed his first seven shots of the fourth quarter.

"When you don't touch the ball for five minutes," Nute said, "it stands to reason that it will take your touch away."

The game was far from in the bank for Calloway, however.

The Indians began to use their superior wrestling skills to connect for baskets inside the Laker zone. With Lovett and Garrison both fouling out, Wingo managed to trim the Calloway lead to 62-58 with 1:33 left in the game.

"We got afraid to foul them at the end," Nute said. "We didn't want to take the fouls because of some of the earlier calls. That allowed them to go in for two-foot shots."

Dan Key hit the next six Laker points, including four straight free throws, to preserve the win. Key hit a perfect 11 of 11 from the line in the contest and has now connected on 23 straight free throws over the past three games.

Key led the winners in scoring with 19 points. Despite their limited playing time, Garrison and Lovett contributed 12 and eight points, respectively.

Calloway County 13 23 8 26 — 70

Wingo 18 15 10 22 — 65

The Calloway County junior varsity held off a scrappy Wingo club to post its 10th win in 17 outings, 35-33.

The Lakers took a slim 20-17 halftime edge and made it stand over the final two periods.

Jeff Butterworth, who exited the contest with an elbow injury in the second half, led the squad with 11 points. Darnell Tharpe added nine points and Bryan Tebbetts seven.

Calloway County (35) — Jeff Butterworth 5 1-3 11; Rob Anderson 1 2-2 4; Bryan Tebbetts 3 1-7; Barry Alberton 2 0-4; Don Hargrove 1 0-4 2; Darnell 2 5-9 9; Monty Ray 0 2-2 14 11-21 35.

Wingo (33) — Graves 4 3-6 11; Adair 2 1-2 5; Puckett 1 2-4 4; Duke 2 2-2 6; Raley 0 1-2 1; Guthrie 1 0-0 2; Jones 2 0-0 4 12 9-16 33.

PERSONALITIES

By MARJORIE M. MAJOR

While many of us are still bogged down in winter chores such as cleaning drawers and closets, Phyllis and Mike Miller are poring over seed catalogs. They, along with their sons Alan and David, are Organic Gardeners. Mike will teach a non-credit course in the subject beginning February 17 as part of the Life and Learning Program at MSU.

When most of us speak of "our garden" we refer to a backyard plot but the Miller's garden is BIG - about an acre which includes three areas. First is the annual or permanent patch where garlic, oregano, asparagus, sage, parsley and horseradish are grown. In another area are many strawberry plants. In the vegetable garden tomatoes, green peppers, cucumbers, squash, lettuce, green onions, peas and beans will be growing.

Since 1971, the Millers have lived on a 14 acre farm on Route 464 between Almo Heights and Kirksey. I visited this farm and the Miller's comfortable "brown house with yellow shutters" whose kitchen has an enormous freezer as well as a black cast iron wood stove. This is country living at its best.

WHAT IS ORGANIC GARDENING?

Well, this is Phyllis' definition. Organic Gardening calls for the maintenance of soil fertility and texture by replenishing the soil with its own materials and decomposable matter. Live soil is composed of rocks and humus which is a black or brown organic substance consisting of wholly decayed vegetable matter that provides nutrients for plants and increases the ability of the soil to retain water.

What are the sources of organic soil builders? Manure from animals contain the three vital substances of nitrogen, phosphorous and potassium. Legumes such as peas, beans and alfalfa are good sources of nitrogen, blood meal is high in nitrogen and bone meal has a high phosphorous content. Other soil builders are leaves and grass clippings, wood ashes, hulls and shells, sawdust, hair, seaweed, earthworms and kitchen garbage which contains no fats or sweets which would attract ants and animals. Peat moss aerates the soil but has no nutrients. Mulches of straw, rotted hay, newspapers or rocks, leaves or grass clippings are used to keep the ground cool but should not be applied until the ground warms in the spring.

How is a novice to know what and when and how to plant? Simply plant the vegetables your family likes. Seed catalogs will tell you how and when to plant but select a plot with morning sun and good drainage. Try to select disease-resistant plants which will aid in the control of insects and disease. Some of the predators are lady bugs, praying mantis, garden spiders, birds and wasps. To discourage bugs and insects, try "companion planting" such as beans next to marigolds and nasturtiums beside roses and remember that bugs do not like tobacco or red pepper.

HOBBIES

Is Organic Gardening a Miller family tradition? Not really although Phyllis grew up on a 130 acre farm near Somerset, KY, she accepted farming as her way of life but it held not consuming interest for her. She graduated from Berea College, Berea, KY and after graduation she obtained a position as Buyer of Ladies Wear for Rike-Kumler Department Store in Dayton, OHIO. It was in Dayton that she met her husband who was then a physicist at Monsanto Chemical Co. Since then, he has changed career direction as he has gotten his PhD in English at University of Kentucky and now teaches that subject at MSU.

The Millers raise wheat and corn for their animals which include two steers and two pigs for butchering as well as about 100 chickens raised from baby chicks which they buy. The farm is an every-day learning experience for their sons, Alan who is a sophomore at Calloway County High School and David who is a 6th grader.

Last year, as a 9th grader at North Calloway Elementary School, Alan won First Place in the Science Fair with his project on Organic Control of Insect Pests of Calloway County. He is currently working on a project regarding obtaining energy from trees.

In spring, summer and fall, Phyllis' time is pretty well taken up tending the garden, freezing and preserving its produce. However, in winter there is time for handwork - embroidery and quilt making. She has peiced quilts of three designs - Flower Garden, Shoo Fly and Pin Wheel.

It is a joy to find well-educated people devoted to "the soil" and caring for it in such a way as to get the highest possible yield. It seems certain their sons will carry on their family tradition.

Julia Heil, a senior at Murray State University from Millstadt, Ill., will present a piano recital at 2 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 22 in the Recital Hall Annex of the Doyle Fine Arts Complex.

Ms. Heil will be assisted by Alison Dobroth, bassoonist, from Belleville, Ill., who will perform an unaccompanied work for bassoon by Osborne.

Marie Taylor, associate professor of Music at Murray State, will assist Ms. Heil in performing Rachmaninoff's Rhapsody on a Theme of Paganini for piano and orchestra. Mrs. Taylor will perform the orchestra reduction on a second piano.

Miss Heil is the daughter of Mrs. Janet Heil of 617 West Oak, Millstadt, and Bill Heil, 375 Charabanc, Wheeling, Ill. She is majoring in music education at Murray State.

A member of the student chapter of the Kentucky Music Teachers Association, she serves as chapter president. She also is on the executive board of Sigma Alpha Iota women's music fraternity and is secretary of the student chapter of Music Educators National Conference.

In addition, she is a member of Alpha Chi, Alpha Lambda Delta, Who's Who and has been active in summer productions of Twilight Cabaret at Kentucky Dam Village State Resort Park as piano accompanist.

The concert is open to the public, free of charge. A reception will follow in the fraternity room of Sigma Alpha Iota.

'Campus Lights' Mixes Songs, Story, Sketches

By Helen H. Roulston
Dept. of English

The latest Murray State University production of Campus Lights is now brightening up the capacious boards at Lovett Auditorium. Ably directed by MSU student Brad Price, the 1981 Campus Lights is based on a clever, original book in which songs, sketches, and story are effectively integrated.

Last summer, MSU students Greg Duncan, Laurie Small, and Cynthia Turnbow commenced their collaboration on the classy script. A bunch of college students bored by their routine summer job of sewing blue jeans at a factory decide to put clever sayings of Shakespeare (and other writers) on the sales tags of their jeans. What these students do not anticipate is that some customers — are going to take these sayings seriously as instructions to be acted upon. The humorous results — both good and bad — provide accurate insights into human nature.

To help spare MSU's beleaguered budget and to nurture students' creative talent, the cast and crew avoided paying high royalties for songs already in print by writing their own. This critic applauds both the idea and the results. A wide variety of attractive songs — ranging from a parody of Renaissance music to Broadway type show tunes — effectively enhance the production.

Director Brad Price — along with the music conductor — Cindy Noffsinger — has really worked to integrate into an ensemble a wide variety of varied talents, both musical and thespian. Unfortunately, the limited scope of this critique does not allow its writer to wax eloquent on all the performers in this production.

Special mention, however, must be made of Randall Johnson (MSU's answer to Zero Mostel) for his delicious delineation of Pierre, the connivingly charming and scrupulously unscrupulous owner of the New York boutique that markets the jeans with the "Loaded" labels.

Manipulating his gullible lady customers (well-played and sung by Mary Beth Price and Phyllis Love), he turns off and on at will his fake French accent and equally phony charm. In contrast, as the redneck "good ol' boy," who inflicts his preference for hillbilly music upon an owner of a nightclub and his girl friend (ably performed by Jay Fern and Terry Lyle), Stuart Bivin is the ebullient embodiment of the pure country "ham." Randy Root, owner of the jeans factory, and Hal Blazer, the roving reporter, complement the many other fine performances.

Director Price choreographed his colorfully costumed characters to take maximum advantage of the stylish split-set designed by himself and Russell Grimes.

This critic believes that this innovative and clever Campus Lights production should be given maximum encouragement by maximum attendance.

Observations No Loneliness For Hens In Spring Plans

By Lochie Hart

Spring catalogs are here showing flowers, shrubs, seeds, fertilizers and landscape fillers. I call them "Temptations" because the colorful illustrations tempt me to order more than I can handle. But in these days of close buying and spending to make the income stretch to fit, one is tempted to try making a garden, raising chickens, hogs to cut the cost of living. But with my luck with tomatoes last summer — one tomatoe grown in my flower bed actually cost $3, my garden would cost me more than I would have payed at the market.

Although I was raised on the farm and remember how all the work was done, making a garden might not be profitable for me. And I don't have the space, tools and physical requirements that I possessed then. Reasoning resulted in my asking for help from a local landscaper who has promised to fill in shrubs with renewals and a few peppers, tomatoes, chives and parsley. That will have to do for my spring plans.

Jewel Jones, my friend and enthusiastic homemaker, amazes me with her know-how for most everything. Occasionally she will invite me to lunch. Everything, nearly, on the menu is out of the freezer. The turnip greens came from seeds she scatters in the shrubbery around the house. The green beans, from a row in the backyard; the potatoes from some peels she planted in the shrubbery; apple sauce from a tree in the backyard; grape jelly from a vine near the kitchen door. Of course she had to buy the staples like eggs she dressed; meal for the cornbread; hogs jowl that was sliced and cooked with the greens. And the mint for the tea from a handy bed. Jewel not only cooks well, but she has a good time while filling her 24 hours daily. She has a good sense of humor, takes her religious obligations seriously and finds time to play a good game of canasta and bridge, between visiting the sick.

Speaking of cutting down on spending and trying to increase the income on the farm, I am thinking of an experience a former county agent had. Three city-bred sisters, unmarried, and retired to a small farm planned on going into the chicken and egg business. They had ordered 500 hens and the same number of roosters and asked the agent's advice on several points. "But why did you order 500 roosters—usually one to about two dozen hens is sufficient?" Then one of the trio replied, "We've thought of that, but all our lives there have not been enough males to fill the demand and we've been wallflowers always. Now we intend for every one of our hens to be happy—not lonely."

Assistant VP Of Mortgage Firm To Speak At MSU

John A. McGuire, the assistant vice president of Kentucky Mortgage Company in Knoxville, Tenn., will speak at Murray State University on Feb. 17 and 18.

"Professionalism Within the Real Estate and Mortgage Banking Industries" will be the subject when McGuire addresses a meeting of Rho Epsilon Real Estate Fraternity on Wednesday, Feb. 18. In particular, he will focus on how a loan officer's responsibilities more and more require a professional background.

Earlier on Wednesday, McGuire will speak to an appraisal class on what mortgage companies expect in a residential property appraisal and the relationship between the report and approval of the loan application.

McGuire also will address a finance class on Tuesday, Feb. 17 and discuss the duties and responsibilities of a loan officer as well as certain qualities that mortgage companies look for in a candidate for that position.

McGuire, a graduate of Purdue University, has been invited to speak by C. Ramon Griffin, the Director of Real Estate at Murray State. McGuire holds membership in several professional organizations including the Mortgage Bankers' Association of America, the National Board of Realtors and the Homebuilders Association of America.

State Commission Rejects Sunday Racing Request At Churchill Downs

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — The Kentucky State Racing Commission has rejected a request for Sunday thoroughbred racing at Churchill Downs in Louisville.

The commission cited neighborhood opposition to the proposal and inconclusive results from an experiment at Latonia race track in Florence.

The 6-1 vote came during a special meeting Tuesday to consider whether Sunday racing should continue in Kentucky following a winter trial at Latonia.

The commissioners indicated they would deal separately with requests for future Sunday racing at Latonia and Ellis Park at Henderson.

There was little discussion of Churchill Downs' request. W. Mac DeHart of Louisville cast the only dissenting vote, saying the majority of Jefferson County's legislators had voted in favor of Sunday racing.

But Chairman Brownell Combs II said he felt the time was not right for Sunday racing.

ing in Louisville, judging from the amount of mail the commission received from Sunday-racing opponents.

"Since we are faced with real objections in Jefferson County, it would be inappropriate to jump headlong into Sunday racing there without ascertaining how it has done in northern Kentucky," Combs said.

Churchill Downs President Lynn Stone said marketing studies indicated Sunday racing would be little more than a break-even proposition for his track.

"But by putting on a stakes race on Sundays, we thought it would benefit over the long run," he said.

Stone said the track received letters from the South Louisville Neighborhood Association objecting to the parking, noise, traffic and air pollution Sunday racing would cause.

But, he added, "If we hadn't agreed it would be a good experiment, we wouldn't have agreed with the horsemen to apply for the dates."

This was the third straight year that Churchill Downs was bound by a provision of a horsemen's contract to apply for Sunday dates.

Brown-Forman Pleads Guilty To Misdemeanors

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Brown-Forman Distillers Corp., Kentucky-based makers of Jack Daniels and other whiskeys, agreed to plead guilty to 20 misdemeanor counts and pay $730,000 to settle allegations of bribery and mail fraud, the U.S. Attorney's office announced Tuesday.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Ed Schwabenland said the 20-count information filed Tuesday and the plea agreement concern payments by Brown-Forman employees to trade buyers and retailers, including package store employees on military installations in Pennsylvania.

The payments, made between 1971 and August 1977, were to induce sales of Brown-Forman products over other products, he said.

The company also agreed to pay $20,000 in fines on the misdemeanor counts, the prosecutor's office said.

The family lost their home by fire on Feb. 14.

Admission will be $1.50 for children, ages 6 to 12, and $2 for adults.

All proceeds will go to the Freeland family. Larry Joe is the grandson of Noble Freeland of Buchanan, Tenn.

Brown-Forman said that in July 1978, the company was advised by the U.S. attorney's office that an investigation was being undertaken into possible wrongful conduct by employees of the Pennsylvania liquor control board.

The company's records were subpoenaed.

Brown-Forman said that as soon as it was advised of the questionable activity, it began an internal investigation and all relative information and documents were turned over to the U.S. attorney's office.

"It has been the long standing policy of Brown-Forman to comply strictly with all federal, state and local laws and regulations," a spokesman said. "Rigid internal controls have been established to prevent a recurrence of any similar activity."

Schwabenland said the plea agreement is subject to approval by U.S. District Judge Maurice Cohill, who will conduct a hearing on the settlement Wednesday in Pittsburgh.

The company agreed to pay the $730,000 to settle allegations that it violated the Federal Alcohol Administration Act, the Internal Revenue Codes and the Federal Crimes Code, including bribery of federal employees and mail fraud, which are felonies, the office said.

The counts to which the company would plead guilty are all misdemeanors.

"The $730,000 is basically a settlement. There's other violations they could have been charged with. But rather than go to court on those, we'll $25 to $100 fine for each count, Parker said.

Miles pled guilty to those charges and received the maximum $400 fine which was suspended on the condition that he pay his employees, Parker said.

This morning, the district court clerk's office received $942 to pay each of the four employees' wages, Parker said. He added the employees would get their checks soon.

Miles also was charged with a $25 bad check which he has paid and received a fine and suspended jail sentence, Parker said.

"There were four small claims judgments against Mr. Miles stemming from business debts that he had here in Murray which were unpaid," Parker said. "I managed to get Mr. Miles to pay these four judgments rather than go to jail on the bad check charge. The clerk has received the money to pay all of these judgments and court costs and the businesses who filed these claims should be getting their money soon," Parker said.

Reagan Convinced Of Need For Overhaul

By JAMES GERSTENZANG Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan, striving to convince the nation there is an urgent need to overhaul the economy, will tell Congress and the American people tonight "the time for waiting and hoping has passed."

"If we do not act now, the economy will get worse," a senior aide to the president said Reagan will tell a joint session of Congress in a nationally televised address.

One source said Reagan will propose $6 billion in budget cuts this year and $4 billion next year. Another said the 1982 cuts would total $44 billion.

Either way, the 1982 budget cuts would be close to the expected $44.2 billion that the companion tax cut recommendations would cost the treasury.

Those proposals would reduce the federal income tax of a typical family of four with a $20,000 income by more than $1,000 over the next 3 1/2 years.

The Reagan approach — so-called "supply side" economics — is to couple tax cuts with spending cuts in an attempt to reduce inflation and spur economic growth at the same time.

The need to come to grips with an array of economic problems has been the central theme of Reagan's first 29 days in office and the tone of tonight's speech is said to reflect the intensity of that effort.

"He strongly says we really don't have a choice between doing something and not doing something about the economy," said the senior White House official, speaking with the understanding that he would not be identified by name. "If there are alternatives, let's hear them. But we do not have the luxury of choosing not to act."

A detailed, written message listing specific budget cut proposals, another giving details of tax recommendations, and a third document on proposed revision of government regulations will accompany the 9 p.m. EST speech.

However, not all of the 80 specific spending cuts Reagan reportedly has settled on are expected to be outlined in tonight's speech.

Thirteen hours after the address, Reagan leaves for a four-day visit to his ranch near Santa Barbara, Calif., handing to his Cabinet and economic advisers the initial task of selling the program to Congress, the public and to the hundreds of special interest groups who will feel the impact of the president's budget-cutting decisions.

However, Reagan was kicking off that campaign today with a private briefing for Republican and Democratic leaders from Congress.

Later, his top economic advisers scheduled a series of briefings for reporters to explain the program.

The campaign picks up steam Thursday and over the weekend with a variety of appearances by administration officials on television news programs.

Although Reagan has been careful to avoid calling for national sacrifice — an approach that his advisers think helped doom Carter's economic proposals — he told a group of visitors representing conservative political groups Tuesday that "if misery loves company, then everybody is going to love everybody else."

That reflects the administration's contention that the program will reach across the board to have an impact on everyone.

The administration's spokesmen and others involved in preparing the program have maintained that the neediest people in the country will have a "social safety net" under them to make sure they have shelter and food.

Trying to head off early criticism as pressure mounted, the administration announced last week that spending for seven major social assistance programs, including the basic Social Security retirement program, would not be cut. The cost of those seven programs was put at $210 billion.

Among other things, sources said Reagan would propose reducing federal spending by $7.7 billion by recommending user fees on waterways, Coast Guard and other activities, and by cutting certain "non-budget items."

They said Reagan would propose chopping about $1 billion from the government's support program for the dairy industry. He also reportedly will recommend applying cost-of-living adjustments to the pay of federal workers once a year instead of the current two times.

Focus On Credit-Part One: The Credit Bureau

By SHERRI MCDANIEL
Special Writer

You fill out an application for a charge account at a business. Exactly how does the business decide whether or not to open that new account for you?

In most instances, the business will purchase a copy of your credit report from the local credit bureau. The information contained in this report will play a key role in helping the business decide whether or not to open an account for you.

What is the Credit Bureau?
The Murray Credit Bureau began in 1954 and serves as a clearinghouse for consumer credit information. Each month the bureau sells over 1,000 credit reports to area businesses. According to Bob LaMastus, owner-manager of the Murray Credit Bureau, information for the reports is gathered from the businesses themselves, some of which supply the bureau with monthly statements of how much each person owes, whether payments are up-to-date or behind, and any action taken to collect on the overdue accounts. Information is also obtained from public records (loans from banks, lawsuits, etc.). The bureau uses only factual information in compiling credit reports. The credit bureau does not rate reports, nor does it decide whether you will be issued credit. The business that receives the report does that.

What Does a Credit Report Contain?

Basically, a credit report is a record of your bill-paying history. Credit reports include information such as: who you are, where you live, where you work and how long you have worked there, your approximate salary, your extended credit to you in the past, how promptly you have paid your bills, how much you owe now, and how long you have appeared in the bureau's files. The report will also show any legal actions taken against you in connection with non-payment of bills. Poor credit information is deleted from your report after seven years, except for bankruptcy information, which is kept for 10 years. Good credit information may be kept in a credit file indefinitely.

What If You are Rejected?

If you are denied credit, or if your cost of credit was increased because a lender (business, bank, etc.) was influenced by information in a credit report, the lender must disclose which credit bureau compiled that report. This is in accordance with the Fair Credit Reporting Act, passed in 1971. You can then request an interview with the bureau to learn of the information in your file. The credit bureau cannot charge you a fee to see your file, provided it is done within 30 days of the credit rejection. In addition, if the terms of your credit have been changed, you may see your credit file free of charge.

What Does YOUR Report Contain?

Even if you have not been rejected for credit, you can obtain a copy of your credit report from your local credit bureau for a small fee (at the Murray Credit Bureau, the fee is $3). It is a good idea to check your credit report for four possible trouble spots:

1. Mistakes — information that was misfiled;
2. Negative credit information that is more than seven years old (unless bankruptcy information);

3. Out-of-date information — for example, the report may list an income significantly lower than what you now earn; and,
4. Disputes — information about which you disagree.

According to Mr. LaMastus, "The Murray Credit Bureau will re-investigate any item which you question; however, you must pay for any out-of-pocket expenses that the bureau incurs, such as long-distance telephone calls." If the information is found to be inaccurate or can no longer be verified, the item will be deleted. If the re-investigation does not resolve the question, you may file a brief statement reporting your side of the issue. The credit bureau will help you write the statement if you wish.

Your statement will be included in any future reports containing the item in question. If an item is deleted or a statement added to your file, you may request that the bureau inform others who have received credit reports within the past six months.

If you do not check your credit report, you may never know it contains mistakes or disputed items, and you will never get the full advantage of the protection offered by the law. An especially important time to make sure your file is up-to-date and accurate is right before making one of the biggest credit purchases in most people's lives: a home.

What About Married Couples?

There is no requirement by law that separate files be established for a husband and wife. However, if you request that separate files be established, the credit bureau will do so. The Murray Credit Bureau designates within a couple's file exactly who was legally responsible for each credit transaction recorded in the report.

A typical report would designate an account as belonging to the husband, wife, or both (joint account). If, for example, a business seeks to obtain a credit report on the husband, information is given out only on the spouse for which the inquiry was received. Under law, a credit bureau could not give any information concerning the wife's credit standing except for her involvement in joint accounts with her husband. In this manner, each partner is held responsible for his or her own credit transactions.

Economic Education, Opinion Projects To Be Awarded Grants

According to Dr. Rex F. Galloway, center director, the economic education project and another project, designed to collect opinions of officials in small towns, were each awarded a grant of $250.

An inquiry into economic education programs in Kentucky High Schools is one of two research projects awarded funding through a small grants program established by the Waterfield Center for Business and Government Research at Murray State University.

The project titled "Changes in Economic Education in Kentucky High Schools" will be coauthored by Dr. Danny Harrison, associate professor of economics and director of the Center for Economic Education in the Department of Economics, and Dr. Howard Giles, professor of economics.

The purpose of the study is to update existing data regarding economic education programs in high schools. The inquiry will review curriculum in high schools and qualifications of teachers, compare programs in Kentucky with those in other states and identify problems.

DOLLAR IS NOT STUDENTS' GOAL
FARMINGTON, Conn. (AP) — The economy notwithstanding, today's college students are not mercenary, but are opting for jobs that offer public or community service over financial gain, a recent survey indicates.

In a study conducted among college juniors and seniors in 153 colleges and universities, Emhart Corp. here found that only one student in 11 considered money the most important factor in choosing a job.

NATIONAL-HISTORY-MONTH—Robert O. Miller, County Judge-Executive, Calloway County, seated, shows Kim Davis, right, regent of the Captain Wendell Oury Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, the proclamation he has signed proclaiming the month of February as National History Month in the United States, Kentucky, and Calloway County. Judge Miller urges all citizens to "join in remembering and enjoying our history and traditions of the past 200 plus years."

MSU Film Festival To Show Double Feature on Dracula

The International Film Festival at Murray State University will present double-feature films about Dracula on Thursday, Feb. 19, at 2 and 7 p.m. in the new University Center Theatre. The classic 1920 silent German film "Nosferatu," (Dracula), will open both shows. The black and white film is about one hour in length.

Following the old silent version at both showings will be the 1979 German film "Nosferatu, the Vampire," which was patterned very closely after the original.

At the 7 p.m. showings, Department of Foreign Languages faculty member Dr. Uwe Reichenbach will introduce the films. He will conduct a discussion afterward.

The 1979 film, which is an adaptation of Bram Stoker's classic novel, "Dracula," was directed by Werner Herzog, who directed "Aguirre," a film which was shown at last year's festival.

The plot centers on Dracula, played by famous German actor Klaus Kinski, and his obsession with finding Lucy, played by Isabelle Adjani, the beautiful wife of Jonathan Harker, played by Bruno Ganz.

A critic for the Chicago Sun-Times called the modern film "the best series of images centered around the idea of the vampire that I have ever seen..."

The films are free and open to the public. The silent version of Dracula will be shown again following the 2 p.m. features, if it is requested.

A patriotism service was held Monday and a dinner for veterans is set for Feb. 27.

From Ashland Oil Collection Graphics To Be Presented

Murray State University is presenting a selection of temporary graphics from the collection of Ashland Oil, Inc.

which began Sunday Feb. 15. A display of 50 prints highlighting the four primary forms of printmaking will be shown at the Clara Eagle Art Gallery through March 15.

This show will offer a unique opportunity to see a broad and unusual display of modern prints. Ashland Oil has more than 600 prints in its collection.

The works are regularly displayed in the company's buildings in Ashland, Russell and Lexington, Ky.; Columbus and Cleveland, Ohio; Washington, D.C.; Chicago, Ill.; and New York, N. Y.

Ashland Oil has been involved in the collection of prints and other art works for several years in an effort to enhance the working environment of its employees.

The prints will represent the four printing methods of relief, stencil, planography and intaglio. Such well-known printmakers as Baskin, Jenkins, Motherwell and Gottlieb will be featured in the display.

The 50 prints selected for the special showing will illustrate the variety of techniques within each method of printmaking. Ashland's permanent collection contains paintings, photographs, tapestries and sculptures, as well as prints, ranging from late 19th century American graphics to contemporary works.

HEALTH

Fainting is a symptom

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB— Last week when I went to church I fainted. I had gone without anything to eat because I was going to take Communion. We had been kneeling and when I stood up I began to feel dizzy. Things began to blur and I had trouble steadying myself. The next thing I knew I was stretched out on the bench. For a while I thought I was going to get the last rites rather than Communion.

My doctor gave me a good examination the next day. He said I had fainted. He didn't say why, only that I had not been able to get enough blood to my brain. That has me worried. I always thought I was in good health. I'm 19 and play on the basketball team and have never had any trouble. Does this mean I have some disease in the arteries to my brain?

DEAR READER— Probably not. It is important for anyone who has an unexplained faint to have a complete medical examination. Fainting is a symptom, not a diagnosis. It can be caused by blood accumulating in your legs and not leaving enough blood to be pumped to your brain. That is probably what your doctor was telling you. This is particularly apt to occur in people who have been at bed rest for a period of time. A fainting tendency even occurred in the astronauts when they returned to earth from space flights.

Fainting can also be caused when your heart beats too fast or too slow or not strongly enough. There are many things that will affect your arteries, veins and heart, including fright, heat or just standing very still.

The mechanisms involved in fainting are discussed in greater detail in The Health Letter number 9-2, Fainting: Loss of Consciousness or Syncope, which I am sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. Even over-breathing can be a cause.

Fasting increases the chances of fainting. Kaeling and then rising to stand still in the fasting state, is even more likely to make your head swim. The best defense against that situation is to consciously contract and relax your leg muscles and avoid standing stock still. Incidentally, fainting is fairly common in healthy, young people.

DEAR DR. LAMB— Could you tell me at what age a female should have a Papanicolaou test? I am 22. I read that it was once every three years instead of once a year. Are you for that? Cancer runs in my family and not too long ago my sister had her insides taken out because of cancer.

DEAR READER— The guidelines from the American Cancer Society were that a woman age 20 and over, or under 20 and sexually active, should have an annual Papanicolaou test for two negative tests. Thereafter every three years was often enough, until age 65.

I don't entirely agree with that and your question points up the reason. Depend upon your doctor, who is familiar with your family history and your findings. If you are healthy and there are no significant findings, and the family history and other pertinent information is good, then the recommendations might be fine. But not everyone is so fortunate. It is another example where it is important to individualize, not generalize, when you are talking about one person and his or her medical problems.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va. (AP)— The plastics industry will use more gas and oil in the future, a step seen by one expert as helping energy conservation.

As the petro-chemical plastics industry makes more products and parts replacing heavier, metal materials, the increased usage of fuel will result in the consumption of less energy than it would take to make the substitute materials.

Schools Announced Revised Income Standards For Meals

Lexington Woman Is Mother Of Year

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)— Mrs. Isabel McCants Yates was named the 1981 Senior Mother of the Year at the Kentucky Mothers Association meeting on Saturday.

Mrs. Yates, 56, of Lexington, was recognized for her work in civic affairs, church work and women's organizations. The mother of four will represent Kentucky in the national American Mother contest in New York in May.

Mrs. Judy Merkley, of Wilmore, received the Young Mother of the Year award. Other finalists for Senior Mother of the Year were Mrs. Edwina Southard of Beaver Dam; Mrs. Edna Stone Drane and Mrs. Mary Tyler Beason, both of Elizabethtown and Mrs. Vera Ware Warren Owsley of Nicholasville.

for determining eligibility for free and reduced price meals and free milk in the National School Lunch Program, School Breakfast Program, and Special Milk Program.

As a result of the income scale being revised, free and reduced meal applications are being sent home to each family with children enrolled in school. If parents wish to make application for their children to receive free or reduced price meals, the application is to be completed and returned to the school immediately.

In determining your child's eligibility under the new income guidelines, a school shall compare the family's income to the guidelines without allowing any hardship provisions. The hardship provision has been replaced by a standard deduction which is incorporated in the income scale.

If a family member becomes unemployed or if a family's size and income changes during the school year, the family should contact the school to file a new application.

Under provisions of the policy, the school official will review applications and determine eligibility. If a parent is dissatisfied with the ruling of the official, he may wish to discuss the decision with the determining official on an informal basis. If he wishes to make a formal appeal, he may make a request either orally or in writing to: Willie Jackson, Hearing Officer, 812 Poplar Street, Murray, Ky. 753-4363 or Dr. Jack Rose, 2110 College Farm Rd., Murray, Ky. 753-3033.

In the operation of child feeding programs, no child will be discriminated against because of race, color, or national origin. Each school and board of education has a copy of the completed policy which may be reviewed by any interested party.

Under these announced legislative changes, local boards of education are allowed sufficient time to implement the required revisions.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren
Wayward Mother and Child Find Refuge of Love

DEAR READERS: In my mail this morning was a picture of a beautiful newborn baby boy. I'm sorry I can't share it with you, but I can share the letter that accompanied it:

DEAR ABBY: I'm 18 years old and want to tell you about a place that is to many a godsend. It's Booth Memorial Residence, a home for unwed mothers-to-be. It's run by the Salvation Army people, and the atmosphere is one of love, caring and understanding. In the five months I lived there, not one girl was turned away. There are no age, race or financial barriers. It provides a friendly family atmosphere for pregnant girls as well as health care, prenatal courses, assistance in schooling and career goals and personal counseling. No girl is ever pressured to give up her baby or keep it.

The residence I lived in is in Omaha, Neb., but there are others throughout the country. I will never forget these wonderful people. I hope one day to return to Omaha to live and work, and when I do, I plan to volunteer at Booth to help other girls who come there for help as I did.

Thanks to terrific counseling, I am content and happy knowing that I made the right decision in giving up my son. The couple who adopted him were ecstatic to receive him, and I know that they will always celebrate Thanksgiving on Nov. 27th, his birthday.

If this letter helps just one girl and her family, it will have been worth the writing. Love and many thanks, Abby.

STARTING OVER IN MO.

DEAR STARTING: What a beautiful letter. God bless you.

DEAR ABBY: A social club of adult women recently had a party for members and their escorts only. Some members indicated that they wanted to attend unescorted. It was ruled that attending a dancing party without an escort was unacceptable because it would put a burden on the other club members' escorts in terms of dancing or entertaining those women who came unescorted.

In today's society, with so much emphasis placed on women's independence and doing their own thing, I totally disagreed with this rule. How do you feel about restricting attendance to only those women who bring an escort?

PERPLEXED IN N.Y.

DEAR PERPLEXED: I think it's discriminatory and therefore unfair. However, the majority rules in most clubs, so you may be in the wrong club.

...

DEAR ABBY: Would you please inform your readers that the armed forces are not the place for social misfits, or hard-to-handle characters who lack direction and motivation in their lives?

I can't tell you how many times I've heard people say, "A couple of years in the service would straighten out that young man!"

Edit this letter any way you want, Abby, but please let your readers know that the Army, Navy, Marine Corps or Air Force is not an alternative to a reform school!

C.W.K.

DEAR C.W.K.: I couldn't have said it better.

DEAR ABBY: If a girl wears a NO button in yord down, does that mean she is turned ON?

BASEBALL BENEFIT RUMMAGE SALE — Anna Requarth, left, and Virginia Schwetman, two of the parents of members of the Murray High School Baseball Team, hold the sign urging the public to support the rummage sale to be held Saturday, Feb. 21, starting at 8 a.m. at Murray High School. Donations of furniture, household appliances, trinkets, jewelry, or other articles will be accepted and anyone wishing to donate items may bring them to the Murray High School front entrance on Friday, Feb. 20, between the hours of 7 to 8:30 p.m. Members of the baseball team and their parents will be there to assist. An ample supply of clothing has already been accepted and persons are asked not to bring clothes. Proceeds from the sale will go to help defray costs of the spring training trip for the baseball team.

Music Chairman To Participate In Annual Loyola Symposium

Dr. Roger Reichmuth, chairman of the Department of Music at Murray State University, will be one of 37 participants in the fourth annual music symposium at Loyola University in New Orleans, La., Feb. 25-27.

The topic of this year's symposium is "Music in Community Education," and will deal with music education, continuing education and psychology.

The trend toward community education is well established nationwide, says Dr. David Swazy, dean of Loyola's College of Music, and what is discussed at the seminar will find its way into reports presented at the 1982 Music Educators National Conference.

The area of community education is popular because people are living longer, have more leisure time and are more productive in their jobs. Swazy says. "And adults seem to want to listen more."

"Music should be a part of continuing education," he says, "and a return to the basic of music-like singing, playing instruments and the appreciation of music for the aesthetic experience indicates its acceptance."

Invitations to participate in the symposium go to doctoral advisers in music education and to past participants.

Other experts among the 37 participants will be Charles Leonhard of the University of Illinois School of Music, a national leader in music education; Nevill Sanford of the University of California at Berkeley, a world-renowned psychologist in the field of personality and development; and Fritz McCammon, dean of independent schools, in the Department of Continuing Education at Louisiana State University.

Helping Students Read Effectively In Content Areas Topic Of Alsup Lecture

Helping students read effectively in the content areas—science, mathematics, social studies and others—will be the focus of the sixth annual Robert F. Alsup Distinguished Lecture and its related workshops, scheduled Feb. 20-21 in the University Center at Murray State University.

Delivering the lecture, "Effective Use of Content Area Textbooks," will be Dr. Betty D. Roe, widely-known textbook author and a professor of reading at Tennessee Technological University, Cookeville.

She will speak at 6:30 p.m. Friday, Feb. 20, and again at the general session, scheduled for 9 a.m. Saturday and preceding five workshops which will be held simultaneously, beginning at 10:15 a.m. and repeated at 11:10 a.m.

Her topic at the Saturday session will be: "Vocabulary Difficulties in Content Area Reading Materials: What Can We Do to Help?"

Dr. Betty D. Roe

the Teacher Do to Help?"

The workshops and their leaders are:

"Teaching Reading Skills Through Content Area Materials," led by Debra Johnson of the Kentucky State Department of Education, Frankfort.

"Content Phantom," led by Gene Bondurant, Union County school system, in the Mississippi Room.

"Write to Read," led by Kaye Prebles, Murray Independent Schools, in the Tennessee Room.

"Teams Games Tournament: American History," led by Edith Hayes, Mayfield city schools, in the Cumberland Room, and

"Content Area Games and Activities for the Classroom," led by Susan Ramp, Southwest Elementary School teacher in Calloway County, and Bonnie Higginson of the Murray State University Learning Center, in the Ohio Room.

Participants will be registered between 6 and 6:30 p.m. Friday on the Upper Level Concourse of the Center.

The fee for the entire program, according to Dr. Yancey Watkins, the campus coordinator, is $8 — $3 for the Friday evening session and $5 for the Saturday program.

Additional information may be obtained by contacting Dr. Watkins, Department of Special Education, Murray State University, Murray, KY 42071, or by calling (502) 782-2854.

The lecture honors the late director of the Murray State Reading Clinic, who died Oct. 30, 1979, after retiring in May, 1976, following 21 years at the university.

A native of Quin, Mo., and after coming to the campus in 1955, he started and developed the university's reading program and clinic from which evolved the comprehensive Division of Reading in the Department of Special Education also has been established at the university in his memory.

An honorary scholarship and bears his name.

H&R BLOCK TAX TEST

Question No. 5

You should always file the same tax form the IRS sends you in the mail.

True False

Your financial circumstances change from year to year. The form you used last year might not be the right form this year. H&R Block can help you determine which is the best form to use. The answer is FALSE, since the IRS can't know of tax related changes which might have occurred in your situation last year.

The secret to cleaner, healthier hair care!

Queen Helene
JOJOBA OIL SHAMPOO & CONDITIONER

The very first time you use Queen Helene Jojoba Oil Shampoo and Conditioner your hair will take on a new life, new sheen, new beauty. Better yet, you'll be on the right road to healthier hair.

Queen Helene Jojoba Oil Shampoo and Conditioner are formulated with natural oils extracted from the seed bean of the Jojoba evergreen shrub. Western and Southwestern Indian tribes have long appreciated its value as a hair cleaner and conditioner.

Jojoba Oil helps dissolve the embedded sebum (a fatty oil excreted by the sebaceous glands in your scalp). Excessive sebum build-up causes dandruff, scalp disorders and hair loss.

Queen Helene Jojoba Oil Shampoo and Conditioner have a pH balance that is beneficial for all types of hair, whether dry, oily or normal. Safe for color-treated hair, too.
