Rose challenging county tax collection costs

By MARK COOPER
Murray Ledger & Times Staff Writer

Local school administration is upset at the costs of collecting school taxes in the county and have begun an audit of financial records at the Calloway County Sheriff's Department to determine exactly how much should be charged for the service.

But county officials say they are unwilling to charge the Calloway County School District any less for collection of the taxes and will let the courts decide the matter if necessary.

The Calloway County School Board earlier last month authorized the hiring of an accountant who was busy Thursday and Friday at the sheriff's department examining financial records and will report back to the district when the audit is complete.

The accountant has been charged with determining exactly what costs are involved in collecting the taxes, according to Calloway Superintendent Dr. Jack Rose, who said he believes the figure that the department charges and the actual cost of collection are two different numbers.

The Sheriff's Department has traditionally charged 4 percent of the taxes collected — the maximum allowed by law — for collecting the taxes, money that goes to cover operational costs of the department. State sheriff departments can charge anywhere from 1.5 to 4 percent.

The district, however, should be paying for the cost of collecting the taxes and nothing more, Rose said.

"I think it's pretty obvious what the bottom line is," Rose said. "The bottom line is that the county is trying to take dollars that are basically school dollars. It's not up to the county schools to pay for county government."

The 4 percent charge, however, isn't nearly enough to cover the cost of collection, according to Calloway County Judge/Executive George Weaks, who said the sheriff's department "will either pay 4 percent or go to court."

"Our intention, as far as the (Calloway County Fiscal) Court is concerned, is that the (4 percent) figure is not negotiable," he said. "We feel that we can show that 4 percent is not an unreasonable

House approves long-awaited overhaul of clean air laws Friday

By H. JOSEF HEBERT
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House approved the first overhaul of federal clean air laws in 13 years Friday night, requiring new pollution controls to sharply reduce urban smog, acid rain and industrial release of toxic chemicals.

The 1,100-page bill passed by a vote of 401-25 and immediately was sent to the Senate, where quick approval was expected.

The cost for meeting the new requirements eventually are expected to exceed $22 billion a year and affect virtually every segment of society.

Many of the handful of congressmen who opposed the measure did so because of the burden imposed on Midwest utilities that will have to undertake expensive measures to curb pollutants that cause acid rain.

But supporters hailed the legislation as the most far-reaching piece

Computerized data base to assist eight-county region

By KRIS FAZI
Murray Ledger & Times Staff Writer

The Purchase Area Development District (PADD) Industrial Development Council has purchased modems for a computerized data base for the eight-county region, and hopes to distribute them some time next month.

The data base has 44 categories of economic statistics about each county and the region, including agriculture, unemployment, cost of living and population figures. The data base will be updated as information comes in to the PADD office in Mayfield, Steve Zea, chairman of the council, said.

Either the Chamber of Commerce or other entity in each county will have a modem, and can call up information from the data base and print it, he said.

"We (each county) won't be able to manipulate the data, but we will have access to it and can print it on a printer," Zea said.

The council, he said, started the system because a better resource for regional information was needed.

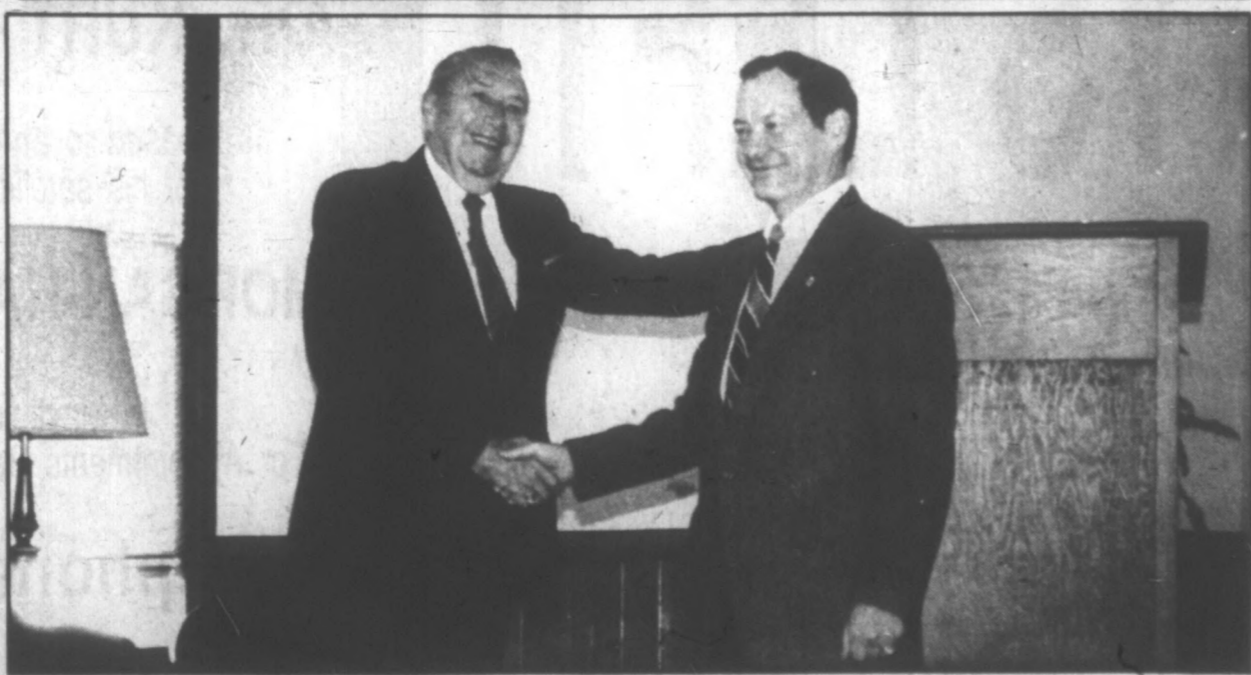

The PADD office has been entering data it currently has into the $10,000 system. Zea said the office gets more than 1,500 pieces of mail dealing with this kind of information each month from state and federal agencies.

In the future, the PADD may offer a subscription service to others in the area who want access to the information, he said.

Miller, who donated a 173-acre site for the course in memory of his wife, will serve as grand marshal in today's homecoming parade.

Terry Anderson spending 6th birthday in captivity

By MOHAMMED SALAM
Associated Press Writer

BEIRUT, Lebanon — Kidnapped American journalist Terry Anderson, the longest-held among 13 Westerners missing in Lebanon, turns 43 on Saturday, his sixth birthday in captivity.

Anderson, chief Middle East correspondent for The Associated Press, was kidnapped at gunpoint in Moslem west Beirut on March 16, 1985. There has been no indication that his pro-Iranian Shiite Moslem captors plan to free him.

Former hostage Brian Keenan of Northern Ireland, who was released on Aug. 24, said he spent part of his more than four years in captivity with Anderson.

He said Anderson, whom he last saw "some time ago," suffered from a digestive ailment and was frequently in pain.

But Keenan noted that Anderson bore his pain stoically because "in truth, all pain and illness was generally dismissed by our keepers, although they would eventually supply us with some form of antibiotics."

He said Anderson, who with other hostages was kept in chains and blindfolded much of the time, suffered "periods of despair and would seek solace in his family."

But he noted that Anderson has been allowed to receive letters from his family and has a photograph of his youngest daughter, Sulome, 5, who was born three months after he was kidnapped.

"Terry and myself would sit through those long nights and speak with great pain and remorse of environmental legislation to be considered by Congress in years. "This bill will be the standard by which we will judge environmental legislation in the '90s," declared Rep. Mike Synar, D-Okla.

Despite its lopsided approval, the bill was the product of months of intense bargaining by House members among themselves behind closed doors.

The highly technical and far-reaching bill requires tighter emission controls on cars, cleaner-burning gasoline blends and pollution controls on businesses to combat urban smog.

Smog-producing emissions from automobiles must be cut by 30 percent to 60 percent and gasoline sold in areas with smog problems must be 15 percent cleaner toward the end of the decade.

More than 100 cities that are failing to meet federal air-quality standards will have to impose pollution-control plans to bring their air into compliance over the next five to 17 years, depending on the severity of the problem. The Los Angeles area is given 20 years.

At the same time, the measure directs industry to cut toxic air pollution by 90 percent over the next eight years by installing new pollution-control equipment to capture 189 hazardous chemicals and requires coal-burning electric power plants to reduce chemical releases that cause acid rain by more than 10 million tons.

The industrial Midwest will be hit hardest because plants in such states as Ohio, Indiana and Illinois rely heavily on high-sulfur coal and will carry the greatest burden of reducing sulfur dioxide emissions, which cause acid rain.

Failure to meet the new federal requirements could open polluters to civil penalties of up to $25,000 a day. Criminal penalties may be sought against corporate executives for willful release of hazardous air pollutants that pose a serious health threat.

Most of the new pollution requirements would be phased in over 10 to 15 years. The requirements for cleaner burning motor fuels and reductions in sulfur dioxide emissions from coal-burning power plants take effect by 1995.

The clean-air requirements are expected to have widespread effects on society. Consumers are likely to pay slightly more for automobiles as well as gasoline and, in many of the Midwestern states, more for electricity. Small businesses and huge petrochemical plants alike will have to invest in pollution-control equipment and improve the monitoring of chemical releases.

Cost estimates for the new controls have varied widely. The bill's supporters have said the legislation will cost the economy about $10 billion a year beginning in 1995 and about $22 billion by the year 2005, when most of the requirements will be in effect.

Industry estimates have been much higher, with some studies predicting annual costs from the legislation by 2005 of more than $60 billion. Environmentalists have criticized the industry figures as being based on "inflated estimates and extreme or false assumptions."

The latest push for overhauling the 1970 Clean Air Act, which was last changed in 1977, began nearly 17 months ago when President Bush unveiled his proposal for cleaning up the nation's air, noting that for nearly a decade "political paralysis has plagued ... progress against air pollution."

But the task proved to be far from simple.

It took three weeks of intense closed-door negotiations between Senate leaders and the White House to craft legislation that would satisfy divergent regional and economy interests affected by the bill. Finally the Senate passed a bill April 3 by a vote of 89-11. Six weeks later, the House approved its version 401-21 after also after working out scores of tradeoffs and compromises.

But negotiations bogged down as the House and Senate tried to resolve differences in the two bills, each of which ran to nearly 700 pages. Facing increasing time pressures, negotiators for the two houses finally agreed on a compromise bill Monday, barely in time for final floor action before Congress adjourns.

DISTRICT COURT SUMMARY

The following is a summary of the DUI and felony cases brought before the Calloway County District Court this week. DUI cases are only listed after final disposition and only if a plea or verdict of guilty has been entered. Unless otherwise noted, a court cost of $47.50 was automatically paid by the party mentioned. (A "fee" refers to a sheriff's fee). In the event of any type of suspensions, figures listed represent those fines or sentences after the suspended portion has been subtracted. These parties appeared before Judge Dennis Fouse on Oct. 23 and 24 or Judge James Peisel on Oct. 19. May have either paid a fine, fee, court costs, made restitution or received a sentence, or any combination. Some cases may have been continued, passed on to another court date or dismissed for a variety of reasons. Miscellaneous, including minor traffic violations, and offenses involving minors are not included in the following list:

- From Oct. 19: Ricky Hale — driving under the influence (first offense), jury trial conducted, found guilty: $200 fine, $150 DUI fee, court costs and Crime Victims Fund.
- From Oct. 23: Jay Hinkle Wells — first degree rape: preliminary hearing set for 11-13-90, bond set at $20,000 property.
- David Adams — one count theft by deception over $100: preliminary hearing waived, case bound over to Grand Jury.
- Alan Smothers — first degree burglary: case dismissed by motion of attorney; fugitive from Tennessee; waiver of extradition signed, released to report to Weakley County.
- From Oct. 24: David Cleveland Holloway — driving under the influence (second offense), entered guilty plea: seven days jail, $350 fine, $150 DUI fee, court costs, CVP.
- Amy Marie Browne — driving under the influence (first offense), entered guilty plea: $200 fine, $150 DUI fee with $50 suspended for school, court costs, CVP.
- Michael Clayton Moore — driving under the influence (first offense), entered guilty plea: $200 fine, $150 DUI fee with $50 suspended for school, court costs, CVP.

All-American spooky holiday rooted in pre-Christian British history

To the ancient Celts, it was New Year's Eve — a sort of time warp through which the dead sneaked back from the grave and teamed up with ghostly critters to scare the beejebers out of peaceful citizens.

We know Oct. 31 as Halloween, the night for carving pumpkins, trick-or-treating for candy and telling ghost stories. But this all-American holiday is rooted in pre-Christian Britain.

Early churchmen took a dim view of rampaging ghosts and goblins. So they decided to Christianize the night that heralded the onset of wintry weather.

So the church made Nov. 1 the feast of All Saints. Nov. 2 was celebrated as All Souls' day when prayers were said for the dearly departed.

British settlers brought the holiday from Old World to new. Through the years, Halloween became secular with trick-or-treating for candy and carving pumpkins into jack-o'-lanterns as the holiday's main features (along with a "Peanuts" Great Pumpkin special on TV).

The pumpkin is a native American gourd. But the idea of whitening them into jack-o'-lanterns comes from the British "Punky Night." "Trick-or-treat" is the American cousin of Britain's "Mischief Night."

A "punkie" is a lantern made from a hollowed out turnip, according to Charles Kightly's book, "The Customs and Ceremonies of Britain." The author explained that a candle is put inside the turnip and the light shines through a design carved into the skin.

Kids carried the punkies around, collecting money for charity. Those who got the most were crowned the Punkie King and Queen, according to Kightly.

He cited another source of the custom, however. Long ago, some men went to a nearby fair, guzzled too much hard cider and got too drunk to find their way home. There wives made punkies and set off as a group to find them.

The theory of Mischief Night seems the same on both sides of the Atlantic. "All of Britain, children firmly believed themselves entitled to one annual 'lawless night' of unpunished pranks," Kightly wrote.

That's ditto in our part of the world when otherwise law-abiding lads soap windows, spray shaving cream, burn tires on remote intersections, heave rotten eggs and engage in other mischief. In Britain, youths stopped up chimneys, whitewashed windows and blew smoke through keyholes.

Knighly added: "The removal and concealment of garden gates is virtually standard practice; and other popular tricks include remote control tapping on windows with an ingenious arrangement of buttons and string, or pretending to smash them by thumping them with the hand while simultaneously breaking a bottle."

Halloween parties are popular in our part of the country. Generations of kids have enjoyed bobbing for apples. That's a British game, too. "...Apples are either floated in water or hung by a string, to be seized with the player's teeth alone," Kightly wrote. "They should then be peeled in one unbroken strip which, when thrown over the left shoulder, will form the initial of a true lover."

Scots hide charms in a bowl of mashed potatoes on Halloween to predict the future. "Everyone takes a spoonful, Kightly explained, "and the charm it contains — coin for wealth, thimble for spinsterhood, wishbone for the heart's desire — shows their fortune in the coming year."

Anderson...

and longing for his daughter," Keenan said.

On Saturday, Lebanese newspapers plan to publish letters to Anderson from Sulome, her Lebanese mother, Madeleine, and Peggy Say, his sister.

The Arabic-language papers said they will also publish the original English texts of the letters in the hope that Anderson will be allowed to read them. Anderson did not know Arabic when he was kidnapped.

During his captivity, he has lost his father, Glenn R. Anderson, and elder brother, Glenn Richard Jr. Both died of cancer. As far as is known, Anderson is unaware of those deaths.

Anderson's father died 11 months after the kidnapping and his 46-year-old brother died June 7, 1986, four days after making a videotape from his hospital bed pleading with Anderson's kidnappers to release him.

Apart from Anderson, the missing Westerners include five other Americans, four Britons, two West Germans and an Italian.

Altogether, 89 foreigners have been kidnapped or disappeared in Lebanon since January 1984. Sixty-seven have been freed or said they escaped and nine have been killed.

Hussein Musawi, reputed mentor of some of the hostage-holders, has repeatedly emphasized that an early release of the American captives was unlikely.

Data base...

"This information is not just for economic development," Carol Rogers, public relations and economic development director of the PADD, said. "It's information that can be of use to city and county government and anybody that needs information about the region."

"The university could use it for research and reports, the media could use it, people who do forecasting; there are a lot of people who need easier access to this kind of information," Zea said, adding the only equipment needed to use the system is a modem and access code.

The PADD Industrial Development Council is made up of local elected officials, businessmen and community leaders from Ballard, Calloway, Carlisle, Fulton, Graves, Hickman, Marshall and McCracken counties. Its role is to keep the Purchase area up-to-date in economic development activity and serve as a catalyst for cooperative regional projects and programs.

FOR SUNDAY, OCTOBER 28, 1990

ARIES

(Mar. 21 to Apr. 19)

Work interests may compete with social plans today. Do what you must do and then take time for relaxing pursuits. Evening hours are your best time for fun.

TAURUS

(Apr. 20 to May 20)

You're liable to be beset by conflicting advice today about career concerns. Put off major decision-making for now and concentrate instead on recharging your energies.

GEMINI

(May 21 to June 20)

You may have mixed feelings about a possible expenditure today. Travel is a plus, but be careful with credit-card buying. An in-law may ask for your assistance in some way.

CANCER

(June 21 to July 22)

A difference in taste could cause partners to be at odds now if shopping together. Evening hours, though, place a special accent on romance and going out for good times.

LEO

(July 23 to Aug. 22)

You could be all thumbs now, so it's not the best time for a do-it-yourself project. The theme of the day is togetherness. Partners should do something special now.

VIRGO

(Aug. 23 to Sept. 22)

It's not a good day to take the children shopping. Your direction may be unclear about a creative project. The needs of others take priority over work interests now.

LIBRA

(Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)

Before you can take time off for relaxing pursuits today, there are some domestic concerns that need handling. Evening hours, though, are great for unwinding.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)

Communications with a family member may be strained for a while today. Tonight, however, places a happy accent on romance and the enjoyment of leisure interests.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)

You'll be gadding about today doing various errands and stopping by to visit with friends. Tonight, though, you'll enjoy the peace and quiet of domesticity.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 19)

Errors in judgment could occur if shopping today. An invitation to a nice party could come now. Singles will meet with romantic introductions. Tonight should be fun!

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 20 to Feb. 18)

Your disposition is a bit changeable as the day begins. Save time now for a pet interest. Evening hours could bring a social introduction that will prove helpful in business.

PISCES

(Feb. 19 to Mar. 20)

You may have mixed feelings about a social engagement now. However, if you save part of this day for some extra rest, your mood will change in time for merriment tonight.

YOU BORN TODAY are independent yet cooperative. Though you're a person meant to do his or her own thing, you still must guard against being too fixed in your ideas. You'll succeed in both the arts and sciences and often are an inspired thinker. Despite an innate skepticism, you have good intuitive powers. Science, writing, and medicine are vocations that would provide you with a sense of fulfillment. Birthdate of: Elsa Lancheater, actress; Jonas Salk, epidemiologist; and Edith Head, fashion designer.

FOR MONDAY, OCTOBER 29, 1990

ARIES

(Mar. 21 to Apr. 19)

This is a good day to research investments and retirement plans. New starts are favored now in business. Evening hours, though, could find you a bit cranky.

TAURUS

(Apr. 20 to May 20)

Social gains are likely on this day when your personality goes over very well. Couples may plan a spur-of-the-moment holiday together. The signing of contracts is a plus.

GEMINI

(May 21 to June 20)

Freelancers receive assignments. An important new phase of business progress begins now. Meet with higher-ups, but don't let ego get in the way of success.

CANCER

(June 21 to July 22)

It's the right time to consult with agents and advisers about creative projects. A child does well in school. A surprise outing leads to romance and good times.

LEO

(July 23 to Aug. 22)

Happiness reigns in the family circle now. One friend, though, is irritable. You may receive a job assignment that can be done from the home. Entertaining is a plus.

VIRGO

(Aug. 23 to Sept. 22)

Partners are in agreement about mutual concerns. It's a day with an accent on togetherness. On one career matter, you shouldn't press too hard.

LIBRA

(Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)

Despite a possible irritation with a co-worker, you'll be making gains on the job today. Discussions about money and financial interests go very well.

MSU equestrian team earns 14 first place awards at horse show

Fourteen members of the Murray State University equestrian team earned first-place recognitions in the recent Hiwassee College Horse Show at Madisonville, Tenn.

Beth Uelsmann of Benton, Mo., took a first each day of the two-day event in the stock seat (western saddle) class, and a first the second day in the hunt seat (English saddle class).

Others who recorded more than one first were Kim Gibson of Cambridge, Ohio, who won a first each day in the stock seat class, and Amanda Hill of St. Genevieve, Mo., who won a first each day in the hunt seat class.

Team members who won one first in the stock seat class were: Jay Cloud, Calvert City; Ronn Gill, Louisville; Debi Knight, Petersburg, Ind.; Brian Rudolph, Murray; Stephanie Clendenin, Brandenburg; and Helen Mayer, Manchester, Conn.

Winners of a single first place were: Melanie Boline, Salem, Ore.; Russell Gholson, Wickliffe; Melissa Wilson, Oak Ridge, Tenn.; Ursula Wilson, Ellenville, Mo.; and Andrea Woods, Evansville, Ind.

Second-place honors went to: (stock seat class) Hill; Melissa Wilson; Woods; Stacey Foster, Virden, Ala.; Megan McWhorter, Knoxville, Tenn.; Becky Perry, Barlow; and Vanessa Wynkoop, Atlanta; and (hunt seat class) Lisa Krystosek, Evansville, Ind.

Placing third were: (stock seat) Foster; Rudolph; Christine Ash, Newburgh, Ind.; Michelle Demaree, Martinsville, Ind.; and Tammy McKinney, Owensboro; and (hunt seat) Rudolph (two); Wynkoop; Ursula Wilson; and Michelle Beecher, Elmira, N.Y.

Head coach of the MSU equestrian team is Brien Terry, with Laura Overton as the hunt seat coach, assisted by Tammy McKinney.

Riders accumulate points in regular season shows to earn the right to participate in Region 6 Intercollegiate Horse Show Association (IHSA) competition against riders from more than 20 other schools in four states — Kentucky, Illinois, Tennessee and Missouri.

Regional qualifiers advance to the national IHSA competition in the spring.

MSU's team won regional championships in 1981, 1983, 1984 and 1985, and was runnerup in 1988. The team won national championships in 1981 and 1985 and was runnerup for the national title in 1983 and 1988.

Original copy of Declaration to be put on public display

EXETER, N.H. (AP) — A 214-year-old copy of the Declaration of Independence will be put on display, according to an agreement announced this week.

The Society of the Cincinnati, which owns the 18th-century house where the document was discovered several years ago, has agreed to let the state display the mint-condition copy 100 days a year.

The document was one an estimated 600 printed in Philadelphia 214 years ago. Only 23 are known to have survived.

Charles Clarke, a descendant of the man who told Exeter residents of the nation's independence on July 16, 1776, read the document Thursday during a news conference where officials announced the agreement.

John Taylor Gilman read the declaration on the courthouse steps when it was news to New Hampshire colonists.

The group also announced plans for a museum to house the document and other historic items.

Barry sentenced to six months on cocaine possession charge

By The ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON — Mayor Marion Barry was sentenced Friday to six months in prison, fined $5,000 and given one year probation for his conviction on a misdemeanor cocaine possession charge.

Barry declared himself "truly remorseful" and asked U.S. District Judge Thomas Penfield Jackson for leniency. But Jackson told the mayor he had abused his office and the collective trust of the community.

"Having failed as the good example he might have been, the defendant must now become an example of another kind," Jackson said.

The sentencing ended a 10-month legal drama that began with the mayor's arrest Jan. 18 in an FBI sting operation that caught him on videotape smoking crack cocaine with a former girlfriend. The night before sentencing Barry, in a letter to the judge, said he was a "recovering alcoholic and drug addict."

"I stand here truly remorseful and ask this court to impose community service as a sentence," Barry told Jackson at Friday's hearing.

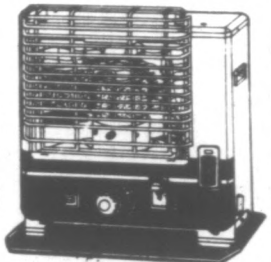

Barry said he was willing to "take full and personal responsibility for all my actions, all my attitudes."

But Jackson said Barry's position as mayor and "his breach of public trust alone warrants an enhanced sentence." The judge also said:

"The public rumors of defendant's frequent and conspicuous drug use — never dispelled and now unfortunately shown to have been true — has given aid, comfort and encouragement to the drug culture at large and contributed to the anguish that illegal drugs have inflicted on this city in so many ways for so long."

Remember the 10th

The 10th of each month is a very important day to your newspaper carrier. Your carrier must receive your payment by the 10th of the month in order to pay their bill.

You see, these carriers are independent business men and women. They buy their papers from us at wholesale cost and sell them to you at the retail delivery rate. When you don't pay them by the 10th they have to dig down into their own pockets to make up the difference.

Please pay your carrier promptly before the 10th of each month. They depend on you to write their pay checks. Collection time can be an inconvenience for you and your carrier.

So... paying by mail is a simple way to avoid the bother of monthly collection.

FROM AROUND THE STATE

The following is a roundup of editorials published or aired by Kentucky newspapers and broadcast stations. The editorials comment on a variety of issues of interest to Kentucky residents. Some editorials may have been condensed for space purposes. These editorials are not to be mistaken as representing a position taken by The Associated Press.

The Richmond Register: Albert Jones makes a good point. Jones, a state legislator from Paducah serving on a panel reviewing Kentucky's open meetings and records laws, says some local government agencies have adopted tactics that at least violate the spirit of the law. They do that in a variety of ways, including scheduling meetings at times inconvenient to the citizenry and reaching consensus among members by informal polling before meeting time.

"And when they come and meet, there is really no discussion of the subject before the public because the decision has already been made," Jones said.

That's difficult, if not impossible, to prove, but what else is the public to think when decisions on complicated, important matters are made in the wink of an eye?

We're anxious to see the recommendations of this legislative task force, because we happen to think the public wants to know why something is done, not just that it's done.

The Paducah Sun: The Kentucky General Assembly, in its zeal to provide more revenue sources for schools trying to finance reform efforts, may have overreached by including cable television as a taxable utility.

The cable industry, which apparently is prepared for a legal fight on the issue, quarrels with the definition of the business as a utility, contending it is more like a newspaper as a source of information and entertainment.

The question of definition is fuzzy and could be argued either way. The best case against including cable television in the school utilities tax is the fact that cable, or least Comcast here, pays franchise fees of 3 percent to McCracken County and 5 percent to the city of Paducah.

The issue boiled to the surface when the attorney general's office ruled that all schools that levy the 3 percent utilities tax must include cable television.

The tax burden for an individual subscriber would not be great, 51 cents per month on the basic rate of $17. But at that, Comcast's 20,000 subscribers would contribute $120,000 per year to the schools, enough to pay the salary of five teachers. So the money is not insignificant.

Until a court says differently, the law is the law and must be followed. But fair is fair also, and in effect taxing cable twice and other utilities once is questionable.

Letters to the Editor

Soaking the rich with taxes does not wash?

Recent estimates from the Joint Tax Committee of Congress indicate that the proposed federal budget package would cost Americans with incomes over $200,000 about 1.7 percent more in taxes. Those with incomes below $10,000 would pay 7.6 percent more. The proposed new taxes are not based on income but on the purchase of specific goods like gasoline, alcohol and airline tickets. By increasing taxes on specific goods, the burden of the tax falls more heavily on those with lower incomes.

Democrats have suggested increasing taxes on higher income groups. There is, however, an interesting surprise buried in this "soak the rich argument." While it makes appealing political headlines, it does not necessarily work out the way it seems.

Research completed by several prominent economists, including James Gwartney of Florida State University and Lowell Galloway of Margin Magazine, have shed new light on income tax changes. The fact is that, as income tax rates are increased, high income taxpayers respond to the financial incentives before them more than lower income taxpayers. Since they have a greater ability to structure their income and working hours, they produce much less taxable income by working fewer hours, and utilizing more tax sheltered investments. The reduction in their taxable base is larger than the increase in their tax rates and, therefore, tax revenues collected from high income groups may actually decline. Here, as tax rates are increased, a smaller portion of the total tax bill of the entire economy is paid by higher income taxpayers. For example, in 1932 the Hoover administration raised all marginal tax rates to their pre-1920's levels again. The total tax revenues collected from low income individuals increased substantially. The working poor could not respond by working fewer hours or exposing a different portion of their income to taxes. However, total tax revenues collected from high income groups increased only slightly. Remember, also, that there are many more low and middle income taxpayers than there are high income taxpayers. The 1932 increase in taxes, therefore, had the overall effect of shifting the tax burden away from high income taxpayers toward lower income taxpayers. Lower income taxpayers ended up paying a larger portion of the economy's total tax bill.

The tax CUTS enacted in 1922, 1924 and 1926 also offer symmetric evidence of this effect. The percentage of total tax revenues collected from individuals with low incomes declined from 22.5 percent to 4.5 percent, while the percentage to total tax revenues collected from individuals with high incomes increased from 28.1 percent to 50.9 percent.

Before taxpayers cast their ballots, it seems appropriate that they know the realities of history as opposed to what constitutes political and emotional phrase making. Attempts at soaking the rich frequently shifts the tax burden from high to lower income taxpayers. Both groups could, however, benefit from a serious attempt by government to control its own spending. Isn't that what the Gramm-Rudman-Hollings Act was all about in the first place?

J.R. Clark holds the Tom E. Hendrix Chair of Excellence in Free Enterprise at the University of Tennessee at Martin. The views expressed are his own and do not necessarily represent those of the university.

Mrs. Effie Kingins to be remembered in special Sunday services Oct. 28

Dear Editor, Time does not erase the happy family memories that are instilled in the minds of children when they grow up in an atmosphere of love, contentment and a sense of well being.

As we grow older, we try to emulate the ones who set the good examples before us, and we try to show them how appreciative we are of their counsel, guidance and instruction.

Many times we wait too late to honor our parents and friends who have taught us to be honest, truthful, reliable and upright citizens. Sunday, Oct. 28 would have been Mrs. Effie Kingins (my mother's) 114th birthday and we are having a special Memorial Service for her at the Coldwater United Methodist Church during the 11 a.m. worship hour.

Special music will be by Jimmy and Linda Wilson. All friends and relatives are invited, especially the descendants of "Mammy Kingins."

Sincerely,
Lucile Potts
Rt. 7

Give or take a dollar or two, but most experts tell us that the military mobilization in Saudi Arabia will cost over 500 billion dollars by year's end, that the oil shortage will cost American consumers billions of dollars, that the Savings & Loan scandals will cost another 500 billion, that the national debt is now over three trillion dollars, and that the annual deficit in the balance of trade with other nations is also in the billions.

We may have driven the zeroes from the skies in World War Two, but we are losing the war against the zeroes of inflation and national debt. The goose that laid the golden eggs has flown, and the nation is left with hollow goose eggs strung out behind every barometer of economic well-being.

This is frightening stuff. Concern has been growing for years over the size and immorality of the debt we will leave as our legacy to our children. Now the concern has turned to alarm over whether the nation will even be around to turn over to them its red-inked ledgers.

The national rejoicing over the toppling of communist government in Europe hides the fact that the same economic tides which laid them low are crashing against our own Atlantic and Pacific coasts as well. National unity and pride in dispatching troops to the Middle East mask the fact that we are unable to reach such unity and pride in handling our own domestic economy.

As the Twentieth Century ends, the statistics and prophecies of Apocalypse are escalating. Add a zero to the hundred years of growth in national affluence and we have the ending of a millennium.

Apocalypse Now

A millennium is a thousand years. It has been almost a millennium since the English-based civilization of which we are a part began with William the Conqueror in 1066. It has been two millennia since Jesus was born in Bethlehem.

There have been many millennia since mankind arose and many more millennia beyond that since the earth was formed. In the eyes of God, wrote Isaac Watts in his hymn, "A thousand ages in Thy sight, Are like an evening gone; Short as the watch that ends the night, Before the rising sun."

Watts' reference to "the rising sun" takes on special irony when one contrasts the declining economic fortunes of Europe and America with the sudden affluence of defeated Japan, the "land of the rising sun." But Japan is in trouble, too. Its own economy cannot be sustained long without world markets for its goods, and if the other nations cannot purchase, Japan cannot produce.

The shortage of wherewithal for affording goods is now global. Even the elastic of credit-purchasing is stretched to its limits and snapping back to sting the hand which extended it. The average citizen gets a dozen offers of charge cards in their mailboxes each week, often addressed simply to "Current Occupant".

Realtors are having problems selling homes and renters troubles in renting apartments. The vacancy signs are everywhere, not far from the subways and sidewalks where growing numbers of homeless sleep.

After several difficult years, "things are looking up" in Houston, but mainly because things are looking down in the rest of the country.

All of this makes it hard to look forward to the next millennium. Outside the mayor of Athens, who hopes to get the Olympic Games for the year 2000, no one is making plans to celebrate the end of the Second and arrival of the Third Millennium in the way we celebrated the Bicentennial of America in 1976.

The password into our century in 1900 was "Gigantic".

The password out of it has become "Titanic".

While we sit around excitedly debating censorship of the arts, we have imposed upon ourselves a more serious but silent self-censorship — on the subject of the economy. We fear discussing it because optimism may lead to pessimism. Talk of decline may become a self-fulfilling prophecy. Self-delusion is more comfortable than self-denial.

The two political parties are paralyzed. The problem has moved beyond politics and out to the people. But the people are not organized to take charge of it. Instead of radiant solutions, we read little more than monthly listings of examples of "A Thousand Lights" — itself a millennial phrase — which mostly show how dark the tunnel really is. The Lights examples flicker feebly beside the thousand-watt spotlights of highest corporate executive salaries and of top entertainer and athlete incomes.

In the midst of all of this anxiety, the scrawled signs of some sidewalk prophets yet proclaim, "There is still time!" And they are right.

But, as the cartoon character Snuffy Smith used to say, "Time's a-wasting!"

There is still time to get the issues identified and out on the table. There is still time to rally national unity and sacrifice to face and to solve the problem. There is still time for bipartisan soul-searching and resource-sharing.

The essential issue that is up for national debate right now, as the millennium ends and a new one approaches, is that of integrity. We have to decide whether nations respond better when they face up to a national crisis than when they pretend one doesn't exist.

As long as there seems to be enough food and clothing for most of us, we may not want to face the future. But Japan's best efforts came out of the bowels of its defeat in wartime. The South's best efforts have come out of its defeat in the Civil War. The nation's best efforts came out of the twin crises of the Depression and World War.

It is dangerously deluding to believe that "what we don't know can't hurt us."

We need to feel the power of Apocalypse.

We have less than a decade left to prepare for the Third Millennium. The way to get started is to look at ourselves more closely in the mirror and do a better job in shaving and applying make-up to the Dorian Gray faces of ourselves we see there.

The way back out of the zeroes is by Facing Up to Hard Facts. "Time's a-wasting."

Today In History

Today is Saturday, Oct. 27; the 300th day of 1990. There are 65 days left in the year. A reminder: Daylight-Saving Time ends at 2:00 A.M. Sunday. Clocks go back one hour.

Today's Highlight in History:

On Oct. 27, 1787, the first of the "Federalist Papers," a series of essays calling for ratification of the United States Constitution, was published in a New York newspaper. The essays, written anonymously by Alexander Hamilton, James Madison and John Jay, argued in favor of a strong national government.

On this date:
In 1795, the United States and Spain signed the Treaty of San Lorenzo, which provided for free navigation of the Mississippi River.

In 1858, the 26th president of the United States, Theodore Roosevelt, was born in New York City.

In 1880, on his 22nd birthday, Theodore Roosevelt married Alice Lee.

In 1982, China announced its population totaled more than 1 billion people, as counted by more than 5 million census takers.

Ten years ago: 30 American prisoners in Cuba were released and flown to the United States. Opera star Beverly Sills gave her last performance on an opera stage, appearing in a Lincoln Center production of "Die Fledermaus."

Five years ago: The United Auto Workers union announced that members had voted to approve a new contract with Chrysler Corporation, ending a 12-day strike. The Kansas City Royals won the World Series, shutting out the St. Louis Cardinals in Game 7, by a score of 11-0.

One year ago: The third game of the World Series, delayed by the Northern California earthquake, was played at Candlestick Park. The Oakland A's defeated the San Francisco Giants, 13-7.

Today's Birthdays: "Tonight Show" executive producer Frederick DeCordova is 80. Actress Teresa Wright is 72. Actress Nanette Fabray is 70. Hall-of-Famer and sportscaster Ralph Kiner is 68. Actress Ruby Dee is 66. Former White house chief of staff H.R. Haldeman is 64. Actor-comedian John Cleese is 51. Actress Carrie Snodgrass is 44. Actress and TV personality Jayne Kennedy-Overton is 39. Singer Simon Le Bon is 32.

Thought for Today: "The man who does not learn is dark, like one walking in the night." — Chinese proverb.

Golf shop named Business of Month

Wingfoot Golf Shop on 102 N. 15th St. has been named Business of the Month for September by the Murray-Calloway County Chamber of Commerce.

The business is owned by Mike and Vickie Holton and offers golf equipment and clothing, as well as golf lessons and golf equipment repair.

Wingfoot Golf Shop has two employees and is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday. The telephone numbers are 753-4012 or 753-2282.

"We're very pleased to receive this honor," Mike said. "We're trying to provide a good atmosphere for a sport that has really taken off in this area. We try to offer the best services and equipment to our customers at low prices."

Dr. Sam Parker, left, president of the Murray-Calloway County Chamber of Commerce, presents a Business of the Month plaque to Mike Holton, owner of Wingfoot Golf Shop.

Westlake Scholar

Jerry Farmer, right, plant manager of Westlake Monomers Corporation, presents Bridgette Burnett a Westlake Scholar Award. A 1990 graduate of Murray High School and current Murray State University student, Burnett's scholarship is renewable for four years based upon her maintaining high academic standards. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Vied of Murray, she was one of four selected from employees' children of Westlake Monomer in Calvert City.

Congressman Hopkins named guardian of small business

U.S. Rep. Larry Hopkins of Kentucky has been named a "Guardian of Small Business" by the nation's largest small-business organization, the National Federation of Independent Business.

NFIB, which has more than 500,000 members in all 50 states, including more than 6,000 in Kentucky, presents the award to senators and representatives who vote favorably on key small-business issues at least 70 percent during a two-year session of Congress.

Hopkins' small-business voting record during the 101st Congress, rated on the 20 recorded votes, was 95 percent. Issues deemed crucial by NFIB's members included cutting government spending, reducing taxes, mandating benefits, limiting federal regulations and balancing the federal budget.

NFIB is a non-profit, non-partisan organization which lobbies on behalf of small firms in all state capitals and Washington, D.C. The typical company represented has five employees, is run by the owner-manager and has a gross annual income of about $250,000.

Student of the Week

Matt Lawson, center, a junior at Murray High School, has been named Student of the Week. The son of Hughie and Anita Lawson of 1501 Johnson Drive, he is a member of band, pep band, Spanish Club, academic team and an honor roll student. Congratulating him are Rebecca Dublin Landolt and MHS Principal Bill Wells. Student of the Week is sponsored by WSJP Radio and Century 21.

Associated Press Awards

Donna Groves, right, won first place in the best reporter competition from the Associated Press News Broadcast Competition for 1990 recently. Andrea Manley, left, won second in the category. Both women are Murray State alumni with degrees in journalism and radio/tv. Groves is a news director for WKYX-WKYQ Radio and Manley is an anchor there. The station won a total of 13 awards.

Leach wins tournament recently

Don Leach of Comanche, Okla. won the $175,000 Bassmaster Maryland Invitational tournament on the Potomac River recently.

His final tally was 13 bass, 37 pounds, one ounce.

The 50-year-old angler anchored his final four-bass, 13-pound, 14-ounce catch with the big bass of the tournament — a six-pound, 12-ounce largemouth — which earned him $1,000 in addition to the $34,000 first-place prize.

Other winners were, David Fritts, Lexington, N.C., second place, $20,000; John Hale, Lufkin, Texas, third place, $17,000; Webb A. Fry, Austin, Texas, fourth place, $6,500; Robert Mullings, Plaquemine, La., fifth place, $5,500; Bob Dobart, Baltimore, Md., sixth place $4,500; Larry Nixon, Bee Branch, Ark., seventh place, $4,000; Guy Eaker, Cherryville, N.C., eighth place, $3,700.

The 304 anglers caught a total of 2,233 bass weighing 4,320 pounds, eight ounces. All but seven were returned alive. There were 184 five-bass limits.

Sponsors were Ranger boats, Ranger Trail Trailers, Evinrude Outboards, Johnson Outboards, Chevrolet Trucks, Delco Voyager Batteries, Humminbird Electronics, Polaroid Cameras, Rubbermaid, MotorGuide Trolling Motors, Wrangler Rugged Wear, Flambeau Tackleboxes and the Commissioners of Charles County, Maryland.

Secretaries at meeting

By LAURA JIRAK
Professional Secretaries reporter

The 1990 Southeast District Conference for Professional Secretaries International was held Oct. 12-14 at the Hyatt Regency Ravinia in Atlanta, Ga.

The following members from the Murray Chapter attended the conference:

Shirley Reamer, PSI president, Murray State University, Industrial Education and Technology; Lisa Hill, PSI president-elect, Bank of Murray; Linda L. Lester, PSI President-elect, Kentucky Division, Overbey & Overbey law office; Marion Hale, Fisher-Price Toys; Dorothy Stubblefield, Bank of Murray; and Laura Jirak, Land Between the Lakes Association.

The conference entitled "Phoenix Rising To The PSI Challenge," was educational, exciting and rewarding. Atlanta welcomed us most graciously and provided us with an inspirational and memorable weekend.

The informative seminar, "Capitalizing On Your Role As Information Manager," was presented by Betsy Lazary of StepTakers, a training and consulting firm specializing in secretary/manager team effectiveness.

Over 600 PSI members and guests were entertained Friday evening by mentalist Cragi Karges who presented "The Magic of the Mind." The audience was astounded with his fantastic display of illusion and psychic abilities.

On Saturday after our warm welcome and introductions, Janet Bivens, PSI International Director, presented a seminar, "Creative Thinking: The Leadership Skills for the 90s." After this very informative session, many chapters offered their experiences and challenges to the group.

That evening an ensemble of singers, "The Festival," from Tifton, Ga., took us through a sentimental journey with songs from the 40s, 50s and 60s.

Atlanta is very hospitable, proud and excited about hosting the 1996 summer Olympics. It was a weekend to learn, share and participate with our fellow PSI members and a weekend very enjoyable.

COOK TALK

Halloween recipe released

By NANCY BYAL
Better Homes Food Editor

Here's a honey of a hot beverage for a Halloween party or other fall get-together. Kids love the spicy, not-too-sweet taste. For a group of adults, add rum, if you wish.

If you like the flavor of honey-sweetened foods, look for the honey bear symbol on any honey-sweetened food, indicating that real honey was used in making the product.

Honey-Apple Grog
4 cups apple cider or apple juice
1-3rd cup orange juice
1/4 cup honey

- 2 tablespoons margarine or butter
One 2-inch stick cinnamon
1 teaspoon finely shredded orange peel
1/4 teaspoon ground nutmeg
1/2 to 3/4 cup light rum (optional)
In a large saucepan bring all ingredients except rum to boiling; reduce heat. Simmer, uncovered, for 5 minutes. If desired, stir in rum just before serving. Makes 9 to 10 servings.
Nutrition information per 1/2-cup serving: 109 cal., 0 g pro., 22 g carb., 3 g fat, 0 mg chol., 33 mg sodium. U.S. RDA: 10 percent vit. C.

Silent Touch to give concert

Silent Touch, a ministry utilizing the gifts and talents of deaf men and women, will present a concert on Sunday, Oct. 28, at 7 p.m. at First Baptist Church, Murray. This group consists of hearing and hearing impaired singers. Also the group will present two special numbers at the 10:45 a.m. service Sunday at the church. Lunch will be served at 12 noon in Fellowship Hall. A workshop on American Sign Language will be conducted by the group at 2 p.m. Sunday at the church. "Our purpose in inviting this group to our church is to give the hearing impaired and workers with the hearing impaired the opportunity for fellowship," said Johnnie Marie Crass, director of Deaf Ministries for the Murray church. The public is invited to hear this group on Sunday, said Dr. Greg Earwood, church pastor.

Lutherans celebrate

Immanuel Lutheran Church of Murray celebrated a rededication of the education-administration wing of its church on Saturday, Oct. 20.

A dinner and program on evangelism followed the ceremony.

The Rev. Clarence Helmich, pastor, introduced the speaker, the Rev. David Disson, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, Cape Girardeau, Mo., who spoke on the importance of Christian education in the church.

Elinar Jenstrom, Church Council president, surveyed the audience for visions of Immanuel Lutheran Church for the year 1991.

Guests Amanda Sims and Bart

Dawson, Murray State University students, provided music. "Their contribution was beautifully done and delightfully appropriate for the occasion," said Fred Mohr, church member.

Charles Herren, chairman of Stewardship Committee, spoke briefly about "One's Commitment: Stewardship Is A Choice - Yours."

Members of Immanuel Lutheran Church wish to thank the many friends and businesses of the Murray community for the help and encouragement that has been given to complete the 21/2 year project, Mohr added.

Pregnancy after menopause said possible in latest study

By DANIEL Q. HANEY
AP Science Writer

BOSTON — Women can now turn back their biological clocks and get pregnant after menopause by way of test-tube fertilization, doctors reported.

The procedure, reported in the New England Journal of Medicine, can extend women's baby-making years well into their 40s, 50s and perhaps even 60s, providing a second chance for those who waited too long to start families.

However, some doctors said they had doubts about the wisdom of childbearing for those who are well past nature's cutoff.

"Because we can do something technically does not mean we should do it indiscriminately," said Dr. Zev Rosenwaks. "The ability to become pregnant is a physical sign of what nature itself expects of a woman. You cannot push nature past the point where you interfere with safety."

Rosenwaks is head of the fertility clinic at New York Hospital-Cornell Medical Center, one of several U.S. hospitals using the new technology.

The process is a variation on the now-routine process of in vitro fertilization.

Ordinarily, doctors remove eggs from an infertile woman's ovaries, mix them with her husband's sperm and put the embryos into her womb. However, this is not possible if the ovaries have stopped working, the change of life known as menopause.

Instead, doctors remove eggs from a healthy young donor, fertilize them with sperm from the older woman's husband and, after giving the older woman hormone treatments to prepare her womb for pregnancy, implant the embryos.

Because the mother does not provide the egg, she is not the genetic parent of her baby, but she still undergoes a normal pregnancy and delivery.

Until recently, menopause was the end of the reproductive line for women. While test-tube fertilization had become common among younger women, doctors were reluctant to use the procedure on older women for fear the uterus was not as capable of sustaining pregnancy.

In the journal, Dr. Mark V. Sauer of the University of Southern California reported the use of the technique on seven women over 40 whose "ovaries didn't last as long as their desire to have babies."

Six pregnancies were established. One ended in miscarriage and another child was stillborn. Five normal babies were born, including a set of twins.

Menopause usually occurs around age 50, but in about 10 percent of women the ovaries stop working by age 40. Sometimes these women have delayed having children, often while they establish their careers.

"Many women are coming in 40 years of age or older. They have an air of desperation. It's their last chance," said Dr. Anne Wentz, who has a "geriatric infertility" practice at Northwestern University.

However, pregnancy is much riskier for older women than young ones. They are more likely to have high blood pressure, premature labor and bleeding. Wentz and others noted that there is no way to know the effects of carrying and delivering a child on a woman in her 50s and beyond.

"Who's to say what the risk would be to that age group?" asked Dr. Steven Bayer of New England Medical Center. "We don't have any data on that. It opens up a Pandora's box."

Others noted that older women should carefully think about whether they have the stamina to deal with 2 a.m. feedings and other rigors of bringing up babies.

Dr. Kamren Moghissi of Wayne State University added, "Some of them won't live to see their kids get married or even graduate from college. The natural lifespan for women is around 80 years, but some women die at age 60 or 65."

Sauer said the major limit to the technique is the health of the mother, not her age. Women in their 50s who are free of heart disease, diabetes and other ailments may still be good candidates for pregnancy, and having children after 60 is possible though unlikely.

Split-personality alternatives shown in recent fashion shows

By SUZY PATTERSON
Associated Press Writer

PARIS — Exuding youth and sex, or worldly chic, ready-to-wear fashions for summer shown recently offered split-personality alternatives.

Will the real Paris fashion world please stand up, observers at last week's shows are tempted to ask.

On one hand, there were unabashed, nubile silhouettes molded by Lycra body stockings, with fancy toppers.

On the other, Paris still opts for fitted, chic suits and a new line of looser, fluid dresses and blouses, airy shirt-jackets or flared tops to keep women of all ages moving in comfort.

Lacy lingerie inspirations, décolletés, hot pants, navel-baring brand-sarong outfits abound.

But for the 1990s, there's also a refreshing return to looser looks in airy, long duster jackets or trapeze coats, or new-looking billowing party pants. In silky Turkish style, they're done with panache at both Givenchy — with genteel chic — and Saint Laurent, with showy glitz.

Highlights from the collections offer ideas for everybody:

Claude Montana turned in an outstanding collection of short, skimpy mini dresses in full, belted coats or modified A-lines. They came most often in silk fabrics, with hemlines often swooping deep in the back.

In white or ivory spangled with silver, or in acidic shades of pink, yellow and green, Montana's clothes were stunning displays of talent.

Statesmen's teen-age daughters, rather than their wives, will now want to dress at Chanel, as shown by Karl Lagerfeld.

Youngsters took up his idea of wearing just a long jacket over tights or leggings, and now Lagerfeld has varied the menu with a bevy of great jackets, short or long. And they can be worn with other things than merely tights or pleated minis.

But winds of change are also blowing for Chanel in new, loose and easy toppers.

Christian Lacroix's collection was as vibrantly glowing with color as ever, with a calculated risk in mixes of plaids and patterns, brocades, taffetas and chiffons.

Even the Lacroix solid-color suits with their typical fitted or flyaway bolero jackets and straight minis or shaped oval skirts came in mixes of hot-colored raw silks.

Like many Paris designers, Lacroix could not resist the call of the body stocking. He showed some of the liveliest Pucci-style prints in town on lycra bodysuits and easy shirt-jackets.

Ungaro's flowery extravaganza went both new in style with his blousing chemise dresses and typically Ungaro sexy in style with fitted, draped late-day wear.

DATEBOOK

Earthquake seminar Wednesday

An Earthquake Preparedness seminar will be Wednesday, Oct. 31, at 10 a.m. in the Meeting Room of Calloway County Public Library. Larry Piercy, extension safety engineer at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture, will be the speaker for the evening being sponsored by Calloway County Extension Service. Speculation that an earthquake will soon shake Western Kentucky heated up again recently with the prediction that the moon's gravitational pull in December may set off a major quake along the New Madrid fault. Whether an earthquake will occur soon is still a matter of debate, but being prepared for one doesn't hurt, said Jean Cloar, county extension agent for home economics. Preparing for an earthquake starts with knowing what may happen during the quake and what effects it may have on daily living once the quake is over. An earthquake means that the ground shakes severely. It may cause considerable damage to structures, such as houses, public buildings and highways depending on how much and how long the ground shakes. The public is urged to attend, Cloar said.

Flu vaccine clinic Tuesday

Calloway County Health Center will have a clinic to give influenza vaccine on Tuesday, Oct. 30, beginning at 8 a.m. An additional clinic will be Wednesday, Nov. 7. There will be a $3 charge to help cover the cost of the vaccine and to allow this service to continue in the future. Formula for the 1990-91 flu vaccine is A/Taiwan, A/Shanghai, and B/Yamagata strains. Vaccine is recommended for health persons, 55 and older, or younger persons who have heart, respiratory and renal diseases, diabetes, or compromised immune systems, and care givers to high risk patients. The vaccine will not be given to persons who have fever or feel sick, have a severe allergy to eggs, are pregnant, or have ever been paralyzed with Guillain Barre Syndrome. A doctor's written order will be required for persons under 18 years of age. For more information call 753-3381.

Patients are dismissed

Local persons recently dismissed from area hospitals include the following: Jean Burkeen of Murray on Sept. 27 and Forrest Boyd Garland and Bertha Mae Lindsey of Farmington on Oct. 11 from Community, Mayfield; Prentice Darnell, Elaine Etherton and Martha Key, all of Murray, from Western Baptist, Paducah.

Meadow Star hopes for charitable win in Breeders'

NEW YORK (AP) — Her purses may go to charity, but there is nothing charitable about the way Meadow Star runs.

A winner of all six of her career starts, Meadow Star took on a field of 13 other 2-year-old fillies in the $1 million Breeders' Cup Juvenile today.

"I'm not happy about meeting Meadow Star again," said trainer Joe Pierce, whose Champagne Glow has been beaten twice by Meadow Star.

The Juvenile Fillies, over 1-16 miles, was one of seven Breeders' Cup races on the program today at Belmont Park, where the females have taken the spotlight.

While a duel between Go for Wand and Bayakoa in the Distaff was expected to grab the glory from the colts in the $3 million Classic, Meadow Star may yet prove the best of them all.

Her last time out, she beat Champagne Glow by 14 lengths in winning the Frizette at Belmont on Oct. 6, covering the mile in 1:35 2-5. On the same day, the early favorite in the Juvenile, Fly So Free, won the Champagne for 2-year-old colts in 1:35 3-5, one-fifth slower than Meadow Star's time.

After the Frizette, Meadow Star's owner, TWA chairman Carl Icahn, announced that all her future purses would be donated to the Children's Rescue Fund, a charity for homeless children founded by Icahn. The winner's share of the Juvenile Fillies alone is worth $450,000, and it won't stop there.

Trainer Leroy Jolley says she most likely will be nominated for the Kentucky Derby next year with an eye toward the Triple Crown.

"Over the weekend, I was down at Laurel, and the reaction to Mr. Icahn's statement ... struck a very warm chord among racing people and racing fans," Jolley said. "Many people I had never met came up to me and said, 'Best of luck with Meadow Star.' It was a very unique experience."

If Jolley can get Meadow Star to the Derby, it won't be unique. In 1980, he won the Derby with the filly Genuine Risk.

"Risk was tall, and lighter physically than Meadow Star," Jolley said. "She ran so hard in her races and gave so much, her recovery period from a race was at least a week," Jolley said.

"So far, Meadow Star is at her best after just three days. After the Frizette, her recovery was the shortest I'd ever seen," Jolley said. "And that was at a mile. If anything, that indicates the distance will be easier on her."

The Juvenile Fillies will be 1-16 miles, and Meadow Star, who will be ridden by Jose Santos, was made the early 3-5 favorite.

The 1-16-mile Juvenile was a much more wide open race after the career-ending injury to Eastern Echo. Fly So Free, who also will be ridden by Santos, was the 5-2 early choice, with Best Pal, to be ridden by Pat Valenzuela, the second choice at 3-1.

The D. Wayne Lukas-trained entry of Deposit Ticket and Fire in Ice was the 4-1 third choice.

Fly So Free's victory in the Champagne was his first in a stakes and third in five starts this year. He is trained by Scotty Schulhofer.

"Right now, it looks like there's one horse to beat, Fly So Free," Best Pal's trainer, Ian Jory, said.

Best Pal was raced exclusively in the West this year, winning five of six starts, including the Norfolk at Santa Anita on Oct. 7. There was some question about the strength of the western crop of 2-year-olds.

"I train on both coasts, and I try to be objective," Lukas said. "And this year, I think the 2-year-olds have been stronger in the East. Best Pal is a nice horse, but I don't think he's been tested yet."

Tigers fall in double overtime heartbreaker 10-7

Field goal gives Pirates victory in second overtime

By DAVID RAMEY
Ledger & Times Asst. Sports Editor

HEATH — The Murray High Tigers discovered Friday the thin line between a championship effort and a championship performance is a painful one to have to stop on.

The Tigers fell to Heath in a dramatic 10-7 double-overtime contest that was played out on a chilly night at Pirate Field.

The loss dropped Murray to 4-4 overall and 3-2 in Class A play and coupled with Fulton County's 18-14 win over Ballard Memorial, all but ended Murray's chances for post-season play. Heath improved to 7-3 and 4-0 in Class A play.

Cory Tilford kicked a 33-yard field goal in the second overtime to give the Pirates the win, after the Tigers rallied to tie the game early in the fourth quarter, and Heath fought off a couple of Murray threats to escape west McCracken County with a win.

"There's really not much more you can say about this game," Tiger coach Rick Fisher said. "We had many, many chances to win, but just couldn't do it. But we showed a lot of class and a lot of character. The kids played like champions. They might not have won on the scoreboard but they won our hearts."

It appeared twice in the late stages of the game that the Tigers were going to pull out the victory and gain a playoff berth. In the fourth quarter, with under three minutes left in the game, Murray was driving inside the Heath 25. But two incomplete passes stalled the Tiger drive, and Chris Dill's 40-yard field goal attempt fell line and blocked Dill's field goal attempt.

"I thought we had it several times tonight," Fisher said. "We just didn't follow through on a couple of opportunities. But you can't fault our effort. We couldn't get a break."

From the opening drive, Murray moved the football well against the Pirates. The running of tailback Heath Walls drove the Tigers down to the Pirate 39, but penalties bogged the Tigers down and a Jon Burkeen pass was picked off by Ron Townsley.

Heath then put together an impressive drive of its own, behind the running of Direk Todd, who had a 23-yard carry on the march. The Pirates drove to the Tiger 10, but after a penalty and a Rusty Thomas tackle of Todd behind the line of scrimmage, Tilford missed a 34-yard field goal.

On Murray's next possession, Todd stepped in front of a Burkeen pass, and gave the Pirates the ball on the Tiger 20. A play later, Todd went left and scored from 17-yards out to give Heath a 7-0 lead after Tilford kicked the PAT.

Hard running by Walls (who had 77 yards on the night), put the Tigers within striking distance of a score at the Heath 35, but a clipping penalty on fourth-and-3 after Walls had carried for a first down forced the Tigers to punt. The Tiger defense forced a Pirate punt, but after Burkeen scrambled for a short.

In the first overtime, a Tilford field goal attempt sailed wide to the left, and the Tigers needed just a score to pull out the win. But the Pirates charged through the Tiger first down, Dill missed a 45-yard field goal attempt in the closing seconds of the first half. The running of Todd, who carried for 111 yards on the night, drove the ball to the Tiger 40 on the first drive of the second half, but Troy Leatherman was stacked

Laker playoff hopes fade as PTHS posts easy win

By DANIEL T. PARKER
Murray Ledger & Times Sports Editor

Calloway County's hopes of a berth in the 3A playoffs dissipated into the night like steamy breath meeting chilled air, and Paducah Tilghman's Blue Tornado sealed a playoff position for themselves with their 35-12 victory over the Lakers Friday night at Calloway County High School.

The loss, Calloway's second in district competition, came after a strong defensive showing buckled under Tilghman's constant attack and a lack of ball movement on the part of the Lakers. Calloway trailed only 8-0 until the final four minutes of the first half and were still in the game until Tilghman scored twice in the first 47 seconds of the fourth quarter.

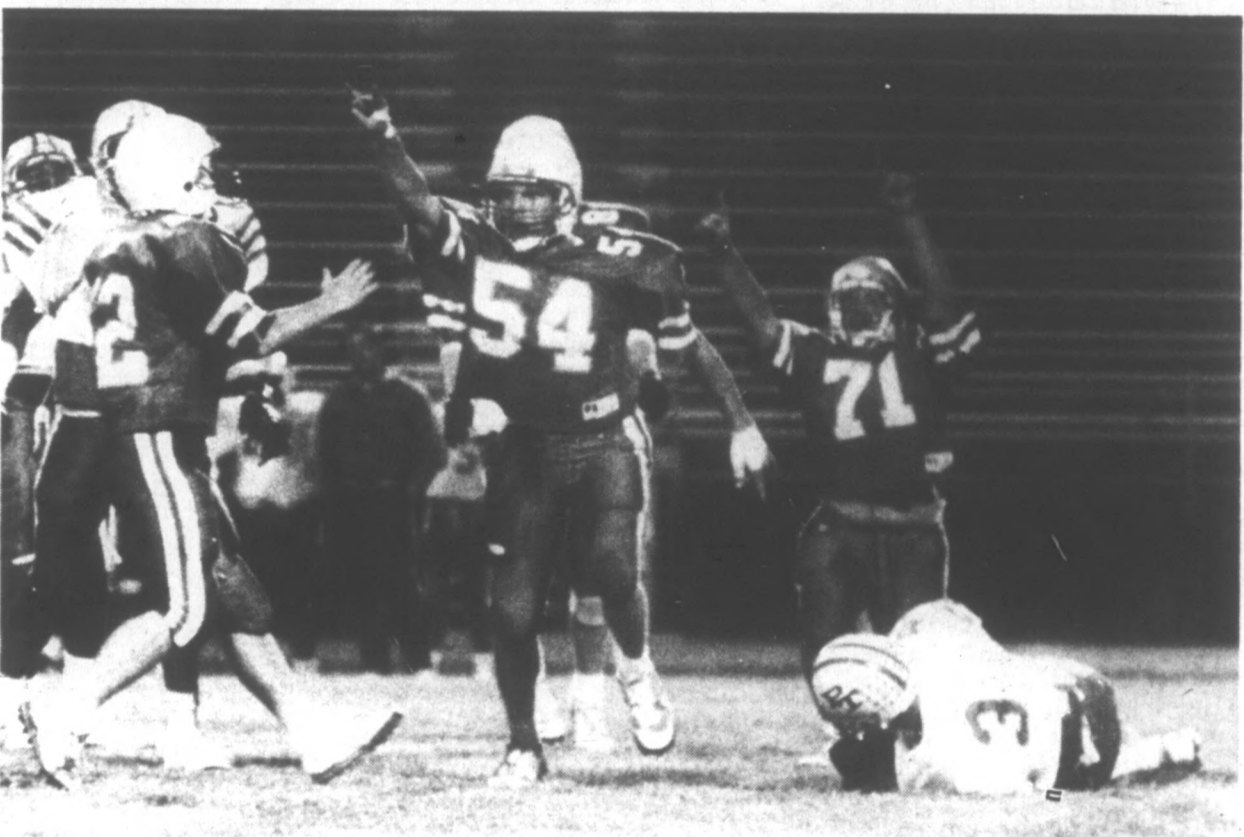

At the same time, Calloway head coach Tony Franklin wondered whether the Lakers were truly ever in the game.

"We weren't ready to play," Franklin said afterward, adding that the head coach must always absorb the blame for that condition — no matter how puzzling the cause.

Calloway came into the game as the underdogs, but were looking at a chance to post possibly the biggest win in the history of the program. A victory over the Tornado would not only have stunned the oddsmakers, but would have allowed the Lakers to advance into the playoffs as the 3A First District runnerup.

The Lakers, however, beat themselves from the start. Taking the opening kickoff return by Ryan Dawson to the 31, the Lakers gained four yards on a first-down run by Cecil Bradley — and then gave up five yards by jumping offside.

Quarterback Rob Dennis scrambled for ten yards — and the Lakers gave five back in change on another penalty. A third-and-six pass fell incomplete, and the Lakers had to punt.

Calloway's Ryan Dawson (54) celebrated a sack of Tilghman's Billy Jack Haskins Friday during Tilghman's 35-12 win over the Lakers.

"We couldn't even get out of the huddle," Franklin said. "We walked up to the line of scrimmage... there was no emotion... anytime a team walks out on a field like that, it's because the coach didn't get them ready. But I sure don't know why they weren't ready."

Tilghman was. Starting on their own 28 after Calloway's punt, the Tornado marched 72 yards in eight plays, capping the drive with Emerson Wells' 11-yard touchdown carry with 7:55 left in the first quarter.

Tilghman then virtually waltzed into the end zone on a conversion pass as the Lakers fell mesmerized by a trick formation Calloway itself ran only two years ago. Down 8-0, the offense found itself in a hole after Calloway's "starburst" kick return fizzled, and the Laker returners letting the ball hit the field before going into the formation and then being tackled on the Laker 17.

Dennis was viciously sacked on first down for a 13-yard loss to the 4-yard line, and the Lakers punted again after two running plays. The Laker defense then began rising up against the Tornado onslaught, with Dawson and Sean Kelly sacking Tilghman sophomore quarterback Billy Jack Haskins for a nine-yard loss on 3rd-and-10.

An interception by Maurice Blackmore killed Calloway's next possession, however, and Tilghman began their march inside the Laker

10-yard line. Then Calloway dug in, stopping a second-and-goal from the two for one yard, allowing only a half-yard on third-and-goal from the one, and finally gaining breathing room of their own when Tilghman jumped offside on fourth-and-inches at the goal line. Tilghman tried a field goal which wavered far to the right of the goalposts, and the Lakers had dodged a bullet.

"We'd been talking earlier about not getting any breaks," Franklin said. "We got the breaks tonight — we got all the breaks in the world. We just couldn't do it."

Calloway gained 11 yards on Bradley's carry immediately following the field goal miss, but the Lakers lost a yard on first down, gave up six more when Dennis was sacked, and then punted after a third-down pass fell to the ground.

Tilghman's explosive capability was proven on the next series. After reaching the Calloway 26 and being forced back twenty yards to the 46, Haskins tossed a pass to Kiyu Wilson, who picked up the first down, then backed up to evade a wall of Laker tacklers, found a path to the outside and scrambled the remaining 25 yards to complete the 46-yard scoring play with 3:44 left in the half. Tilghman missed the PAT kick and led 14-0.

Calloway again picked up yardage on first down and gave it back on second and third. Punting to midfield, the Lakers saw Tilghman again begin to move to the end zone.

But again the Laker defense stiffened. After Haskins completed a pass to put the ball on the 19, a penalty against Tilghman pushed the ball back 10 yards. Haskins passed for 13, but the Laker pass rush forced an incompleteness on third down, and Tilghman tried a 33-yard field goal which was again way off the mark.

Franklin was well aware of the job Calloway's defense was doing in limiting Haskins, whom Franklin praised highly. "Billy Jack is the best quarterback we've faced by far," Franklin said. "He's the best sophomore quarterback I've ever seen, period — he's got the chance to become a big, big-time player."

Tilghman again marched through Laker territory at the start of the second half, reaching inside the ten before a broken-up pass play and a penalty set up a third-and-eight at the 14. Haskins was stopped after a four-yard gain, and Tilghman's third field goal try of the night was a line drive which barely cleared the heads of the players.

Calloway, however, again proved incapable of responding, losing eight yards on three plays and (Cont on page 9)

Feix to step down as Western Kentucky athletic director

BOWLING GREEN, Ky. (AP) — Jimmy Feix may be leaving his job as Western Kentucky University's athletics director, but he's not abandoning the school he's served for more than four decades.

"I look forward to a continued involvement with, and support of, my university in any appropriate manner in the future," Feix, 59, said Friday as he announced that he would retire as of June 30, 1991.

"I'm sure I'll miss that day-to-day involvement here on the Hill. But I look forward to pursuing other interests in my life."

Feix has served the Bowling Green campus as an athlete, coach and administrator before becoming athletics director in 1986.

"My wife and I have discussed retirement for some time and we feel that now is the appropriate time for us to begin a new lifestyle," he said.

Feix said he made his decision to retire about a week ago. Western Kentucky President Thomas Meredith said that Feix was under no pressure from the school's regents to retire.

"I don't know of anyone who as served this university with more energy and dedication than Jimmy Feix," Meredith said. "Certainly no one has ever loved this institution and what it stands for more than coach Feix."

Feix started his career with the Hilltoppers as a member of the football team. As a senior quarterback in 1952, Feix led Western Kentucky to the Ohio Valley Conference title and a win in the school's first bowl appearance — 34-19 over Arkansas State.

He was a member of the WKU football coaching staff for 27 years, the last 16 of those as head coach. He is the school's winningest football coach, guiding his teams to a 106-56-6 record from 1968 to 1983.

His teams won or shared six OVC championships.

After retiring from coaching in 1983, Feix spent two years in Western Kentucky's Office of Alumni Affairs.

Meredith said a search for a new athletic director won't begin until after Jan. 1, 1991.

The Murray-Calloway Girls All-Stars, comprised of players from the three under-14 teams, competed in the annual fall invitational tournament last weekend in Paris, Tenn. and finished in third place. Murray-Calloway lost to Paris 3-2, were beat 2-0 by Paducah, then shut Paris out 3-0. Ellen Uddberg scored once in the first game against Paris and added two goals in the 3-0 win. Kara Gressler and Sara Williams added tournament goals; Susan Krieb assisted on all three goals in the win over Paris while goalies Kim Howard and Courtney Christopher combined for over ten saves and fullback Katie McNeary preserved the shutout with a defensive save late in the game. Other outstanding players in the tournament were Kellie Williams, Julie Smotherman, Stephanie Walters and Mary Kay Howard. Team members include (front, left to right) Sandy Dibble, Karen Green, Mary Kay Howard, Courtney Christopher, Kim Howard, Stephanie Walters, Courtney Canerdy and Heather Schroeder (second row) Katie McNeary, Susan Krieb, Julie Smotherman, Ellen Uddberg, Sara Williams, Kellie Williams, Kara Gressler and Ashley Gilson. Coaches were John Krieb, John Gressler and Jack Uddberg.

Hockey

WINNIPEG, Manitoba — Wayne Gretzky, who already holds almost every NHL scoring record, became the first player to reach the 2,000-point plateau when he helped set up a goal by Tomas Sandstrom at 14:32 of the first period of the Los Angeles Kings' game at Winnipeg. The game was stopped as Gretzky's teammates poured onto the ice and a sellout crowd at the Winnipeg Arena gave Gretzky a standing ovation. Gretzky started the play with a pass from his own end to Tony Granato in center ice. Granato then sent Sandstrom in on a breakaway and Sandstrom beat goaltender Bob Essensa between the pads.

TORONTO — The Toronto Maple Leafs, off to the worst start in their history with a 1-9-1 record, fired coach Doug Carpenter and replaced him on an interim basis with assistant coach Tom Watt. The Maple Leafs arrived back from St. Louis following an 8-5 loss to the Blues about 4 a.m. EDT. A note left for Carpenter summoned him to a meeting with general manager Floyd Smith, and three hours later Smith fired him. Carpenter compiled a 39-46-5 record with the Leafs and last season directed Toronto to its first 500 record in 11 years.

Golf

HOUSTON — Billy Mayfair overcame Greg Norman's five-stroke bulge and took a one-shot lead midway through the Nabisco Championships with a 5-under-par 66. Mayfair finished 36 holes at 7-under 135, one better than Nick Price. Norman, who skied to a 71, was tied for third at 137 with Chip Beck and Jodie Mudd in the $2.5 million tournament for the top 30 money winners. Top prize in the event is $450,000.

RANCHO MURIETA, Calif. — Two-time champion Bob Charles shot a first-round 68 to take a one-stroke lead over Dick Hendrickson in the Rancho Murieta Senior Gold Rush. J.C. Snead and George Archer were third at 70 and eight players, including second-ranking money winner Charles Coody, were tied at 71, three strokes back. Chi Chi Rodriguez, fifth on the senior tour's prize money list this year, and No. 7 Gary Player were among six golfers tied at 72.

SOTOGRADE, Spain — Jose Rivero, winless in his last two seasons on the PGA European Tour, shot a course record 6-under-par 65 for a share of the lead with fellow Spaniard Jose Maria Olazabal at the Volvo Masters. Rivero ran off consecutive birdies on the 14th, 15th and 16th holes to shatter the Valderrama Golf Club record of 67 set by Anders Soerens of Denmark and Jose Maria Canizares of Spain. Rivero and Olazabal had 36-hole totals of 141, the only players in the select field of 54 able to beat par over the windy and demanding 6,951-yard, par-71 course.

CHRISTCHURCH, New Zealand — Mathias Gronberg shot a 5-under-par 67 as Sweden took a 14-stroke lead after the second round of the Eisenhower Trophy for the world amateur team golf championship. Sweden, seeking its first victory in the event, had a two-round total of 427. Argentina was second at 441 and New Zealand was third at 444. The tournament is held every two years. The United States, which has won the competition nine times, was 22 strokes behind.

Football

WASHINGTON — Washington Redskins defensive end Dexter Manley has applied to Commissioner Paul Tagliabue to have his lifetime ban for violating the National Football League's substance abuse rules lifted. Manley's attorney Bob Woolf announced the move, and Tagliabue said he would consider it on Nov. 15, the anniversary of Manley's ban for using cocaine.

Tennis

STOCKHOLM, Sweden — Top seeded Stefan Edberg outlasted No. 7 Brad Gilbert 6-4, 3-6, 6-1 and second-seeded Boris Becker defeated Goran Ivanisevic of Yugoslavia 6-4, 6-2 to reach the semifinals of the Stockholm Open. Edberg will face Alexander Volkov, who ousted Nicolas Pietrangeli of Sweden 6-2, 6-1, and Becker will meet U.S. Open champion Pete Sampras, who ousted David Wheaton 7-6 (7-3), 5-7, 6-4.

BRIGHTON, England — Top-seeded Steffi Graf won her 12th straight match against Nathalie Tauziat of France, 6-2, 6-4, to reach the semifinals of a WTA indoor tournament. The world's top player, Graf will next face Catarina Lindqvist of Sweden, a 6-2, 6-3 winner against Italy's Cathy Caverzasio. Second seed Katerina Maleeva of Bulgaria defeated Sandra Cecchini of Italy 7-5, 6-0, and No. 3 Helena Sukova beat Sara Gomer of Britain 6-1, 6-1.

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico — Second-seeded Jennifer Capriati advanced to the semifinals of the Puerto Rico Open with a 6-1, 6-4 victory against Sweden's Maria Strandlund. Capriati will face No. 6 Gigi Fernandez, who defeated Audra Keller 6-1, 4-6, 6-4. Carrie Cunningham stopped Argentina's Florencia Labat 6-3, 6-2 and meets top seed Zina Garrison, a 7-6 (7-4), 3-6, 6-1 winner over Ann Grossman.

Baseball

NEW YORK — Fourteen players, including Bob Boone of Kansas City, Willie Randolph of Oakland and John Candelaria of Toronto, became eligible for free agency when their teams declined to offer salary arbitration by the midnight Thursday deadline and nine of the 14 were among the 20 players who filed, raising the free agent total to 79. Under the collective bargaining agreement, players who would be bound by the five-year restriction against repeat free agency must be offered salary arbitration in the five days following the World Series or the restriction is lifted. Also filing were first basemen/outfielders Danny Heep of Boston and Gary Ward of Detroit; catchers Rich Gedman of Houston, and Rick Dempsey of Los Angeles; second baseman Wally Backman of Pittsburgh; and pitcher Tom Niedertuer of St. Louis.

own 44, Burkeen dropped back to pass for Murray, and tossed to Jason Farley, whose leaping grab and subsequent run gave the Tigers a 25-yard gain and a first down at the Heath 31. After a delay-of-game penalty, Walls carried for seven, but after a Gary Sims carry, Walls was stopped short on third down at the Heath 22.

Walls carried for a first down, and after two more carries, Burkeen rifled to tight end Joey Bazzell for an 11-yard gain and a first-down-and-goal from the one.

But Burkeen was stopped on a sneak, and Walls stopped twice before Burkeen took to the air, hitting Bazzell, who made a nice diving catch, for a score. Dill's PAT tied the game at 7-7 with 11:23 left in the fourth quarter.

The teams exchanged punts, and after the Tiger defense held again, a nice punt return from Walls gave Murray the ball on the Heath 34. Two five-yard carries from Walls gave the Tigers a first down, but after Sims picked up a yard on first down, two passes fell incomplete and Dill's field goal attempt was short. Time expired on Heath and the teams moved to overtime.

Murray won the toss in the first overtime, and elected to play defense first. The Tigers put a heavy pass rush on Pirate quarterback Kent Beyer on third down, and forced a poor throw that was tipped by MHS. Tilford's field goal attempt on fourth down was wide left.

Walls carried to the 4, but Dill's punting again. "The things we had to do to get ourselves back into the game, we did," Franklin said of the defensive stands. "We just could not do anything offensively."

Tilghman covered 53 yards on five plays, with Wilson's six-yard run capping the drive, and the PAT kick pushed Tilghman's lead to 21-0 with 5:25 left in the third.

Calloway was stopped again, but found another break in their path on the punt, which was hit by a Tilghman returnman and recovered by the Lakers for a first down on the Tilghman 41.

On Calloway's next play, however, Blackmore pulled down his second interception of the night.

Calloway's defense forced a punt, and the Lakers turned the ball over on a fumble on first down.

As the fourth quarter began, Tilghman was on the move again, and Michael Woodfork's 3-yard carry with 11:41 left in the game began nailing the door shut, with the PAT kick providing a 28-0 edge.

The final blow came on Calloway's next offensive play, as Norman Mason stepped in front of a Dennis pass with no one between him and the goal line. Mason's 32-yard interception return and the following PAT kick provided the 35-0 cushion.

Calloway broke the drought when hard-running Cecil Bradley field goal effort on third down was smothered by the Pirates.

In the second overtime, Walls carried for a four-yard gain, but on second down, he overthrew Farley on a halfback pass, and Burkeen was picked off on third down by Coby Bell.

After Todd carried for a yard on first down, Heath lost six yards on a fumble, and a yard on a reverse before Tilford's field goal fell between the uprights for the winning margin.

Most of the Tigers wore tributes to fullback Mitch Fike, who was injured in an auto wreck earlier in the week.

"They played their hearts out for Mitch tonight," Fisher said. Although the loss was devastating to the Tigers, Fisher pointed out that Murray had come a long way from its 1-3 start early in the year.

"These kids have worked hard all year, and gotten better as the year went along," Fisher said. "They're winners, no matter what the scoreboard says."

Rushing — Walls 22-77, Sims 9-18, Cheaney 2-9, Thomas 3-5, Burkeen 4-(-7). Passing — Burkeen 4-10-3 45 yards. Walls 0-1. Receiving — Farley 1-25, Cheaney 1-6, Bazzell 2-14.

Calloway scored again with 35 seconds left in the game when reserve quarterback Tim McGrew lofted a scoring pass to Jamar McNary from four yards out.

With the playoffs hopelessly out of reach, Franklin began looking ahead to next week's season-ending matchup with rival Murray High, and predicted more bad news for the Lakers unless they could get themselves more prepared to play.

He again took the blame for that and again stated his puzzlement over it. "It's my fault, but I just can't figure it out. It's really hard to figure."

Franklin then noted some of the Lakers — naming Mike Winters, Dawson and Hughron Payne — had demonstrated their spirit and leadership by their efforts against Tilghman. "Those three never quit, they showed great leadership," Franklin said. "I think they'll get these kids ready to play next week."

OUTDOOR LIFE

The Murray Ledger & Times

Don't let your hooks get dull yet

This old month is about gone and we are still catching good fish! In fact November looks even better, the water temperature is still good and the color has changed very little.

The bass are taking crankbaits, worms, grubs, spinnerbaits and noisy topwater baits.

Certain areas of Kentucky Lake seem to be better than others, but it's different than it used to be! One could always depend on the treetops, logs, and stumps to find some big bass in the fall. Now you must find a section of milfoil or coontail moss where these bass prefer to feed when the time is right.

Several dropoffs are holding bass longer this year and its somewhat of a surprise the way the wind has been blowing.

There are still some big stripers being taken when they come up to feed on the shad or small yellow stripes.

Smallmouth bass are a coldwater fish more than a largemouth so you should expect to connect with some decent to big chunks of "brown lightning."

A few sauger are showing up and they are fat and sassy. Larry

FISHING LINE

By Jerry Maupin
Columnist

Corder and his wife Susie were here to enjoy some fall fishing last weekend and they found some very small ones. I think they fished for a little bit of everything, just enjoying being out.

Carlos Black won the Murray

Bass Club Classic on Saturday and then Sunday he and his wife Glenda won the Bass'n' Galls Couples tournament.

There wasn't much weight at either tournament but when its the most it doesn't matter. Congratulations to Carlos and Glenda!

Crappie fishing should continue to pick up as we slip into late fall. It's time for the schools to get larger and move around less. When this happens you could limit out pretty fast.

The outlook is good so keep your hooks sharp.

Happy fishing!

Marshall Gilliam III, a senior at Calloway County High School, took this buck with a bow and arrow while hunting in Tennessee. Gilliam's prize, a six-pointer, field-dressed at 105 pounds.

Deer hunters are reminded that The Murray Ledger & Times is happy to publish photos of deer legally taken by area residents. Photos (black and white or color) should be of good quality and must be in the office by Thursday noon for inclusion in that week's "Outdoor Life" page. Please include name, age and address of hunter, point count and weight of deer, and time, place and manner in which the deer was taken. Photos may be picked up at the office after being published.

Today's camp food is often bologna and memories

By BEN D. HALL
For The Associated Press

HENDERSON, Ky. — In our memories, hunting camps are filled with the scent of wood smoke mingled with the seductive aromas of venison chops sizzling into something unspeakably delicious and fresh deer liver simmering with onions.

Unfortunately, most of that kind of food is in our memories and not in today's hunting camp, and therein lies a strange irony.

Time was when it was difficult to keep a variety of food in autumn hunting camps unless the weather was unusually helpful. Most outdoorsmen expected to survive on the three "Bs" — beans, bacon and bread — because they were easily backpacked in and would keep well whatever the temperature.

That substantial but monotonous diet, varied with eggs and a little produce sustained us until we were able to fill our camps with the aroma of game or fish cooking over the coals. Then we ate very well indeed, because eating well was an important part of the adventure. In the Deep South, many a "hunting cook" made a good living following his trade during the long seasons.

Now, hunters' four-wheel-drive vehicles can carry all kinds of edibles and potables in insulated coolers and a variety of cooking utensils to replace the skillet, kettle and coffee pot that were once standard.

But, as it often is at home, the quick and easy meal, hurriedly eaten, has replaced the more leisurely dining of yesterday. If you examine the cooler of today's young hunter, you'll find more olive loaf than sirloins and more canned drinks than bottles of fine wine.

Most of today's hunters are unlikely to rise an hour before it's time to head for the deep woods and prepare a steaming platter of scrambled eggs, juicy bacon, biscuits and gravy and black coffee. More common is a sweet roll from a package somebody stepped on in the dark. A cola often replaces the life-giving coffee.

When they come back from the woods for a bucolic lunch, it often features a sandwich made from bologna with a definite greenish tinge around the edges and a drink from a can marked "Grapesomething" with a definite purple tinge around the edges.

Six hours later when the nimrods filter into camp, tired and within an inch of starvation, it is time to cook up some real stick-to-the-ribs vittles while the smoke and sparks rise to join the stars. Maybe a steak, real home-fries, asparagus and mushrooms.

You're more likely to hear, "Why don't we go to -----?" Insert the name of your least favorite fast-food restaurant, which is 26.2 miles away over a bad road.

A couple of years ago, as my hosts and I bounced along such a bad road on the way to such a place, fighting the battle between potholes and galloping starvation, I wondered how much more progress I could take.

New law sheds light on old method of poaching

By RUSS KENNEDY
Kentucky Afield Writer

The 1990 General Assembly passed an important statute regarding the practice of "spotlighting" wildlife in Kentucky.

Kentucky Revised Statute (KRS) 150.395 states "no person or group of persons may deliberately cast the rays of a spotlight or other artificial light, with the intent to poach, into any (area) where wildlife or domestic livestock may reasonably be expected to be present."

Of course, there are some exceptions. The law does not apply to the headlights of vehicles in the normal course of travel or to lights used after dark in legitimate farming activities.

Spotlighting is generally an illegal hunting tactic because many kinds of wildlife (especially deer) are "frozen motionless" when bright light is aimed into their eyes. In Kentucky, almost as many deer are taken illegally each year by poachers, many using spotlights, as are harvested legally.

In some instances, use of a spotlight while hunting at night can be perfectly legal, as in raccoon or opossum hunting (Nov. 20, 1990-Jan. 31, 1991). Hunters use lights in the field to locate these animals. Use of artificial lights is also permissible when taking bullfrogs (May 17, 1991-Oct. 31, 1991). Raccoons, opossums and bullfrogs are the only species which may be legally harvested at night.

Actually, the new spotlighting statute replaces an old law, which the Kentucky Court of Appeals ruled unconstitutional in 1987.

The old statute had made it illegal to "cast the rays of an artificial light" while in possession of a firearm or "other implement" which could kill a deer or rabbit. The appeals court ruled that law unconstitutional for "overbreadth," meaning that the wording was not specific enough. (How many "implements" capable of killing a deer or rabbit can you name?)

Although the court found fault with the broad wording of the old law, it did agree with the law's purpose and intent. In issuing its opinion, the court called the practice of taking game by artificial light a "reprehensible act."

Another Kentucky statute (KRS 150.390) makes it illegal to molest, take or pursue wildlife in any manner other than designated by controlled hunting season regulations. The state attorney general's office has issued an opinion stating that causing a deer to bolt by the use of artificial light constitutes molesting. If you're shining a light on a deer and the animal breaks toward the thickets, you could be cited for molesting the animal, even if you have no thoughts of breaking the law by poaching.

Remember — regardless of your intent — deer, darkness and spotlights simply don't mix. And it can cost as much as $1000 for the court to decide what your "intentions" were. Be on the safe side.

MOTORISTS USE CAUTION

Kentucky motorists should make a special effort to keep an eye out for deer during the months of October and November.

Fall is breeding season for whitetail deer. Bucks become especially active as they travel over a sizable territory in search of receptive does. As their increased movement takes them onto and across roadways, the likelihood of accidents increases. Kentucky's deer hunting season also occurs during this period and may increase deer movement.

Motorists should be especially alert near any area where woods or heavy ground cover are adjacent to the roadway. Routes which deer are known to travel are marked by road signs.

Whitetails will remain concealed in a treeline or along a fencerow for as long as possible, until forced to enter an open area. At times, deer seemingly appear from nowhere.

Deer move mainly at night. Periods just before daybreak and dark are also high-traffic times, as deer travel to and from bedding and feeding areas.

Drivers should not expect deer to run when a vehicle approaches. Headlights often blind the animals, causing them to "freeze" in their tracks, or bolt wildly in confusion. It's best to stop instead of trying to go around the animal.

Motorists should also remember that deer, especially does, often travel in groups. When one crosses the road, it's likely that others are following behind.

The Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources urges motorists to contact a state conservation officer or phone 1-800-25ALERT to report any accidental collision with a deer.

Raccoon diet ranges from bugs to pizza

URBANA, Ill. (AP) — Raccoons who snack on Twinkies, Oreos and Big Macs suffer the same consequences as humans — rotten teeth and high cholesterol, researchers say.

Scientists say they were shocked by results from a small sampling of the masked mischief-makers that roam Illinois parks and campgrounds, scavenging human food.

"Their mouths look like those pictures in the dentist's office that show what will happen if you don't brush," said Laura Hungerford, a University of Illinois veterinarian. "I think they have a lot of sugar in their diet."

Wild raccoons usually have healthy teeth, but Hungerford found broken teeth, gum disease and cavities in the campground animals.

Many park raccoons also had cuts on their faces and paws; a few suffered broken legs.

"Raccoons are aggressive for food," Hungerford said. "The injuries probably are related to digging through trash cans or getting hit by swinging garbage can lids."

In the wild, raccoons eat berries, grass, small fish and rodents — they're not particular. Researchers don't know specifically what kinds of human food the raccoons are eating because they're not choosy.

"They're omnivores (that) will eat anything from bugs to pizza," said Charles Nixon, a wildlife biologist at the Illinois Natural History Survey, which is cooperating in the study with the University of Illinois and Western Illinois University.

The early findings from a survey this spring prompted a more thorough investigation, now underway, of how raccoons interact with people.

Researchers will trap and examine 100 raccoons this fall, half in Siloam Springs State Park in western Illinois and half in the wilds of Brown County. After about 12 hours, they will be returned to the wild.

In addition to mouth and body examinations, the raccoons' blood will be tested for any diseases that could be shared with humans. The researchers, who are examining whether raccoons may transfer diseases to humans or vice versa, have already found that some snacking raccoons suffer high cholesterol levels.

"This is important because humans are using recreational areas more and more, bringing humans and raccoons into more intimate contact," Hungerford said.

Park officials already have modified many trash containers so raccoons cannot get into them easily and aren't as likely to be injured trying, but the animals have learned that people bring food.

"During the weekend when there are fewer visitors, there are fewer raccoons, and they concentrate around the campsites that are being used," Hungerford said.

Some of the animals will be tagged with radio collars to see how far they roam and where they take shelter.

Capture is not difficult, using box-type traps that do not hurt the raccoons. They're lured into the traps by smelly bait like sardines and mustard sauce.

"A couple of these coons have decided they like being trapped — you get food," Hungerford said.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

Real Love Stands the Test Of Time and Second Sight

DEAR ABBY: When I was a teenager, you printed a column about how to tell if you are really in love—or if it is just infatuation. My mother clipped it out for me, but I can't seem to find it. I sure could use it just now.

NANCY C. IN SANTA ANA, CALIF.

DEAR NANCY: I'm frequently asked how my mail has changed over the years, but some questions never change, and this is one of them:

IS IT LOVE? OR ISN'T IT?
It takes a level head to control a foolish heart.

Can you love someone at first sight? This crazy mixed-up version is better known as infatuation at first sight. Infatuation can possibly be the first step toward love, but in itself, it is not love.

Love itself is built on inner realities. Through experience and a few more infatuations, one acquires a second and better sight. So, mature love should be called "love at second sight." Mature love means liking a person as well as loving. If the most important part of your relationship is physical (making out) and you don't seem to have much to talk about, face it, it's just a physical attraction, and you're really not a very good combination if you're thinking of a lifetime relationship.

How do you know if you're in love? To ask if it is love indicates doubt. Love is sure.

Don't confuse enduring and lasting love with puppy love. (That's the kind that usually gets you into an emotional doghouse.) Love is giving, not taking. It wants the best for the one you love.

Love is on the go. It makes you want to charge out into the world and do as well as think big. It doesn't keep you inert, day-dreaming and cooped up with only one person.

Love wants to share. To the one you love, you give your thoughts and your dreams. A new happiness comes with sharing them. Mature love is honest and open.

Love doesn't know what time it is. During your teens, you will have had a litter of puppy loves. But as time goes by, and you learn more about the object of your affections ... and your love seems to grow not weaker but stronger ... maybe the real moment has come.

DEAR ABBY: I am an airline pilot, which requires me to be away from home two or three nights at a time.

When I am on one of these trips, the crew, both male and female, sometimes dine together. Meanwhile, my wife and six children are at home. I employ a full-time housekeeper to help my wife.

I think it's OK for my wife to go out with her friends at night for shopping, dinner and movies, but I say no when it comes to her going to a disco without me.

She says she enjoys going to discos to dance and listen to the music. I say she can wait until I get home so we can go together. She says she trusts me on my overnights and I should trust her. I do trust her, but why look for trouble?

Do you think I'm being unreasonable?

CORAL SPRINGS, FLA.

DEAR CORAL SPRINGS: No. In my view, a married woman with six children and a husband out of town doesn't belong in a disco listening to music and dancing with strangers.

What teenagers need to know about sex, drugs, AIDS, and getting along with their peers and parents is now in Abby's updated, expanded booklet, "What Every Teen Should Know." To order, send a long, business-size, self-addressed envelope, plus check or money order for $3.95 ($4.50 in Canada) to: Dear Abby, Teen Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054. Soviet paper more candid on Cuba

By The ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON — Unbeknownst to the Cuban people, President Fidel Castro has a wife with whom he has had five children, a Soviet newspaper says. He also has 32 houses and 9,700 guards responsible for his personal security, it says.

These tidbits — all unverifiable — about Castro's personal life appeared in a recent edition of Komsomolskaya Pravda, a leading liberal daily in Moscow. They added a new dimension to the trend toward more candid reporting about Cuba in the Soviet press.

"This is the most biting article yet because it goes after Fidel Castro personally," one Bush administration official said. A translation of the article appeared in a U.S. government publication that monitors the foreign media.

Castro's private life is a mystery to the Cuban public. Cubans are aware that he was married in the late 1940s, has a son, Fidelito, by that marriage, and that he was divorced in the mid-1950s.

"All details concerning the personal life of Fidel Castro and the whole party-state elite in Cuba are shrouded in an impenetrable veil of secrecy," begins the article by A. Novikov.

It said that apart from Fidelito, Castro also has an illegitimate daughter, Alina Fernandez Revuelta, about 34 years old.

Castro's "present wife" works in the Cuban Institute of Oceanography and they have five sons, all of whom have first names starting with "A" — Aloin, Alex, Anatolio and so on, the story said.

The sons all studied in the Soviet Union, it said, and were taken care of by a married couple who were Cuban state security employees.

Some details in the article were corroborated by Georgie Ann Geyer, a syndicated columnist who has written a soon-to-be-released biography of Castro, "Guerrilla Prince, The Untold Story of Fidel Castro."

The woman referred to in the article apparently is Daria Soto del Valle, Ms. Geyer said. She, too, said that the couple has produced five children and added that her research indicates Castro may have fathered 14 or more offspring over the years.

Explaining Castro's passion for secrecy, Ms. Geyer said, "A charismatic leader's power depends on his not being known."

The Komsomolskaya Pravda article continued: "Fidel has 32 houses (state houses, of course) scattered around the whole country. In Havana, he has three houses and two underground bunkers, where, if need be, the commander in chief can hide, together with his retinue of 57 generals."

The account apparently touched a raw nerve in Cuba. When a Mexican television crew in Moscow reported on the story earlier this week, Cuban authorities retaliated by expelling a crew from the same network which was on assignment in Havana.

Komsomolskaya Pravda is described as a leading practitioner of the new wave journalism introduced in recent years in the Soviet Union. It is a supporter of the country's best known radical politician, Boris Yeltsin, who is president of the Russian Republic.

U.S. officials said the details of Castro's personal life apparently were leaked to the publication by Soviet officials who believe Moscow should loosen its ties to Cuba.

Relations remain outwardly cordial but trade between the two countries has fallen sharply, partly because of the economic chaos in the Soviet Union.

The story said that the marriage of Castro's brother, Raul, broke down five years ago but the couple still appear together in public. Raul is No. 2 in the Cuban hierarchy.

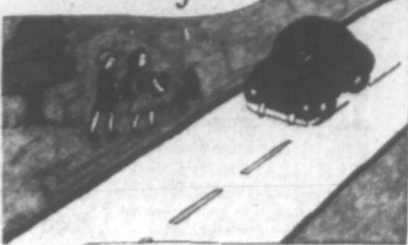

"At the moment, Raul is 'illegally' married to a Bulgarian woman and apart from this, has an illegitimate daughter by a woman who is the director of Cuban television," it said.

None of the contentions in the article could be verified independently.

The article says that Castro's personal guard numbers 9,700 people throughout the country, 2,800 of whom are in the capital.

But when he visits any province, the deployment of additional units can mean that up to 28,000 people are mobilized for "the security of one single person," it said.

House, Senate negotiators agree on Egypt debt relief

WASHINGTON (AP) — House and Senate negotiators agreed early Friday to give President Bush the debt relief he seeks for Egypt but at the same time defied the president in slashing aid to El Salvador. After an all-night and often stormy marathon bargaining session, the two sides set up a difficult choice for the president: whether to swallow an unwanted 50 percent cut in El Salvador military aid to win forgiveness of Egypt's $6.7 billion in past military debt.

Moderating salt intake is advisable

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Should everyone be aware of salt intake, or is it just a problem for people with high blood pressure? My husband and son both have low blood pressure, and after trying for years to keep the saltshaker off the kitchen table, I'm writing to you for clarification.

DEAR READER: Healthy people don't have to worry about excessive salt intake; normal kidneys readily excrete additional salt that is not vital for proper body functioning. Many individuals mistakenly assume that salt is harmful for everyone, but it isn't.

Having said this, I must qualify the generality. Patients with kidney disease, hypertension or heart disorders should reduce dietary salt because it often worsens these conditions.

A liking for salty foods is, to a large degree, an acquired taste. A typical Western diet is rich in salt, and we soon learn that salt tastes good, as well as enhancing flavor. As people age, they are more likely to develop heart disease, high blood pressure and kidney deficiencies that require salt restriction. Therefore, the primary value in exercising salt moderation when we're young is to develop healthy eating patterns, which will require little, if any, alteration as we age.

Salt does not cause the diseases I mentioned, but salt-lovers usually have difficulty limiting salt later in life if they have become accustomed to eating salty foods.

I have a colleague who is a "blind salter." Before tasting his food — even in a fancy French restaurant — he invariably reaches for the saltshaker and applies a liberal sprinkling. This is purely a habit. In my opinion, it makes more sense to taste first, then add a little salt for flavor, if needed.

It's OK for you to put the saltshaker back on the table; at the same time, insist that your family show discretion in its use.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm an RN in Arizona and care for an emphysema patient who tells me he has Valley Fever. Can you explain?

DEAR READER: Valley Fever (coccidioidomycosis) is an infectious fungal disease that is very common in the southwestern United States, particularly in the San Joaquin Valley. People become infected by breathing in the fungal spores, which are plentiful in soil and dust.

Valley Fever initially causes a respiratory infection, with fever, cough, chest pain and malaise that usually disappears without treatment, leaving telltale spotty shadows and scarring that are visible on chest X-rays.

In some cases, the disease is more severe, causing pneumonia, weight loss and weakness. Infrequently, coccidioidomycosis progresses to life-threatening lung disease with infections in bone, liver and brain.

The diagnosis is established by isolating the fungus from sputum or other body fluids, such as the spinal fluid. Mild Valley Fever requires no treat-

Cavazos announces $2.4 million in grants

WASHINGTON (AP) — Education Secretary Lauro Cavazos on Friday announced $2.4 million in grants to help state and local education agencies address the needs of homeless elementary and high school students.

Seventeen agencies in 14 states will receive grants ranging from $64,414 to $265,000 under the Homeless Children and Youth Exemplary Grant Program. Programs range from Project HOPE, Homeless Outreach Program for Education, which focuses on children in mobile units in Costa Mesa, Calif., to a school-based tutoring network in Quincy, Mass.

Describing the children as living "in the most dire circumstances," Cavazos said, "These outstanding programs are evidence that communities can provide for the needs of all children including those temporarily without a home."

The Education Department estimates there were 272,773 homeless students from kindergarten through high school age in 1988-89. In the states that reported, about 72 percent of the students actually attended school. About eight states did not report homeless statistics, officials said.

About 49 percent of the students were in elementary school, 21 percent in junior high school and 26 percent in high school. About 4 percent were not classified.

Problems facing homeless children include ragged clothes, no place to study and poor self-esteem.

A report the department submitted to Congress in March showed that 125,000 children lived in private shelters, 61,682 lived with friends or relatives and 36,000 stayed in public shelters. About 58,000 listed "other," with no explanation.

Cavazos said the grants may be used to support efforts to improve educational assessment, screening and placement of homeless children and youth; to provide counselors, social workers and health care; to increase sensitivity and awareness of school personnel to the problems of homelessness; to increase parental involvement; to assure an appropriate place to study after school; and to provide adequate transportation.

Programs receiving grants were: —Orange County Department of Education, Costa Mesa, Calif., $170,793.

—Iowa Department of Education, Des Moines, $128,922.

—Kansas State Department of Education, Topeka, $171,803.

—Maryland State Department of Education, Baltimore, $44,140.

—Massachusetts Department of Education, Quincy, $168,605.

—City of Detroit Board of Education, $64,414.

—Minneapolis Public Schools, $83,768.

—Community School District 2, New York City, $170,564.

—BOCES Southern Westchester, Tarrytown, N.Y., $135,608.

—New York City Board of Education, $123,557.

—North Dakota Department of Public Instruction, Bismarck, $78,000.

—Oklahoma City Public Schools, $197,862.

—School District 1, Portland, Ore., $149,577.

—Salem-Kizer School District 24J, Salem, Ore., $88,196.

—Pennsylvania Department of Education, Philadelphia, $265,000.

—Seattle Public School District, $249,548.

—Madison Metropolitan School District, Wis., $71,750.

KSPE offering more than 200 engineering scholarship awards

High School seniors looking for ways to help finance their college engineering education can apply to the Kentucky Lake Chapter of the Kentucky Society of Professional Engineers for one of over 200 scholarships and grants available from the National Society of Professional Engineers. Applications are available now in your guidance counselor's office and must be submitted by Nov. 21, 1990.

Applicants are judged from national standard test scores, essays, transcripts and extracurricular activities. Scholarships are available for specific colleges of engineering and, in addition, NSPE offers separate scholarships in each of its six geographic regions and memorial and minority grants.

In our 1990-91 scholarship cycle, NSPE will award scholarships and grants ranging from $1,000 for one year to full tuition for four years. The NSPE scholarship program is the largest of its kind in the United States sponsored by an engineering society with annual disbursements exceeding $1 million.

The NSPE Education Foundation raises funds from engineering schools, businesses and NSPE Auxiliaries and individual donors. The Society has assisted some 6,000 students and offered $9 million in aid since initiating the program in 1958.

For more information and applications contact Donzil E. Lowther, P.E., Regional Scholarship Chairperson at (502) 554-7259 or Randy Burdette, P.E., L.S., Chapter President at (502) 554-9653.

Both Senate candidates get PAC money

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The two U.S. Senate candidates in Kentucky received a large share of their contributions this month from political-action committees, according to their last full finance reports.

Republican Sen. Mitch McConnell, who wants to abolish PACs, got nearly half his money during the period from them — $77,450 of his total receipts of $155,887.

Democratic challenger Harvey Sloane's PAC share was $31,350 of a total of $64,717 — but a majority of his PAC money did not come from organized labor, as it has in past reporting periods.

Democratic senators helped Sloane pick up a few business PAC contributions, but McConnell continued to be the overwhelming favorite of business.

He also continued to show much more fund-raising strength in Kentucky than Sloane, who traveled from coast to coast this month seeking money to overtake his much-better-funded opponent.

The reports from McConnell and Sloane covered the first 17 days in October. The only other reports before the Nov. 6 election will be of contributions of $1,000 or more.

McConnell's report showed that he surpassed his $5 million fund-raising goal. He reported collecting a grand total of $5,135,051, with $1,537,362 left in the bank for the last three weeks of the campaign.

Sloane has raised $2,217,539, but had only $247,723 remaining — not including a $250,000 loan.

Because this month's receipts are a relatively small part of the candidates' totals, their increased reliance on PAC money did not appreciably affect their overall dependence on the committees. Both have gotten about 22 percent of their money from PACs.

Labor gave Sloane less than half of his PAC money this time, but that does not mean that unions are giving up on Sloane's troubled campaign, said his finance director, James Smith.

"I haven't noticed a weakening of their support for Harvey, either financially or spiritually," Smith said. "We don't have any better friends."

Smith said the campaign is advising labor to put money into the coordinated campaign of the state Democratic Party, which is running television ads that promote Democrats in general but no candidates in particular — at least directly.

Republicans have charged that the ads are designed to help Sloane, because they deal with federal issues, bear some similarities to Sloane's TV spots and are produced by Sloane's media consultant.

Much money from unions and the Association of Trial Lawyers of America has gone to the state party's non-federal account, which does not have to report its finances until after the election.

Candidates must identify contributors of more than $200. All but four of McConnell's 194 identified contributors were from Kentucky, but only 11 of Sloane's 54 were. Almost half of McConnell's were repeat contributors, but less than one-fourth of Sloane's were.

Sloane's report again included some famous names, such as rock musician Don Henley, who gave $1,000, and Harvard University economist John Kenneth Galbraith, who gave $500. The PAC of Sen. Al Gore of Tennessee gave $1,000.

Three pilots convicted of drinking and flying sentenced to prison terms

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Three former Northwest Airlines pilots convicted of flying a passenger plane while intoxicated were sentenced to prison today, two for a year and the other to 16 months.

U.S. District Judge James Rosenbaum also imposed three years' probation on each, telling them: "Gentlemen, you are good men who have done a bad thing."

The judge said the pilots' actions amounted to a breach of faith between the traveling public and the pilots.

"It is a crime against our sense of security. In that sense, all of us are a victim of this crime," he said.

The sentences were within federal guidelines, which recommended

12 to 18 months; the maximum would have been 15 years. Rosenbaum left open the possibility that they could remain free pending their appeals.

The defendants — Capt. Norman Lyle Prouse, 51, of Conyers, Ga.; 1st Officer Robert Kirchner, 36, of Highland Ranch, Colo.; and flight engineer Joseph Balzer, 35, of Antioch, Tenn. — were convicted of flying while intoxicated on a hop from Fargo, N.D., to Minneapolis the morning of March 8.

At the sentencing hearing, Assistant U.S. Attorney Elizabeth de la Vega asked for a "substantial" sentence while the pilots' lawyers argued for lenient treatment.

As he announced his decision, Rosenbaum said he was particularly disturbed that all three pilots had been under the influence. "Who can comprehend an entire crew alcohol-impaired?" he asked.

Prouse, who had the highest blood-alcohol concentration in a test given two hours after the flight landed, was the one who received the 16-month sentence. The judge told him that his acknowledged alcoholism was not "a license to kill."

In the tests after the flight was completed, Prouse had a blood-alcohol concentration of 0.13 percent, Kirchner's was 0.06 percent and Balzer's was 0.08 percent.

At the trial, the pilots had argued that the fact that the 40-minute flight, which had 91 passengers, was uneventful showed that they were not rendered incapable of flying by the alcohol they had drunk the night before.

They were the first pilots to be convicted under a 1986 law aimed at cracking down on substance abuse in the transportation industry.
