RAIN DAMAGE — Several reports of damage resulting from Tuesday morning's extremely heavy downpour were cited, but, standing in what was her kitchen, Mrs. Eulala Mardis, Route 3, gives a personal testimony to the amount of destruction left by the rainstorms. Friends, neighbors, the sheriff's department, and members of the Calloway County Fire-Rescue Squad converged on the scene to assist in evacuation and clean-up procedures. Mrs. Mardis, who heard the wall begin to crack, left for help just prior to the cave-in.

Local damage from heavy rains reported

From Staff, AP Reports
Reports of water over several roads were recorded Tuesday as a result of the intense rains throughout Calloway County, according to Calloway County Sheriff David Balentine.

One section of Highway 94, approximately 12 miles east of town, was closed for several hours because of flooding, he stated. "A second road off (Highway) 1346 serving only a small number of homes was cut in half," he commented.

Some of the worst damage left by the rain occurred when the basement home of Mrs. Eulala Mardis, approximately one mile east of Brown's Grocery on Highway 94, suffered severe damage when an entire wall of her home caved in. Mrs. Mardis escaped injury. Extensive structural damage was seen along with harsh mud and water impairments.

Water rising above floor levels in some homes in the Dexter community was also sighted, added Lucy Wright, Disaster Emergency Services coordinator. "From the water marks it was obvious the rain had gone inside the houses, but from all indications the homeowners had everything under control," she noted.

According to Johnny Bohannon, assistant superintendent of the Calloway County Schools, noted that all busses were able to deliver children home safely Tuesday afternoon despite having to detour a couple of roads washed out by the rains.

"One bus driver that made her rounds yesterday morning was unable to make the same rounds yesterday afternoon," he added noting that rain had washed all of the gravel from the top of a sewer. Two other roads, Cook Store Rd., in the Coldwater area, and the Ralph Wright Rd., off 280 east, had to be detoured Bohannon stated.

Dr. Jack Rose, Calloway County School Superintendent, Bohannon, and two school mechanics traveled the road early this morning to inspect their form damages, it was noted.

Commented Dr. Rose, "We were pleasantly surprised there wasn't anymore damage than what there was."

No serious injuries were reported by the local officials. Throughout the state, showers and thunderstorms peppered Kentucky again today, but the storm system that caused flooding in the western part of the state on Tuesday was beginning to move quickly eastward.

Late this morning, the National Weather Service ended a flood warning that had been in effect overnight in Knox, Harlan and Bell counties. The southeast portion of the state, though, remained under a flash flood watch.

Heavy thunderstorms crossed through the Louisville area shortly after daybreak and by mid-morning, the weather service, said a line of showers — west of a line extending from Middlesboro to Manchester to Covington — was moving eastward about 15 miles an hour.

Forecasters said the storms would begin to diminish tonight in the western part of the state.

Shower activity had generally diminished to pockets by early today, but the cumulative effect of rainfall Monday and Tuesday posed the possibility of some flooding.

Portions of the state, mainly in south-central and southwestern Kentucky, were under a flash flood warning Tuesday as the system of showers moved through the state. Some roads were temporarily covered by water, but no mishaps and no injuries were reported.

By Tuesday night, the warnings had been replaced by a statewide watch.

In the wake of the system's movement, fog developed overnight and reduced visibility on roadways in western Kentucky. Patchy dense fog was expected across the state as the rain system moved out of Kentucky.

Earlier Tuesday, heavy rainfall flooded a small trailer park near Grandview in Monroe County and the West Kentucky Rural Electric Cooperative estimated that 2,500 (Continued On Page 2)

Over 50 applications received

Procedures in place for presidential selection at MSU

"All procedures" for the presidential selection at Murray State University are in place and there are several interested in the job, Don Keefe, search coordinator, said Tuesday in a meeting of the institution's search and screening committee.

Keefe, of Fleming and Associates, a national executive search firm based in Louisville, said he has had "good, normal conversations" with several people and they "are interested and are listening. So far, no one has been turned off by Murray State University."

The search coordinator, who was appointed to that position by the Murray State Board of Regents July 30, added that efforts continue to assemble a package of pamphlets concerning Murray State and the surrounding area which would be sent to presidential applicants.

To date, "50-plus" applications have been received by the university, according to Board Chairman Ron Christopher. He declined to comment if there were any local people who have applied for the post.

Christopher said he is sensitive to the confidentiality of all applicants and in future search committee and board of regents meetings all applicants will be given numbers and referred to by the designated numbers in open meeting discussions.

The chairman added he was pleased with the rate the applications had been filed. He added he expects many more since it is commonplace for several people to wait until just before the deadline to file.

The search committee will accept applications through Oct. 1. On Nov. 13, the board of regents will narrow the field down to 10. Five finalists will be announced on Jan. 15, 1983, with the new president being named Feb. 26.

The committee also will be sending out by the end of this week letters to presidents of all institutions of higher learning, over 1,700, requesting recommended persons for the Murray State job. The committee then will send applications to those recommended.

Those applications also are to be received by Oct. 1.

Casualties reported in latest Poland rioting

By THOMAS W. NETTER

Associated Press Writer
WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Police dodging bricks and firebombs fired on a crowd of demonstrators in the town of Lubin, killing two and wounding 12 in the most violent incident marking the second anniversary of Solidarity, the official PAP news agency said today.

Meanwhile, the wife of interned Solidarity leader Lech Walesa said after visiting him that he "was not of the opinion to turn out in the streets and fight. But the workers know that the law is not respected (by the authorities) and workers should fight with the appropriate measures." She did not specify which measures would be appropriate. Mrs. Walesa spoke to a reporter in Gdansk.

The report by PAP was the first announcement of fatalities in demonstrations in at least a dozen cities Tuesday. They were the first deaths caused by clashes between police and protesters since the early days of martial law last December.

PAP said three of the 12 wounded in Lubin were hurt seriously. Eleven police officers and one volunteer police reservist were also reported hurt.

"Investigations so far show that firearms were used because of the aggressive behavior of the crowd, who were attacking the (government) forces with gasoline bombs, stones and bricks," Warsaw radio said in a report monitored in London.

Last of guerrillas leave Beirut port

By FAROUK NASSAR

Associated Press Writer
BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The last 633 Palestine Liberation Organization guerrillas steamed out of the port of Beirut today, heading for exile in Syria and closing a page on the bloody turmoil that has shaken this nation for the past dozen years.

The boat left only three hours after Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger arrived to thank the U.S. Marines who helping safeguard the PLO exodus.

The last contingent of PLO fighters left on the Greek ship Mediterranean Sun for the Syrian port of Tartus. The Lebanese government said they were accompanied by 45 women and 33 children.

Lebanon's state radio said PLO Chairman Yasser Arafat's top security chief Salah Khalef, code-named Abu Iyad, and chief of staff, Brig. Gen. Saad Sayel, also known as Abu Walid, were among the last batch of evacuees.

It was the 14th and last evacuation boat that dispersed the guerrillas among eight Arab countries stretching from Marxist South Yemen on the Red Sea to Algeria on the northwest coast of Africa.

On Tuesday, the Syrian army completed a two-day withdrawal of its 3,000-man 85th Brigade, and two Greek ships — the Paros and Santorini — sailed for North Yemen with 480 men on each, PLO officers said.

An estimated 15,000 PLO fighters, Syrians and Palestine Liberation Army troops have been evacuated under the U.S.-sponsored plan.

In Greece, Arafat landed aboard the Greek ship Atlantis at a secluded yacht marina outside Athens and was welcomed by Prime Minister Andreas Papandreu and four ministers. Hun-

Commerce head eyes economic recovery

By LORRAINE CICHOWSKI

AP Business Writer
Commerce Secretary Malcolm Baldrige joined private economists in hailing the government's latest report on key economic indicators as pointing to "solid economic improvement" in the coming months.

The upward-looking report came Tuesday, and the Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks responded by cracking the 900-point barrier for the first time in more than a year.

The Dow advanced 8.01 points to 901.31, its highest close since 901.83 on Aug. 25, 1981. Nearly four stocks gained in price for every one that lost on the New York Stock Exchange.

Economists said the Commerce Department's report that the Index of Leading Indicators jumped 1.3 percent in July indicates that overall national economic activity should increase substantially by the end of the year. It was the fourth consecutive monthly increase.

"I believe the leading index and the recent sharp drop in interest rates are paving the way for solid economic improvement," Baldrige said.

Jerry Jasinowski, chief economist for the National Association of Manufacturers, called the report "encouraging evidence that economic recovery is about to get under way."

The index includes statistics from 10 separate categories and is intended to forecast future economic trends.

The Commerce Department also reported orders for manufactured goods rose 2 percent in July, the third straight monthly gain and the biggest increase since the end of 1980. Orders rose $3.1 billion to a seasonally adjusted $160.2 billion.

Although the 2 percent gain over June's orders was the largest percentage increase since December 1980, total orders still were 7 percent below the level in July 1981, before the recession began.

The Conference Board, a research group supported by business, reported meanwhile that plans for spending on plants and equipment plunged 22 percent in the second quarter from the previous three months.

The board said capital appropriations, which are authorizations to spend money in the future on new plant and equipment, fell to a seasonally adjusted $20 billion.

Service programs lose federal funds

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky's human service programs will lose about $8.6 million as the result of cuts contained in a recent congressional resolution, according to state Human Resources officials.

House Resolution 352 was part of a spending compromise between the Reagan administration and Congress.

The largest cut will occur in the Department for Social Services, where the Social Service Block Grant to Kentucky will be reduced by nearly $2 million in the next fiscal year.

The block grant provides money for Kentucky's basic social service programs.

Another cut is the termination of Title V of the Older Americans Act, a program providing part-time jobs in community activities for people 55 or older. The program, scheduled to end Oct. 1, will affect approximately 1,000 Kentuckians.

Also, the Child Welfare Services Block Grant is reduced by nearly $900,000, while the employment services grants are expected to decrease by up to $1.7 million.

Regulatory changes in the Aid to Families with Dependent Children program will reduce benefits to Kentucky clients by more than $1 million. These changes involve rounding benefits down to the lowest dollar and prorating the first month's benefits.

Also, children of some military parents will no longer be eligible for AFDC benefits.

The reduction of $1.3 million in health services is primarily in critical service areas, the officials said.

They said the remainder of the cuts will be spread among other cabinet programs, although none will be as extreme.

 Greek government spokesman Dimitri Maroudas said Arafat was expected to stay in Greece up to 24 hours and then fly to an unspecified location. Government sources said he would eventually go to Tunis, Tunisia and set up a PLO base.
 The U.S. defense secretary flew here by helicopter and met immediately with U.S. presidential envoy Philip C. Habib at the residence of U.S. Ambassador Robert Dillon, five miles east of the city. There were no details on their talks.

Lions collect for eye fund

The 13th annual "Help The Lions" Sight Conservation Candy Days will be conducted Sept. 10 and 11 by the Murray Lions Club, according to Arvin Crafton, president.
 Candy Days help support the Kentucky Lions Eye Foundation.
 Members of the local club will man positions at Big John's, Storey's, IGA Northside and Southside, Bank of Murray, People's Bank, Owen's, Wal-Mart, Kroger, JCPenney, K-mart and Parker's Market on those two days.
 Lions also will be present from 7 p.m. to 8 at the Murray High School-Calloway County High School football game Sept. 10.
 Lions will be exchanging the familiar candy rolls for contributions to raise a local goal of $1,500. The statewide goal is $50,000.
 The Murray Lions Club sponsors local sight conservation programs, purchases glasses for needy children and sponsors various other local and school activities.
 "Each candy roll exchanged," Crafton said, "will help the Lions continue and expand their services for sight conservation and assure the Murray Lions Club continuing aid to the visually handicapped and less fortunate in the community."

Weinberger was to meet later today with Lebanese President Elias Sarkis.
 Beirut newspapers reported that Weinberger's talks with Sarkis and Lebanon's president-elect Bashir Gemayel were expected to focus on strengthening the Lebanese army and on a process to bring about an Israeli and Syrian withdrawal from Lebanon in the wake of the PLO evacuation.
 The defense secretary was expected to lunch with U.S. Marines, who arrived here last week to join French and Italian troops in a peacekeeping force to oversee the withdrawal.
 Weinberger said Tuesday the 800 American soldiers could be withdrawn "very soon after" the pullout is completed.
 Weinberger is scheduled to travel to Tel Aviv from Beirut for talks with Israeli leaders, including Defense Minister Ariel Sharon, and then go to Cairo to meet with Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak.

Asked if he planned to discuss the withdrawal of Israeli troops from Lebanon, Weinberger reiterated the U.S. position that the removal of all foreign troops from Lebanon was "essential to ultimate peace" in the region.
 Lebanese Prime Minister Shafik Wazzan says he wants the Israelis to withdraw from the Beirut seaport, airport and positions on the mid-city entrances to west Beirut now that the PLO evacuation is nearing an end.
 But the Israelis say the PLO violated the evacuation plan by turning its heavy weapons over to its leftist Lebanese militia allies, instead of the Christian-led Lebanese army. Israel is now demanding that the 1,500 fighters of the pro-PLO Moslem Murrabitoun militia be withdrawn from west Beirut.
 Wazzan and other Lebanese Moslem leaders rejected the demand, saying this was a "strictly domestic affair uncovered by the PLO evacuation agreement."

Sheriff's office cites various reports here

Ronald E. Jameson, 36, Rt. 1, Almo, was arrested Aug. 30 on charges of theft by deception over $100, according to a spokesman for the Calloway County Sheriff's Department.
 Jameson, currently released on a $3,000 cash bond, was reported to have passed a check in the amount of $5,754 to a local businessman.
 An investigation by the sheriff's department is currently underway.
 Sally Jean Garrett, 24, Paducah, is presently free on a $25,000 bond following her arrest Aug. 27 on charges of theft by failure to make required disposition of property over $100, also known as embezzlement, the spokesman said.
 No further information was available. An investigation into the incident is currently underway by the sheriff's department.
 Allen M. McCallum, 18, Murray, was charged with possession of marijuana following a routine traffic stop on Aug. 28, the spokesman said.
 McCallum, who was sighted at approximately 2:15 a.m. on KY 94 east, was reported to have been possessing less than eight ounces of the illegal weed, plus drug paraphenalia. Both are misdemeanors according to current law.
 A juvenile charged with receiving stolen property over $100 following an arrest on Aug. 28.
 A resident of Shady Oaks, the youth allegedly sold a stolen boat trolling motor and outboard gas can to a Calloway County subject.
 An investigation is currently underway into the incident by Calloway County officials.

YOUNG SKIER — Ryan Cunningham, four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Randy Cunningham, mastered the art of water skiing this summer. Ryan skis at Wildcat Creek and plans to learn barefoot skiing next summer from his father, an avid skier. With the help of his dad, Ryan also taught a three-year-old friend to ski.

 Lubin was not mentioned in earlier reports about the rioting that erupted in at least 12 Polish cities on Tuesday. It is a copper-mining town of 67,000 people, where few incidents of unrest have been reported previously. Authorities responded to Tuesday's deaths by imposing an 8 p.m. to 5 a.m. curfew on the town's youths and an 11 p.m. to 5 a.m. curfew on adults.

 Similar curfews were reimposed in Wroclaw, Dzierzonow, Bielawa, Klodzko and Swidnica, official sources said.
 Warsaw radio, meanwhile, said police had arrested a "terrorist group" planning "political murders" in Katowice, southwest Poland's coal capital where protests were also reported Tuesday.

Not Be Divided or Destroyed." The carried a portrait of Walesa. "Free Lech! Free Lech!" the marchers chanted.
 The police advanced in columns, after rerouting traffic to clear the streets. They broke up the crowds with tear gas, which soon hung in blue clouds over the city's main streets. They also used concussion grenades, which send out a shock wave, but no shrapnel, when they explode.

Warsaw radio, meanwhile, said police had arrested a "terrorist group" planning "political murders" in Katowice, southwest Poland's coal capital where protests were also reported Tuesday.
 "In the apartment of one of the group's members...police found methodical instructions on killing people with specially devised bullets," the radio said.

Fire destroys Benton building

An early morning fire destroyed a portion of the building formerly housing the Miller Plumbing Company and P.N. Hirsch on Main Street, Benton.

Warren County Extension Agent Kely Driskill said he expected little damage to the region's crops despite the heavy rains.
 "It may be there'll be some damage in the low-lying areas, especially those that got more than three inches of rain," Driskill said. "I've seen some soybeans that were kind of squatted down this morning."

The radio said the group planned to execute officials in public, sabotage state facilities and provoke demonstrations and riots by Solidarity members who failed to accept their conspiracy.
 The state media hinted at a new crackdown by Poland's martial law regime, saying Poles will have to "pay" for the defiant demonstrations in support of Solidarity.

According to a spokesman for the Benton Fire Department, the fire was spotted by a passerby approximately 1:30 a.m.

Driskill said the greatest danger to the area's tobacco crop — 80 percent of which is still in the fields — is that strong winds might knock down plants if the water loosens the soil too much.
 Driskill said the wet weather also could slow the fall harvest.

Tens of thousands of Poles, answering the call of Solidarity's underground leaders, went into the streets, braving concussion grenades, tear gas and water cannon fired by riot troops.
 Authorities said several hundred demonstrators were arrested.

The fire quickly spread gutting the two story structure, currently being occupied by Unclaimed Furniture. Several items were also being stored in the building by the Bank of Benton, owners of the facilities.
 The building is located directly across from The Bank of Benton's main office and in the same city block as First Federal Savings and Loan, Valley Building and Loan, Benton City Hall and The First Methodist Church.

The storm caused scattered power outages in the Bowling Green Municipal Utilities and Warren Rural Electric Cooperative Corp. service areas but neither utility reported major problems.
 Buck Jenkins of WRECC said about 400 people experienced outages throughout the night.

At the front of the crowd in Warsaw, marchers carried a huge banner saying, "Solidarity Will Firefighters were still on the scene this morning as flames lingered in areas of the blackened building.

 Another retail store adjacent to the burned-out portion is presently occupied by Something Special gift shop.

Cancer causes topic of study

The seemingly ordinary lives we lead — the conditions under which we live, work and play, the products we use, the food we eat — all may increase our risk of developing cancer.

To learn what exactly in our lifestyles and environment poses a health threat, we need to rely on research studies such as the American Cancer Society's current Cancer Prevention Study II.

This week marks the start of the study in Calloway County and communities all over the country.

Nineteen volunteers from the Calloway County unit of the American Cancer Society will be asking their friends and neighbors to participate in the study by filling out a detailed, very confidential health and lifestyle questionnaire.

The Society's first Cancer Prevention Study, conducted from 1959 until 1972, was instrumental in informing the American public about the dangers of smoking. The study identified cigarettes as the culprit behind lung cancer and heart disease. This is a fact that we take almost for granted these days, but documentation was still meager until then.

At this time of great public concern over possible environmental causes of cancer, there is a definite need for a study of the scope of Cancer Prevention Study II. With rumors flying that just about everything causes cancer, the study will help to identify those factors which really do pose a serious threat to our health.

Are X-rays safe? Can the birth control pill do more harm than good? How dangerous is that morning cup of coffee? These questions and many others, hopefully, will be answered by the study findings, and perhaps shed light on what can be done to reduce our risk of cancer and other diseases.

More than one million men and women will take part in the study, and if you are one of those asked to participate, we urge your cooperation.

The study will take very little of your time — filling out an easy-to-follow questionnaire for now and responding to a few questions from your American Cancer Society volunteer two years from now.

The study's findings are difficult to predict, but we share the optimism of Dr. Robert V. P. Hutter, national president of ACS, who hopes that Cancer Prevention Study II "will help us plan a world without cancer for our children."

Stock market free

There is no freer market than the stock market. It is a remarkable barometer of public confidence in the economy.

Until recently, it had long gauged nothing but lack of confidence. Stock prices had been in a slump for months, failing to respond to even the rosier of economic forecasts. The Dow Jones industrial average had just hit a 27-month low.

Then came Booming Tuesday. It started off just like any other day. But news reached the floor of the New York Stock Exchange that economist Henry Kaufman, perhaps Wall Street's most respected sage, was now predicting that interest rates would drop dramatically by the end of the year, a sharp reversal from his earlier pessimistic forecast.

The market exploded. It leapt out of the doldrums and, in a frantic pandemonium of buying and selling, sent stock prices soaring, pushing the Dow to its largest one-day gain in history.

Why the sudden turnaround? It seems apparent that it was sparked by the same thing that caused the long decline: interest rates. When they were high and economist-gurus were predicting they would stay that way, there was little confidence in the economy and the market sank. Now, with interest rates seemingly on their way down, investors are in an optimistic mood.

The market's vote of confidence in the prospect of lower interest rates is further proof that high interest rates, more than anything else, are the bugaboo of the economic recovery. They discourage credit buying and investment, thus contributing to slow growth and high unemployment.

If the economy is to get back on its economic feet, interest rates must continue to decline. But the danger in that is the inflation rate might start to escalate again, which would be even more damaging to the economy. Inflation and interest rates have been like a seesaw in recent years: when one is high, the other is low.

The only way to get off the seesaw is to have the federal government move toward a balanced budget and keep on moving until rapid growth of the national debt is brought under control.

Little noticed bill shifts state government

by s.c. van curon

FRANKFORT—A little noticed bill that shakes up state government from its head to its toes was passed in the waning days of the legislature and its full impact is now beginning to be felt after it became effective June 15.

The bill covers 36 pages in the Legislative Acts printed by Banks Baldwin. It completely reorganizes state government "finishing up the job started by the Ford administration in 1973," Ralph Ed Graves who spent many months doing the job for the Brown administration, said.

It created three new cabinets in state government, making a total of 10 to which another was added recently when Revenue was advanced to cabinet status from department.

The bill went through as one of those "housekeeping" measures without any mention being made of cost. In time, all of the stationery, all of the manuals, and the signs on state buildings and office doors will have to be changed to conform with the bill.

No one in government wants to make an estimate of cost. As Graves explains it, "there will be very little added cost since present printing supplies are to be used until new supplies are needed." He said the old names will be Xed out and the new cabinet of division name typed over the others on all stationery and new manuals won't be printed until the present supply is exhausted. At least, he said, "this is supposed to be what happens."

Two afternoons of calling the state printing department and property and supplies in the Bureau of Transportation got no information whether printing of the new stationery and manuals is now being done.

Don Tyson, head of state printing, was ill at home and Ed Yates who handles the printing for Transportation was out of the office both afternoons. Their assistants evaded questions and said any information would have to come from Tyson or Yates.

State government was completely reorganized, creating Bureaus during Gov. Wendell Ford's administration, but there wasn't time to give it a trial run and make necessary refinements. This is what Graves said was done by Brown, in changing Bureau to Cabinets.

The original idea was to put related functions under a Bureau and the secretary was to report to the governor, instead of the governor having an assistant in his office ride herd of several departments of government and report to him. The new Secretaries are in turn members of the governor's cabinet with a super cabinet secretary over all cabinet secretaries.

Graves said all departments were notified well in advance about the reorganization before the bill was passed so they could plan their printing ahead for the changes.

There was a feeling around when the Ford Administration reorganized government that creation of the Bureau positions just added another layer of bureaucracy for high-paying patronage positions.

For example, some of the constitutionally elected state officials are in cabinets and ostensible under the cabinet secretary, but everyone knows that a constitutionally elected official is going to run his office as he sees fit, in keeping with law and the constitution.

Each cabinet is broken down into six subdivisions, providing uniformity throughout government, Graves says. Departments are headed by commissioners, divisions by director, branches by managers, sections by supervisors, units by leaders and then offices.

Cost of changes that leave the Brown brand on state government vary from Graves practically nothing to millions of dollars.

Regan popularity sliding

WASHINGTON (AP) — In those heady early days of 1981, Ronald Reagan seemed so popular with the public that Congress was hesitant to cross the man who had won a startlingly big election victory.

But those days are gone and, with them, a chunk of Reagan's popularity.

For Reagan is not, it seems, immune to one of the apparent rules of American politics. At midterm, a president's rating with the public goes just one way, down.

The Republican incumbent's slide has not been as long or as steep as Jimmy Carter's plunge in the polls. But his ratings with the public have been dropping nonetheless.

Americans' positive rating of his work overall stands at 37 percent in the latest Associated Press-NBC News poll, the lowest of his administration. That's far from the 66 percent rating he received in April 1981. For comparison, Carter's positive job rating in August 1978 stood at 26 percent, the low point for him at the time.

Let one forget, presidential ratings can also go up. But such spurts are usually temporary ones based on an international crisis or particularly outstanding presidential victory.

Congressional actions, bureaucratic decisions and presidential initiatives depend on many factors, not just poll results. But poll standings can be important to a president.

If the presidential ratings are high, they act like grease in the machinery of government.

During the honeymoon days of the Reagan administration, for example, many congressmen and congressional aides seemed convinced that Ronald Reagan was one of the most popular presidents in history. That perception was incorrect, since Reagan's standing with the public was not much different from Carter's at the same point in his administration.

When the president's standing begins to drop, that grease in the government machinery seems to turn into sand. And it becomes a bit harder for the president to get his way.

For example, Reagan couldn't quite get the budget bill he wanted this year. To get what he could, Reagan had to swallow a tax increase of almost $100 billion, a bitter dose of political medicine for a politician who prides himself on being a tax-cutter.

What Reagan is learning is that there was a lot of truth in an observation by Lyndon Johnson.

"You've got to give it all you can that first year," Johnson said after he left office. "You've got just one year when they treat you right."

heartline

Heartline is a service for senior citizens. Its purpose is to answer questions and solve problems. If you have a question or a problem not answered in these columns, write to Heartline, 114 East Dayton St., West Alexandria, Ohio 45381. You will receive a prompt reply, but you must include a self-addressed, stamped envelope. The most useful replies will be printed in this column.

HEARTLINE: My mother, who is 69 years old, had a stroke several months ago. She will be released from the hospital in a couple of weeks. She will not be able to go to her own home, because my father is not able to give her the care and attention that she will need and we cannot afford someone to stay with her around the clock. So, we have to put her in a nursing home for at least a few months until she is able to do more for herself and regains some of the strength she has lost. How do we go about selecting the nursing home that will be right for her? There must be some way of comparing them to make the choice easier. Any suggestion? F.V.

ANSWER: There are quite a few things you must learn about the nursing home in order to make a comparison. You must learn whether or not the nursing home and the administrator both have a current license with the state. You should also find out if the home is certified to participate in Government and other programs, such as Medicare, and if it has any special services your mother will need.

You will also have to compare the physical aspects of the nursing homes in question. This includes the location, accident prevention, fire safety, cleanliness, etc. Then there are the services to be compared, such as the medical services, hospitalization, nursing services, rehabilitation, activities, etc. And, the most difficult of all, the atmosphere and attitudes of the personnel who work at the home.

You can find an easy-to-fill-out check list concerning nursing homes in Heartline's Almanac for Older Americans. By using this checklist, you can compare nursing homes to one another. You will also find other topics of information and education for and about the elderly and retirement. To order your copy, send $9.95 to Heartline's Almanac, 114 East Dayton St., West Alexandria, Ohio 45391. Please allow 6-8 weeks for delivery.

HEARTLINE: What does Medicare Part "A" pay for basically? P.F.

ANSWER: Your Medicare Part "A" helps pay for medically necessary covered services provided by health facilities that participate in the Medicare program if you are:

1. A bed patient in a hospital, and if you require more care for the same condition after a hospital stay, you can receive coverage if you are;
2. A bed patient in a skilled nursing facility; or
3. A patient at home receiving services from a home health agency.

Elkins and Sheridan vows solemnized

The marriage of Miss Shirley Jeanne Elkins and Roy Dale Sheridan was solemnized in a ceremony on Saturday, July 24, at Salem Baptist Church.

The Rev. Michael Littrell officiated. Mrs. Angela Fuqua, pianist and vocalist, presented a program of music. Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. James D. Elkins. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. A.D. Elkins and Mrs. Veola Parks and the great-granddaughter of Mrs. Hattie F. Elkins. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry L. Sheridan. He is the grandson of Mrs. Elizabeth Haneline and Cleatus Enoch.

The church altar was centered with a wrought iron arch entwined with blue and white roses and love birds. Baskets of pink and yellow roses were used on each side of the altar.

The bride

The bride wore a dress of white crepe designed with a lace yoke and lace sleeves. Her train was attached to her white picture hat. The dress was made by the bride's mother.

She carried a bouquet of blue roses and white daisies.

Mrs. Denise Smith was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Cathy Crawford and Sarah Elkins. Junior bridesmaids were Debbie Littrell and Tammy Littrell.

The attendants wore blue floral print dresses designed with pointed waistlines and ruffled neck and hem lines. They carried bouquets of blue roses.

Carl L. Enoch was best man. Larry K. Enoch, Ricky Sheridan, Chris Sheridan and Marty Sheridan were groomsmen. The latter three, all brothers of the groom, also served as ushers. The groom and his attendants wore blue suits with white shirts and solid navy blue ties. They had white rose boutonnieres.

Natoshi Shoemaker was flower girl. She was escorted by Jason Littrell.

The ringbearer was Eric Littrell.

Mrs. Elkins and Mrs. Sheridan, mothers of the bridal couple, were attired in blue dresses. Their corsages were of blue roses.

The wedding was directed by Mrs. Frances Jones.

Miss Joy Kelso presided at the wedding register.

Reception

Mrs. Martha Littrell directed the reception held in the Fellowship Hall of the church.

The bride's table was covered with lace over blue and was centered with an arrangement of blue roses and white daisies flanked by blue candles.

The three-tiered wedding cake, made by Mrs. Littrell, was decorated with wedding rings and topped with an arch of wedding bells.

Assisting Mrs. Littrell in serving were Jean Bailey, Veronica Elkins and Linda Easley.

The couple left for a short wedding trip and are now residing in the Coldwater community. They both are students at Murray State University.

Rehearsal dinner

The groom's parents were hosts for a rehearsal dinner at Seven Seas Restaurant. Gifts were presented to the attendants.

Bridal events

Three bridal events given in honor of the bride included:

A kitchen shower by Cathy Crawford, Joann Shoemaker and Joy Kelso at Community Room of North Branch of Peoples Bank.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Dale Sheridan

A tea by the family of the groom at the Coldwater United Methodist Church.

A tea by Maxine Starks, Veronica Elkins, Julia Parks and Cheryl Elkins at Salem Baptist Church.

Balloons used in new method

BALTIMORE (AP) — Thousands of children with sometimes fatal heart defects may be spared costly surgery by a new procedure using balloons devised by Johns Hopkins Hospital doctors.

The treatment involves a small balloon which is attached to a tube inserted through arteries into the heart and inflated briefly to open the blocked heart valve, Dr. Jean Kan said Tuesday.

Because the new technique is cheaper and easier, "it will very quickly become the treatment of choice for pulmonary valve stenosis," which blocks the flow of blood from the heart to the lungs, Ms. Kan said.

MARILYN DILL, teacher for Multi-Age Preschool Coop at Early Childhood Center, Murray State University, is visiting in the homes of preschool students Aug. 30 to Sept. 2 prior to opening of school on Thursday, Sept. 9. Persons desiring information about the coop may call Sharon Starkey, 759-9807. Mrs. Dill is pictured, top photo, with Brandon McCoy, and bottom photo, with Kerl Whitfield.

Historical society plans tour of Memphis area

Jackson Purchase Historical Society has set its annual fall tour for Saturday, Oct. 2, with visitation in the Memphis area this year. Serving as tour directors for the 25th annual tour will be Dr. and Mrs. Hunter Hancock of Murray.

Points included in the itinerary include the following:

Chucalissa Indian Museum, an off-campus facility of the Department of Anthropology at Memphis State University, which provides a dramatic insight into the life and times of Indian culture between 1,000 and 1,500 A.D.

A box lunch will be eaten at an adjacent park.

Pink Palace Museum where southern history will live again through utilization of interpretive displays, appropriate models, old photographs, preserved documents and relics.

Drive-by view of the equestrian statue of Gen. Nathan Bedford Forrest at Forrest Park.

Tours of the preserved Italianate Victorian home of the Mallory-Neeley Mansion, and of Fontaine Mansion, a restoration of a French Victorian home. Behind the latter are two doll houses complete with furniture of the period, one of Victorian and the other of Gingerbread.

Dinner will be at the Carriage House Restaurant before leaving for home about 7:30 p.m.

Reservations with check must be received by Monday, Sept. 20, by the secretary, Miss Margaret Heath, 1202 Joe Creason Dr., Benton, Ky. 42025. The fee of $40.50 will include bus fare, box lunch and drink, tickets for four tours, dinner at Carriage House and a small stipend to cover expenses of the driver.

Non-members will be accepted on a stand-by basis, but only if requests are accompanied by check with stamped self-addressed envelope so that refund can be made if no vacancies occur. Cancellations cannot be accepted after Sept. 20 unless a standby reservation is available.

The bus will leave Paducah's Greyhound station at 5:30 a.m.; Benton First Missionary Baptist Church, 13th and Main, at 6:05 a.m.; Murray bus station at 6:45 a.m.; Mayfield bus station at 7:20 a.m.; and Fulton bus stop on U.S. Highway 51 By-Pass at 7:55 a.m.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Paschall dies Tuesday at hospital

Mrs. Novie Paschall, 76, 410 Sycamore St., died Tuesday at 9:45 p.m. at Murray-Calloway County Hospital.

Her husband, O.T. Paschall, died Aug. 3, 1980, and a daughter, Mrs. Virginia Dale Barnett, died Oct. 22, 1970.

Mrs. Paschall had taught school in Calloway County and Henry County, Tenn., but her most recent employment was at Boone Laundry & Cleaners. She was a member of First Baptist Church.

Born Sept. 22, 1905, in Calloway County, she was the daughter of the late Charlie Orr and Eula Paschall Orr.

Survivors include one sister, Mrs. Lillian Page, 501 South Ninth St.; one brother, Hafford Orr, Rt. 1, Hazel; two half sisters, Mrs. George (Lottie) Pittman, Akron, Ohio, and Mrs. Exie Paschall, 415 Sycamore St.; two half brothers, Euell Orr, Paris, Tenn., and Elisha Orr, Reidland.

Also surviving are several nieces and nephews.

The funeral will be Thursday at 3:30 p.m. in the chapel of Blalock-Coleman Funeral Home. Dr. Bill Whittaker and the Rev. James Garland will officiate.

Burial will follow in Oak Grove Cemetery in Henry County, Tenn.

Friends may call at funeral home after 4 p.m. today (Wednesday).

Wood's rites on Thursday

Services for J.B. Wood, 59, will be Thursday at 1:30 p.m. in the chapel of J.H. Churchill Funeral Home.

The Rev. Elijah Balentine will officiate. Music will be by choir of Bethel Chapel Pentecostal Church.

Burial will follow in Elm Grove Cemetery.

Visitation will be from 2 to 4 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m. today (Wednesday).

Mr. Wood, Overland Park, Kan., died Monday at Shawnee Mission Hospital, Mission, Kan. He is the son-in-law of the Rev. and Mrs. Lloyd Underhill, Rt. 3.

Blanton may soon be freed in Texas

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Gene Blanton, who entered a Texas prison less than three months ago to serve a three-year sentence for bid rigging and tax evasion, may soon be leaving jail following a federal judge's order to commute the term to time served, Blanton's attorney said.

Nashville attorney John Hollins said he received a telephone call Tuesday from the secretary of U.S. District Judge Thomas Ballantine in Louisville, Ky., informing him his client's sentence had been commuted to time served.

Hollins said the date of Blanton's release would depend on the length of time it takes officials to complete the paperwork.

Blanton, the younger brother of former Gov. Ray Blanton, began serving the sentence at a minimum security facility at Texarkana, Texas, on June 14.

In a motion asking Ballantine for an early release, Blanton said his wife "does not earn sufficient income to support herself" at her part-time job and his child needs support.

Hollins said Ballantine's secretary told him the judge would place Blanton on three years' probation and require him to perform public service work, helping repair bridges in McNairy and Hardin counties.

Hollins said he tried to reach Blanton at the Texas facility when he first got word of the commutation, but the inmate was performing his prison work.

"He called me back. He was speechless," Hollins said. "Obviously, he was very pleased."

Attempts to reach Ballantine at his office and home Tuesday were unsuccessful.

A spokesman at the Texarkana prison said Tuesday he had no information about the commutation.

Blanton, 47, admitted last June that he rigged bids on $5.5 million in state road projects. He pleaded guilty to two counts of bid rigging and one count of mail fraud.

He faced a maximum sentence of 11 years in prison and $201,000 in fines, but Ballantine sentenced Blanton to three years in jail and fined him $40,000.

But Blanton contended the sentence was harsher than others received by bid riggers and appealed to the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals. The Cincinnati court upheld the sentence.

Earlier this month, Blanton agreed to pay the state of Tennessee $25,000 in five equal annual payments as part of a restitution settlement. He also agreed to liquidate the assets of two family-owned businesses and give the state the money.

Blanton was convicted in April 1981 at Memphis on a charge of understating his 1978 income by $18,000. He was sentenced to one year and one day in prison and was fined $5,000.

Blanton and his uncle, Jake Blanton, were indicted in February 1981 by a federal grand jury which had been investigating bid rigging for 18 months.

Jake Blanton pleaded guilty to two counts of bid rigging and one count of mail fraud and was sentenced to five months and 29 days in jail. He was sentenced to five months in prison after pleading guilty to income tax evasion. He has served his sentence.

Ray Blanton is appealing a conviction on conspiracy, mail fraud and extortion charges.

Friday disasters pave way for local improvement

After last week's disasters, both Calloway County and Murray High will be seeking recovery wins in Friday night's high school football action.

Calloway, thwarted by five turnovers and 14 missed tackles, handed district opponent Union County a 30-13 feast. At one point the Lakers only trailed by five, 18-13, in the third period.

But, as CCHS coach Sam Harp pointed out, giving up three fumbles, two interceptions and getting a bad snap on a punt increases the opportunity for failure.

Friday at 8 p.m. Harp's charges return to home port to take on Dyer County, one of three teams to beat the Lakers last year.

Dyer County, led by coach Ab Davis, caught CCHS napping last year and dealt a 25-7 decision to the unsuspecting visitors. This year the Lakers won't be as easily surprised.

Anchoring Dyer County's attack will be a pair of good-sized senior tackles — 250-pound Larry Rhodes and 220-pound Wally Childress who played end last year. Another converted end, senior Ronald May, will quarterback the Tennessee visitors in their season opener.

Calloway will have two-game experience on Dyer County, a team which finished 5-4 last year.

Murray High, crushed 40-5 by Mayfield, the No. 1 ranked 2A school in the state, will try to rebound on the road when the Tigers (0-1) visit Reidland.

The Greyhounds will be seeking their first victory of the season after suffering losses to Ohio County and Heath.

Last year Reidland relied on a strong defensive effort to edge Murray, 7-3, at Ty Holland Stadium. After finishing 7-4 last year the Greyhounds have been disappointing to coach Tony Burken thus far.

Posey latest casualty

Injuries rubbing Beamer wrong way

Coach Frank Beamer is very matter-of-fact when discussing the rash of injuries that has struck his football team.

"I'm about ready to slash my wrists," Beamer said.

Beamer is trying to prepare his Racers for Saturday's season opening game against Southeast Missouri, but each day he has had to revise his lineups.

"Whoever is walking Friday will start Saturday," he said.

Murray's linebacking corps has been decimated by injuries, including a knee injury that will keep Mark Simmons on the sidelines for the second straight year. Simmons sat out last year after breaking a wrist.

"We're hopeful that he'll make it back before the end of the year, but I don't know if he'll make it or not," Beamer said. "He's had so many things happen to him. He had been in great shape, had worked so hard this summer. We were looking forward to having a great year from him."

Simmons' runningmate, All-Ohio Valley Conference performer Donald White, also was sidelined with a knee injury, although he is expected back.

"In a week's time, we'll know when, but he'll miss this game and probably the next," Beamer said.

Guard Rick Posey suffered a knee injury and will probably miss the season after earning a starting spot. He will be replaced by the man he but playing at home could be a necessary advantage to get his team on the winning track.

Third-year quarterback David Walker along with nine of 11 returning defensive starters could give Murray a tough time Friday at 7:30 p.m.

After losing his debut as MHS head coach, Tim English has done some shaking up around the Tiger den.

Sophomore tailback Steve Rutledge, last week's leading Tiger ground-gainer, has been suspended from the team "indefinitely for disciplinary reasons," according to English. Also, the Tigers have conducted a back-to-basics revival in search of a winning formula.

"We've learned a good lesson in basic fundamentals from Mayfield and now we're going back and re-teach what we already should know," English said. The Tigers will concentrate on establishing a power running game behind the bulk of fullback Steve McDougal and the outside speed of senior tailback David McCuiston, who will replace Rutledge.

Two pluses return to full strength this week after being hampered with injuries last week — linebacker-lineman Jimmy Kelly will return to the MHS lineup after suffering a hand injury and senior center Brad Cain is expected to start Friday after missing the first part of last week's game because of a back injury.

English said, "We're back to being completely healthy and we're looking forward to Friday."

Other Friday games involving district and area teams include a Class 3A district matchup pitting Crittenden County against host Webster County. Lone Oak visits Paducah Tilghman, Union County hosts Madisonville, and in other action involving District One, Class A teams, Franklin-Simpson travels to Russellville, Fulton City goes to Greenfield, Tenn., and South Fulton, Tenn., travels to Fulton County.

In other area games Mayfield hosts Christian County, Marshall County hosts Caldwell County, Heath travels to Hopkinsville and Todd County Central hosts Greenville.

Racer coaches select captains

Four seniors have been selected as captains for Saturday's Murray State home game against Southeast Missouri.

The four — quarterback Winston Ford, offensive tackle Phil Poirier, defensive end Glenn Jones and defensive lineman Rodney Lofton — were selected by the Racer coaching staff Tuesday to represent the team.

The selections were based on preseason performances and leadership qualities displayed during pregame practices. Captains will be selected on a game-by-game basis, according to the philosophy of Racer coach Frank Beamer.

Wrong grid date: correction listed

Tuesday's sports section erroneously listed the Murray High at Reidland football game as being scheduled for Saturday night.

The game will be played Friday night at 7:30 p.m. We apologize for and regret the error.

Yanks trade winningest AL pitcher

Angel deal pleases unhappy John

DETROIT (AP) — Tommy John, unhappy in New York, is pleased to be joining the California Angels and they're extremely pleased to have him.

"I can't wait to get there," the left-handed pitcher said Tuesday night after learning he'd been dealt by the New York Yankees to the Angels.

"I'm joining a great bunch of guys and I like the idea of contributing to a pennant race," John, in Minneapolis with the Yankees, said before leaving to join the Angels in Detroit.

One of his new teammates and another former Yankee, Reggie Jackson, said he looks forward to playing with John, who spent three full seasons in New York after leaving the Los Angeles Dodgers in 1978.

"I think Tommy John will give our whole ball club a lift," Jackson said. "He's a great competitor who has proven that he can do the job down the stretch."

Angels Manager Gene Mauch said: "All I can say is if Tommy John gets seven starts, we've got seven chances to win. I'm not saying he'll win every game, but he hardly ever beats himself."

"We've wanted Tommy John for four or five weeks. If he's ready, he'll pitch the first game in Milwaukee (Friday night)."

The 39-year-old John joined the Angels in Detroit late Tuesday night. With a 10-10 record this season and a 3.66 earned run average in 30 appearances, his lifetime record is 233-169. A three-time winner of 20 games, he is the winningest pitcher in the American League over the past three years with a 52-36 mark.

The Angels, who also purchased veteran left-hander John Curtis from the San Diego Padres earlier Tuesday, gave up three minor league players, to be named later, to the Yankees.

John played seven seasons with the Dodgers prior to signing as a free agent with the Yankees. He also pitched for the Cleveland Indians in 1963 and 1964 and for the Chicago White Sox from 1965 to 1971.

John had asked to be traded a month ago, having grown unhappy with the defending AL champion Yankees, who are floundering in the AL East this season.

"I knew it would come down to the last day," John said. "It's like playing poker. Everybody makes their bids. Yesterday all the cards were dealt and it came down to today."

He said he hoped he would be favorably remembered by the New York fans.

"Anytime it comes down to this, you're put in the position of being a bad guy," John said. "I hope the people don't think of me as a bad guy. I hope they think of Tommy John as an athlete who tried to do his best every time out, which I did."

John had made one of baseball's more spectacular comebacks after undergoing arm surgery in 1974 for a ruptured ligament in his left elbow.

King falls in U.S. Open

Teen-ager upsets aging tennis queen

By HAL BOCK
AP Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Before 18-year-old Susan Mascarin took the court for her first-round match against Billie Jean King in the U.S. Open tennis championships, she got a little advice from her coach, Owen Davidson.

"He said not to look at her," said Mascarin. "She's very intimidating. I think she can outstare me."

So Mascarin tried hard not to think about King, a tennis legend who won her first U.S. Open crown, a doubles title, in 1964, the year Susan was born. It was not an easy task.

"When she's serving, it's kind of hard not to look at her. I tried to look at the ball, but she got in the way."

Still the teen-ager from Grosse Pointe Shores,

Mich. overcame the center court jitters and the 12th-seeded King's stare for an impressive 6-3, 6-2 victory and the first upset of the 101st U.S. Open tournament.

Other first day winners included No. 11 seed Mats Wilander of Sweden, another precocious 18-year-old, who defeated Bill Scanlon 6-4, 6-3, 6-1; third-seeded Ivan Lendl of Czechoslovakia, who beat Ramesh Krishnan of India 6-4, 7-6, 6-1; and No. 4 seed Guillermo Vilas of Argentina, who outlasted Chris Dunk 6-7, 6-3, 6-4, 6-2.

In women's play, Chris Evert Lloyd, seeded No. 2, got started with an easy 6-1, 6-0 victory over Pilar Vasquez.

Martina Navratilova and John McEnroe, the tournament's top seeds, both swing into action tonight. Navratilova faces Laura DuPont and McEnroe goes against Tim Gullickson in center court matches.

Evert Lloyd won the first five games against Vasquez before dropping one and was in total control of her match.

Earlier, Lendl and Wilander both scored straight set victories although both struggled at times.

Lendl beat Krishnan 6-4 in the first set but then needed a tie-breaker to take the second 7-6. He completed the sweep by winning the last set 6-1.

The turning point came when Krishnan double-faulted on the final point of the second-set tie-breaker.

Wilander, surprise winner of the French Open, also had his problems in his first match at the National Tennis Center.

But Scanlon was unable to seize any kind of advantage and Wilander recovered from an early 4-2 deficit in the first set.

Vilas dropped the first set against Dunk in a tie-breaker, but battled back to win the next three and advance to the second round.

Claiborne's 'Cats may be inclined to develop ground-oriented attack

LXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — In his years as a football coach, Jerry Claiborne has been known to lean heavily on a passing attack. But the way Kentucky's five quarterbacks are throwing so far, the first-year Wildcat coach may prefer the safer ground attack.

"If we don't improve our passing game, we won't be throwing it up for grabs," said Coach Jerry Claiborne. "We'll do what we do best and, right now, we're running better than passing. But you're better off if you do both."

The quarterbacks have combined to complete just 20 of 63 passes in the University of Kentucky's first two intrasquad football scrimmages.

Claiborne complained after Saturday's scrimmage about the number of passes missed, dropped or intercepted.

"We dropped nine and that didn't help any," he said. "Sometimes we had receivers open and didn't get the ball to them."

Sophomore Doug Martin, first backup to junior starter Randy Jenkins, leads the five quarterbacks with eight completions, 23 attempts and 155 yards after two scrimmages.

He has combined with wide receiver Eddie Simmons on a 52-yard touchdown pass play, but has thrown three of the group's seven interceptions.

Jenkins has completed six of 21 passes for 76 yards, no touchdowns and two interceptions.

Freshman Mike Whitaker of Hyden has the best completion percentage on six of 14 passing for 107 yards and one score. He has thrown two interceptions.

Freshmen Bill Ransdell of Elizabethtown and Tony Mayes of Paintsville have failed to complete a pass in three attempts and two attempts, respectively.

Simmons, a junior, leads Wildcat receivers with four catches for 124 yards and two touchdowns.

Junior tailback Pete Venable has averaged 5.9 yards per carry in the scrimmages. He leads the team in rushing attempts (28) and yards (164) with one touchdown and a long run of 49 yards.

Venable rushed 47 times for 89 yards and a score Saturday. Senior Terry Henry, a former quarterback, carried eight times for 70 yards. In two workouts, Henry has rushed 12 times for 104 yards and a touchdown.

Sophomore Lawrence "Choo Choo" Lee, who is listed as Kentucky's No. 1 tailback, and junior Jeff Smith, a starting defensive tackle, sat out Saturday's scrimmage with ankle sprains.

Also sidelined were senior offensive tackle Steve Williams (knee sprain) and senior tight end Rob Mangas (hamstring pull) and Todd Shadowen (shoulder injury).

Soap opera couple's wedding vows appear in newspaper's list

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — As it turned out, the whole episode resembled a story line from a soap opera.

In its Sunday editions, The Courier-Journal reported that Elizabeth Anne Chandler and Dr. Neil Phillip Curtiss tied the knot Saturday evening at St. Mark's Episcopal Church in the posh New York suburb of Scarsdale.

But there is no St. Mark's Episcopal Church in Scarsdale.

And the only place you'll find the lovely couple and their attendants, also listed in the announcement, is on the afternoon television soap opera "Days of Our Lives."

David V. Hawpe, Courier-Journal managing editor, said in a three-paragraph statement published in Tuesday's editions that the paper's readers had been victims of a "hoax wedding announcement."

The phony nuptial note had been submitted in a

"routine way" to the paper's Accent Department, the statement said.

"There was no reason to believe that it was anything other than a legitimate submission," Hawpe said.

NBC-TV publicist LeAnne Baker, in a phone interview from Burbank, Calif., called the incident bizarre.

"Sometimes fans get really into it. They can't separate reality from fiction," Maureen Mc Nerney, editor of The Courier-Journal's Accent section, said some people have suggested NBC might have placed the announcement as a public-relations stunt, a charge that Ms. Baker denied.

"Oh God no!" she said. "That's not even the right story line."

Actually, Liz Chandler and Curtiss were supposed to be married on the TV show about three weeks ago, but a series of disasters came between them.

(Specifically, Liz's current husband won't grant her a divorce until she bears him a child, Ms. Baker said.)

The announcement, submitted by somebody using the name of the purported bride-to-be, gave a New York phone number that turns out to be the office of American Lawyer, a respected magazine about high-powered attorneys and their firms.

Suzan Adams, assistant to the editor, said nobody at the magazine had anything to do with the "wedding" and that its phone number probably had been picked by accident.

The wedding announcement contained a few other bits of cleverly crafted fiction.

The bride is listed as a graduate of University of New York at Long Island, but there is no such school, according to Barron's Profiles of American Colleges.

The groom is said to have graduated from the University of Louisville Medical School, but the registrar's office checked back to 1876 and found that nobody by that name ever attended the school.

The Courier-Journal gets as many as 100 announcements each Sunday and can't verify every one. But Hawpe said that in the future, editors would be checking more carefully.

"I wouldn't say this is a amusing," Ms. Mc Nerney said. "It could become a serious problem."

Administration repeats tough stand against KSP dissidents

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The state administration repeated its tough stand against Kentucky State Police dissidents even as it held out hope their threatened lawsuit could be avoided.

The general counsel for Gov. John Y. Brown Jr. expressed confidence Tuesday in a probable solution despite new complaints by leaders of the Kentucky State Police Professional Association.

"My indication is that we may be able to come to some agreement to continue negotiating on a law firm," Rush Dozier said.

The reference was to attempts by Dozier and Larry Raikes, lawyer for the association, to settle the dispute through a non-binding opinion of an independent lawyer.

Association President Don Hughes said Brown had annoyed members last week by saying that the association would have lost any court case and was "looking for an out."

Hughes indicated the association might withdraw from the agreement to head off the lawsuit.

"Dozier" made his comments to a reporter during a news conference by the governor in which Brown said the association members "can do whatever they want to do."

"I thought we made our position very clear," the governor said, "and either the state police are going to follow the authority and leadership or you're going to continue to have the internal bickering and confrontation that you've had in the past."

As he has once before, Brown indicated that if the association gets tough, he will simply reorganize the entire state police internal review board which touched off the controversy weeks ago.

That board fired Major William Favors, who had been accused of lying to his superiors about an assault arrest in Wolfe County a year ago.

Justice Secretary Neil Welch reinstated Favors, and the police association prepared to go to court, contending Welch exceeded his authority.

Brown reiterated Tuesday that he is uncomfortable with the concept of an agency investigating its own employees, as is the case with the state police board.

"I think (the association) ought to find more substantive subject matter before it goes to the extent it has," the governor said.

One reporter said the troopers thought that part of the agreement was that no side would talk to news media, but Brown said he was not involved in any such arrangement, and anyway, "I'm always open to the press."

The governor said he believes that some of the organization's leadership does not necessarily speak for the entire association.

"I restate what I said before, that they were looking for a save-face 'out' to, I guess, protect their position (in) the association," Brown said. "And I don't respect much the way they handled it."

6,000 school teachers in five states off job; 150,000 students affected

By JOHN DANISZEWSKI
Associated Press Writer

head off a repeat of that year's bitter strike which lasted 50 days.

In this year's school systems kept classes open for 4,000 students despite strikes.

Up to 49,000 children in Illinois were threatened by strikes in the Chicago suburbs and East St. Louis.

"Little progress," Pennsylvania mediator Hyman Richman said of a week-old strike keeping 12,000 handicapped pupils in the Pittsburgh area from classes.

The walkout by 755 teachers, counselors and psychologists of the Allegheny Intermediate Unit also affected 28,000 private schools receiving auxiliary services from the unit.

About 450 teachers in five other western Pennsylvania districts also remained on strike, keeping 9,000 students from classes.

More talks were scheduled tonight in the strike by 500 teachers in Butte, Mont., canceling classes again today for about 6,800 pupils.

The children are the ones who will profit the most," said Philadelphia Federation of Teacher leader John Murray, after his 21,000-member union OK'd a tentative pact that had smagged earlier Tuesday over differences on holiday pay, early retirement and a pending lawsuit.

Assuming the three-year agreement is approved by the school board today, which appears likely, classes for Philadelphia's 225,000 school children would begin on schedule Sept. 7 — a rarity in the nation's fourth largest city.

The agreement would increase teachers' annual salaries from an average $24,000 to $28,000 by August 1985.

In Flint, teachers are seeking pay boosts of 7.25 percent, 8 percent and 9 percent in the next three years over their current

Jefferson deputies file false vouchers

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A Jefferson County grand jury issued indictments Tuesday against four deputy sheriffs on misdemeanor charges involving filing false travel vouchers.

The jury also recommended that a fifth deputy be required to repay money he received for mileage he allegedly did not travel. The jurors said the sheriff's office should be required to refund some overpayments made by the state for guarding prisoners.

The jury's report said state police have determined that the sheriff's office and the fifth deputy sheriff received more than $6,000 above what they should have for transporting prisoners to the Kentucky State Reformatory near La Grange.

"We were unable to prove or disprove any attempt at fraud or collusion on the part of the deputy involved" in transporting the prisoners, the grand jury report stated.

Friends post bond for Harlan sheriff

HARLAN, Ky. (AP) — Harlan County Sheriff Paul Browning, charged with conspiracy to commit murder, was freed from jail Tuesday after a group of friends posted $5,000 bond, authorities said.

Earlier in the day, Harlan Circuit Judge Sid Douglas had scheduled an Oct. 25 trial date for Browning. The sheriff was charged last week with conspiracy to commit murder, arson and malfeasance in office.

Douglas stripped Browning of authority to arrest people and carry a weapon. But he then disqualified himself from the case, saying Browning previously had served as a court bailiff. Browning had been held in jail on $50,000 bond. But he was freed after a group calling itself "Save Our Sheriff" posted 10 percent of the total.

Part-time tenure seen unfair

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Allowing part-time teachers to gain credit toward tenure would be unfair to full-time teachers, the state Supreme Court says.

"This is the very thing that the Teachers Tenure Act was designed to eliminate," the court said Tuesday in ruling that part-time teaching does not count toward the experience a teacher needs to gain tenure.

"We simply hold that a contract of employment for a period of time other than a regular school year, except for excused absences, does not qualify the teacher toward continuing contract status," the court said.

Teachers gain tenure if they are hired for a fifth consecutive year in the same school district. Tenure provides more job security by making it more difficult to fire a teacher.

The Supreme Court, in making its ruling, overturned a decision by the Court of Appeals that Richard Rothfuss had gained tenure when he was fired as Bellevue High School football coach in 1976.

The 1975-76 school year, the only season in which Rothfuss served as head football coach, was his fifth year in the Bellevue system. However, his first year, in 1971-72, Rothfuss was an assistant principal at a middle school for only half-a-day, and also was assistant football coach.

The court said that even though Rothfuss had a high position as assistant principal, "his contract as such required him to expend hours appreciably less than a regular school day and his contract did not accrue credit toward tenure."

The court also overturned a Court of Appeals ruling that Rothfuss had been improperly demoted from principal of the middle school to a teacher of physical education and driver education following the 1974-75 school year.

The court noted that Rothfuss lost his position as principal because the middle school was closed for economic reasons.

"No challenge has been made to the propriety of the board's decision to close middle school," the court said. "This closing brought about reassignment of personnel, including Rothfuss, since his position as principal at middle school was abolished."

The Supreme Court upheld the Court of Appeals in denying Rothfuss damages because of injury to his reputation by his discharge.

The court said "there is overwhelming and uncontradicted evidence, that the school board and superintendent acted in good faith in their actions toward Rothfuss."

Brown campaigns in Tennessee

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky Gov. John Y. Brown Jr. was slated to campaign today in Tennessee on behalf of Democratic gubernatorial nominee Randy Tyree.

Brown and his wife, Phyllis, were scheduled to arrive in Nashville at noon. Brown then was to meet with Democratic National Chairman Charles Manatt and 50 party supporters for a finance strategy session.

An afternoon news conference was scheduled at Opryland Hotel at Nashville, after which the Browns would be off to Memphis for essentially the same types of appearances.

Brown, chairman of a committee to help elect Democratic governors this fall, will speak at a rally tonight with Tyree.

BOBBY WOLFF

Dear Mr. Wolff: Opponents were dealing with the red deck and we had the blue. We were enjoying a good run and suddenly I noticed that my RHO was dealing with our blue deck. I objected and we had a discussion. Do the laws cover this situation?

Color Change, Baltimore

ANSWER: Yes, they do. Law No. 7 states: "A pack originally belonging to a side must be restored on demand of any player before the last card of the current deal has been dealt."

Dear Mr. Wolff: Just what is unauthorized information? I've heard the term used but never have heard it defined.

Secret Leaks, Raleigh, NC

ANSWER: Unauthorized information is that which may be conveyed from one player to his partner by any means other than a legal bid or play. It includes such things as mannerisms, tone, hesitations, emphasis, gestures, etc.

Dear Mr. Wolff: In a competitive auction where either side might buy a high level contract, does it pay to redouble if one thinks that his opponent pulled the double trigger one round too soon?

Hair Trigger, Rochester, NY

ANSWER: Redoubles pay off only when the contract is fulfilled. If your redouble warns the opponents to seek an inexpensive retreat, the redouble is unwise. In general, redouble only when you're reasonably certain of success, and you can punish severely, any retreat by the opponents.

Dear Mr. Wolff: Using Jacoby Transfers, if responder bids another suit after the transfer, is this a forcing bid? For example:

North South
1 NT 2♥
2♠ 3♠

Minor Support, Dayton, OH

ANSWER: Yes, it is. South's two heart bid promises five or more spades, and the three diamond bid shows his second suit. It is a 100 percent forcing bid.

Dear Mr. Wolff: I open one diamond and partner responds one no trump. Is there any difference in implied strength if the one no trump bid is offered after an opponent's overcall?

Fine Distributions, New Orleans

ANSWER: Yes. Without an overcall the one no trump response denies a four card major and promises 6-9 HCP. With the overcall, the one no trump bid promises a stopper in the opponent's suit and should be in the upper range, 8-9 HCP.

Women's colleges survive money crisis, push toward coeducation

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP) — Women's colleges, once the declining wallflowers of higher education, are blooming these days. The nation's 116 colleges with all-female enrollments are survivors that had to weather financial pressures and a push toward coeducation in the late 1960s. Since then they've prospered. Enrollments are going up steadily — and so is financial backing.

And they're changing. Campus life today is a lot more than social studies and sedate afternoon teas.

"My definition of liberal arts includes computers," says Nannerl Keohane, Wellesley College president and a leader in the new wave that combines women's issues with emphasis on technical skills long dominated by males.

Seniors at Smith College talk about plugging into an "old girl" network of alumnae in Fortune 500 corporations after graduation and are more interested in becoming a chief executive officer than in marrying one.

In 1960, there were about 300 colleges for women, but the number dwindled as financial pressures grew and the move to coeducation attracted many women to previously all-male schools.

Today, 116 women's colleges educate about 125,000 students or 2 percent of the nation's college population.

Women's colleges are still strongest in Massachusetts, where Mary Lyon founded the nation's first college for women, Mount Holyoke, in 1837. The state has 17 all-women's colleges, including two-year and four-year institutions. Pennsylvania has the next highest total, 16.

The sharpest turnaround in enrollment has been at the 52 Roman Catholic women's colleges, where student levels are up 35 percent in the last decade, compared with 25 percent for all women's colleges and 18 percent at coeducational private colleges.

We can offer something special at a time when there is a renewed interest in a search for values on the part of many young people," says Sister Mary Dooley, S.S.J., president of the College of Our Lady of the Elms in Chicopee. The school's enrollment has increased a steady 10 percent a year for the last five years.

Difficult times lie ahead for all colleges and universities, as the pool of available students diminishes because of declining birthrates and federal financial support is cut back.

But Marcia Sharp, executive director of the Women's College Coalition, says women's colleges will be better equipped to compete.

"All colleges will have to demonstrate some particular and distinctive appeal to students to attract them, and women's colleges have that specificity to draw on when the college makes its case," Ms. Sharp says. "They are in the business of being responsible to women students and have the luxury of arranging the institution to meet those needs."

Cuts in federal aid and money — are causing some worries, particularly at more expensive women's schools such as Smith, Mount Holyoke and Wellesley, which will cost more than $11,000 next year.

But the women's colleges are among the best at raising money, especially from their alumnae. On average, more than one-third of the graduates of women's colleges give to their schools, compared with 18 percent at all colleges, according to the Council For Financial Aid to Education. At schools such as Smith and Mount Holyoke, more than 50 percent of graduates contribute.

Ms. Sharp says the growth of the women's movement since the mid-1970s has had an "enormous effect" on the health of the women's colleges.

"It came at just the right time," she says. Wellesley's Mrs. Keohane says, "I am a feminist. We have always provided education by women and for women. What was not so clear is what it means to teach about women. I feel a women's college has the responsibility to provide a place for real scholarship about women."

Since she became the school's 11th president last spring, Wellesley has revised its curriculum to emphasize women's issues. A major in women's studies was established along with a campus women's center.

But studying about women isn't the only way the women's colleges are rewriting the traditional liberal arts curriculum.

Aided by an exchange program with the nearby Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Wellesley now requires all students to take a course in computers.

Mount Holyoke President Elizabeth Kennan, a medieval history scholar, says: "An educated citizen needs to know about the tools of analysis that belong to mathematics and the decision-making processes of technology so that she can be enfranchised."

Smith has a dual degree program in engineering with the nearby University of Massachusetts and is adding a major in computer science next year.

The schools also have expanded special programs for older women returning to school, a group that has more than doubled at women's colleges, especially the Roman Catholic schools, in the past decade.

The women's movement has made it respectable and dignified to seek the company of other women," says Smith President Jill Conway, a historian. But she adds the obvious: "There isn't the same kind of dating situation" at a women's college.

"The students tend to meet young men around activities, such as the debating team, and unless you are a reasonably outgoing person it can be intimidating finding your way into that kind of situation," she says. In case prospective freshmen have doubts, the Smith prospectus includes a map listing mileage to nearby coed schools.

Contemporary religious thoughts

Prayer distinctive activity in all religions

By The Rev. Custis Fletcher, Retired Episcopal Priest

Prayer is a distinctive and characteristic activity of all religions. To this statement, Christianity is no exception. In fact of all the great religions of the world, Christianity has developed as much or perhaps more than any other when it comes to this facet of religion. Prayer can be seen as a distinctive human aspiration in that it is a universal response to an inner stirring which, we believe, comes about from an outer stimulus!

At the same time, we all know that there is much we can learn of prayer. The noted evangelist Dr. Billy Graham says that daily he reads at least five of the Psalms of David as part of his daily act of devotion. After centuries, men still turn to such a master of prayer as to one who can better express what our souls would say to our God. And His followers after observing how prayer was a constant characteristic of Jesus Christ begged him "Lord, teach us to pray." And what He taught as "a manner of prayer" has become not only a model but the actual content of man's favorite prayer!

Interestingly, the very form of "the Lord's Prayer" has so seized our minds and souls that we find it difficult if not impossible to "learn" any modern version of it! And another interesting observation we might make on this prayer is that everything in it can be found elsewhere if not in the Bible, then in other Jewish religious literature. In other words, it was the way Jesus put together "Our Father" that impressed those who first heard it.

However perfect is that special prayer, it is not just its form or expression but that something special of our exercise of spirituality that made one modern teacher remark "I hope that just once I will be able to pray a perfect Our Father." In other words the act of praying is a greater importance than the form of words. To pray or to develop the ability to pray caused Thomas Morton, Monk of Gethsemani in Kentucky, to journey to the Orient in order to find what he learned of prayer as practiced in Eastern Religion.

Yet this is not to say that we can cast aside the effort to phrase our prayers in the best and most perfect way. If prayer is such a basic and important part of our spiritual development, then we will also seek a perfection of form, a beauty of words even as we try to give spirit to our thoughts in a conscious prayer to God.

Finally, then, we will so live in the life that we will be prepared for the endless prayer of eternity.

Some one put it this way:

"Give me my scallop shell of quiet,
My staff of faith to walk upon,
My script of joy, immortal diet.

My battle of salvation,

My gown of glory,
And I'll take my pilgrimage."

Program to phase out jobs

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Backyard garbage collection is being phased out here due to the city's "Herbie the Curbie" program, and 25 Lexington sanitation workers will be out a job in October.

The workers got layoff notices in their pay envelopes Friday from Jim Byrd, the city's sanitation director.

"Some of them stood there with tears in their eyes," said Carl Thornton, a veteran sanitation worker who was not affected by the layoffs. "There's no way these people are going to find a job and some of them got families to support." But Byrd said he was more optimistic.

"There are some very intelligent men in that group and I believe they can do jobs much more skillful than this," Byrd said.

Herbie the Curbie is a plastic garbage can on wheels. Because residents leave it at curbside, fewer garbage collectors are needed.

Alice Stewart, the program's implementation coordinator, said those being laid off are temporary workers who are not covered by civil service.

The city is expected to trim its sanitation work force by about 60, she said, with civil service workers being transferred to other departments.
