State revenue officials confident of payments

By SY RAMSEY
Associated Press Writer
FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The state Revenue Department is confident that tax collections will come close to its forecast as the state heads into the final days of the current fiscal year.

The latest figures indicate that collections would reach $2 billion for the General Fund, which finances most operations and services.

Richard Thalheimer, revenue research director, said Wednesday that "there is nothing unusual either way, nothing alarming."

The final figures for the fiscal year which ends next Wednesday probably will show an error in projections of less than 2 percent, Thalheimer said.

The Revenue Department regards a 2.5 percent error as

Park to have fireworks for Fourth celebration

There will be fireworks for the July 4 celebration.

Parks Director Gary Hohman said Wednesday afternoon that contributions have enabled the Murray-Calloway County Park to have a fireworks display as part of its July 4 weekend of activities.

"Thanks to the generosity of local merchants, banks and industries, fireworks will be part of the celebration," Hohman said.

Other activities will be announced at a later date.

good.

General Fund receipts for the first 11 months stand at $1,903,115,057, which is 9.7 percent above the comparable 1980-81 figures.

Tax collections for the General Fund actually fell 7 percent in May, but the state said the decrease was almost entirely because of a decline in individual income tax receipts for the comparable month of last year.

That came about because of a change in the due date for withholding payments from April 30 to April 15.

Still, the 11-month total of income tax collections is $573,338,961, or 8.6 percent more than the previous period.

Sales and use tax collections picked up moderately last month, by 4.2 percent. They now total $623,733,223, which is 8.3 percent above the comparable 1980-81 period.

"Corporation income tax receipts continue to reflect a modest recovery in corporate profitability," the Revenue Department said.

For the 11 months, those collections totaled $121,444,232 or 6 percent more.

The state said that despite the slowdown in coal market activity, the coal severance tax accounted for $18,158,507 last month or 111 percent above the strike-impacted month of May 1981.

For the 11 months, severance tax collections stand at $218,647,056, or 33.1 percent above the comparable period last year.

The Transportation Fund presented a mixed picture. For the first 11 months, revenues reached $548,976,489, almost the same as the comparable period last year.

Federal matching grants for Kentucky decreased by 24.6 percent, but road tax collections gained 13.9 percent.

Budget fight far from over

WASHINGTON (AP) — The five-month struggle in Congress to adopt a 1983 budget is over, but it is considered only a prelude to election-year fights over the tax increases and reductions in social programs called for in the red-ink outline.

"We've got a political document here that can't stand the light of implementation," Sen. Ernest F. Hollings, D-S.C., said on the Senate floor Wednesday in remarks directed at Republican leaders.

The Senate gave the GOP-drafted plan final congressional approval Wednesday on a 54-45 vote following a last-minute telephone lobbying blitz by President Reagan.

The plan calls for spending $769.8 billion and contains a record projected deficit of $103.9 billion.

The budget plan includes a mandate for committees in the House and Senate to produce legislation later this summer with specific social program budget cuts totaling $6.7 billion next year and $27.2 billion over three years in such areas as Medicare, Medicaid, food stamps and welfare.

County system applies for handicapped funds

An application for the use of federal funds for the education of handicapped children in the Calloway County School District has been prepared by the Calloway County School System.

The application specifies that a free and appropriate public education will be provided to all handicapped children ages 5-17 who are residents of the Calloway County School District.

Public Law 94-142 provides priorities for the expenditure of funds. First priority is given to those children who are not being given any educational services. PL 94-142 also requires that the school district plan for the implementation of identification, location, evaluation and appropriate educational placement of all handicapped children.

Guaranteed safeguards for handicapped children and their parents in decisions about educational programs and confidentiality of files of those children identified as being handicapped will continue to be instituted.

The application will be on file in the superintendent's office until July 1, 1982. Any interested persons may receive copies of the application and make comments concerning the application to Nancy Lovett of the Calloway County School System.

Consideration will be given to all comments prior to the submission of the final copy of the application to the Kentucky Department of Education.

Gas costs may continue climb

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Many experts in Kentucky feel that the price of gasoline, up an average of 10 cents a gallon from last month, will continue to increase.

Bob Owen, public relations manager of the Bluegrass Automobile Association, said the 10-cent increase since mid-May is the largest one-month increase in the last three years.

He attributed the rise to an increased demand for fuel during the summer vacation months.

"I just know it (the average price of gas) is going to keep going up, but I don't know how high," Owen said.

Ashland Oil spokesman Dan Lacey also said gasoline prices may become more expensive, but he said industry forecasters are divided over how long the current price surge will continue — some are saying it will be short-lived and others say it will last indefinitely, he said.

"There's no way to know (how high the prices will go)," Lacey said.

Owen said the Lexington club surveyed 42 Kentucky gasoline outlets on Friday and found the average price at full-service stations was $1.37 a gallon for regular, $1.39 for unleaded and $1.45 for premium unleaded.

The average price for a gallon of regular gasoline at self-service stations was $1.25, unleaded went for $1.32 and premium unleaded was $1.40.

The average price for diesel fuel was $1.33, according to the survey. A similar survey was made on May 17, and prices averaged 10 cents a gallon less for all grades, Owen said.

The price increases are "a result of supply and demand," Owen said. "The demand for gasoline had declined gradually since 1978, and this eventually led to a surplus of gasoline and lower prices."

"However, the demand for gasoline now is up about 2 percent over this time last year, and this higher demand means higher prices."

Besides motorists taking advantage of cheaper gas prices in recent months, Owen said severe winter weather may also be a factor in the increase.

"People were couped up all winter — and this was a particularly severe winter — and they want to get out," Owen said.

Local students to study in MSU speech institute

Eleven local high school students have been accepted to study at the Eighth Annual High School Speech Institute to be held at Murray State University July 25 through July 31.

The students, from Calloway County High School, are students of speech coach Larry England. They are Mike Keeling, Mark Bazell, Bill Chaney, Lori Yarbrough, Roger Tucker, Melanie Futrell, Craig Kelly, Janna Hopkins, Karen Adams, Molly Imes and Marcia Ford.

Robert A. Valentine, director of the institute, said Chaney, Kelly, Hopkins and Imes are all returning students, qualifying for recognition as "VPI," or Veterans of Previous Institutes.

Students will spend the week studying both interpretation of literature and forensics, including debate, oratory and extemporaneous speaking. MSU Professor Emeritus Ruby Krider will head the interpretation section, while Valentine will direct forensics.

Selected students will be able to continue their studies in the Advanced Study Group to be held the following week. "We feel that students that show dedication, talent and a willingness to learn should be able to continue their studies with our professional staff," Valentine said. "We developed the Advanced Study Group for just this purpose."

Students interested in attending the institute should contact the Department of Speech and Theatre at Murray State University.

Robbins' writes another hit

Kent Robbins, Nashville, brother of Mrs. Roger (Adele) Schoenfeldt of Murray, has another song headed to the top spot on the country music charts.

His song, "I Don't Think She's In Love Anymore," has been recorded by Country Music Superstar Charley Pride.

The song broke into the Top 100 about seven weeks ago at a "phenomenal" No. 48. Most of the better records, according to Robbins, start out on the charts in the 60s or 70s and make a gradual climb. The songs move up the chart depending upon how much air time they are given by radio stations.

Pride has recorded other songs written by Robbins. Two of the recordings, "When I Stop Leaving I'll Be Gone" and "Your're My Jamaica," make it to the No. 1 spot after being on the Top 100 several weeks.

Robbins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Farland Robbins of Mayfield, is a graduate of Mayfield High School and Vanderbilt University. He began writing songs when he was serving in the Air Force.

When he went to Nashville, Robbins joined Pi-Gem Music Inc., which was owned by Pride and Tom Collins. Robbins formed his own company, Kent Robbins Music, Inc., after leaving Pi-Gem just before it was sold to the Welk Music Group.

Robbins received national recognition when he was nominated for Country Music Songwriter of the Year for his song, "I'm A Stand-By-My Woman Man," recorded by Ronnie Milsap which sold over one million copies.

He has had many other hit songs which have been recorded by Dottie, John Anderson, Barbara Mandrell, B.J. Thomas, Perry Como and many others.

Robbins recently was featured with Pride in The Nashville Tennessean's magazine Showcase.

Group looks to change law on insanity pleas

Senate panel summons three members of John Hinckley jury

By MIKE SHANAHAN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate panel, hoping to get quick congressional action changing federal law on insanity pleas, is summoning three members of the jury which found presidential assailant John W. Hinckley Jr. innocent by reason of insanity.

"They want to find out exactly what led members of the jury to accept the insanity plea," said a spokesman for Sen. Arlen Specter, R-Pa., the acting chairman of the Senate Judiciary subcommittee on criminal law.

In a highly unusual step, the subcommittee announced Wednesday that jurors Maryland Copelin, 50, Nathalia Brown, 30, and Lawrence Coffey, 22, all of Washington had been asked to testify today.

Testimony was also expected from legal specialists on the issue.

Miss Brown and Mrs. Copelin have said they believed Hinckley, 27, was legally sane when he shot President Reagan and three other men on March 30, 1981, but they said they were pressured by other jurors to go along with the majority and provide a unanimous verdict as required.

"I violated my conscience," Mrs. Copelin said.

Hinckley, she said, "is a shrewd manipulator ... He isn't crazy, he's a genius. He manipulated his family, his father, and now us."

After 3½ days of intensive deliberation, Mrs. Copelin and Miss Brown said they gave in to the will of the majority to provide a unanimous verdict on Monday evening.

Specter, a former prosecutor in Pennsylvania, has introduced legislation which would put the burden of proving insanity on the defendant.

The defendant would have to produce "clear and convincing" evidence that he or she was insane.

In a Senate speech, Specter said he believes the Hinckley jury was "in a state of confusion and unable to draw a clear-cut inference from the evidence."

"There has already been a public outcry noting that the acquittal of the defendant Hinckley was occasioned by the fact that he was wealthy and had high-priced legal talent," Specter said.

In the Hinckley trial, U.S. District Judge Barrington Parker ruled that it was up to the prosecutor to prove beyond a reasonable doubt that Hinckley was sane and that he knew right from wrong when he opened fire on Reagan and the others outside a Washington hotel.

Since the verdict, a number of other changes in federal insanity law have been proposed, including one sponsored by Sen. Orrin Hatch, R-Utah. It would do away with insanity pleas except in cases where the defendant was so mentally ill, there was no awareness of committing a criminal act.

Had that law been on the books during the Hinckley case, for example, specialists say he would probably have been convicted because he knew he was attacking the president.

Astronaut awaits dream as countdown continues

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer
CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The steady tick of the countdown clock today carried astronaut Ken Mattingly nearer his dream of flying that "elegant ... almost magic machine," the space shuttle Columbia.

The count was on the button for Sunday's planned start of the spacecraft's final test flight and the first in which American astronauts will conduct military experiments in orbit. Liftoff is set for 11 a.m. EDT.

The pad was cleared of all but essential personnel for several hours this morning while volatile liquid hydrogen and liquid oxygen were pumped into Columbia's power-generating fuel cells.

Test conductor Charles Henschel said the countdown was proceeding "exceptionally smoothly. We've had only very minor problems, nothing worth mentioning. This sometimes scares you when it goes so smoothly."

Earlier, Rocky Raab, a spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, reported the count was continuing in "textbook fashion."

Mattingly, a 46-year-old Navy captain and a veteran astronaut who piloted an Apollo spacecraft on a lunar mission, will command the flight. At his side will be rookie astronaut Henry Hartsfield, 48.

They are to thoroughly test Columbia's systems during seven days in space to qualify it for operational, satellite-hauling missions starting with the fifth flight in November. The shuttle is scheduled to land on Independence Day at Edwards Air Force Base in California.

"Our job on Flight 4 is to be the cleanup hitter to do all the tests that have not been accomplished, for one reason or another, on the earlier flights," Mattingly said in a recent interview.

But most of all, Mattingly is looking forward to flying Columbia.

"What we have is this elegant spacecraft, which I consider an almost magic machine," he said. "It will be a pleasure to fly it."

Hartsfield joined in the praise of the shuttle and said it had matured rapidly during its first three test trips.

Charles' sister accused of jealousy by papers

By MICHAEL WEST
Associated Press Writer
LONDON (AP) — Britain's littlest prince remained without a name today while the press accused his aunt, Princess Anne, of being jealous of the three-day-old future king.

"We think it's very unlikely to be named for some days yet," a Buckingham Palace spokesman said Wednesday. He said things were going swimmingly at the nursery in Kensington Palace where the baby's parents, Prince Charles and Princess Diana, make their London home.

Prince Charles, heir to the British throne, told reporters Monday night upon the birth of his 7-pound, 1½-ounce son that there was a "a bit of an argument" going on about names.

But it was nothing compared to the fight British newspapers picked today with Princess Anne for what the Times of London called her "acid comments" and "surliness" in her brother's first-born child.

Anne, 31-year-old mother of two, was touring Indian reservations in New Mexico on Tuesday when an American reporter told her the Princess of Wales had given birth. "Oh, good!" she said in a sarcastic tone and walked away.

Asked several times how she liked being an aunt, she snapped: "That's my business, thank you very much."

Buckingham Palace spokesman Michael Shea defended Anne's behavior as "cautious."

"She wasn't being rude," he said. "She just was not sure that the reporter was telling her the truth."

But the Daily Express said Anne's reaction to her new nephew was "sweet as vinegar, cutting as a knife."

One journalist who asked Anne "Do you think everyone is making too much fuss of the baby?" said she replied, "Yes."

"Anne's behavior has confirmed for many Americans the stories that she is jealous of the adoration lavished on the Princess of Wales," the tabloid Daily Mirror wrote.

Reagan adviser has no recollection of Donovan reports

WASHINGTON (AP) — A top presidential adviser says he has no recollection of passing along to President Reagan early last year FBI reports that Reagan's choice for labor secretary, Raymond Donovan, allegedly had ties to organized crime.

Presidential counselor Edwin Meese III said he could not recall what — if anything — he told Reagan about the charges against Donovan contained in the background reports.

"I don't remember if I mentioned it to him or not," Meese told reporters at a Washington Press Club luncheon Wednesday. "I have no recollection, one way or the other. President Reagan was in California and I was in Washington."

Administration wavers on resolution

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a fresh signal of support for Britain in the Falklands dispute, the Reagan administration is wavering for the first time in its backing for a U.N. resolution that calls for British-Argentine negotiations to settle the conflict.

Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr., briefing reporters on a meeting between President Reagan and British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher, indicated Wednesday night the United States has no quarrel, for the time being, with her opposition to a negotiated settlement.

"The prime minister made it clear we wouldn't expect anyone to tell us how to deal with our property and we are not going to presume to tell her how to deal with hers," Haig said.

By suggesting that the islands belong to Britain, Haig also appeared to depart from the longstanding U.S. policy of not taking sides in the conflicting claims of Britain and Argentina to the islands.

Since the start of the crisis, the United States repeatedly has expressed support for a settlement of the conflict based on U.N. Security Council resolution 502, approved on April 3, the day after Argentina seized the islands. Britain regained control over the islands by force earlier this month.

Haig's remarks suggested a shift from the policy stated earlier but he left open the possibility that his position could change once the post-war political turmoil ends in Argentina and that country agrees to a formal cessation of hostilities.

Israeli jets hit strongholds

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Israeli jets downed two Syrian MiGs over central Lebanon today and pounded Palestinian strongholds in the slums near Beirut airport as Americans prepared to evacuate the war-torn country.

Intense Israeli-Syrian tank and artillery battles blazed along the Beirut-Damascus highway and Israeli warplanes hit Syrian and Palestinian positions in the mountains southeast of the capital.

The Tel Aviv command said its jets downed the Syrian planes when the MiGs tried to intercept Israeli planes attacking Syrian targets during an artillery battle. Lebanon's state radio also reported the downing of the MiGs.

The dogfight, the first reported by Israel since a short-lived ceasefire two weeks ago, appeared to intensify the Israeli-Syrian ground fighting that flared two days ago.

Lawmakers aid housing industry

By appropriating bailout money for the depressed housing industry, Congress is opening the door to a flood of special relief programs for other recession-ravaged business.

Both Senate and House have yielded to construction industry pressure. In some old-fashioned pump-priming, Congress is adding mortgage subsidy funds to a supplemental appropriations bill.

The House voted $1 billion for interest rate subsidies to an estimated 74,000 low- and middle-income homebuyers. The more ambitious Senate program allotted $5.1 billion to help families with incomes up to $37,000 a year to buy homes at low interest rates. A conference committee recently resolved the differences between the two measures in a compromise five-year, $3 billion package.

The Reagan administration has warned Congress that the nation cannot afford a massive housing program, and that the mortgage subsidy is unlikely to create many jobs because of the existing stock of unsold homes.

But housing industry relief is only the beginning. The House subsidy plan was part of an anti-recession make-work package announced by the Democratic leadership May 7. It should be clear that allowing the housing subsidy to become law will pave the way for resumption of open-ended emergency funding to bail out such depressed industries as automobiles, savings and loans, and steel making.

These handouts would not only drive up the federal deficit, but seriously undermine President Reagan's recovery effort to curb federal intervention in the economy. Tempting as they are to congressmen in an election year, pump-priming projects seldom yield long-term benefits, and their cumulative effect has added massively to a federal debt that is the largest single drag on the nation's economy.

Inasmuch as Congress seems incapable of applying this lesson, Mr. Reagan should exercise a veto of mortgage subsidies on behalf of fiscal sanity.

Leaders divided on prayer issue

President Reagan has endorsed the proposed constitutional amendment to allow voluntary prayer in public schools.

In doing so, he said, "No one must ever be forced or coerced or pressured to take part in any religious exercise, but neither should the government forbid religious practice."

The proposed amendment is designed to counteract the 1962 Supreme Court decision that banned organized prayer in public schools. The ruling, however, did not ban voluntary or private prayer by individuals.

Nothing in the Supreme Court decision said that there could not be a period of meditation during which individuals could pray. Nor did it say that a student could not pray as the spirit moved him or her to do so.

Church leaders are divided on the issue. Many agree with the president and believe that freedom of religion does not mean that prayer should be restricted.

Other religious leaders maintain that voluntary prayer would not be voluntary. They say that students would be pressured by teachers and students to participate, and that this would be a form of imposed religion.

Opponents of the amendment also argue that prayer belongs in the home or church, and that it is not the business of government to sponsor religious observance even if prayer is non-denominational. One danger of the amendment is that it will be divisive and will cause conflict and bitterness. In addition, it is a threat to America's historic separation of church and state.

In view of the fact that the 1962 decision did not outlaw voluntary prayer, the amendment is not necessary and will only weaken the safeguards provided in the First Amendment.

86-year-old Calloway Countian pens her reaction to 'The Gift of Cheese'

I hope to meet Billie Sanders one of these days. She is 86 years old, comes from an old circus family and lives out on Ridge Road near Hamlin.

She entertained troops during World War I and again during World War II as a trapeze artist and high-wire walker.

When I read the other day about the Jaycees distributing the free cheese given away by the government, I dug out the letter she had written to Orman Price of the Murray-Calloway County Senior Citizens about the cheese giveaway.

Although her name is Eunice, she prefers to be known as "Billie," and here is what she wrote:

"Being a late sleeper, I was naturally some surprised at the early morning call, and moreso when I heard a certain worker for the social services say, 'I must have more information pertaining to your financial status, etc., as I am in town applying for the cheese the government is giving to needy people. I am sort of representing several of this type...'"

"Cheese? Cheese?" I replied not quite awake, and the worker responded, "Yes. Remember, I asked you if you liked cheese and would you want me to apply for you? It is five lbs..."

"Oh, yes. The gift from President Reagan to the poor folks. Just what do you need to know besides what you already know?"

"I am poorer than Job's turkey, actually too weak to gobble, and..." She interrupted, "Do you have any stocks and bonds?" I replied, "Of course not. If I had, I would not be so poor."

"She went on, 'How much money do you have, all told?' I answered, 'In January of this year my checking account was zero. In fact, I owed the bank $30.' 'Do you have Medicare?' and I became alarmed."

"Are you implying that I may have to go to the hospital due to this cheese? I heard it has been in a warehouse for 20 or 30 years. Yet, being 'aged' some times enhances a product. She was quick to assure me that her questioning was merely a formality."

"She needed my complete address as later on I would receive a letter telling me when, where and how this 5 lbs. of cheese would wend its way from warehouse to my home."

"By this time, I was in complete possession of my mental faculties and I said to her, 'I wonder if Reagan realizes the enormous amount of money, time and trouble this whole 'cheesy' business will bring about, so much so, he will be compelled to cut deeper into social programs to compensate for his gift of cheese.'"

"Being a very old timer, I can recall incidents where some high and mighty industrialist typhoon, or rather tycoon (as typhoon means a big wind, yet, come to think of it, both could be defined as 'big winds') gave something away and drastic results came to the country. John D. Rockefeller one day gave a little girl a dime and the price of gasoline rose to an all-time high all over the nation."

"Also I have vivid recollections of Uncle Sam coming to the aid of starving millions in China and other foreign countries and how easy it was for these foreign dignitaries to gain admittance to see the President in order to secure or obtain millions of dollars. The welcome mat was displayed."

"Then I recall a little boy, definitely from a poverty-stricken family, trying to get in to see the President in order to get help for his jobless father, 'worried-sick' mother and hungry brothers and sisters."

"Each time he tried to get in, some official would stop him. The boy mentioned how certain foreign countries could get aid, yet, as he said, 'I am an American and I cannot even get inside the door.'"

"Then he said, 'My forefathers were with Washington when he threw that dollar across the Potomac. That should mean something.' An official then said kindly, 'Sonny, you will stand a better chance of finding that dollar, than you will getting any help from Uncle Sam.'"

"But to get back to the cheese issue, one wonders if it will become a political football as something will certainly come of all this besides needing crackers to go with the cheese."

"That is, if folks have a safe place to store it so mice do not get to it. Also, there are those who cannot eat cheese without becoming a 'listener' to that old adage: 'That's what makes the cheese more binding' and who may have to take the little money saved for a treat — a box of fig bars, a large bottle of Milk of Magnesia, or the old standby, castor oil.

"Yet, the needy appreciate the gift, be what it may, as very few folks like to hear about surplus foods being dumped. One recollection is of tons of dairy products, milk and butter, specifically, being dumped into Lake Michigan and how some folks remarked, 'It would be fine if tons of oysters also were dumped in there, too. Then we could have oyster stew.'"

"As do a lot of folks, I watch TV and, inwardly, I seethe as I hear that millions, nay, billions will be sent to El Salvador and voices are raised, pro and con."

"And some say, 'Well, the budget can be reduced.' There are many social programs to be cut deeper into and we wonder where it all will end. The elderly were taught to respect their parents, teachers and country. Remember the words of Decatur: 'In her intercourse with foreign countries, may she always be in the right, but right or wrong, our country.'"

"And Washington, the father of this nation, who said, 'Avoid foreign entanglements.' Good Old George! This food for thought, and as I ponder these matters my sincerest wish is that each recipient of five pounds of cheese will take the time to send President Reagan a 'thank you' message."

"That will fill him with confidence as to his being one of our most generous and benevolent leaders and, who knows, he may send each of us a couple of mouse traps to protect his gift...of five pounds of cheese."

letters to the editor

Dear Editor:

In the last decade, over sixty threats to unleash nuclear materials have been made in the United States. While no device has been detonated, the dissemination of information about nuclear devices increases the prospects for disaster in the all-too-near future. To this end, the U.S. and other nations participated in the Convention on the Physical Protection of Nuclear Material, which obligates its signatories to take appropriate steps to insure the protection of such material. The State Department and the Judiciary Committee have used the vehicle of H.R. 5228 to create criminal offenses.

This bill falls far short of providing a deterrent to one who might kill millions of people. Under the bill as presently drafted, a nuclear terrorist who intentionally removed New York City from the map might receive life, but would most likely receive only a 20 year term of imprisonment and might be released on parole after only 7 years.

To put teeth in this law, I offered an amendment to provide the death penalty if death or severe injury resulted from nuclear terrorism. The amendment failed and I intended to in the House floor. However, the leadership in the House is trying to consider this bill under a procedure which will prevent my amendment from being offered. This "gag rule" should not be tolerated. With the increased concern of Americans about crime, the prevention of the opportunity to offer a death penalty amendment for such a serious crime is unfair. It is incumbent on us to show the coldhearted, calculating fanatics who use nuclear terrorism that the U.S. intends to fight them with strong measures. This legislation should be brought before the House of Representatives under an open rule so that Congressmen will have an opportunity to vote on and debate the issue. If there ever was a crime which merits and death penalty, nuclear terrorism is it.

Sincerely,
F. James Sensenbrenner, Jr.,
Congress of the United States

Dear Editor:

I take this opportunity to commend and congratulate all the persons responsible for making the Kentucky Sheriffs' Boys and Girls Ranch such a success story.

The Camp, located in Gilbertsville, Kentucky, near the Kentucky Dam Village, offers the very best in summertime adventure to over five hundred (500) underprivileged Kentucky children, between the ages of nine and thirteen. Sheriffs from sixty-five (65) counties take time, energy and interest to raise the necessary monies, select the boys and girls from their counties and deliver them to the Ranch for a week always to be remembered.

Their motto: "No Sheriff Ever Stood So Tall As When He Stooped to Help a Child" is truly illustrated when these uniformed men return to pick up their group and return them to their home counties, and know the pleasure of hearing their charges reminisce about their week, show off their trophies and sing the never to be forgotten camp songs.

Having had the privilege of visiting the camp and of having two sons, who have worked as counselors at this unique spot I speak with personal knowledge of the good times, great facilities and of the many benefits received by the children attending.

The letters sent my sons from former campers now comprise a treasured collection in our home. The following is an excerpt from one camper's letter:

"Dear Staff Member:
How are you doing, Fine I hope, well when I got home my poison ivy had almost gone and the chigger bits too. Me and my friends miss you're all. I really enjoy being there very much. The swimming pool fishing and the food were really cool. And I would like to see the staff always."

Kentucky high school coaches put on basketball clinics every week, visits to the attractions at Kentucky Dam Village (aqua boggin, paddle boating and live theatre), fishing, horseback riding, softball, volleyball, track and field events, swimming, crafts along with Indian folklore and drug abuse program, campfire, songs, awards, good food and evening prayers constitute but a part of the tired, but happy campers' week.

For the past four years, Director Ray Stoess, who has just been awarded the Bell Humnitarian Award; has spearheaded the effort to make the Camp one of the most outstanding in the United States. For the first time this year, the Ranch will honor the outstanding sheriff and deputy who have helped the most. The winners will be chosen on the basis of their in-

by Rainey Apperson
The world of the criminal seems a long way from the world of Jan Purdom, daughter of Pete Purdom and granddaughter of Alice and Wells Purdom, but her work takes her into this world. Jan is a probation officer in Dallas with the Texas Department of Corrections.
Excerpts from a recent article on Crime tell of Jan's work.
More than anything else, probation is a crapshoot: society gambles that most of the lawbreakers that we leave out here won't cause any more trouble. If we win, we've saved a lot of tax money and a few souls; if we lose, we've only helped to generate more crime.
Once an esoteric experiment in corrections, probation is now the principal means by which we seek to reform lawbreakers.
Purdom's charges are required to make weekly visits to the probation department in Oak Cliff — during which they may face anything from a severe scolding for not keeping up with their restitution payments to a urinalysis test to make certain they're staying off drugs — but she also visits them, unannounced, at least twice a month at their homes or jobs. This is called surveillance, and Purdom believes it is the heart and soul of effective probation management.
"They can tell you anything when they come in, and often they do," she says. "Surveillance is a way to make certain they're living the clean life they claim they are. It also reminds them that we're always around. You have to remind probationers that although they aren't in prison, they are still in trouble."
In her confrontations with her charges, Purdom nags, scolds, humiliates gently. This approach can be remarkably effective, as it is with this young man. After he repeatedly evades her questions on the matter of counseling, Purdom finally sets her jaw and says, "Go over to the phone right now, while I'm here, and call the guy. I want to hear you call him myself." The young man hangs his head sheepishly and heads for the phone.
There have been times in housing projects and on dark streets, Purdom admits, when one too many mocking calls of "Hey, mama!" have persuaded her to shift the car into reverse and get out. There have been the predictable sexual innuendos from male probationers, and there is always the threat of physical confrontation. "I watch how confrontatory I am when I'm at their house," she says. "I save the tough talk for when they come see me. And you find that even though I'm a woman, they still know I'm the Man."
Five times as many criminals are on probation as in prison. Jan Purdom is one of the officers who try to keep them in line. Her 37 wards are not just troublemakers. As one of five Dallas probation officers selected to participate in a statewide "intensive supervision" experiment, she works with probationers who are burglars and thieves, would-be murderers, and even crooks who have been on probation once or twice before.
Jan grew up in Murray, attended college here at Murray State University, but she is right at home in Texas these days. Her mother, Mona, is living in Dallas, and also her younger sister, Gwen. Her work is very demanding, but she is answering this challenge with much enthusiasm, and she is proving that probation will work.

OFFICER PURDOM at work: "Even though I'm a woman, they still know I'm the Man."

Married woman says 'going crazy' with her love for married man

DEAR ABBY: I'm in love with this guy I work with. We have a lot in common. His marriage stinks and so does mine. We've done a lot of talking, but that's all. I can't get this guy out of my mind, Abby. We've made plans to spend a weekend together, but something always come up and he can't make it. I even rented a motel room for a Sunday afternoon, but he never showed up. When I saw him at work on Monday, he said he had the feeling he was being followed and didn't want to take a chance.

This guy really appeals to me like no man I have ever known. He keeps saying he would like to get to know me better, but that's as far as it goes.

What I need to know is this: Why can't I get him to meet me away from work?

GOING CRAZY

DEAR ABBY: Because he's either chicken or henpecked. In any case, you're both married to other people, so forget him. He's doing what he does best — talking.

DEAR ABBY: The physical attraction I once felt for my husband is waning fast. The reason? He's fat and doesn't seem to care.

He knows how I feel. Should I find someone else, or pretend he's someone else?

COOLED OFF IN COOS BAY

DEAR COOLED: What else does he have going for him? If he's worth keeping, pretend he's Robert Redford, Burt Reynolds and Paul Newman rolled into one. If that doesn't work, pretend he's Orson Welles and love him to pieces.

DEAR ABBY: I'm another one who never thought I'd be writing to Dear Abby, but I'm too embarrassed about my problem to ask anyone else.

I'll start from the beginning: Dick and I got married when we were both 17, mainly because I was pregnant, but we also loved each other deeply. We've had our problems like most young marrieds, especially getting ourselves into deep financial trouble.

This weekend Dick gave me a real shocker. Because of his job as a construction worker, he works 200 miles away and can come home only on weekends. Anyway, he came home with hickeys all over his neck and admitted he had committed adultery on several occasions because of his strong sexual desires, which I can attest to. He says these girls mean nothing to him and he loves me, but he gets so lonely and there is nothing to do but go to bars. That's where he meets these easy girls. He says if I want to divorce him he will understand and won't fight it.

The fact is, I still love

Dick. Besides, I have two preschool children and I'm four months' pregnant.

What should I do? I am a good Christian, but sometimes I feel like killing myself.

UPSET AND DEPRESSED

DEAR DEPRESSED:

Both you and Dick were married before you were mature enough to handle that kind of commitment. If your marriage is to survive — and you owe it to your children to give it your best effort — you will need family counseling. If your church doesn't provide it, try your local mental health association. Don't back off because of the money. You will be charged only what you can afford. And please remind Dick that bed-hopping with girls he picks up in bars is the way men get VD — and bring it home to their wives.

Dear Abby

Peggy M. Visher selected for special award Mormon chapel to be scene of event

Peggy M. Visher, geologist with the ARCO Oil and Gas Division of the Atlantic Richfield Company, Denver, Colo., was recently selected by the Geology Department faculty at Indiana University to receive the Cumings Award. This honor is for her masters thesis, judged "most outstanding" during the period of the past two years.

The award, named in honor of the late Dr. E. R. Cumings, longtime professor and chairman of the Geology Department, is a cash award. The name of the recipient will be put on the Cumings Award Plaque on display in the Geology Building.

Miss Visher graduated from Murray High in 1974 and from Murray State University, summa cum laude, in May 1977, when she received the "Outstanding Senior Geology Major" award.

For her undergraduate work, she was honored with scholarships from the departments of English and Journalism and from the University Book Store. Sponsored by the J.N. Williams Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, she was awarded in national competition an annually renewable scholarship.

In 1980 Miss Visher earned the M.A. degree from Indiana University, Bloomington, where she served as an associate instructor in the Geology Department. Her honors there include a scholarship from the National Association of Geology Teachers, for study in the 1979 summer workshop at the I.U. Geologic Field Station in Cardwell, Mont.

Her publications are included in the Ninth International Carboniferous Congress Guidebook, May 1979; and the Geological Society of America Programs and Abstracts, April 1980.

She is a member of the Geological Society of America, American Association of Petroleum Geologists, Society of Economic Paleontologists and Mineralogists, Alpha Chi, Gamma Theta Upsilon, and Sigma Chi.

Miss Visher is the daughter of Dr. Halene H. Visher of Dogwood Drive and the late Dr. Stephen S. Visher, longtime professor of geography at Indiana University.

Miss Cindy Haws was married to Ronnie Ball, Jr., on Saturday, May 29. The vows were solemnized at the Salt Lake Temple of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

An open house honoring the couple will be at the Mormon Chapel, 520 South 16th St., Murray, on Saturday, June 26, at 7 p.m.

All friends and acquaintances are invited to attend the open house to honor the recently married couple.

The new Mrs. Ball is a 1982 graduate of Calloway County High School and is the daughter of Dr. Gary Haws of Murray.

Mr. Ball recently completed a two-year mission in Canada for the Mormon Church. He is a graduate of Marshall County High School.

The couple will be residing in Baytown, Texas, until assignment to a new area with the military.

Action casts doubts on tobacco program

By The Associated Press
Rep. Charles G. Rose III, D-N.C., says action taken by Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton, D-Mo., Wednesday night to block the federal tobacco program casts doubt on whether the legislation could pass Congress this year.

"I am very disappointed," Rose said in an interview. "This may mean no tobacco program for 1982 so far as the no-net cost tobacco program is concerned."

Farm leaders have said if the Senate does not pass the bill by today, the changes cannot take effect in time for the opening of the flue-cured marketing season, which begins July 15 in Georgia.

The bill would make sweeping changes in the tobacco program designed to make the program become financially self-sufficient, and to gradually shift allotment ownerships from corporations and investors to farmers.

The House unanimously passed the tobacco reform bill Monday. But Senate tobacco leaders, led by Helms, were unable to get the bill considered by the Senate Wednesday.

The delay was brought about when tobacco leaders failed to get Eagleton to agree to a time limit on Senate debate. Since the bill was being brought up under special procedures, such unanimous consent was needed to suspend Senate rules to consider the legislation.

Senate Majority Leader Howard Baker, R-Tenn., faced with the possibility of extended debate on the tobacco program, refused to allow the bill to be considered by the Senate.

Rose and other tobacco leaders say that if reforms are to take effect in time for the 1982 marketing season, the Senate must pass the bill by today. The House must approve any Senate amendments to the bill, and the House was scheduled to adjourn today for a July 4 recess.

Tobacco leaders say it will be too late to act on the bill after the recess.

Thomas Little, agricultural aide to Sen. Walter D. Huddleston, D-Ky., said there was still hope to get the bill passed today if tobacco state leaders could persuade Eagleton to back off.

Deputies receive probation

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — A federal judge has ordered three years' probation for two former Fayette County sheriff's deputies who were convicted last month of conspiracy and mail fraud.

Carolyn Curtis had been convicted of conspiracy and nine counts of mail fraud and Betty F. Hoopes had been convicted of conspiracy and four counts of mail fraud. The charges concerned filing of false mileage reports from 1974 through 1978.

U.S. District Judge Henry Wilhoit sentenced each of the women to a year in jail, then suspended the sentence and placed both on unsupervised probation.

Clarksville police to make arrests connected with sting operation

CLARKSVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A fix-it shop sting operation was so successful that police were forced to bring it to an early end because they were running out of money to buy the stolen goods, authorities say.

District Attorney General Jack Hestle said Wednesday night that Clarksville police were in the process of arresting 42 people named in sealed indictments handed down by the Montgomery County grand jury.

Authorities said the indictments contained 98 charges of burglary, larceny, receiving and concealing of stolen property and the illegal sale of drugs and liquor.

Police said at least six of the accused are juveniles charged with 26 of the counts.

Only $32,278 out of $103,000 in property purchased by undercover agents in the six-month operation has been identified as stolen, Hestle said.

"We've got over $70,000 worth of property we know is stolen but can't identify," he said. "We need the public to help us sort it out. Once this stuff is identified, some of these same people may be charged again."

Hestle dubbed the sting operation "the second annual spring roundup."

Last year, vice squad agents made a series of drug-related arrests in what was dubbed "the spring roundup."

"That one worked out so well, we decided to go after the people who are committing the crimes to get the drugs," he said. "As soon as we get these arrests processed and out of the way, we intend to launch another sting, at another location. That will probably happen sometime in the next few days."

Fines received from the first spring roundup provided $15,000 of the $35,000 needed to finance the latest operation, Hestle said.

Additional funding came from a $20,000 loan from the office of Mayor Ted Crozier, vice squad Sgt. Doug Pectol said.

"It was going so well that we ran out of money sooner than we expected and we decided to shut down for awhile," Hestle said.

D and D Fix-It Shop in Clarksville served as a front for the sting operation. A hand-lettered black and yellow sign on the shop window said, "We Buy Anything Of Value."

Items purchased ranged from electronic memory typewriters stolen from Austin Peay State University to lawn mowers, tape recorders, hair dryers and video equipment, Hestle said.

Soon after the shop opened, it became known as a place where people could sell used items with no questions asked, Pectol said.

Business was brisk throughout the operation, according to the unidentified man who was hired by the vice squad to run the shop.

Agents gave him cash for each day's operation, because he ran out of money.

"I would come in some days and they would be at the door waiting," he said.

Most of the people indicted were from the Clarksville area.

Poirier: Pushing for perfection during football off-season

Sweat trickles back from his forehead to the brownish-blond hair at his temples, but the irritation is ignored, the repetitions go on.

Whoosh, clank, whoosh, clank.

The weightroom sounds evaporate, unnoticed by perspiring giants moving iron and steel in endless cadences.

Up, down. Up, down. Over and over again.

Beneath the cool concrete of Roy Stewart Stadium, the muscles get bigger, the grunts and groans continue each afternoon as gridders gut out the longest months—those of the off-season.

One weight-conscious participant, Phil Poirier, is an off-season addict. Hooked on weightroom highs, Poirier can be found every weekday afternoon pumping iron, flexing and toning muscle fiber for the first day of his final football season.

As Poirier explains, "You workout hard to get in shape during the summer, then when you come back in the fall you can concentrate only on learning the new plays. It's a lot of hard work, but it's necessary."

Necessary. Hard work. The phrases are commonplace in Poirier's vocabulary, especially since he's determined to be All American by this time next year.

So it's push, shove, and do it again, afternoon after afternoon.

The Sarasota, Fla., native wasn't always as dedicated to the weights, coming to Murray State as a 215-pound, nobody walkon three years ago. Since then, however, he's covering all fields

By JIM RECTOR
Sports Editor

packed 260-plus pounds on his 6-3 frame and he's considered one of the premier offensive tackles in the Ohio Valley Conference.

"Phil's been improving every year he's been with us," said MSU coach Frank Beamer, who went on to tell part of the reason why. "A weight program is the difference nowadays as to whether you have a great program or a so-so one. Today if you don't have a weight program, all you're doing is falling behind."

"It's not easy for the kids to workout on their own when they might be out on the beach or somewhere else instead. Seeing how hard a guy works in the off-season tells you how important (football) is to him. Right now is a critical time in our program, we feel."

And after three years of butting heads and getting pushed around on the collegiate gridirons, Poirier can understand the importance of Beamer's statement.

"You've really got to enjoy lifting," he says, "but when the going gets tough I think back to a play I didn't do well on... maybe a pass play where

I got beat, or a running play where the guy slipped past me. I think of those things and it makes me work that much harder."

Poirier actually works harder than he has to, over-compensating for the natural weight loss at the first of the season. He intends to weigh over 260 pounds (his desired playing weight) by the time the August 11 reporting date arrives.

But weight alone won't help Poirier repeat as All OVC or attain All American or pro status. Technique and flexibility are as important in his daily routine as pumping iron and proper dieting.

"You wouldn't believe what just one little step or positioning can mean in a play. It's that important," Poirier said. And although a lineman covers an average of five to 10 yards each play, the Racer tackle has proof that size and bulk can be deceptive.

In the 40-yard dash he's been timed at 4.9 seconds by MSU coaches and a pro scout has him at 5.1.

"Actually I'm better at long distances. I always do well in the preseason mile run," he said.

Pumping iron, working out... Poirier's time appears dedicated to sports, a real musclehead. Not so.

After changing majors from marine biology to finance, Poirier is working on computer management courses with definite plans for getting his degree. He's also engaged to be married next summer and spends time in various clothing shops.

"It's awful hard to find clothes that fit me," he laughs. "I've got big thighs already and I have to buy pants with the waist too big just to fit my thighs. Shirts I usually buy extra large, but after washing them once or twice they're usually stretched all out of shape. I used to be a really sharp dresser until I started working out."

Ahh well, as they say, such is the price of success.

"... when the going gets tough I think back to a play I didn't do well on... it makes me work that much harder."

— Phil Poirier

McEnroe fights Jekyll-Hyde image, champ's feathers still ruffle

By JAMES LITKE
AP Sports Writer

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — It is somehow fitting that just minutes from where the goodly Dr. Jekyll downed the potion that made him the beastly Mr. Hyde, John McEnroe rails against his own darker side.

But fight it he does, swallowing what anger he can on the neatly manicured lawns of the All-England Lawn Tennis and Croquet Club. It is like shadow-boxing in front of a mirror, except here some 8,000 people are looking on.

Jimmy Connors, who long ago tempered somewhat the demons that continue to haunt McEnroe, highlighted today's card when he put his No. 2 seeding on the line against Australian John Alexander.

In other men's matches, third-seeded Vitas Gerulaitis took on New Zealander Bruce Derlin, No. 4 Sandy Mayer met Colin Dowdeswell of Britain and No. 11 Brian Teacher of the United States got his tournament bid underway against Israeli Shlomo Glickstein.

The ranked women, all of whom received byes in the opening round, also made their debut today as top-seeded Martina Navratilova, No. 3 Tracy Austin, No. 4 Andrea Jaeger and fifth-seeded Hana Mandlikova of Czechoslovakia took the court.

Second-seeded Chris Evert Lloyd, in keeping with Wimbledon tradition of having the defending champion open play, defeated Barbara Sue Gerken on Tuesday.

McEnroe, who opened on Center Court Monday in an impressive victory, moments after wiping out Eddie Edwards of South Africa 6-3, 6-3, 7-5 in a second-round match

Wednesday showed that the feathers of the reigning champion still ruffle. A reporter asked the New Yorker if he "is purposely backing off the throttle a bit?"

"You might put it that way," McEnroe said. "I hope to enjoy my tennis career. This way, as time goes on, it will be easier."

Yet, it didn't go that way Tuesday. With his strokes erratic from the outset, his temperament joined in.

After cruising through the first two sets with nothing more than minor disruptions, McEnroe missed an easy volley in the third game of the final set. He lifted the ball with his racquet and then slammed it into the net. An umpire issued him a warning.

For the third straight day, rain curtailed the card Wednesday and left tournament officials facing a backlog of dozens of matches.

Two other seeded men players reached the second round as No. 12 Mark Edmondson of Australia outlasted American Marty Davis 7-6, 7-5, 7-5 and 15th-seeded Buster Mottram of Britain overcame a tiebreaker loss to overtake 20-year-old Anders Jarryd of Sweden 6-7, 6-1, 6-3, 6-2.

Unseeded American Lloyd Bourne, playing in his first Wimbledon, turned back Ilie Nastase of Romania 6-1, 6-3, 3-6, 6-4.

On the women's side, 15-year-old Kathy Rinaldi advanced to the third round with a 6-2, 6-3 victory over fellow American Betsy Nagelsen.

In first-round matches, Pam Casale defeated Kathy Horvath, 6-4, 6-1; Leslie Allen tripped Catherine Tanvier of France 6-4, 4-6, 8-6;

Alycia Moulton bested Czechoslovakia's Helena Sukova 3-6, 6-3, 6-4, and Zina Garrison beat Leigh Anne Thompson 6-0, 6-2.

Rose leads first base voting

NEW YORK (AP) — Pete Rose, who moved up to second place on major league baseball's all-time hit list this week, is one of three Philadelphia Phillies who lead in the voting for starting positions on the National League All-Star team.

Rose, in the race for the first base job, had an edge of some 33,000 votes over Steve Garvey of the Los Angeles Dodgers in the latest tabulations announced Thursday by the baseball commissioner's office. His Phillies teammates Manny Trillo and Mike Schmidt are the top vote-getters at second base and third, with Schmidt in total command at his position, collecting more votes than any NL player—766,756.

Trillo, a two-time All-Star, leads Dodgers rookie Steve Sax by 152,201 votes. Schmidt, with a 460,243-vote margin on Ron Cey of the Dodgers, is expected to make his sixth All-Star appearance. Johnny Bench of Cincinnati, a 13-time All-Star catcher, is third.

Gary Carter, a four-time All-Star catcher, is one of three Montreal Expos who lead at their positions for the all-star game at Olympic Stadium in Montreal July 13.

Carter has a lead of 369,730 votes over the St. Louis Cardinals' Darrell Porter, his closest rival.

Andre Dawson and Tim Lincecum of the Expos are 1-2 in the tight race for starting outfield berths. Dusty Baker of Los Angeles is third.

Defending champion maintains state lead

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — What better place for a driver than in a car? Except in this case, when the driver in question is the golf club being used by Paducah's Jimmy Brown, the defending champion and half-way leader in the Kentucky Men's Amateur golf championship.

Brown was at 5-under-par 139 heading into today's third round at the tight 6,302-yard Frankfort Country Club, but he wasn't giving his driver any of the credit for his one-shot advantage.

"I'm putting the driver in the trunk, and I've never done that before," Brown said after a Wednesday round which saw him scramble to a 2-under-par round of 70.

Because of the tight fairways of the course, Brown has decided to use shorter woods for accuracy.

The tactic worked at the par-5 15th hole, where he punched a five-wood approach shot within three feet of the cup. He sank the putt for an eagle to ensure his lead over Danny Miller of Lexington, who was at 140 after a 69 on Wednesday.

"All day it was a struggle to get the ball close," Brown said. "I bet I left 12 putts short. It's just one of those things. But I just couldn't get close to the hole. I was 25 to 40 feet away all day."

Brown's troubles — although 5-under-par golf hardly ranks as a disaster — have allowed Miller and four other golfers to remain within striking distance.

Flames douse Aces, Royals upset Stars

Two games were played in the girls' upper division softball rinks, Wednesday, at the new city park complex. The Flames destroyed the Aces' hopes for an undefeated season by winning, 21-7, and the Royals clipped the Stars, 20-19.

Two homers apiece by Ginger Stalls and Shelly Howell coupled with solo homers by Christy Darnell and Cindy Williams dashed the Aces' defense.

Offensively, the normally potent Aces were

Senior Babe Ruth Holland Drugs splits twinbill

Holland Drugs, Murray's Senior Babe Ruth team, split a doubleheader here, Tuesday, against Marshall County.

The locals ran their record to 9-3 after losing the first game, 3-1, but retaliating to take the nightcap, 24-3. Marshall County's Johnny Miller scattered four hits for the win in the first game while David Milton (1-1) took the loss. Milton struck out eight, walked seven and gave up three hits in seven innings.

After being nipped in the first game, Holland Drugs exploded behind hurler Jeff Downey.

Don Hargrove lofted a three-run homer, Ronnie Pace contributed a triple and a double and Downey and Jon Billington each rapped a two-sacker against the MC pitchers.

The game lasted only five innings, called off eventually because of the 10-run rule. Downey's stats for the shortened contest included six strikeouts, three walks and he allowed three runs on three hits.

Tonight Holland Drugs hosts an Anna, Ill., team at 5:30 at Murray State's Reagan Field.

Friday Marshall County hosts the Murrayans in a rematch doubleheader starting at 6 p.m.

M-CC swims to relay runnerup

Until Wednesday the Murray-Calloway County Swim Team had never finished higher than fourth at the Greenville Country Club relay invitational meet. Until Wednesday, that is.

Wednesday the local swimmers finished second among six teams at the early-season meet.

Indian Hills Country Club from Bowling Green took top team honors, but M-CC was second, only 24 points behind. Rounding out the team finishes were Owensboro, third; Hopkinsville, fourth; Paducah, fifth; and host Greenville finished sixth.

Pacing the local effort were six 10-and-under boys — Jon Wilson, Douglas Payne, Brian Shell, Jonathan Gresham, Mark Simmons and Jason Town. Together they captured three firsts and two seconds.

The team of Simmons, Wilson, Gresham and Town finished first in the free relay and second in the medley. Shell replaced Simmons and the group took first in the backstroke relay.

Payne filled in for Wilson of the original foursome and the team placed first in the breast relay. Finally, Payne replaced Simmons of the original foursome and the squad captured second in the butterfly.

The 10-and-under girls, not to be outdone, picked up two first places for M-CC including the freestyle and breaststroke. The four-girl squad included Beth Wilson, Stephanie Sammons, Lori Beth McCullar and Amy Burton. The team also took second in the medley, third in the butterfly (with Jennifer Parker substituting for McCullar), and fourth in the backstroke.

Another pair of first place finishes came from Robert Hopkins, Sean Terry, Eric Easley and Eric Darnell who swam in the 14-and-under category. The team captured the freestyle and breaststroke relays in their division.

The 14-and-under girls squad — Charla Walston, Leslie Franklin, Jennifer Rayburn and Mary Jo Simmons — earned first in the breaststroke.

The last two first place points came from the 12-and-under boys and girls teams. The boys — Jason Town, Jonathan Gresham, Eric Easley and Jimmy Tripp — won the freestyle relay while the girls — Cathy Williams, Cheryl Billington, Megan Cappock and Holly Brown — won the backstroke relay.

Finals fight continues in World Cup soccer

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Round Two of the World Cup soccer finals is shaping up, in part, as a battle between the tournament's two South American favorites in one group and three European longshots in another.

Defending champion Argentina beat El Salvador 2-0 in Alicante Wednesday night to advance to second-round Group C with three-time Cup winner Brazil, which strengthened its status as the top favorite by crushing New Zealand 4-0 in Seville.

The group is rounded out by Italy, which advanced Wednesday with a 1-1 draw against Cameroon in Vigo.

Belgium, Poland and the Soviet Union, each seeking its first world championship, meet in Group A of the second round, which involves 12 of the original 24 teams.

Groups A and C play in Barcelona starting next week, while Groups B and D play in Madrid. One of the three teams in each group will advance to the semifinals July 8.

Only England has clinched a berth in Madrid, and 11 other teams still have a chance for the five spots that will be decided today and Friday by the last six first-round matches.

World Cup newcomer Honduras will qualify if it beats Yugoslavia in Zaragoza.

Bonds for industrial projects approved, other considered

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Requests for industrial revenue bonds for projects from an Oldham County skating rink to a Graves County hardware store are up for state approval today.

Seven local governments are seeking approval for bond issues in the second day of a two-day Industrial Revenue Bond Oversight Committee meeting. The list also includes restaurant projects in Pike County and Florence, a bank in Pike County, a medical office building in Barren County and an office building in Union County. The committee approved all the requests before it Wednesday, including a $10 million city of Louisville bond issue for a shopping mall for factory outlet stores. The developer is Outlet Mall Inc. The bond issues must now get the final approval of the local governments proposing them. The largest of the other projects was a 5-story medical office building in Bowling Green. The committee approved a bond issue of $3,750,000. The developer is Wilson Properties Ltd. The Lexington-Fayette County urban-county government received approval for a $1 million issue for a radio station. The building is for station WTKC in Lexington. The developer is Group M, headed by Pikeville broadcasting executive Walter May.

Other bond issues, local governments issuing them, and the projects and developers, were: —$700,000, city of Louisville, office building, 621 West Main Partnership. —$750,000, Jefferson County, healthy facility, Milestone Health Management. —$2.7 million, Jefferson County, office building, Gregory, Pollitt & Associates. —$950,000, city of Anchorage, office building restoration, Ferguson and Associates. —$225,000, city of Covington, office building renovation, Barbaradale Associates. —$2.5 million, Boone County, shopping center, Spring Meadow Associates.

The committee also approved 6-month extensions on bond issues approved earlier for Pineville, Bowling Green, Owensboro and Covington projects that had been delayed.

Red Cross asks for two types of blood

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The Louisville chapter of the American Red Cross has issued an emergency for type O-positive and O-negative blood.

"This is a crisis," said Dave Goeltz of the Louisville chapter, who said the supply of fresh blood has been dropping steadily for two weeks. In addition, frozen supplies are almost depleted, he said.

"Summer is the normal time of the year for shortages," he said. "But they usually come in July or August."

Doctors assess infant's severed legs

BURLINGTON, Ky. (AP) — A 3-year-old boy was rushed from St. Elizabeth Medical Center South to Jewish Hospital in Louisville late Wednesday to assess whether his severed legs could be reattached.

The boy's legs were cut off in a lawn-mower accident at his home, said Steve Brauch, a St. Elizabeth spokesman.

The boy was transported by helicopter.

PET OF WEEK — Many kittens, all colors and kinds, need homes and are available for adoption at Calloway County Animal Shelter, 103 East Sycamore St., operated by The Humane Society of Calloway County. Hours of the shelter are 8 a.m. to noon and 1 to 5 p.m., Monday through Saturday. For information call 759-4141.

THE ACES[®] BOBBY WOLFF

"Truth is liable to be left-handed in history." — Alexandre Dumas
 "How would you play today's slam?" asked an excited bridge addict. "Wrong," he added, and after listening to only the first two plays.

The man with the wrong answer ruffed the first spade and led a trump to dummy's king. East showed out and that was the end of the slam.

Play continues with declarer ruffing a spade, cashing his ace of trumps and leading a diamond to dummy's ace. Dummy's last spade is ruffed, the two high clubs are cashed and another diamond is led towards dummy. West refuses to ruff once again (a ruff would be fatal to the defense since West would be forced to yield a ruff and discard) and East now scores a natural diamond winner to go with West's queen of trumps.

"You should have played the trumps to pick up West's queen," chastised the original declarer. "The only way to lose this slam is to lose both a diamond and a trump trick. Since a diamond trick is lost only when East has all four diamonds, it's reasonable to assume that West will have the length in trumps. Therefore, the trump ace is the right play at trick two. When East shows out, the rest is easy and you chalk up the slam."

Very good analysis, I say. Too bad he didn't think of it when he played the slam.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22)

Travel and local visits are fun once you reach your destination, but there may be several interruptions along the way.

Too many things to do can bring out the worst in you. Slow down to attain better results. Old friends are good company for you now.

HEALTH

Infant's milk allergy

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have an 18-month-old boy who cannot tolerate milk or anything made from milk. It is a terrible problem since so many foods contain milk products. The smallest drop of milk gives him blisters around his mouth and inside his mouth. He develops red wheals all over his face. His eyes will swell almost closed, then he gets nauseated and usually will vomit.

I have taken him to an allergy doctor but it didn't help. I think he is more sensitive than ever now.

Could you advise me on something to do? I read in one of your columns about adding a supplement to milk that would break down the natural sugar. Would this help?

DEAR READER — I usually write about lactose intolerance because it is widespread among adults and more people ask about it. These people do have an enzyme deficiency and have trouble breaking down the lactose sugar in milk. But that is an entirely different problem from the one your son has.

The other problem is a true allergy. The allergic reaction is to milk protein

This is most likely to occur in infants. The immature digestive system allows some of the protein to be absorbed into the bloodstream without being digested. The allergic reaction causes problems as you describe. By contrast, lactose intolerance usually causes bowel symptoms and gas, not hives.

The best way to manage any allergy is to avoid the substance you are allergic to. In this case that means milk and all milk products. It means not consuming foods made with any milk at all.

Now, growing children must have an adequate intake of calcium and the main source of it is milk. Much of the calcium in vegetables is not absorbed. You should talk to your doctor about a milk substitute for your boy. Some of the milk products made from soybeans that are available do not contain any milk at all and he may be able to tolerate these. Check every label though for ingredients.

Meanwhile I'm sending you The Health Letter number 7-2, Milk Products: Good and Bad. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — My son is 14 and will start his first year of high school this fall. He has a speech defect and takes speech in school but this last summer his speech has really bothered him. I don't know whether someone has made fun of him or not. He has friends and will talk around them but if we have other company he will not say a word. If we go out and eat he tells me what he wants and when the waitress arrives he heads for the rest room. He will not order for himself.

He likes girls but won't talk to them because of his speech. You mentioned once about a person with this problem having a piece under the tongue that the doctor clipped. What do you suggest for my son?

DEAR READER — He should be examined by an ear, nose and throat specialist for any possible anatomical problems. If there are none, which will probably be the case, you would be wise to start him in speech therapy as soon as possible. These techniques often help in such cases. To find a qualified therapist in your area, write for information to the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association, 10801 Rockville Pike, Rockville, MD 20852.

Save marriage approach used

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Before heading to divorce court, a psychologist is inviting combatant couples to spend three days with him on a 33-foot cruiser as a $1,650 solution to their problems.

The psychologist, Ricardo Girona of Toledo, says so far he's had no takers on his Lake Erie cruise-workshop, which he calls a unique approach to marriage counseling.

"In all the years I've been practicing psychology, I've never heard of anything like it," says Girona, who spent 14 years on the faculty at Bowling Green State University.

Girona's cruise isolates couples in a neutral environment and allows him intensive, eight-hour periods to evaluate just what's breaking up the marriage.

The name of the boat? "El Shrinko."
