July rate shows fall in unemployment

WASHINGTON (AP) — America's civilian unemployment rate crashed through the double-digit barrier to 9.5 percent in July as a half-million people found work, the Labor Department said today.

Not since 1959 has unemployment plunged by as much half a percentage point in a single month. Moreover, total civilian employment reached 101.3 million last month, the highest ever.

The decline in the seasonally adjusted unemployment rate — from 10.0 percent to 9.5 percent — broke a 10-month string of double-digit joblessness and returned unemployment to the level of June 1982.

Since unemployment hit a post-Depression peak of 10.8 percent in December, with more than 12 million people jobless, the rate has retreated 1.3 percentage point and 1.7 million people have found work.

Some 10.6 million, however, Americans remained on the government's unemployment roster last month.

An alternative unemployment rate, combining the civilian labor force with the 1.66-million-member, U.S.-based military contingent, fell to 9.3 percent in July, duplicating the 0.5 percentage point drop in the civilian rate.

The rapidly improving job market eased unemployment woes across the spectrum of the civilian population, as many businesses rehired workers laid off during the long recession.

Both private and government economists have said they expect unemployment to decline steadily in the coming months as the business recovery picks up even more steam. These analysts have cautioned, however, that any sudden surge in interest rates could choke the recovery and lengthen unemployment lines.

The 0.5 percentage point drop came as the number of people searching for work fell by 57,000 following a record May-to-June increase of 1.2 million.

In testimony prepared for the congressional Joint Economic Committee, Janet L. Norwood, commissioner of labor statistics, said today's report showed that "the labor market has improved substantially. In July, employment increased markedly and unemployment registered its largest reduction since the recovery began."

The plunge in the jobless rate was the greatest since national unemployment fell from 5.8 percent to 5.3 percent from November to December, 1959.

A separate survey of private businesses, which is not used in the computation of the jobless rate, showed that payroll employment grew by 500,000, approximating the total turned up by government statisticians in the Census Bureau's survey of 50,000 U.S. households, on which the unemployment rate is based.

The 101.3 million people with jobs eclipsed the previous record of 101,006 million established in April 1981.

Adult women benefitted most from the improving labor market, the report showed, as their jobless rate plunged from 8.6 percent to 7.9 percent. Among blacks, who have been particularly hard hit by the business slump, the jobless rate fell beneath the 20 percent level for the first time this year.

BIRD(HOUSE) WATCHING — Amanda and April Haneline, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Artie Haneline, examine a display of birdhouses at the Sidewalk Sale. Gerald Waldrop, of Gerald's Workshop, built the houses and set up the display, one of many interesting sites at the sale — scheduled for today and Saturday throughout the entire city shopping district. Items at many stores have been marked down to half-price for the annual sale.

Murray shoppers find sidewalk savings

Bargain hungry shoppers won't have far to go to satisfy their appetites today and Saturday in Murray. Practically every store in every shopping district of the city is participating in sidewalk sales and offering savings on rack after rack of merchandise.

Spot checks of each shopping center early today reflect that shoppers were eager to begin their shopping.

Buddy Buckingham of Buckingham-Ray says most of the stores in the Dixieland Center are participating in the event and are offering special sales throughout the day and on Saturday.

Merchants in Chestnut Hills are offering merchandise for as little as one-half off original price, according to Lynn Phillips of the JCPenney store who says he expects a good response to the sale.

Ellen Mahan of the That's It Levis store says there are "five and ten dollar racks" of merchandise among bargains at the Olympic Plaza and that most of the stores there are involved in the sale.

There has been good response to the event in Bel Air Shopping Center also, says Steve Andrus of Pier 1 Imports.

"Our sidewalk sales are always successful," he says "regardless of the weather."

A variety of participants in the downtown area are offering savings on all types of merchandise and Fred Workman of Settle-Workman says response is good.

Virginia Shropshire of Brights says sales are good inside too and that they are selling a great deal of regular merchandise in addition to sale items.

Due to the heat, Jane Lovette of The Shoe Tree in Southside Shopping Center says most stores there are offering "inside sidewalk sales" where customers can enjoy saving money while staying cool.

Central Center stores are also offering inside savings.

Most participating merchants agree that a sale of this magnitude requires planning and preparation and they encourage shoppers to take advantage of the sale and the savings.

Civic Music becomes a family affair

"Music is spoken of as 'the universal language.' Music and related arts may mean many different things to many different people. For some, it is recreation. For others it intrigues the mind or perhaps puts the soul to rest.

"It is not surprising, then, that MCMA audiences are comprised of a virtual 'melting pot.' People of all ages, occupations, temperaments and personalities find a common ground as they relax and enjoy the excellent concerts.

We thought you'd like to know some of the groups and individuals who participate."

Kathryn R. Carman
Vice president, public relations
Murray Civic Music Association

A special segment of MCMA audiences is the College Preparatory Class of Upward Bound who study together at Murray State University. They are a talented group of young people in classes uniquely designed for them. They also participate in many activities, both structured and unstructured, designed to foster a positive environment.

Among these activities is a fine arts cultural enrichment program, which includes attendance at the MCMA concerts. Follow-up discussions enable students and staff to share feelings, ideas, attitudes and understandings. It is quite apparent that the students enrolled in the Music Appreciation class (pictured) this summer have benefitted from this experience.

They talked enthusiastically about the performances they had seen with the Julliard String Quartet polling the most votes as the favorite performance last year. Perhaps second was the Mexican Folk Ballet.

Tammie Boddy said she liked all the concerts, but her real favorite was the Julliard... Timothy Parker said he had especially enjoyed all the concerts and thinks a special thing is going together with friends and sharing. Tobie Benjamin says she had liked best the Julliard... but thinks she will most enjoy the Alvin Ailey Dancers this season. Catherine Holfiend says she loves all music. She sings and recently won a vocal competition. Although it is difficult for her to choose one most outstanding concert, she says the Liona Boyd Classical Guitar performance will be different from her prior experiences.

Several students expressed their pleasure that LA TRAVIATA will be performed. There is no doubt they eagerly anticipate this season.

Mr. Kerry Kerber is Director of Special Services at MSU which sponsors the Upward Bound Programs. He and Mr. Wilson have been among the first to take advantage of the special group rates MCMA makes available to sponsored organizations. For information about this service, contact Jacquie Farrell, 1804 College Farm Road, phone 753-2368 or phone 753-1285.

To help equalize revenues

Study suggests state aid school districts

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — A study of Kentucky school finances today suggested that the state help poorer school districts to equalize their revenues with those of richer districts.

While recognizing that additional dollars may be needed, the report focused on changes in current programs to make improvements.

Unlike previous studies, it suggested sources of new revenue for education, and listed one possibility as the unmined minerals tax.

Such a proposed tax did not get off the ground in the 1982 legislative session, but advocates are girding for another major effort in 1984.

The report submitted to Superintendent of Public Instruction Raymond Barber called for the state to supplement local tax revenues in the districts that need the additional money.

The report said the state must equalize financing so that students in all areas have the same educational opportunities.

It said that the current system of financing "may violate the efficiency requirement of the Kentucky Constitution."

The report recommends a new formula, including a revision of distribution of state funds.

It endorses a new system of pay for teachers based on performance.

And it proposes a new plan to meet the needs of school districts for new classroom facilities.

Kern Alexander, a consultant who helped draw up the report, said at a news conference that Kentucky's teacher pay should be on a par with bordering states.

He said it reached a peak in 1979, but has been sliding since relative to national figures. "The momentum in teacher salaries should be regained," Alexander said.

He called for a system under which local school districts would have to raise their property taxes by 5 cents per $100 of assessed valuation annually, starting from a base of 15 cents.

And the report contained a fairly new concept — a proposed system under which students who cannot obtain certain courses in their low-population high schools could go to a kind of regional high school to take such courses.

"This would be an efficient use of public monies," Alexander said.

Congress packs for vacation leaving behind several unfinished items

By TOM RAUM

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has packed up for a five-week summer recess, leaving behind a full platter of unfinished legislation, including a $186 billion defense bill, a major farm program, and a rescue package for the International Monetary Fund.

The House and Senate recessed Thursday until Sept. 12, after last minute procedural delays snarled efforts by leaders to complete action on a variety of major bills near passage.

The biggest item left hanging was the defense bill, a multi-program measure that would authorize the MX missile plan sought by President Reagan and allow the Pentagon to go ahead with the production of nerve gas for the first time in a decade.

Senate Majority Leader Howard Baker, R-Tenn., had vowed to keep the Senate in session as long as it took to complete action on a compromise version of the legislation.

But House and Senate negotiators were unable to accommodate him, reaching an agreement hours after the Congress adjourned.

No dollar figure was immediately available for a total of all projects authorized. The House version had stood at about $189 billion and the Senate version at about $186 billion for the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1.

Major items already had been agreed to earlier in the week, notably the selection of the House figure of 21 MX missiles for the first year's manufacture of that controversial weapon. Members also agreed to the first production of nerve gas in more than a decade.

Baker had no better luck in getting other major bills to the floor.

He was forced to postpone until next month a long-debated administration-backed bill to cut federal support for grains and overhaul the nation's multibillion dollar dairy program.

Wheat-state senators opposed to the legislation blocked a final vote on the measure, prompting Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, to pronounce the legislation "lying dead in the water."

Also blocked by the delaying tactics of opponents was a bill providing funds for Interior Department programs. And efforts to win final Senate money of an administration-backed bill to provide an additional $8.4 billion for the International Monetary Fund also collapsed. The bill squeaked through the Democratic-run House late Wednesday on a 217-211 vote.

The House had problems of its own winning approval of major measures on the final day before the recess. For several hours, it wrestled with legislation giving the Environmental Protection Agency more authority to regulate the dumping of hazardous wastes, then gave up and quit.

However, the House earlier in the day did pass a five-year extension of the U.S. Civil Rights Commission — a move that could block the president's attempt to fire three members of the panel.

Bunning announced high tech school plan

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Republican gubernatorial candidate Jim Bunning has announced that, if elected, he would work to establish a high technology high school to serve Louisville and Jefferson County students as part of his plan to upgrade Kentucky's education system.

The school is one point in Bunning's secondary education platform, which the candidate said Thursday he will be releasing in stages throughout his campaign.

The school, which would receive its first students in the fall of 1984, would be located at the University of Louisville's Shelby Campus in Jefferson County.

Bunning said the cost of the high tech high school would range between $2 million and $4 million and would be "entirely funded by private business and industry, and the state, as a sound high return investment in the future of our most promising young people."

He said the students selected to attend the school would not be charged admission and would continue to attend school for one-half day in a regular Jefferson County school.

The other half-day would be spent in advance level courses taught by the faculty of the Speed Scientific School of Engineering, Bunning said.

The students for the high tech school would be selected using four criteria: nomination by science and math teacher; grade point average; consistent school attendance and punctuality; and test scores.

The high tech school will "enable students to move into programs of higher education better prepared for advance studies in areas including engineering, mathematics, computers and electronic telecommunications," Bunning said.

"And those students who choose to go directly into the marketplace following graduation from the high tech high school will be armed with a tremendous advantage," Bunning said he had not discussed his idea with the University of Louisville yet, but would be seeking input from them as well as Louisville Mayor Harvey Sloane and Jefferson County Judge-Executive Mitch McConnell.

He said he also would ask the state legislature to create a permanent state technology committee — to be composed of educators, parents and business leaders — to iron out the specifics of implementing the high tech school.

Court clears way for CSX to take over Texas Gas Corp.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal appeals court has cleared the way for a $1.07 billion takeover by the CSX Corp. of Texas Gas Resources Corp.

The U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia had blocked the merger July 8 at the request of the Water Transport Association, which represents the commercial barge industry.

But in its order Thursday, the court said CSX could begin acquiring stock in Texas Gas beginning 7 p.m. EDT Friday.

The court, in a 2-1 decision, rejected arguments by the barge industry which had claimed the takeover had antitrust implications because Texas Gas owned a barge company.

Century Club ceremony set

A recognition ceremony to honor Century club donors from Calloway, Graves and Marshall counties is scheduled for 4:30 p.m. Tuesday, Aug. 16, in the Wrather West Kentucky Museum chapel at Murray State University.

Dr. Kala M. Stroup, Murray State president, will present certificates and awards. The Century Club scholarship program is supported by donations of $100 or more from individuals and businesses.

Donna G. Herndon, director of Alumni affairs, urged individuals and businesses who have made pledges or who are interested in supporting the programs to contribute immediately so they can be included in the recognition program.

A friendly competition between the campus and the Murray community was started in the spring for each group to reach a goal of 100 contributors.

As of July 31, Mrs. Herndon said the total number of donors from the community stood at 81, while the campus count was 78. She added that last year there were 71 donors in the community and 36 on the campus.

Mrs. Madrey appointed arthritis chairwoman

Mrs. Ernest (Murrell) Madrey of Murray has been named 1983 Arthritis Campaign Chairwoman for Calloway County. The appointment was made by the Executive Committee of the Arthritis Foundation. The 1983 campaign is scheduled for the month of September with a goal of $3,200.

The Arthritis Foundation is the only voluntary health organization working in the field of arthritis which affects over 506,000 Kentuckians. Arthritis, the country's Number One crippling disease, actually is a variety of diseases. The cruelest, most severe type is Rheumatoid Arthritis, which afflicts some 6 million people. Two variations, one sudden and violent in its attack and the other relatively mild, strikes children in the form known as Juvenile Rheumatoid Arthritis. Juvenile Rheumatoid Arthritis is now recognized as the fourth major cause for the crippling of children in America.

The state chairperson is urging for 10 per cent participation in this year's campaign from all Kentuckians. Arthritis is a serious disease financially, emotionally and physically and is one that warrants the support of all. If anyone in the county wishes to help the County Chairperson, please contact the campaign leadership immediately.

The campaign in Calloway County will have the active support of Mrs. Margaret Cavitt, Business Gifts chairwoman for Murray, Theta Department of Murray Woman's Club; AOPi sorority at Murray State University; Calloway County High School 4-H Clubs and Murray High School Future Homemakers of America.

PRE-CAMP DRILLS — Kathy Williams works on her color guard routine during the Murray High School band pre-camp. The 60-member band has been working on fundamentals in preparation to the upcoming marching band season. The band will attend camp Aug. 7-12 at University of Tennessee-Martin. "I'm pleased with the spirit and hard work of this year's band members," Director Paul Blackburn said. During the 1982 season, the Tiger band won five first place awards and two sweepstakes trophies. Assistant director is Gary Mullins.

Benefit set for exceptional children

A Benefit for the Marshall County School for Exceptional Children will be Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 19 to 21, at the Twin Lakes Coon Club, located two miles west of Hardin off Highway 80.

On Friday a Club Hunt open to everyone will be featured with entry deadline at 8 p.m. and entry fee, $5. First, second and third place trophies will be awarded.

A public auction of items donated by local businesses and individuals with Tom Emry as auctioneer will start at noon on Saturday.

Starting at 5 p.m. a fish fry will be featured at a cost of adults $4 and children $2 for all you can eat. Country music will be provided by local bands.

Also on Saturday afternoon a Bench Show with deadline being 5 p.m. and Treeing Contest will be conducted.

A.C.H.A. Qualifying Hunt also will be on Saturday with entry deadline being 8 p.m. and entry fee, $10. Ten place trophies will be awarded. (High scoring male and female trophies — dogs must hunt both nights).

Sunday starting at 1 p.m. events will be Bench Show, Drag Races, Treeing Contest and Swim Races.

Any person, business, club or church group who would like to give a donation for the school or donate an item for the auction, may call Larry Tynes, 851-3134, Walter Wadlington, 354-8661, Darrel Hill, 753-8965, Grant Black, 437-4850, Leroy Gamble, 527-3376, or any Coon Club member.

Volunteers to meet Tuesday

The Community Improvement Volunteers will meet Tuesday at 4:30 p.m. at the Commerce Centre, according to Dr. Rob Williams, chairman.

Williams said the widening of U.S. Highway 641 will be discussed. A representative of the Department of Transportation will be present at the meeting.

The public is invited, Williams added.

MHS registration is scheduled

Registration for students at Murray High School will be on Wednesday and Thursday, Aug. 10 and 11, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Students may purchase school insurance at a cost of $6 per person at the same time for pre-registration on these two days.

Parents and students may get a detailed summary of the insurance benefits prior to registration at the school office, according to the school secretary, Mrs. Carl Oakley.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

Abby Inspires Family With A Bad Case of Puppy Love

DEAR ABBY: We don't have any problems for you to solve right now, we just wanted you to know that today we bought a beautiful, fawn-colored Great Dane puppy and we named her "Abby" — after you.

If we had a bigger farm we would buy her sister and name her "Ann," but we already have a dachshund named "Ada," and we all wouldn't fit on this one little acre.

Our "Abby" is going to be our beautiful watchdog on whom we will depend to keep us safe from harm, as you keep others safe with your advice.

We love you, but now we have another Dear Abby to love.

THE GARY CRAWFORDS, MILFORD, OHIO

DEAR CRAWFORDS: I've been called a "great dame," but never a "Great Dane." Thank you. I'm flattered.

DEAR ABBY: Your reply to "Red and Fuming," the movie-house employee who, after being hired, dyed his hair red, has me fuming, too. (His boss objected to his dyed red hair, and you sided with the employee.)

Apparently this young man's dyed red hair has made a significant change in his appearance and he no longer presents the image of the person the boss hired. A boss should have the right to require his employees to look the way he wants them to look.

The rights of employers in this country are being reduced. Abetted by opportunistic lawyers seeking contingency fees for punitive damages, disgruntled employees are turning their petty grievances into court decisions, establishing unprecedent "rights." This forces companies of all sizes to eliminate positions and raise prices to cover the cost of maintaining substandard, unproductive employees.

The old rule is still the best one, Abby: If you don't like your job, give your notice and quit. It may not be easy to find other work, but you accepted the job on your boss's terms, so live up to those terms or look elsewhere.

HASSLED BUSINESSMAN IN W. VA.

DEAR HASSLED: The "rights" of employees and employers are not always black or white (or "red," where hair is concerned), and it's important for employees who are obviously at a disadvantage to have their rights protected.

I would defend the right of anyone to dye his (or her) hair red, since red hair is natural to some. However, if an employee showed up with green or purple hair, I'd vote with you.

DEAR ABBY: This problem has been bugging me for many years. When a single person is invited to a wedding and reception, is it proper to add on the RSVP card, "I am bringing a friend" — then add that person's name?

I have done this several times because as a single person I feel very uncomfortable attending a wedding alone. I am sure this could apply to other singles — widowed or divorced.

I have been criticized (behind my back) for doing this, and want to know if it is improper.

SINGLE IN VIRGINIA

DEAR SINGLE: It is never proper to tell a host or hostess that you are bringing another person. Feeling as you do, ask if it would be an inconvenience to bring a partner along. And since your partner is actually your guest, graciously offer to pay for him or her.

Every teen-ager should know the truth about drugs, sex and how to be happy. For Abby's booklet, send $2 and a long, stamped (37 cents), self-addressed envelope to: Abby, Teen Booklet, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.

Buy cars built in America

For the first time in four years auto dealers are worried more about getting new cars delivered and into their showrooms than selling them to customers.

The nation's daily rate of car sales for July 11-20 was 22,986 vehicles — best since the 22,986 daily rate in mid-July 1979.

The brisk market is emptying dealers' lots and showrooms. One market analyst said, "You have to look hard to find models that aren't selling." Deliveries are expected to lag until assembly lines get into heavier production later this year.

The Big Three — General Motors, Ford and Chrysler — report an average 38.1 percent gain in sales in mid-July over the same period last year. General Motors led the other two automakers with 45.6 percent gain.

One marketing success story is the General Motors' Chevrolet Corvette. Dealers report that they have waiting lists of buyers eager to spend more than $22,000 for the Corvette, which has been redesigned for the first time since 1968. More than 10,000 were sold between April and June.

Corvette sales demonstrate that a true American sports car would be highly salable. The Corvette comes the closest to being a domestic sports car even though it is a rather large vehicle and has yet to come out with a manual transmission — a mark of a true sports car.

Detroit's worst year in 20 years was last year, when only 5.76 million domestic vehicles were sold. Sales this year are expected to be at least a million more vehicles than last year.

We like to see the upward trend. If domestic cars are selling, that means employees will be going back to work in the nation's auto assembly plants, steel mills, glass plants, tire plants and at thousands of allied industries.

Buy an American-built car and help put America back on its feet.

'Squeal rule' upheld

A federal appeals court in Washington, upholding lower court rulings, has declared that the parental notification regulations — dubbed the "squeal rule" — of the Department of Health and Human Services "contravene congressional intent."

It is to be hoped that the Reagan administration will let it go at that, for the squeal rule also contravenes common sense as well as the administration's professed purposes.

Under the regulations, proposed last year and scheduled to go into effect last February, family-planning clinics that receive federal funds were to be required to notify the parents of girls under 18 who received oral contraceptives or birth-control devices.

Well, why shouldn't they be so required? As President Reagan declared at a news conference a year and a half ago, "Those young people couldn't get their appendix taken out without their parents' permission." Why shouldn't teenagers be required to get their parents' permission to engage in sex?

The question answers itself. Obviously, it would be a good thing if all family relationships were so close that teenagers would confide in their parents and take their parents' advice, which where sex is concerned would undoubtedly be to abstain.

But the facts of life have to be faced. Teenagers don't need their parents' permission to engage in sex. Many of them would be terrified if their parents found out they were sexually active. And many of them, in this sex-drenched society, still don't know the facts of life. So the girls become pregnant — about 1.2 million teenage girls every year.

A baby is a blessed event for a married couple, but not for an unmarried teenage girl, and not for society. In 1970, Congress, recognizing the growing problem of teenage pregnancy, began providing federal funds for family-planning agencies. Two years ago, it amended the law to encourage family involvement "to the extent practical," which most family-planning agencies do as a matter of course.

As the federal appeals court pointed out, however, "Congress most definitely did not intend to mandate family involvement." Nor did it intend to discourage the use of family-planning services and thus encourage abortion, which the Reagan administration so vigorously opposes.

An administration that so objects to governmental intrusions in private life contradicts itself when it tries to intrude into the most intimate personal and family matters. An administration that so objects to bureaucrats' try to amend acts of Congress through regulations. The squeal rule is bad procedure, bad law, bad social policy.

Home is at stake on equity loan

NEW YORK (AP) — Several banks and investment firms have come up with a new financial plan designed to tap a vast pool of wealth — homeowners' equity in their dwellings.

Suppose you bought a house 10 years ago for $50,000, putting $10,000 down and financing the rest of the purchase with a mortgage. If that house is now worth $100,000 and you have kept up the mortgage payments, your equity in it has grown to more than $60,000.

If you'd like to have the use of some of that $60,000-plus for just a couple of years — say, to buy a car — your choices are limited.

Enter the brokers and bankers, ever ready to innovate, with the home equity credit account — a line of credit on your home at relatively attractive interest rates. So far, these accounts are available in only a smattering of states, but they are expected to spread.

Once you have set up an account, you can borrow on it any time, up to specified limits, with the flash of a checkbook or plastic card.

Since homes are considered solid collateral, these credit lines are offered at interest rates several percentage points below rates on standard loans. Most are set at 1½ to two percentage points above the bank prime lending rate, which currently stands at 10½ percent.

But interest is not the only cost involved. Most lenders charge up-front fees, from a few hundred to a few thousand dollars, to cover administrative costs and appraisal of the property pledged as collateral.

Some also impose small annual service charges.

The idea has some critics. "What it does is give individuals a longer rope with which to hang themselves financially," said the Money Advocate, a newsletter published in Minneapolis.

Under federal rules, money borrowed through a broker's plan cannot be used to buy securities. "But you can buy just about anything else," the Money Advocate says. "And this means that many unwary people may end up spending or investing the equity in their home."

"Current spending should be handled with funds budgeted for consumption. Investments should be financed with funds budgeted for investing. And you should not spend the equity in your home on current consumption or risk losing your home entirely by using it as collateral for an investment, since all investments contain at least some element of risk."

Donoghue's Money Letter, another advisory publication, says home-equity accounts may be "ideal for purchasing cars and paying tuition bills." But it too warns: "With each of these plans, you are putting up your home as collateral. If you are unable to meet obligations on the loan, you could lose your home."

"Also, the line of credit is based on a percentage of your home's present value. If for some reason the value of your home declines and you cannot repay the loan, you may lose more than your home."

heartline

Heartline is a service for senior citizens. Its purpose is to answer questions and solve problems. If you have a question or a problem not answered in these columns, write to Heartline, 114 East Dayton St., West Alexandria, Ohio, 45381. You will receive a prompt reply, but you must include a self-addressed, stamped envelope. The most useful replies will be printed in this column.

HEARTLINE: I knew that I would lose interest if I withdrew a certificate of deposit early, and until lately, I never had to do that. Recently, I had to withdraw one early, and the bank also held back some of the money I had on deposit. Are they allowed to do this? K.E.

ANSWER: Yes. Penalties for early withdrawal of CDs vary with the length of the certificate, but on all of them it is possible to lose some of your principal if you withdraw your money before maturity. On the popular six-month certificate the minimum penalty for early withdrawal is the loss of three months' interest. If you withdraw the money before you've earned interest for three months, the interest you would have earned is taken from your principal. On certificates longer than one year, the penalty is the loss of six months' interest. Always be sure you understand early withdrawal penalties before you commit money to any fixed-term investment.

HEARTLINE: I receive a Civil Service annuity. Can my annuity be attached in order to enforce a judgment or other indebtedness? K.W.

ANSWER: Such payments generally are not subject to attachment, levy, garnishment, or other legal process to enforce a child support, alimony, or separate maintenance obligation. Also, the law requires the Office of Personnel Management, under certain circumstances, to comply with a provision dealing with apportionment of retirement benefits in a state court order, decree, or community property settlement agreement in connection with the divorce, annulment, or legal separation of an annuitant. In such cases, the Office of Personnel Management is required to make payments directly to the court or former or separated spouse in compliance with court determination expressly providing for apportionment of retirement benefits.

Reagan can swing public his way

An AP News Analysis
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan has a lot of work to do to sell the public his policies in Central America, but it may not be as difficult as opponents like to believe.

The legacy of Vietnam looms large before the public as the news is filled with U.S. battle forces, advisers and potential blockades, raising the specter of a quagmire in El Salvador or Nicaragua.

Reagan has tried to deal with this time and again, as he did in a recent news conference — "There is no comparison with Vietnam..." But the flat denials have not calmed all the fears.

A Washington Post-ABC News opinion poll released Thursday says four in 10 citizens see the country becoming involved in a new Vietnam. Fewer than half said they believe Reagan is being truthful when he says he does not intend to send soldiers to fight in El Salvador.

One reason is that the comparison of Central America today with Vietnam in the 1960s unleashes deep and powerful reactions from many Americans. No matter what he does, Reagan simply cannot erase the legacy of Vietnam.

But it doesn't mean Reagan can't sell his policy on Central America.

Americans don't know much about what is going on in Central America. "I don't think they're as aware as they should be — we've tried to make them aware — that this is something of a threat in this hemisphere to peace," Reagan said at his news conference last week.

A CBS-New York Times poll in June said that only 8 percent of those questioned could accurately identify which sides the U.S. government is supporting both in El Salvador and Nicaragua. That low level is even more remarkable when one understands that, if all answers were simply picked at random, 25 percent would have guessed right due to chance. In the Post-ABC poll, fewer than half knew the United States is backing the government of El Salvador and only three in 10 knew the United States opposes the Sandinista government in Nicaragua.

Reagan tends to blame his opponents and the media for the confusion.

Without dealing with the issue of why the public is confused, it is clear that information about Central America is sparse. That means public reaction to polls about Latin American policy tap broad views and lingering fears.

Public opinion is not frozen on this issue, and there lies Reagan's opportunity. For Central America, Reagan's words and actions are the key. If he can present the case forcefully, then back it up with clear actions that make comparisons with Vietnam meaningless, Reagan can swing public opinion his way.

But he also can fail. If comparisons with Vietnam seem more and more valid as his policies and actions unfold, winning approval for U.S. moves in Central America will become more and more difficult.

thoughts in season

By Ken Wolf
When was the last time you heard or read these words of uplift from that nineteenth-century positive thinker Henry Wadsworth Longfellow?

Life is real! Life is earnest!
And the grave is not its goal;
'Dust thou art, to dust returnest,' Was not spoken of the soul.

This verse, from Longfellow's "Psalm of Life," is followed by the following, practical injunction:

Not enjoyment, and not sorrow,
Is our destined end or way; But to act, that each to-morrow
Find us farther than to-day.

Bennett and Benson vows solemnized

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Patrick Benson

Miss Kathy Ann Bennett and Joseph Patrick Benson were married Saturday, July 16, at St. Patrick's Catholic Church, Dwight, Ill.

The Rev. William D. Isermann officiated.

A program of music was presented by Nancy Myers, organist, and Patricia Drechsel, soloist.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Bennett of Murray.

Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Benson of Dwight.

The bride wore a full length white gown accented with white lace on the fitted bodice, short sleeves and crescent neckline. The train and hemline were appliqued with white lace flowers.

Her headpiece was a floral wreath of white silk roses and pink silk wildflowers. The attached veil was of white illusion with scalloped edges and embroidered flowers. She also wore white crocheted gloves.

The bride carried an arm bouquet of white roses, pink lilies, white stephanotis, baby's breath and ivy with ribbon streamers.

She wore a pearl necklace and earrings, gifts of the groom.

Miss Tammy Bennett, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were Miss Debra Benson, sister of the groom, and Miss Peggy Lund.

The attendants wore long rosette colored linen gowns with white trim and matching jackets. They also wore white crocheted gloves. In their hair were pink wild flower combs.

They carried white wicker baskets of white roses, pink lilies, baby's breath and greenery.

The groom

James Benson, brother of the groom, James Slatery and Richard Small, uncle of the groom, were groomsmen.

Ushers were Michael Small, uncle of the groom, and Michael Humbert.

The groom and his attendants wore silver grey tuxedos.

Kevin Bennett, nephew of the bride, handed out wedding programs. After the ceremony he distributed rice roses, handmade by the bride's mother.

Reception

A reception followed at the Country Mansion in Dwight.

The event was catered by Bob and Jan Ohlendorf. There was a buffet-style dinner, followed by dancing with music by the band, "The Hustlers."

The couple left for a week's honeymoon in Hawaii. They now are residing at 300 W. Chipewawa, Dwight, Ill.

The new Mrs. Benson is a 1978 graduate of Murray High School. She is a secretary at Caterpillar Tractor Co. in Pontiac, Ill.

Mr. Benson is a 1975 graduate of Dwight Township High School. He is a salesman for Frito-Lay, Inc. in New Lenox, Ill.

Rehearsal dinner

The groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Benson, entertained with a rehearsal dinner at Drake's Farm, Morris, Ill.

Bridal events

Bridal events given in honor of the bride included a shower given by Debra Benson of Dwight; a shower given by her mother, Mrs. Jeannette Bennett in Murray; a shower given by Kim Deterding and Karla Brown for Caterpillar Tractor Co. in Pontiac, Ill.; and a shower given by Marcia Bennett and Tammy Bennett of Dwight, Ill., and Peggy Lund of Pekin, Ill., in Dwight.

How the sounds are created is not understood, she said. "Our theory is that there's some kind of damage in the cochlea (inner ear) that causes the hair cells to go bonkers and fire and create a tone." Miss Bright said she noted and recorded ear sounds coming from about half of 40 subjects tested.

Mummies' are studied

LOMA LINDA, Calif. (AP) — There were no fast-food joints in ancient Egypt, but a college instructor who's studied mummies' tummies says unhealthy treats like fatty lamb sandwiches led to some very modern diseases on the Nile.

Tooth decay, arthritis, diabetes, obesity, heart disease, cancer and even stress are among the afflictions documented from 3,000 years ago by autopsies on well-preserved Egyptian mummies, says Cecelia St. Clair of Loma Linda University in Riverside County.

A shift from vegetarianism to a fatty, processed diet that included mutton sandwiches, olive oil and refined white flour paved the way for dietary disaster, Ms. St. Clair said in an interview last week.

A slide into a sedentary lifestyle, which saw later Egyptians relying increasingly on servants, also contributed to health problems, she added.

"This is something we can learn from. There was a definite shift in the Egyptians' health when they changed their diets," she said.

Study shows ears can sing

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — The expression "in one ear and out the other" may have to be amended to "out one ear and in the other" after the discovery that ears not only listen, they can sing.

A University of Arizona graduate student, Kathryn E. Bright, says tests she conducted confirm a phenomenon what some researchers had noted — the inner ear can emit faint sounds, known as cochlea emissions.

How the sounds are created is not understood, she said. "Our theory is that there's some kind of damage in the cochlea (inner ear) that causes the hair cells to go bonkers and fire and create a tone." Miss Bright said she noted and recorded ear sounds coming from about half of 40 subjects tested.

She's looking for 75 more volunteers willing to have microphones placed in their ears for an hour.

Hospital lists dismissals

Census at Murray-Calloway County Hospital for Monday, Aug. 1, was 110 adults and five in nursery. No newborn admissions were listed.

Dismissals were as follows:

Rickie F. Rogers, Rt. 1, Puryear, Tenn.; Mrs. Vadonna F. Davis and baby girl, Rt. 7; Mrs. Joyce M. McKenzie, Rt. 8; Mrs. Virginia A. Smart, Hamlin; Allen Shane Moore, 1604 Catalina Dr.; Carl T. Andrews, Rt. 6, Paris, Tenn.;

WOMEN DOCTORS More than 70 percent of all the doctors in the Soviet Union are women.

GUEST SPEAKER — Lucy Wright, left, executive secretary of the Calloway County Chapter of the American Red Cross, spoke about "Disaster Preparedness With An Emphasis on Earthquakes" at the meeting of the Welcome Wagon Club of Murray on July 14 at the Commerce Centre. At right is Ingeborg King, club advisor. Nancy Mehr presided. Others present were Martha Wrablick, Madge Woodard, Kathryn Outland and Cheryl Naulty, members, Barbara Moeller, Wanda Richardson and Marcia Westphal, guests.

Melissa Johnston feted

Melissa Johnston was honored at a party in celebration of her seventh birthday on Saturday, July 30, at 10:30 a.m. at McDonald's.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Johnston, were hosts for the occasion. Melissa will be in the second grade at North Calloway Elementary School.

Games were played and the honoree opened her gifts prior to lunch. A chocolate cake in the Ronald McDonald theme was served.

Present were Jody and Terri Burken, Amanda and Brad Rowland, April Peal, Amy Redden, Shawna Jones, Amanda Jackson, Richard Johnston, the honoree and her parents. Unable to attend but sending a gift was Heather Ford.

Her grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Johnston of Dexter and Marvin Bell of Ecorse, Mich.

Two women honored

Two women, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Farmer Ray and Mrs. Lottie Ray Jones, both born in 1898, were especially honored at the recent Ray Family Reunion at the Murray-Calloway County Park.

Janice Ray White, granddaughter of Mrs. Ray, composed and read the following poem in tribute to Mrs. Ray and Mrs. Jones at the reunion:

"There are two special ladies here today And they are very wise indeed, They've given much to all of us — We've all agreed.

The love, the joy they've given to all Is greater than we can tell.

The memories we've gained from sharing with them We've stored in our hearts as well.

As the years have rolled right on by They've watched us grow and learn, They've given us memories and patience too

That will give us many returns. So today Aunt Lottie and Grandmother dear We just want to say to you,

We love you and honor you on this special day And for all our lifetimes through."

A basket dinner was served.

Attending the event were the following: Mrs. Ray, Mrs. Jones, Harry and Katherine Ray, Irene and Ullis Woods, Gloria Thomas, Tammy and Jay Thomas, Barbara and Dan Harrell, Doug, Barry and Josh Harrell, Stella Hurt, Harold and Kathy Hurt, Catherine Hurt, Maudine Butterworth and Calista Clanton, all of Murray;

Special recipe for kisses is released

By CECILY BROWNSTONE AP Food Editor COME FOR DESSERT Coffee, Vanilla Ice Cream, Leslie's Chocolate Kisses

Leslie Mason's Chocolate Kisses

The specialty of a young New York City actress.

2 large egg whites 1/2 cup sugar 6-ounce package (1 cup) semi-sweet chocolate pieces, melted and cooled

1 1/4 cups coarsely chopped walnuts

In a large bowl, beat egg whites until soft peaks form. Gradually beat in sugar, a heaping tablespoonful at a time; continue beating until stiff and glossy. With a rubber spatula, fold in melted chocolate until blended; then walnuts. Drop by heaping tablespoonfuls, a few inches apart, on a lightly greased cookie sheet.

Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven until set and dry on top — about 10 minutes. With a wide metal spatula remove to wire racks to cool completely. Store between wax paper sheets in an airtight container. Makes about 2 dozen. For very fudgy cookies, serve the day they are baked.

Designer will start generic clothing line

LOS ANGELES (AP) — What do you get when you cross Japanese styles with the one-size-fits-most packaging of panty hose manufacturers?

Designer Leon Max is going to find out, with a generic clothing line he hopes will change the way many women buy clothes.

The line goes on sale this month at stores including branches of Bullock's, Bonwit Teller and Neiman-Marcus.

"Women today are very busy," explains Max, 31, noting that the clothing is aimed at the lunch-hour shopper who's in a hurry. "It's as simple as buying pantyhose," he says.

The garments are packed in slim boxes, about an inch-deep and the width and length of record album covers.

Buyers can try on samples of each garment or simply select the right piece from sketches on the box, which show the style and color. The boxes hang on racks.

The garments are made of non-wrinkle polyester-cotton.

"If a young, fashionable girl wears this and accessorizes, she looks Japanese," said Max. "If an older woman wears it, she looks comfortable."

Celebrities try saving methods

NEW YORK (AP) — Saving money isn't just for those who must. Celebrities from model Cheryl Tiegs to race driver Jackie Stewart have their methods, too: from buying champagne by the case to squeezing the toothpaste tube dry. "I buy my champagne by the case," Ms. Tiegs told Money magazine in an August article on thrifty stars, "and when it's on sale I buy six cases at a time." Said Stewart, now a TV sports commentator: "I never leave a tube of toothpaste unfinished." Others interviewed had other ways. Jack Nicklaus uses pennies instead of dimes to mark his golf ball on the green. Columnist Art Buchwald makes sure the lights are off in his swimming pool when he goes to bed. Diane Sawyer, co-anchor of "CBS Morning News," said, "The most effective way I've found to save is to get up at 2 a.m. There are no afternoon shopping binges, no frivolous gifts for friends. It's draconian but it works."

Lori Burkeen wins honor recently

Lori Burkeen

Miss Lori Burkeen, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Burkeen, Rt. 1, Dexter, was third runner-up in the 1983 Modern Miss State Finals recently held at the Radisson Hotel in Lexington.

In addition Miss Burkeen won the overall Speech Competition with her speech entitled "Modern Day Women and the citizenship award for her school and community involvement.

The local winner will be a senior at Calloway County High School. Her activities include Speech Team, FBLA, YAC, secretary-treasurer of Junior Class and Rifle captain of the Marching Laker Band.

Miss Burkeen had had a total of 170 hours as a volunteer for Special Olympics, Red Cross and Calloway Public Library. She is an active member of the Independence United Methodist Church.

Her grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Burkeen and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Evans.

The Modern Miss program is designed to recognize young women, 13 to 18, who excel in scholastic achievement and community involvement. Contestants were judged on poise, personality, grooming and a speech or talent presentation, as well as scholastic and civic achievements.

Entrants were required to have a "B" or better grade average and document at least 10 hours volunteer service to a community or charitable organization.

Miss Burkeen's sponsors were Peoples Bank, Bank of Murray, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Evans, Murray-Calloway County Jaycees and Independence United Methodist Church.

Men's styles are discussed

NEW YORK (AP) — Although many men cannot resist the latest styles and often rush out to purchase "this year's fad," they'd do better if they were more practical, says a clothing expert.

According to Marvin A. Blumenfeld, who heads a merchandising consulting firm which represents more than 250 men's stores around the country, "impulsive or fad buying can prove costly and results in a closet full of outdated clothing."

"For instance," he points out, "the Nehru suit was a one-year fad and the leisure suit lasted a bit longer, but men who wanted to be 'in' were stuck with these garments when they fell out of favor."

Blumenfeld, president of April-Marcus, suggests that unless you have an unlimited clothing budget and your desire to always wear the latest rage outweighs money considerations, you should buy more traditional items that don't go out of style.

"When you're buying a business wardrobe, there are certain colors that are always acceptable," he advises. "These are blue, just about all shades except very light powder blue, grays in all shades, stripes in most shades of blue and gray, some dark browns, and tans for summer wear."

Some plaids are acceptable for around-the-office wear, but not for client or new business meetings, and colors such as green, maroon and loud plaids are never acceptable, he says.

"As far as dress shirts go," he says, "stick with solid colors. A white or powder blue shirt is always presentable and even if the collar is a little wider or narrower than this year's style it will not stick out like the floral shirt you bought a few years back that no one wears today."

In terms of sportswear, Blumenfeld again stresses the importance of color.

"Blue, white, beige and some shades of red, especially the subdued tones of maroon are always in fashion," he says. "However," he adds, "when you're buying items such as tennis shirts, be wary of this year's striped shirts in unusual colors because they might not be 'in' next year."

Another important point to keep in mind about dressing conservatively, advises Blumenfeld, is that conservative clothes can be worn on many more occasions than more flashy garments.

"For example," he says, "if you buy a navy blue or gray pair of trousers you can wear them for both formal and informal occasions. However, if you buy a plaid or loud-color pair of trousers, your choices will be limited to some informal occasions."

MURRAY MIDDLE GROUP — A group of 11 Fifth and Sixth Graders from Murray Middle School arrived Monday, Aug. 1, for a week of outdoor fun and instruction at Camp John Currie in Marshall County, one of the three conservation education camps operated by the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

CALLOWAY GROUP — A group of 34 Fifth and Sixth Graders from Calloway County arrived Monday, Aug. 1, for a week of outdoor fun and instruction at Camp John Currie in Marshall County, one of the three conservation education camps operated by the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

Your Individual Horoscope

Frances Drake

FOR SATURDAY, AUGUST 6, 1983

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth sign.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Travel and romance are favored. Enjoy hobbies and other summer activities, but don't overextend credit.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) A close tie may be extravagant. You seem touched by the muse when it comes to decorating. Shopping leads to worthwhile purchases.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Weekend jaunts and local visits spell happy times. Romance is definitely on your agenda. Don't abuse health after dark.

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 22) You're in an adventurous mood and inclined to indiscreet behavior. Romance is favored, but unconventional behavior is not.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22) You're better off visiting others than entertaining at home. Accept invitations. Social life leads to romantic encounters.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You'll impress others favorably. Important introductions are likely, but business propositions which come now may be impractical.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You may invite some people from work over. If going away, double-check home security. Make sure you don't forget anything.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You may be invited to a gala social event. Try to keep expenses down if traveling. Artistic and poetic interests are favored.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You're sought after socially, but don't overspend. Spruce up to make the best impression on others.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19) Travelers meet with romance and excitement. It's a time for togetherness, with an accent on shared happiness.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18) Invitations come from co-workers. Social graces are an asset to you careerwise. Guard against self-indulgence after dark.

PISCES (Feb. 19 to Mar. 20) Some decide to marry. This is a romantic day for you. Some off-the-wall business proposals come now. Don't take them seriously.

YOU BORN TODAY have a keen sense of what the public wants. You work well with groups and have a flair for originality. At times, you can be expedient in the choice of vocation and are liable to change your career at some point. You're dramatic and would succeed as an actor, writer, musician or designer.

Egg-shaped sea craft to open last frontier

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Someday, teen-agers may go cruising in sports subs 3,000 feet under the sea. Executives may take long lunches off the continental shelf.

An egg-shaped, underwater craft called Deep Rover is coming on the market, and its designers say it will open Earth's last frontier in ways dreamed about only by science fiction writers and the most imaginative oceanographers.

Invented by British engineer Graham Hawkes, Deep Rover is a relatively cheap, one-person acrylic bubble with robotic arms capable of construction work, prospecting or drawing detailed diagrams. It has a comfortable seat with a 360-degree view, and Hawkes says anyone can learn to drive it in a half-hour.

The battery-powered sub uses thrusters and propellers to "fly" through the water more than a half-mile below the surface — 1,000 feet deeper than any similar craft.

A second generation has already been designed for work at 7,000 feet in 1985 and a journey to the deepest part of the ocean — seven miles down — is planned with a later model in 1987.

Scuba divers are currently limited to 200 feet. Other one-person submersibles can't go lower than 2,000 feet and are far less maneuverable. The average depth of the Pacific is 13,739 feet and the average depth of the Atlantic is 12,257 feet.

Hawkes is president of Deep Ocean Technology Inc. of Oakland, a company he founded in 1981 with American scientist Sylvia Earle. He had left OSEL Group of England, which he helped build into a world leader in manned diver systems.

Hawkes and Ms. Earle share a sense of adventure and a passion for proving that the sea is more than just a highway for ships. They see a future of underwater restaurants and hotels, farms and seabed mines.

"The idea of living underwater is not a wild idea," Hawkes says. "Most of the big rigs in the North Sea have concrete structures in 500 feet of water. The stress and fatigue problems are actually less in building that type of structure than they are for a high-rise on land. So the way-out plans for restaurants and hotels under the water are not in the least bit wild."

The first Deep Rovers will sell for about $600,000, but the price could be slashed to less than one-tenth of that if they're mass-produced. Over the next decade, Ms. Earle sees lower costs and a much wider market.

"Even little kids will be out scooting around in those things," she says. "Stuffy executives from behind desks who would never dream of putting a scuba tank on, you won't be able to keep them out of it."

Ms. Earle says, "We have to learn to live in harmony with the oceans. In the end, that may be the most important reason for gaining access."

Dog gets pacemaker

WEYMOUTH, Mass. (AP) — A year-old cocker spaniel named Mikey is back on Cape Cod after being outfitted with an electronic pacemaker good for about five years of heartbeats.

The golden-colored dog would probably only have lived "a few days or a couple weeks at the most" without the device, said Dr. Bradley Moses, who with Dr. Randy Brown implanted the pacemaker last week at Weymouth Veterinary Hospital.

Mikey's heart had become enlarged and his heartbeat had slowed dangerously, to 40 beats per minute instead of the normal 90 to 120.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Tolerating alcohol

DEAR DR. LAMB — My alcohol tolerance doesn't seem to be very good. Don't get me wrong. I am not a drinker. But I do like to have a drink now and then on social occasions. But I feel the effect from just one cocktail and, if I have two, it is obvious that I am "under the influence." Is there any way I can improve my tolerance? Also, is there any way I can be sure I'm enough over the effects of a drink to drive safely?

DEAR READER — I am a strong believer in the saying, "If you drink, don't drive." And even though a person may not be legally drunk — in other words even if the blood alcohol may be under 0.10 percent — alcohol can still affect driving.

In many people skilled performance will decline when the blood alcohol is as low as 0.03 percent even though you wouldn't know they were affected by alcohol otherwise.

There are things you can do to decrease emptying of the stomach and thereby slow the absorption of alcohol. The best is to eat something solid and something that provides some fat. Fat slows the stomach emptying. Of course, if you drink on an empty stomach the alcohol will be rapidly absorbed.

To keep your blood alcohol level below 0.10 percent, a helpful rule is to drink a mixed drink that includes only one small jigger (1 to 1.25 ounce jigger) of 80 proof spirits each hour and wait at least one hour after the last drink before driving. If you have one drink over one hour and then wait an hour, you should have minimal problems — if you just must have a drink and must drive.

You cannot hasten the body's metabolism of alcohol. It is metabolized by an enzyme in the liver. There is no way you can speed up this liver function. Exercise won't do it and neither will coffee.

The factors that affect your alcohol level and cause intoxication are included in Alcohol Can Be Dangerous to Your Health. The Health Letter 14-6, which I am sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I'm 29 years old and I smoke quite a bit. My doctor has told me to quit smoking but I have not done it yet. I have their own illnesses.

been trying to cut down. He said poor circulation in my feet probably is caused by smoking.

Are there any exercises that I can do to improve the circulation or anything I can put on my feet to help? I also have tiny cracks at the bottom of my feet behind my small toes. My feet are usually cold and then sweat.

DEAR READER — I do not know from your letter if you have obstructions to your arteries or are related to poor circulation.

But there are some people who are prone to developing obstructions of their arteries to the feet. It is called thromboangitis obliterans. Burger's disease. These obstructions are related to tobacco, either smoking or chewing. And when tobacco is not stopped it can progress to the point a person may require an amputation.

If your doctor believes you have obstructions to your arteries to your feet, you must quit smoking entirely, not just cut down. No exercises or medicines will take the place of stopping the use of tobacco.

Your problem emphasizes to me how people can cause have not done it yet. I have their own illnesses.

EKU favored to finish as OVC champs; Beamer surprised by Racers fifth rating

From Staff, AP Reports
NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Ohio Valley Conference coaches seem to agree on at least two things — the importance of freshmen to Division I teams and which school is favored to finish as OVC football champions this year.

"It would just kill us if we didn't have our freshmen," Eastern Kentucky coach Roy Kidd observed Thursday in Nashville, where coaches held their annual media day.

His team, which was 13-0 last fall and won the Division I-AA national championship, is again the favorite in a pre-season poll conducted among the league's head coaches.

"We had a veteran team on our drive to the national title last season, but we nevertheless had six or seven freshmen who played a role for us. And this fall, we'll be relying on them even more," Kidd said.

"In a conference like ours, where we offer a maximum of only 65 scholarships, the depth afforded us by our freshmen is something we simply can't do without," he said.

Coaches vote on league finish

Team	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	TP
Eastern Kentucky	6	1	-	-	-	-	-	-	48
Akron	2	5	-	-	-	-	-	-	44
Middle Tennessee	-	1	6	-	-	-	-	-	36
Youngstown State	-	-	1	4	2	-	-	-	27
Murray State	-	1	-	1	2	3	-	-	22
Tennessee Tech	-	-	1	2	1	2	1	-	21
Morehead State	-	-	-	1	2	1	3	-	15
Austin Peay	-	-	-	-	1	2	4	-	11

Voting on a 7-6-5-4-3-2-1 point scale. Coaches did not vote for their own teams.

Kidd's teams in the last four seasons have gone 46-7, won the NCAA Division I-AA national championship twice and were national runners-up the other two times.

Akron, which returns 31 starters from last year, finished second in the balloting. The rest of the league finished as follows: Middle Tennessee State, Youngstown State, Murray State, Tennessee Tech, Morehead, and Austin Peay.

Other OVC coaches echoed Kidd's sentiments against making freshmen sit out a year before playing varsity football.

"If we can't have freshmen eligibility, we'd need a lot more money put in our programs, and that's just not feasible right now," Middle Tennessee State coach Boots Donnelly said.

"A coach who comes in here and is depending on freshmen from the start is going to be in big trouble," said Morehead's Steve Loney. "At the same time, depth is always going to be a problem at this level and that makes the freshman presence vital."

"We're not that good right now," Racer head coach Frank Beamer said of the Racers' fifth rating. He added he has been pleased with some returning Racers, however, several players have not been "proven" in their positions. "We've got some good players in our program, and I think we'll be exciting."

"We like to do some things that are unpredictable, but this year we'll be more unpredictable than usual."

Murray will be strong at the wide receiver position, returning Stan Trice and Chris Biggers. However, Beamer is concerned with the inexperience of sophomore quarterback Kevin Sisk.

Junior Invitational medalist honors earned by Paris youth

With a birdie four on the first hole of a sudden-death playoff, Billy Smith, 16, a junior at Henry County High School in Paris, Tenn., Thursday won medalist honors in the Murray Country Club's annual Pepsi Cola Junior Invitational golf tournament.

Smith, a brother of Richard Smith, former Austin Peay State University golfer and Ohio Valley Conference champion, had ended the 18 holes of play in the boys 16-years-old and up competition with a one over par 73.

Also posting a 73 was Jeff Shepherd, 18, a 1983 South Fulton High School graduate, sending the two to the first tee for the playoff.

Smith reached the fringe of the 490-yard hole in two, chipped to within inches of the cup and holed the putt for the birdie and the medalist honors after Shepherd had a par five.

Finishing in third place and one stroke back was David Crocker, who will be a senior this year at South Fulton High School, with a 36-38-74 round.

Smith had two bogeys and a birdie on his opening round, paring the others, for 37, and played his back nine in an even par 36 with birdies at the 13th and 14th to offset bogeys on the 16th and 17th.

Shepherd had a one stroke lead at the turn after posting a round of 36, including two birdies and two bogeys, but encountered tree trouble and three-putted on the 10th for a double bogey six. He went on to score birdies at the 14th and 18th and another bogey on 17 for 37 and his round of 73.

In the boys' 14 and 15 year-old competition, Kevin Luter of Dickson, Tenn., was low with 77, one stroke in front of Hunt Boyd of Mayfield. Hugh Houston of Murray was third with 78, and Brad Canter from the South Highlands Club at Mayfield was fourth 79.

Terri Lamb of Murray was the winner of the girls' competition in the same age group with an 88, two strokes ahead of Lee Holcomb, also of Murray. Sherri Lamb was third with 93 and Kristen Taylor fourth with 102.

Among the boys 12 and 13 years old, it took a three-player sudden death playoff to decide the top three places after Chris Hamilton, Harrisburg, Ill., Robert Todd Biggs, Calvert City, and Jimmy Schlosser of Mayfield finished with 88s.

Schlosser won first place with a birdie on the first playoff hole, and biggs took second place two holes later with a par. Finishing fourth was Jimbo Newton of Fulton two strokes back at 90.

Meredith Howe of Murray was low among the girls of the same age with a 44-50-90 round. Carla Evans of Madisonville was second with 96, Shelby Morgan of the Oaks Country Club third with 98, and Takethia Johnson, also of the Oaks, fourth with 99.

Robbie Nichols of Harrisburg was low among the boys 10 and 11 years old with an 87, two strokes in front of Bill Fandrich and Craig Schwettman, both of Fulton was next with 93.

Playing only nine holes in the girls' competition in the same age group, Karin Fandrich was the winner with 64.

Jennifer Howe was second with 65, Connie Steely third with 70 and Beth Wilson fourth with 81. All are from the host club.

A team from South Fulton made up of Jeff Shepherd, David Brundage, Steve Simpson and David Crocker took home the first Scott Latimer Memorial Trophy with an aggregate score of 297.

The trophy, provided by Tommy and Judy Latimer of the Murray Club in memory of their young son who was killed several years ago in a bulldozer accident, will go each year to the four players from any one club whose total scores is lowest of any other similar group.

Presented by Mrs. Latimer, this year's trophy was the first to be awarded.

This year's tournament attracted a field of 101 junior players from across the area and was jointly sponsored by the Pepsi Cola Bottling Company, which helped provide the prizes.

Pat LaFontaine chooses Olympics

NEW YORK (AP) — Pat LaFontaine, regarded as one of the top American-born hockey players ever, has made his choice to play for the U.S. Olympic team in 1984 — a decision which doesn't faze New York Islanders General Manager Bill Torrey.

"We'll just set aside our negotiations until the Olympics are over," said Torrey, whose Islanders have won four consecutive Stanley Cups. "He'll now have the opportunity to develop under the best of circumstances under an outstanding Olympic program. It'll give him maturity and experience." Torrey added, "I'm sure a lot of our centers are breathing a sigh of relief."

Torrey, who picked up the luncheon tab Thursday for LaFontaine's announcement, said he would go to the Winter Olympics in Sarajevo, Yugoslavia, to watch the Islanders' No. 1 draft pick — third overall in the National Hockey League — and other top talent.

LaFontaine, an 18-year-old center who lives in Waterford Township, Mich., moved to Montreal last year where he played for Verdun in the Quebec Major Junior Hockey League.

Downs director dismissed

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Bill Rudy, director of public relations at Churchill Downs, has been dismissed by track president Lynn Stone.

Rudy said that Thursday's dismissal was "somewhat of a surprise" to him.

"It was a matter of internal problems within Churchill Downs," said Rudy, who had been with the track 10 years.

"There is no acrimony or bitterness. It's just better for both sides to go ahead and do it."

Little League tryouts begin

Calloway County Little League football tryouts will be at 7 p.m. Monday at the Calloway County High School football field.

Boys ages 10-12 are eligible. Those trying out are asked to wear gym shorts and tennis shoes.

Football practice set

Football practice at Calloway County Middle School will begin at 10 a.m. Saturday. Coach Bill Miller announced.

Miller asked that all participants come with tennis shoes, shorts and physical examination cards.

Purcell looking for All-American finals

By STEVE HERMAN
AP Sports Writer
INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Mel Purcell wants to put the U.S. back into the U.S. Clay Court tennis championships.

Not since 1979, when Jimmy Connors won this tournament for the fourth time, has an American captured the men's singles title. But Purcell envisions an all-American showdown on Sunday with 18-year-old Jimmy Arias, the runner-up to Jose Higueras of Spain last year.

"I'd like to see me and Arias in the finals," said the eighth-seeded Purcell, who advanced to today's quarterfinals with an easy 6-2, 6-2 victory Thursday over 13th-seeded Diego Perez of Uruguay.

"It'd be nice. This is the U.S. Clay Court championships. In 1980 I vowed I'd come back and win this sucker one day. I have maybe seven more years, seven more good years, to do it."

Purcell, 24, of Murray, made his pro debut at Indianapolis three years ago and finished second to Argentina's Jose-Luis Clerc. He lost to Clerc in the quarterfinals both in 1981 and 1982, but he won't have to worry about his perennial nemesis this year since Clerc was forced to withdraw Thursday night because of illness.

Clerc, who had been the hottest player currently on the pro tennis circuit with a string of 16 straight match victories, spent most of the day in bed at his hotel with a bad cold and a 101-degree fever. He was beaten 6-1 in the first set by unseeded Roberto Arguello of Argentina, then he said he couldn't continue.

"I couldn't feel anything today. I was soft in the legs," said the 24-year-old Clerc, who was seeded second in the tournament.

Arguello, playing in this tourney for the first time, advanced to today's quarterfinals against No. 7-seed Shlomo Glickstein of Israel.

Purcell's opponent was No. 4-seed Henrik Sundstrom of Sweden, who advanced with a 6-2, 6-2 victory over No. 15 Libor Pimek of Czechoslovakia.

The loss by Clerc and an earlier defeat of the top-seeded Higueras by unseeded Jimmy Brown left No. 3 Arias as the highest-ranked player still in the men's tourney.

Arias advanced to the quarterfinals against No. 5 Chris Lewis of New Zealand after Spain's Fernando Luna defaulted because of an infected foot.

Lewis stopped 12th-seeded Corrado Barazzutti of Italy 7-5, 1-6, 6-3. The top four seeds advanced to the women's quarterfinals, with No. 1 Andrea Temesvari of Hungary against No. 4 Virginia Ruzici of Romania, the defending champion; and No. 2 Kathy Rinaldi against No. 3 Zina Garrison.

In the women's quarterfinals on Thursday, Temesvari rolled over Kathy Horvath 6-3, 6-1, but Rinaldi, Garrison and Ruzici all survived shaky starts before scoring their victories.

Rinaldi, 16, who lost in the semifinals last year, dropped her first set 6-7 before beating Bulgaria's Manuela Maleeva, seeded 14th, 6-0, 6-2. Garrison, 19, seeking her first tourney title as a professional, ousted 12th-seeded Ivanna Madruga-Osses 7-6, 6-3, while Ruzici, 28, earned a tough 7-5, 6-4 victory over fifth-seeded Bonnie Gadusek.

1. Legal Notice

Calloway Circuit Court
Civil Action No. 82-CI-317
Investors Heritage Life Insurance Company, Plaintiff, vs John O. Pasco, et al Defendant.

Commissioner's Sale
By virtue of a Judgment entered in the above-styled action on the 28th day of January, 1983, and by Order of Sale entered on the 18th day of July, 1983, I will sell the hereinafter described real estate at public auction from the front door of the Calloway County Courthouse, Murray, Kentucky, at or about the hour of 1:00 o'clock p.m., Local Time, on Monday, the 22nd day of August, 1983. The property shall be sold to the highest and best bidder, which said property is more particularly described as follows, to-wit:

"Lot Number One Hundred Three (103) and forty and five-tenths (40.5) feet off of the east side of Lot Number One Hundred Four (104) as shown in the Third Replat of the Pasco Subdivision to the City of Murray, Kentucky as recorded in Deed Book 108, page 471 in the office of the Clerk of the Calloway County Court.

For source of title, see Deed Book 81, page 471 in the office of the Clerk of the Calloway County Court, in which John O. Pasco received one-half interest in the above property, the remaining one-half interest John O. Pasco obtained by surviving his wife, Ruth E. Pasco, who died on July 27, 1977."

Said property is being sold for the purpose of satisfying the lien of the plaintiff, Investors Heritage Life Insurance Company, in the sum of $59,130.13, together with interest at the rate of 12% per annum from the 28th day of January, 1983, and the costs herein. The same will be made on terms of a cash deposit of Ten (10%) percent of the sale price at the time of sale and the balance to be due in thirty (30) days, the successful bidder being required to execute bond covering the balance of the purchase price with surety to be approved by the undersigned, bearing interest at the rate of 12% per annum from the date of sale until paid. However, the purchaser of said property shall have the privilege of paying the full purchase price, or any part thereof, in cash at anytime prior to the maturity of said bond and causing the same to be cancelled. Said property shall be sold with the improvements thereon "as is", and shall be sold free and clear of all liens and encumbrances, except all State, County and School Taxes for the year 1983, which shall be paid by the purchaser, and the purchaser shall take said real property subject to all easements, restrictions, stipulations and agreements of record; any matters disclosed by an accurate survey or inspection of the property; assessments for public improvements levied against the property and zoning regulations.

All bidders should be prepared to comply promptly with the foregoing terms.

Frank L. Ryan,
Master Commissioner
Calloway Circuit Court

1. Legal Notice

STATEMENT OF NONDISCRIMINATION
West Kentucky Rural Telephone Cooperative Corporation, Inc. has filed with the Federal Government a Compliance Assurance in which it assures the Rural Electrification Administration that it will comply fully with all requirements of Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and the Rules and Regulations of the Department of Agriculture issued thereunder, to the end that no person in the United States shall, on the ground of race, color, or national origin, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be otherwise subjected to discrimination in the conduct of its program and the operation of its facilities. Under this Assurance, this organization is committed not to discriminate against any person on the ground of race, color or national origin in its policies and practices relating to applications for service or any other policies and practices relating to treatment of beneficiaries and participants including rates, conditions and extension of service, use of any of its facilities, attendance at and participation in any meetings of beneficiaries and participants or the exercise of any rights of such beneficiaries and participants in the conduct of the operations of this organization.

Any person who believes himself, or any specific class of individuals, to be subjected by this organization to discrimination prohibited by Title VI of the Act and the Rules and Regulations issued thereunder may, by himself or a representative, file with the Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250, or the Rural Electrification Administration, Washington, D.C. 20250, or this organization, or all, a written complaint. Such complaint must be filed not later than 180 days after the alleged discrimination, or by such later date to which the Secretary of Agriculture or the Rural Electrification Administration extends the time for filing. Identity of complaints will be kept confidential except to the extent necessary to carry out the purposes of the Rules and Regulations.

3. Card of Thanks

CARD OF THANKS
With grateful appreciation from the family of Buford Downey wish to express their sincere thanks for the many acts of kindness shown to us during the death of our loved one, Dr. Bailey Binford and the staff of the Murray Calloway County Hospital, the Murray ambulance service. Also to Bro. Haywood Roberts and Rev. Jerry Norsworthy whose words of comfort brought peace of mind to our heavy hearts.
To Marie-Parrish whose message of song was beautifully rendered. Friends, neighbors and relatives who brought food, sent flowers, cards and money. To Max Churchill and staff who administered many acts of kindness. To the ladies who helped with the family luncheon on the day of the funeral. To the new friends we now have in Mayfield and Union City Tn. Especially to the hundreds who came to call each with a word of praise for the earthly life of our loved one.
There is a vacancy in our lives that will never be filled. May God bless each and every one of you is our prayer.
Wife, children, grandchildren, sister and brothers

OBITUARIES

Burkeens rites today at chapel

Final rites for James Darrell Burkeen are today at 2 p.m. in the chapel of Max Churchill Funeral Home. The Rev. Kendrick Lewis and the Rev. Bob Gipson are officiating. Leland Peeler is soloist with Regina Peeler as organist.

Pallbearers are Carl Ellis, Ron Hopkins, Russell Hopkins, Danny Gipson, Lonnie Gipson and Aubrey Burkeen, Jr. Burial will follow in McDaniel Cemetery.

Mr. Burkeen, 62, Rt. 1, Dexter, died Wednesday.

Calvary will hold revival

Revival services will be at Calvary Baptist Church starting Monday, Aug. 8, and continuing through Saturday, Aug. 13.

The Rev. Tim Allred, pastor of Trace Baptist Church, will be the speaker for the services at 7 p.m. each evening. Special music will be presented each service.

The interim pastor, the Rev. Jimmy Madding, invites the public to attend the services at the church located on Bazzell Cemetery Road near Colwater.

Scotts Grove revival will start Sunday

The Scotts Grove Baptist Church, located on U.S. Highway 641 North just outside the city limits of Murray, will have revival services starting Sunday, Aug. 7.

Rev. Calvin Wilkins

Guest evangelist will be the Rev. Calvin Wilkins, pastor of the Elm Grove Baptist Church. He has been the director of mission crusades to areas in the Caribbean each summer for many years.

Services will be at 7 p.m. on Sunday and at 7:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Donald Crawford will direct the music with Beverly Carter as pianist and Max McGinnis as organist.

The pastor, the Rev. Wayne Carter, said special music will be featured each service and invited the public to attend.

C.R. Lewis drowns, Tug Fork of river

AFLEX, Ky. (AP) — Funeral arrangements were pending Thursday for Charles Randall Lewis, 27, of Aflex, who drowned Wednesday night in the Tug Fork of the Big Sandy River.

The drowning occurred about 7 p.m. as Lewis was swimming with six companions near Aflex, opposite Williamson, W.Va., said Pike County Deputy Coroner Mike Hall. "He jumped in and didn't come up."

Two of Lewis' companions, Brian Reed and Ernest Johnson, found the body about 15 minutes later in 10 to 12 feet of water, Hall said. Lewis was pronounced dead at the scene.

The body was taken to Rogers Funeral Home at Belfry.

Mrs. Marine's rites planned on Saturday

The funeral for Mrs. Morene Key Marine will be Saturday at 11 a.m. in the chapel of Max Churchill Funeral Home. Her son, Dr. John Marine, will officiate. Mrs. Oneida White will be organist.

Burial will follow in the Bazzell Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 6 p.m. today (Friday).

Mrs. Marine, 70, Oak Park, Mich., formerly of Calloway County, died Monday at 2:35 p.m. at Providence Hospital, Southfield, Mich.

She was the wife of Chester Marine who died Oct. 22, 1975. Born Nov. 30, 1912, in Calloway County, she was the daughter of the late John and Annie Key.

Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. James (Dorothy) Maville, Oak Park; two sons, Dan Marine, Oak Park, and Dr. John Marine, Pontiac, Mich.; two sisters, Mrs. Madie Waters, Rt. 4, Murray, and Mrs. Jenny Wilson, 501 Olive St., Murray; 10 grandchildren.

Fort Campbell soldiers now in training

FORT CAMPBELL, Ky. (AP) — Approximately 1,200 soldiers from Fort Campbell will be joining 4,000 other American troops in Honduran training exercises later this month, a military official says.

About 370 troops from the 319th Field Artillery and 480 soldiers attached to the 101st Airborne Division will participate in a mock search for guerrilla activists. Defense Department spokesman Major Bob Shields said.

Others participating in the exercise will be the 102nd Quartermaster Company and other Division Support Command and Eagle Support Brigade units of the 101st Air Assault Division.

They will be joined by troops from Fort Rucker, Ala., Fort Bragg, N.C., and Camp LeJeune, N.C., and about 200 special forces Green Berets, Shields said.

The troops will leave in mid-August for the six-month mission. No ground infantry or armored combat units will participate.

Shields said troops at Fort Campbell normally undergo daily physical training each morning.

They are now preparing for the Honduran trip by exercising in the afternoon in order to adjust to temperatures in Central America.

Huddleston presents bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Walter "Dee" Huddleston, D-Ky., introduced legislation Thursday to provide clean water aid for rural areas.

His bill, the Rural Water and Waste Disposal Program Improvement Act of 1983, would make federal financing more available through the Farmers Home Administration for constructing or improving water and waste disposal systems in rural areas.

Huddleston said, in a statement released by his office, that under his proposal, the number of communities qualifying for low interest federal loans would nearly double.

Southern Baptist minister preacher for state race tracks

HENDERSON, Ky. (AP) — Bill Miller has never made a wager in his life. Even so, he has a pair of silver dollars in his belt buckle, symbolic of the race track's bread-and-butter: the two-dollar bet.

"The best bet is not to bet," advises Miller. "I do hear a lot of good tips though."

Miller hears a lot of other things, too, while working on the backside at Ellis Park, a thoroughbred race track along the Ohio River. He listens, offers advice, tries to help.

Miller, an ordained Southern Baptist minister, is the preacher for the 1,300 "backside" at the track.

"A lot of people thought I was leaving the ministry," Miller said on a recent morning while watching horses exercise. "They couldn't understand why I was going where people drink and gamble. I see it as taking the church into the world."

Miller got the call to the ministry seven years ago after working as an office manager of a building supply company. The 40-year-old Paducah native was formerly pastor of a church in Versailles, Ind.

Appointed by Race Track Chaplaincy of America, a Texas-based organization, Miller will spend two months at Ellis Park and the remainder of the year at Latonia Race Course in northern Kentucky. He is one of 50 chaplains serving 360 tracks in the U.S. and Canada.

Though he raised pleasure horses before entering the ministry, Miller found a different world on the backside.

The groomers, hot walkers, assistant trainers, exercise riders and others who work along the backside form their own community.

Many live in the windowless tack rooms, rising early and working late. Traveling from one race track to another is an easy way to leave an old life behind or form a new one.

"The hardest thing was learning not to condemn something I didn't understand," Miller said.

"The need is so great on the backside. Just being a friend to a lot of them is enough. Most of them are not concerned with names, just relationships. A lot of these people have only nicknames. But these are precious people."

Miller has found that it isn't easy trying to befriend people who naturally are suspicious of outsiders.

"Some of these people have been around tracks as long as 30 years but there are always a few greenhorns breaking in," he said. "You have everything from people who can't read and write to people who are well-educated."

When he began services in the old blacksmith's shop, just one person showed up. Eleven people were at the next Thursday night service and 17 at the third.

There is a week's full of work along the backside. Miller's wife has a Bible school every morning and he conducts funerals, performs marriages and counsels.

"Some people find the Lord here, leave the track and establish themselves with roots somewhere," Miller said.

"But we're not here to take people away from the track. We're here to bring Christ to the backside."

Life on the backside suits him.

"Here, there are no deacon boards and no little old ladies wanting you to do this or that. That's one of the fringe benefits.

"I was attracted by the awesome challenge and the need. I felt this was where the Lord wanted me."

"They say once you step in the manure, you're hooked for life," Miller said. "I think we'll always be backside. The backside is our church."

Woman, 94, continues record

OWENSBORO, Ky. (AP) — Back several years ago, Martine Tompkins came close to spoiling her 75-year-old perfect driving record.

She ran into a ditch south of Owensboro, but Mrs. Tompkins said it doesn't count as an accident, "because I backed out of there by myself."

Mrs. Tompkins almost got a speeding ticket four years ago in Florida but she told the officer she was in a hurry to get back to Kentucky to see her baby — who was 70 at the time.

The Florida officer let her off with a warning — a warning that there was a speed trap down the road.

Mrs. Tompkins is Owensboro's oldest licensed driver and arguably its best.

"I can still drive a lot better than a lot of these squirts today," she says. "I'm just 94. When I get old, I'm going to stop."

In 1908, her husband Sam bought the second car ever seen in Owensboro. Mrs. Tompkins has been behind the wheel since that first Stevens-Duryea in 1908.

"People thought it was terrible," she says with a laugh. "The men would give me bad looks sometimes. Women were supposed to sit on the front porch with both feet flat on the floor. We could never even cross our legs, much less drive a car."

A newspaper clipping from 1908 also recalls Mrs. Tompkins' driving skills. "Mrs. Sam W. Tompkins in Owensboro this season is the only feminine driver who has been successful at the wheel." The report also notes that she, "is recognized as a driver of ability and has made some excellent runs during the past season."

Driving in those days was truly an adventure, Mrs. Tompkins said.

"We wore goggles, long dusters, gauntlet gloves and long veils because the dust was so bad," she recalled. "Pulling through that dust was awful. We took our clothes and changed when we got to where we were going."

A speed of 25 mph was asking for trouble back then. "The city roads were worse than the county roads back then. If you drove over 5 miles an hour on Frederica Street (Owensboro's main thoroughfare), you would break a spring."

Trips to Louisville or even Evansville, Ind., were two-day events, she said.
