Critics ask where reform monies are

By TAMARA HENRY AP Education Writer

WASHINGTON — Educators and government leaders say they don't know where the money will come from to finance President Bush's proposed "revolution" in the U.S. educational system.

"If the plan is to succeed, it will require a major commitment in terms of resources and will,' NAACP spokesman James Williams said Thursday after Bush unveiled his plan. "We question whether the financial resources that have been required are adequate to

The president called for top-tobottom school reforms, including a voluntary nationwide exam system, federal aid pegged to academic results and $550 million in start-up funds for "a new generation of schools.'

Albert Shanker, president of the American Federation of Teachers, said essential federal programs like Chapter One for disadvantaged youngsters, education of the hand-icapped and student financial aid all are operating at half strength. The new initiatives fail to provide additional money for the programs, he said.

Keith Geiger, president of the National Education Association, applauded the initiatives but said "there are hurdles we all must

"In state after state, massive cutbacks in education funding are overcrowding classroom and canceling imaginative programs," said Geiger. He added that his union's 2 million member teachers "are understandably cynical about moving ahead to a bright, new tricts plus two others for each state future when the present financial climate looks so threatening."

Congressional seats may be affected by census revision

WASHINGTON — Congressional seats in eight states could change if the census is revised to include as many as 6.3 million people who may not have been counted, a study said today. California, Georgia, Montana and New Jersey could each gain a seat in the House under such a revision. Mississippi, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin could each lose a seat, said Election Data Services, a political consulting firm that specializes in redistricting issues.

The Census Bureau's review drew a flood of criticism from city and

New York Attorney General Robert Abrams grumbled about a "statistical shell game." The head of the U.S. Conference of Mayors, J. Thomas Cochran, said the numbers embodied "our worst fears." Massachusetts considered filing a lawsuit.

The Census Bureau on Thursday defended the 1990 tally as a good job of locating people in a complex and largely unregulated society. Its critics countered that the bureau's own self-grading shows the census is flawed and should be adjusted to add more blacks and Hispanics, who were missed in disproportionate rumbers.

"The results that they have suggested today is comparable to having completely missed the cities of San Diego, Dallas, Phoenix, Detroit and San Antonio, which are five of the 10 largest cities in the country," said Randy Arndt of the National League of Cities. "And that suggests a problem."

An accurate census means money and power for areas with the most population. The count determines representation in Congress and the division of dollars in some federal programs.

If the count for blacks or Hispanics is low, then those groups will be less likely to protect their political and economic interests. To try to discover how accurate the 1990 census was, the bureau followed up by interviewing people in 165,000 residences. They were asked if they had been dounted in the census last year. From the number of people who said no, the bureau estimated the number of people that had

The new survey estimated the U.S. population at between 253 million and 255 million. The census last year put the population at 248.7 million

The survey found as many as 2 million blacks weren't counted, and up to 1.8 million Hispanics. Hispanics are an ethnic group and can be of any

Put another way, the survey found on average the census was off by 2.1 percent in counting everybody. For blacks, the count was off by 5.6 percent. For Hispanics, it was off by 6.1 percent. That means a black or Hispanic was about three times more likely to be missed than someone in the general population.

Commerce Secretary Robert Mosbacher will use the survey to decide whether the census numbers should be statistically altered to account for the people that were missed. A federal court has ordered Jam to make that decision by July 15 if he decides the adjusted figures would be more accurate than the census

The accuracy of the census count was challenged in 1980 and 1930, but federal courts stood by the original numbers. No census count has ever been changed by a statistical adjustment, such as the accuracy survey.

Census adjustment could cost state $30 million

tucky could lose at least $30 million if federal officials adjust national population figures to compensate for a possible undercounting in many states, a demographer

If the Census Bureau issues a higher revised figure, Kentucky would grow less than states with larger undercounts, resulting in a loss of some of the federal aid Kentucky would have received under the current numbers.

Kentucky was among 30 states that were undercounted by less than the 2.1 percent national average in figures released Thursday by the Census Bureau.

The 1990 Census may have missed as many as 6.3 million Americans, the Census Bureau said, based on a survey taken to test the accuracy of last year's official head count.

Indiana University demographer Jerry McKibben used those figures in estimating that Kentucky could lose at least $30 million in federal estimate, McKibben said, because aid during the next /decade.

on potential federal funds if the even more aid, he said. bureau adjusts its figures.

Indiana could lose $50 million during the decade as the result of an adjustment, McKibben

The $30 million figure for Kentucky is a "very conservative" the state has a larger percentage of Peter Bounpane, the Census rural and minority residents and Bureau's assistant director, said residents below the poverty level Kentucky and other states, such as than Indiana. Those categories were matched against census Indiana, probably would lose out would allow the state to qualify for

The census showed that the U.S. population was about 248.7 million. The survey estimates the population at 253 million to 255 million. The survey is one tool the government will use in deciding whether to adjust the census numbers. A decision is due July 15. For the survey, people in 165,000 homes were interviewed after the census, and the results records. Also, records were checked to see if anybody in the survey areas had been counted twice, counted at the wrong place or mis-totaled.

Indiana's 1990 count was 5.5 million; Kentucky's was 3.7

Taking a midpoint between the upper and lower survey estimates for comparison, Kentucky would gain about 12,000 in population, or percent, in an adjustment.

McKibben applied those figures to a standard formula for distributing federal funds to determine the relative losses Kentucky and Indiana would suffer.

Under the original census figures, Kentucky will lose one of its seven congressional seats. Adjusting census figures based on the survey would not change that.

CHAMP outlines priorities

Children's Health and Mental Protection, Inc., (CHAMP) is the "official Calloway County agency which deals with the problems of missing, sexually abused and exploited children," according to literature provided by the organization.

With the month of April being proclaimed by the state of Kentucky, Child Abuse Prevention Month, the CHAMP organization locally is sponsoring the Fourth Annual Children's Health and Mental Protection Children's Carnival. The carnival offers free services such as providing free video taping and fingerprinting of each child, for use in the case that a child should be missing.

The top priority for the group is to identify the realm of the problems of Calloway County children and to keep abreast of relevant and helpful legislation. Through current knowledge, CHAMP strives to promote cooperation among various agencies in the Purchase area to develop applicable programs to teach children to protect themselves as well as to educate adults about the dangers of abuse and assistance available to them.

Monthly CHAMP meetings are open to the public. For further information, contact Jennifer Young after 6 p.m. at 753-6385.

"Republicans all over Kentucky deserve to know about Hopkins so they, too, can question his legacy with our

Party and his electability in the Fall.'

Hopkins' commitment questioned

Larry Webster, 1987 Republican candidate for Lt. Governor, and Ted Jackson, campaign manager for Larry Forgy, today questioned Larry Hopkins' commitment to the Republican Party, citing past actions and comments by the 6th District Republican Congressman.

"Today we have distributed 120 VHS tapes to our people throughout the state," Jackson said, "where Larry Hopkins, during an interview in 1987 on WLEX's Your Government, endorsed Democrat Brereton Jones for Lieutenant Governor.

Hopkins said, "I will, however, go on and tell you that a friend of mine, Brereton Jones, is running for Lieutenant Governor and I think he will make an excellent Lieutenant Governor.

"I didn't deserve to be abandoned by Hopkins," said Webster. "My mother and father live in the 6th District and have always supported him, and my family felt betrayed." "It sickened me to see Hopkins, someone who holds himself out as a leader of my party, being interviewed on television endorsing the guy I'm trying to beat," Webster said. "I was, and still am, outraged." "When the chips were down, Hopkins was endorsing the Democrat," said Webster. "That kind of desertion by a Republican elected offical really crippled my campaign. "If Hopkins is the Republican nominee," Jackson said, "this tape will give you a 'Sneak Preview' of the very first Jones television commercial

You can imagine their commercial where blazoned across the screen will be "Vote for Brereton Jones...Larry Hopkins did."

Jackson predicted that a Hopkins campaign could not overcome the devastating impact of such a campaign slogan used by Jones, the Democratic front-runner.

"We have asked our people to show this tape to groups of Republicans

Speech teams bring honors to schools

With many Kentucky schools growing in their enrollments, it is a wonder to win a State Championship in any endeavor. Forget school size, for members of the Murray High School Speech Team won an unprecedented fourth consecutive State Championship at Western University in late March. In winning this year's title the MHS team set three Kentucky High School Speech League records - most points, most students in the semifinals and largest margin of victory. All of the records were held by Calloway County High School, who is a strong contender every year. Murray High also produced individual state champions: Karen Mikulcik, Scott Conklin, Andy Vaughan, Allison Ward and Kelsey Christopher was honored as the outstanding speaker in the Lincoln-Douglas debate. Tracy Ross and Lori England were the states individual best for Calloway County. Ross was also named the outstanding senior speech student for 1991 at the event.

The wins were a result of dedicated practice and hard work from the coaches and the students. Eleven tournaments helped Murray hone their skills, which paid off in the state competition. The leadership of Mark Etherton, head coach, was evident in the finals and his able assistants are Davin Greer, Rick Jobs and William Beale. They worked long hours to produce the best. Top three placers in each of the speech events will return for the National Tournament of Champions in Bowling Green in June.

At the state meet, Larry England, Calloway County coach, was named the Outstanding Speech and Debate Educator in Kentucky, for 1990 by the National Federation Interscholastic Speech and Debate Association. The NFISDA also honored him as one of the top ten speech educators in the

His students have excelled in every speech event in recent years with a total of 130 students placing first in individual speech competition at the Kentucky State tournament and over 250 first place sweepstakes wins in individual tournaments all over the nation.

England is completing 21 years at Calloway and has had two national champions. This year the Calloway team was second in the state and has a very strong program, under his leadership. His record attests to this. Together the two local schools are building a dynasty in speech for Kentucky and the nation in our own backyard.

Sometimes we tend to take for granted the outstanding efforts of these programs for winning year after year. Attorney Robert O. Miller made this point recently.

Let's appreciate these leaders in the forensic world and know we are, and have been, the best ever. To Mark, Larry and their team members we wish you well in the nationals. You are a special group and we see more honors in the future.

Poore supporters urge all to register by April 26

Our Poore for governor local headquarters at 209 Maple is now open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. We invite anyone who would like additional information about the tax reducation plan of Dr. Floyd G. Poore to visit us.

As a service to people who have not yet registered to vote in the primary election on Tuesday, May 28, we have forms available at our headquarters for proper registration.

However, please remember that anyone who intends to vote in the primary must be registered no later than 5 p.m. Friday, April 26. Of course, they may register in the Calloway County clerk's office — but we can make it easier by providing them right-out-front parking and by saving them the climb up the courthouse steps.

We urge everyone to make certain that he/she is registered. And, above all, vote! If we can help, please call on us.

The television onslaught has begun

FRANKFORT — The onslaught has begun.

Is there anyone in the state who hasn't seen at least one television commercial for one or another of the candidates for governor? Perhaps someone on a prolonged trip to Mammoth Cave.

Actually, it is virtually impossible to see only one commercial for a given candidate. They seem to repeat themselves with a regularity that must have the advertising executives at TV stations across Kentucky looking at new German automobiles and not worrying about the luxury tax.

What exactly have we learned from all this first-round video exposure to the men and women who want to govern Kentucky for the next four years?

They're all terribly nice people. dedicated to the state and as at home in the halls of great power as they are in an elementary classroom or along a rural country lane.

They dress well - though, of ourse, not too well.

They're earnest and sincere — one actually cries a little — and, above all they are eager to do good as chief AGREE OR NOT executive of the commonwealth. Those who already have made up their minds whom to support in the Democratic and Republican primaries May 28 will look upon their candidate's television commercial, smile sweetly and agree with everything said and promised. The opponent's commercials, on the other hand, are all pure hogwash, designed by the nefarious political consultants alien beings from "up north," every one of them — to lie, cheat and steal the election.

By S.C. Van Curon and Todd Duvall

Those who haven't made up their minds yet - and goodness knows there hasn't been much given out to cause anyone to make a firm decision are likely to be viewing these things with amused detachment, waiting (hoping would be to expect too much) for some small inkling that one of these candidates stands out from all

The first major ads from candidates are pretty generic, anyway. They are designed to introduce the candidates to the voters, paint them in the broadest and best terms and give just an inkling of what they stand for. Later ads will become more specific — at least they had better — and, as happens in political campaigns these days, they will become nastier as polls are taken and the primary date approaches. Indeed, we suspect the political consultants have been earning their steep fees in recent days, perhaps rewriting the scripts for future commercials to reflect the latest campaign

We've seen two candidates -Republican Larry Hopkins and Democrat Floyd Poore - substantially toughen their anti-abortion positions only days after giving less-restrictive views. Opponents charge they flip-flopped, not a good characterization for a would-be governor.

Poore also now carries the heavy burden that his first wife accused him of physical abuse in divorce documents. He denies it, but the allegation lays there and will stay there. Martha Wilkinson cleaned out the top of her campaign organization last week, bringing in her husband's campaign manager, lawyer Danny Briscoe, and replacing other top campaign officials. Candidates do that only when they aren't going places.

We also now have two Democratic candidates who once were Republic cans — Martha Wilkinson and Brere ton Jones. Jones has lived among Kentucky Democrats and won statewide election despite his dreadful political past. The question now is whether Martha Wilkinson, who for got about being a registered Republi can until 1983, can do the same

And, on the Republican side of the primary, Larry Hopkins steadfastly avoids Larry Forgy at every oppor tunity. He also avoids talking about anything remotely controversial or substantive, a front-runner's tactic that sometimes backfires when people being wondering if the candidate has any substance.

Of course, before it's over, we'll be hearing about some or all of these things on television.

Her recital marks the completion of the first phase of the Suzuki piano approach, and her readiness to progress to the more difficult compositions of the classic and baroque composers.

The Suzuki program endeavors to develop the inherent talents of each child by starting at a very early age, moving in small steps, so the child can succeed and therefore build self confidence through, an enjoyable learning environment according to Lisa's teacher, Mrs. Marlin Greer.

A pre-school music class will be offered this summer for 4-6-year old children and their parents by Mrs. Greer. The class will provide positive motivation through the students' active participation in listen-

Indian Summer Camp planned

Kentucky Cancer Program will have its 10th year of Indian Summer Camp for children with cancer, June 10-15, at Camp Burnamwood, Irvine. It will feature several special events, in addition to the usual camping and outdoor activities. This is a non-profit program staffed by professionals and trained volunteers, funded through donations from civic organizations, businesses and individuals throughout Kentucky. Although this camp is made available regardless of ability to pay, the expense for each camper is approximately $300. The only mandatory cost for each camper is a $5 registration fee. A total of 50 children will be accepted at camp. Contributors, volunteers or others who wish to refer a child to camp may contact Martha Hinton, Kentucky Cancer Program, Prof. Arts Bldg., #403, 2320 Broadway, Paducah, Ky. 42001, or call 1-442-1310.

Pearl Harbor event

The Pearl Harbor Commemorative Association will observe the 50th anniversary of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor Dec. 7, 1991, with activities at Hyatt Regency Convention Center, Lexington. "We will pay tribute to all those who were at Pearl Harbor 50 years ago with a memorial service, appropriate speeches, film documentaries of the actual attack, patriotic music and a reception and banquet in the evening. We invite everyone to take part in the anniversary activities to remember this 'Day of Infamy and America's entrance into World War II," said Ellis L. McCollum, president, Pearl Harbor Commemorative Committee, P.O. Box 12315, Lexington, Ky. 40582-2315, phone 1-606-277-1629. For more information contact

One Of Life's Important Lessons Is Planning Now for your Family's Future

We all realize the value of an education. That's why we plan for our children, giving them the opportunity to get the education that's important to their future. But it's also important to plan our future in order to make their future better. One way to do that is to make funeral plans today at Miller Funeral Home. Preplanning funeral services is an important part of an overall estate plan. Simply choose the services that are appropriate. We'll keep them on file at Miller, and those plans will be available to give your family guidance. They'll appreciate your planning for them, and you'll have security knowing plans are in place. If you wish, prefinancing options are also available. So plan now, and become knowledgeable about the smart way to plan for the future. Call or stop by Miller Funeral Home today for more information

Simmons and Hale vows said at church

Kimberly Ann Hale and Jay Scott Simmons were married Saturday, Feb. 23, at Sharon Baptist Church, Mayfield.

Officiating was Kenneth Mears. Nuptial music was provided by Doris Hunter, pianist, and Billy De Lapp, soloist.

The bride is the daughter of Jerry and Jean Hale of Mayfield. The groom is the son of Mrs. Joann Simmons of Murray and the late John Simmons.

The bride wore a white flooor length satin dress trimmed with lace and pearls with leg o'mutton sleeves and a cathedral train. Flowers in her wedding bouquet were white and pink roses with baby's breath.

She was escorted down the aisle by her father and given in marriage by her parents.

Matching flowers of the bride's bouquet surrounded hurricane lamps on the church pews.

The matron of honor was Tammy Lamb and the maid of honor was Lee Ann Ford. Bridesmaids were Leah Hackle and Lori Hale, sister-in-law of the bride.

The attendants carried lighted candles. The flower girl was Erica Anderson. Brad Wyant was best man. Groomsmen were Kelly Nelson. Scott Adams and Steve Hatten. Ushers and candle lighters were Mathew, Daniel and John Hale, brothers of the bride. Ryan Houston was ring bearer. A reception followed in the fellowship hall of the church.

Assisting in entertaining were Christy Cummings, Debbie Anderson, Amy Houston, Shirley Smith, Faye Anderson and Rita

EVERYONE WELCOME!

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON By H.C. CHILES

The More Excellent Way By H.C. Chiles

I Corinthians 12:27-13:13 Every believer in Christ is the recipient of a spiritual enablement or a capacity for specific service. The Holy Spirit does not bestow these gifts for the gratifucation and glory of their recipients and possessors, but always for the glory of Christ, the proclamation of His gospel, the salvation of the lost, the edification of the saved and the extension of the kingdom.

In both the human body and the church each member has its own particular function, and the proper functioning of each is necessary to the best interest of all other members. If a church member would be a healthy cell in the body, he must give Christ preeminence in his life, be faithful in daily Bible study and prayer, worship regularly in the Lord's house, be a good steward of his means and witness to the unsaved. Various members perform their respective functions for which they are naturally fitted for the welfare of the entire body and without any friction between them. If one member of the body suffers, the other members suffer also. Mutual concern and care should characterize all church members, in view of the fact that suffering and honor belong to the entire body and not just to isolated members. Each member must forget self-interest and personal glory, and with a genuine concern for those who encounter difficulties, misfortunes, suffering and sorrow strive to help them in their adversities and then rejoice with them in their victories and

The coveted gifts of eloquence, prophecy, wisdom knowledge, faith, charity and martyrdom are without value apart from love. Love is not impatient. Being long-suffering, love is slow to resent and retaliate. Love is not envious, but is without ill feeling toward another because of his success or prosperity. Love is not boastful, but strives to do good in a splendid manner. Love is not selfish but seeks the welfare of others. Love is not easily provoked, causing one to give away to anger. Love is not resentful of slights, whether real or imaginary, but either ignores them, or gives as charitable an interpretation of them as possible. Love does not take pleasure

Love rejoices in truth and especially when people accept it, live in conformity to it and faithfully proclaim it. Love bears hardships and trials with triumphant courage. Love enables one to avoid undue suspicion and believe the best instead of the worst about others, trusting implicitly in the promises of God. Love is hopeful in spite of adverse circumstances. And love endures. Love is not a passing emotion that exhilarates temporarily and then is gone, but it is permanent and imperishable. Never will it cease to be, for love is eternal. The heart and climax of this sublime chapter are found in the statement: "Love never faileth." The greatest thing that can be said about love is that it lasts. Greater than faith or hope, love survives danger, disease, disaster and death. Love is immortal.

After This The Judgment." Heb.

Holyfield, Foreman set for 'Battle of the Ages'

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Evander Holyfield looks didn't feel anything for being in the ring. It was over for me." like he should change clothes in a phone booth. George Foreman looks like he wouldn't fit into a phone booth. That's exactly how both men want it.

The perfectly sculpted Holyfield defends his world heavyweight championship tonight against Foreman, the self-made man-mountain - mountains of chicken, burgers, ice cream. The champ will collect about $20 million, which can buy a whole lot of the finest new high-tech training equipment that gives Holyfield that Superman look. Foreman gets more than $12 million, which can buy, well, a whole lot more food.

"I'll take care of him, then I'll take care of my appetite," the 42-year-old Foreman said. "That money can do a whole bunch of things, but I'm going to walk away with something more important, with the title.

Foreman held the title 18 years ago. That was not just another era, it was another lifetime.

It was before he had a religious experience that made him quit boxing in 1977. Then, he was a mean-spirited former juvenile delinquent with little purpose outside the ring. After losing to Jimmy Young, Foreman turned away from the sport that had taken him from the streets of Houston to an Olympic gold medal, an upset knockout of Joe Frazier for the heavyweight title and a humiliating defeat in Zaire to Muhamnad Ali. He founded the non-denominational Church of the Lord Jesus Christ. He disappeared from the sporting spectrum. There was nothing left for me at that time," he said. "I

For 10 years, at least. Then, the new George Foreman, the preacher-standup comic with the 300-pound girth, launched what many considered an absurd comeback.

It was so absurd that, after all of Foreman's wisecracks about his weight, age and skills, and after 24 fights against carefully selected opponents with rankings in the neighborhood of George's poundage, here he stands. If Foreman beats the 28-year-old Holyfield, a 21/2-to-1 favorite, he will be the oldest champion in boxing history.

"For 20 years, I never looked at a television set," said Foreman, who weighed in at 257 pounds for this fight. "For didn't do. 10 years, I would not allow my hands to make a fist. For 10 years, I didn't want to have anything to do with boxing."

Everything about this fight has been orchestrated by Foreman the Showman. The buildup, the "Battle of the Ages" theme, the likely killing on close-circuit and pay-per-view television, stems from and flourishes around him.

As he says, "There's a little bit of con man in everyone. That comes from the word confidence, and I have all the confidence in the world in myself. I like myself. I like being George Foreman."

And the public seems to like him. Or has been fooled by him. Foreman will go into the ring with Holyfield a shorter underdog than he was against Frazier in 1973. The challenger has completely overshadowed the champion heading to this fight. With few exceptions since Foreman first retired — Mike Tyson vs. Trevor Berbick in Tyson's first title shot; Ali against Leon Spinks and Larry Holmes — that has Holyfield, all business as usual, doesn't seem to mind. He just goes about his heavy-duty training regimen, fine-tuning his 208-pound physique, the best body the heavyweight ranks has seen since Ken Norton. He laughs at Foreman's routines. He thanks Foreman for making such a payday possible. He even shows respect for his opponent, something predecessors Tyson and Buster Douglas

"George deserves his chance," Holyfield said. "He's done something other fighters haven't, the way he's come back." But does the 1984 Olympian (a controversial bronze medal) and onetime cruiserweight feel he gets his due?

Respect is something you have to earn, and it will come if you do the things you are capable of doing." Holyfield said. 'I can't control what people think or say about me. But I can do what I'm capable of doing.

Which, he'says, is continue holding the belt he easily took from Douglas last October.

"I'll be ready for George," Holyfield said, and nobody disputes him. "I take anybody serious because anybody can beat you, in that ring. But if I go into the fight in shape and give it my best, I'm not worried.

But this financial monster takes away from the real beauty of baseball. It eats away at enjoyment. Players aren't "hungry", don't have that old fight. No one loves the game, everyone just loves the agents. Their most prized possession is no longer a glove or a bat, it's the celluar phone or a portable fax machince.

The statistics they turn to first are on the business page, not the sports one. Many of today's big leaguers couldn't tell you who Ted Williams or Mickey Mantle are. It's a sad state of affairs, this new game. But, I've tried this year to put that in the back of my mind and watch the game as if it the old days. I'm looking for the throwbacks. So instead of worrying about Rickey's new contract, or what is going to three years from now when the teams run out of television money to hand over to the players, I've tried so far this season to pick out the players who are worth watching for their performance.

A few samples •Ryne Sandberg. The Cub second baseman may be the most skilled player of our age. A Gold Glover who wallops a heavy stick at a position where most swing toothpicks. He is just a joy to watch, even if he is hitting .111. •Roger Clemens. His antics shouldn't get in the way of his excellence. He's unhittable right now. He reminds me of the Gibsons, the Drysdales, the Seavers.

•Kevin Maas. The young Yankee slugger who makes you think of past Yankee greatness. His swing (not his stance) is a work of art.

·Ozzie Guillen. His love for the game is matched only by his excellence at shortstop.

NEW YORK — An aide to George Steinbrenner said that Howard Spira committed extortion in February 1990 because he set a specific date when he would tell the media about his dealings with the New York Yankees owner. Philip McNiff, a prosecution witness, also said Steinbrenner had paid Spira $40,000 Just one month before. McNiff, executive vice president of Steinbrenner's American Shipbuilding Co. in Tampa, Fla., made his point after 2% days of cross-examination by Spira's attorney David S. Greenfield. Greenfield had suggested that Steinbrenner ignored Spira's threats for years and that the owner came up with the extortion story to explain to baseball why he paid Spira $40,000. Under re-direct questioning by Assistant U.S. Attorney Gregory Kehoe, McNiff said he believed Spira was committing extortion when he threatened in a letter to Steinbrenner to go public with their association on Feb. 15, 1990, if Steinbrenner did not meet with him. HOUSTON — Washington Redskins wide receiver Ricky Sanders was acquitted of a charge that he failed to stop and aid a parking valet he was accused of hitting with his car. A seven-man, live-woman jury deliberated for an hour and five minutes before returning the verdict. A charge of aggravated assault is still pending as the result of the incident which took place May 1 in the parking lot of The Men's Club. Sanders, 28, testified Wednesday he was never aware he had struck the valet, with whom he argued about hubcaps that were missing never aware he had struck the valet, with whom he variet aware ne had struck the valet, with whom he argued about hubcaps that were missing from his father-in-law's Cadillac. Sanders told jurors all he heard was the sound of someone slapping the side of the car.

The Lady Lakers also finished fourth in the 800 meter relay, behind Sara Thompson, Wendy Stephens, Jennifer Dowdy and Rickman.

The Lady Tigers had second place efforts from Tammy Hansen in the 100 hurdles and Vedra Sowerby in the 100 meters. The 800 relay team of Christy Bell, Jenny Bell, Renea Hornbuckle and Sara Snyder also took second, as did the 400 relay team of Sowerby, Hornbuckle, Snyder and Christy Bell.

Bonnie Payne was third in the high jump, while Maggie Snyder was third in the long jump. Jenny Bell was fourth in the long jump while Shelly Hasty was fourth in the 3200 meters.

SOFTBALL

doubleheader with Hickman, falling 12-7 and 3-1, while the Lady Tigers lost to Marshall, 14-4.

The Lady Lakers made six errors in the first game, offsetting a solid offensive effort. Christy Clayton, Melissa Vance, Shelly Rudolph and Leah Damell all had two hits, as Darnell socked a double. Marti McClard, Valerie Shelton, and Terri Burkeen all had hits.

In the second game, Clayton, McClard and Krista Stalls all had two hits, while Darenll, Rudolph and Shannon Shields all had hits. Shelton socked a triple and a single, but the Lady Lakers left the bases loaded twice.

The Murray High had hits from Jill Miller, Nicole Jedan, Shannon Farley, April Haneline, Casey Boyd and Vickie Rowan - and a The Lady Lakers were swept in a double by M.C. Wooldridge.

Science fair award winner

Adam Bartnik, a fifth grader at Murray Middle School, won a superior rating for his exhibit titled "Simulation of Groundwater Pollution" at the Regional Science Fair at Murray State University April 12-13. He is shown discussing his project with Dr. Gary Boggess, dean of the College of Science at MSU. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Bartnik of Murray. Several hundred students from 17 counties in West Kentucky entered exhibits in the elementary, middle and high school competition sponsored by each year by the College of Science at Murray State. ## Investigators continue to look into soldier's death

FORT CAMPBELL, Ky. (AP) - Army investigators are continuing their probe into the shooting death of a 101st Airborne Division soldier who recently returned to Fort Campbell after serving in the Persian Gulf War.

Staff Sgt. Robert B. Grove. 26, ed of a gunshot wound to the nead at his Fort Campbell home shortly before midnight Saturday. officials said.

The incident remains under investigation by the post's Criminal Investigation Division, fort spokesman Lt. Col. Patrick Barnes said. "The preliminary investigation indicates that it was a self-inflicted gunshot wound," Barnes said. No determination has been made yet on whether the incident was accidental or a suicide.

Fort Campbell authorities did no: identify the type of weapon used. but it is believed to have been a large-caliber rifle.

Grove's family was away from home at the time of his death. Barnes said.

DR. GOTT

DEAR DR GOTT I have a husband who complains constantly of being tired. He has a cabinet filled with fish oil, vitamins from A to Z and all the B vitamins you could imagine. He thinks the more he takes the better he feels, and I simply cannot educate the man Would you please comment so I can simply hand him your response?

DEAR READER Your question really has two components the issue of chronic fatigue and the role of megavitamin therapy Lassitude and fatigue are frequently the earliest and most troublesome indicators of ill health Such symptoms often reflect the presence of disease anemia, cancer, hidden infection, diabetes, thyroid disorders and depression, to mention a few. In fact, fatigue is part and parcel of many chronic ailments Therefore, rather than relying on citamins and minerals to combat his fatigue, your husband needs to see his family doctor for a diagnosis. The physician will perform a thorough medical examination, followed by blood tests, to determine the eause of the complaint. More often than not. he basis of chronic tiredness can be identified and treated

Auctions to sell vocational-tech school equipment

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) -Equipment formerly used in the state's vocational-technical schools will be sold in three auctions, the Cabinet for Workforce Development announced.

There is an assortment of electronic equipment, computers and typewriters, among other things, a cabinet news release said. The auctions will be at the state vocational-technical schools in Lexington on April 24, Paducah on May 22 and Hazard on June 5. Money from the sales is to be used to buy new school equipment.

the release said.

should it be used to treat undiagnosed ailments; this therapy has not proved appropriate for tiredness, loss of stamina or other symptoms of poor health. Moreover, some vitamins notably A and D — can be exceedingly dangerous when taken in large affect many of the body's organs. Of course, in rare cases a patient may have a specific vitamin or mineral de-

My answer to your husband is: Stop playing doctor: find an M.D. who can diagnose the problem and suggest sensible therapy

To give you more information. I am sending you a free copy of my Health/ Report "Fads I - Vitamins and Minerals." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their names and addresses to P.O. Box 91369. Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: PLEASE. PLEASE correct the phone number for the National Sexual Addiction hotline to 1-800-321-2066. It was printed incorrectly in your Nov. 23 column, and it would be devastating for someone to seek help only to find the phone number is incorrect.

DEAR READER: I stand corrected Thank you for writing.

(Editor's Note: Public Notice advertising plays a unique role both in American history and in the process by which this country's democracy is preserved. Its one premise is that people must be informed if they are to govern themselves competently. Public Notice advertising first came into being with the Congress of 1792. That body, recognizing its responsibility to the people, required the Postmaster General to advertise for bids for the construction of new post offices. From that inauspicious beginning to the complex publication requirements in federal, state and local laws today, government officials have come more and more to understand their obligations to inform the public through Public Notice edvertising. Newspapers over the years have been the vehicle by which these obligations have been fulfilled. They will continue to be as long as the public demands that it be informed frequently and by the best means possible.

Listed below are individuals, firms and corporations who have failed to pay 1990 City of Murray Property Taxes. The amount set opposite the property owners name is the amount of delinquent taxes and includes penalty, interest and publication charge. Unpaid property taxes become a lien upon the described properties until paid in full. The City of Murray may utilize the tax foreclosure method authorized by KRS 91.481 - 91.527 for collection of unpaid property taxes effective July 1, 1991.

Festival features 'Kidney Punch'

What's a four letter word for involuntary organ donor? The answer is "Dave," the beleaguered protagonist of Dan Fitzstephens' one-act play, "Kidney Punch."

"Kidney Punch" is one of seven and appalled. new dramatic works that will premiere in the Third Annual West Kentucky Playwrights' Festival. Festival dates are April 19-21 and 26-28, at Murray Calloway County Playhouse in the Park. Playwright Fitzstephens, a parttime English instructor at Murray State University, says that his play was inspired partly by an off-hand remark of a friend. "One day she said, 'I have a terrific idea for a story about a guy who loves his kidney more than his

When one of the characters will think of it," she said. She also becomes provoked enough to develop a scheme that will secure his morning privacy, the others are, in turn, shocked, amused, offended

Jim Carpenter's one-act play, "Patients," is also about a group that meets by chance. "There's no real plot to 'Patients,'" Carpenter explained, "it's more like a 'day in the life idea."

A range of characters is tepresented in Carpenter's drama, including a hypochondriac, an elderly woman accompanied to her appointment by her yuppie son, and a patient who seems to be the resident critic of the reading material available in doctor's waiting Playwrights Carpenter, Woods and Fitzstephens have never had plays produced before, but for Tracy Pervine, author of the festival play, "Out of Tune," this is her second playwrights' festival.

Last year, Pervine's Participation as a playwright in the festival was noted by USA Today. At 12, she was the youngest writer. This year, the Murray Middle School eighth grader is still the youngest playwright, and though she is accustomed to the process of writing and re-writing, and seeing her work performed on stage, she is just as nervous this year, as she was last admitted that she would like to make more changes to her work before the curtain rises April 21. "Out of Tune" is a play about two roommates getting to know each other by sharing a dorm room at band camp. They express their real feelings about each other in letters home, while the dialogues that occur between them leave many of these sentiments unsaid.

Besides "Out of Tune," "Patients" and "The Statue," other plays included in the Third Annual West Kentucky Playwrights' Festival are: "The Pain of Roast Pork," by Constance Alexander; "Die Like a Dog in the Middle of the Road," by Becky Reynolds and the resurrection of James Robert Figgers," by Robert Valentine.

The festival opens on April 19, 8 p.m. at Playhouse in the Park, with "Die Like a Dog in the Middle of the Road." "Die..." will be performed again on Saturday, April 27, 8 p.m.

"Patients," "The Pain of Roast Pork" and "Kidney Punch" are slated for performance April 20, 8

"There is a risk in every venture and, unfortunately, these risks sometimes result in failure," said Allen Lovelace, chairman of General Dynamics Commercial Launch study published today.

Attorney to sue over publicity

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A state attorney seeking to prosecute news organizations that named the woman allegedly raped at the Kennedy estate says fear of such publicity keeps people from reporting sexual assaults.

"I have no statistics on how many victims don't report the crime because they're afraid of publicity, but as; a prosecutor I believe it deters them," said Palm Beach County State Attorney David Bludworth. 1

Bush presenting rosy view of environmental achievements

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Bush is presenting a rosy view of his administration's environmental accomplishments, despite criticism from environmental activists that he has failed to live up to his

Bush said in a report to Congress on Thursday that his environmental quality achievements saw "a landmark year" in 1990, and that in the coming year he will pursue "market-oriented" provisions in amendments to the Clean Water Act and other legislation.

He did not give specifics, but said he would "seek to make progress toward the goal of no-net-loss of wetlands.'

Wetlands provisions of the current Clean Water Act are criticized by environmentalists who say it fails to protect the swamps and watery areas covered, and by land owners who contend it blocks development of property that shouldn't really be considered wetlands.

Scientists say wetlands are vital to maintaining water quality and habitat for many species of plants

Computer program may help find heart problems

-WASHINGTON (AP) - A computer program that sorts through the electrical signals of the heart may have found a pattern that forecasts a susceptibility to sudden cardiac death, researchers report in a

Richard Verrier, a professor at Georgetown University Medical Center, said that in laboratory experiments on dogs, his team was able to identify a faint electrical pulse in the heart that preceded ventricular fibrillation, a disturbed cardiac rhythm that kills within minutes.

/ "It's/like a signal that tells when a bridge is about to break up. Verrier said.

'We saw that whenever the heart is prone to ventricular fibrillation and sudden death there is always an alternation in the T-wave , (a specific electrical pulse in the heart)," he said. "It alternates and then the heart beat goes into a chaotic state.

The proposal was contained in a message released Thursday to accompany the annual report of Bush's Council on Environmental Quality, which gives a summary and status report of the administration's environmental policies.

How Good Are Home Tests?

Home pregnancy tests are gener ally 97% accurate if instructions are followed carefully, and ovulation tests are better than 90% accurate. Aneroid blood pressure monitors can be more difficult to use than digital-electronic devices, but they are more accurate. Both devices should be calibrated annually. Because so many conditions can cause blood in the feces professionals are strongly divided on the usefulness of home fecal occult blood tests. Since the symptoms of urinary tract infections are so obvious n most people, urinary infection dipsticks probably are not very useful Homé otoscopes require substantial use before parents become adept at nterpreting what they may see in their children's ears and probably should be used as a thermometer is used for screen when symptoms of ear infec tion - In Health
